No. 1237 of 1857.

FORT WILLIAM, 2ND OCTOBER 1857.

NOTIFICATION.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has received, by a Telegraphic Message, the gratifying announcement that Delhi is entirely in the hands of Major General Wilson's Army.

Delhi, the focus of the treason and revolt which for four months have harassed Hindostan, and the stronghold in which the Mutinous Army of Bengal has sought to concentrate its power, has been wrested from the Rebels. The King is a Prisoner in the Palace. The Head Quarters of Major General Wilson are established in the Dewan Khas. A strong column is in pursuit of the fugitives.

Whatever may be the motives and passions by which the Mutinous Soldiery, and those who are leagued with them, have been instigated to faithlessness, rebellion, and crimes at which the heart sickens, it is certain that they have found encouragement in the delusive belief that India was weakly guarded by England, and that before the Government could gather together its strength against them, their ends would be gained.

They are now undeceived.

Before a single Soldier of the many thousands who are hastening from England to uphold the supremacy of the British Power has set foot on these shores, the Rebel Force, where it was strongest and most united, and where it had the command of unbounded Military appliances, has been destroyed or scattered by an Army collected within the limits of the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab alone.

The work has been done before the support of those Battalions which have been collected in Bengal from the Forces of the Queen in China and in Her Majesty's Eastern Colonies could reach Major General Wilson's Army; and it is by the courage and endurance of that gallant Army alone; by the skill, sound judgment, and steady resolution of its brave Commander; and by the aid of some Native Chiefs true to their allegiance that, under the blessing of God, the head of rebellion has been crushed, and the cause of loyalty, humanity, and rightful authority vindicated.

The Governor General in Council hopes that the receipt of Despatches from Major General Wilson will soon place it in his power to make known the details of the operations against Delhi, and to record, fully and publicly, the thanks and commendation which are due to the Officers and Men by whose guidance, courage and exertions those operations have been brought to a successful issue.

But the Governor General in Council will not postpone, till then, his grateful acknowledgment of the services which have been rendered to the Empire, at this juncture, by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab.

To Sir John Lawrence, K. C. B., it is owing that the Army before Delhi, long ago cut off from all direct support from the Lower Provinces, has been constantly recruited and strengthened so effectually as to enable its Commander not only to hold his position unshaken, but to achieve complete success.

To Sir John Lawrence's unceasing vigilance, and to his energetic and judicious employment of the trustworthy forces at his own disposal, it is due that Major General Wilson's Army has not been harassed or threatened on the side of the Punjab, and that the authority of the Government in the Punjab itself has been sustained and generally respected.

The Governor General in Council seizes, with pleasure, the earliest opportunity of testifying his high appreciation of these great and timely services.

By Order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 26th September 1857.

THE following Bill, as settled in Committee of the whole Council, is published for general information.—

A Bill for the levy of Port-dues in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855, It is enacted as follows:—

Port dues chargeable on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering any of the Ports.

I. Port-dues, at rates not exceeding the rates contained in the Schedule to this Act, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burthen of ten tons and upwards which shall enter any of the said Ports

Rate of Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to enter any of the Ports.

II When any vessel enters any of the said Ports, being driven in by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage, or for any other reason, but does not discharge or take in any cargo or passenger thereon (with the exception of such unshipment and re-shipment as may be necessary for the purpose of repair)—the Port-due chargeable in respect of such vessel shall be at a rate equal to one-half the rate chargeable in respect of other vessels.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter any of the Ports.

III. Provided that, when any vessel having left any of the said Ports is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage, no Port-due shall be chargeable in respect of such vessel

No vessel to pay Port due at same Port oftener than once in sixty days.

IV. No vessel shall be required to pay at the same Port any Port-due chargeable under this Act oftener than once in sixty days.

Commencement of Act.

V. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the first day of January 1858; and the local Government shall, on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in any of the said Ports subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date no Port-due shall be levied at any of the said Ports except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rates of Port-dues to be published.

No other Port-dues to be levied.

Construction.

VI. This Act shall be read with and taken as a part of Act XXII of 1855.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 26th September 1857.

THE following Bill, as settled in Committee of the whole Council, is published for general information :—

A Bill for the levy of Port-dues in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows :—

Port-dues chargeable on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering any of the Ports.

I. Port dues, at rates not exceeding the rates contained in the Schedule to this Act, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burthen of ten tons and upwards which shall enter any of the said Ports.

Rate of Port due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to enter any of the Ports.

II. When any vessel enters any of the said Ports, being driven in by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage, or for any other reason, but does not discharge or take in any cargo or passenger therein (with the exception of such unshipment and re-shipment as may be necessary for the purpose of repair)—the Port-due chargeable in respect of such vessel shall be at a rate equal to one-half the rate chargeable in respect of other vessels

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter any of the Ports.

III. Provided that, when any vessel having left any of the said Ports is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage, no Port-due shall be chargeable in respect of such vessel.

No vessel to pay Port-due at same Port oftener than once in sixty days.

IV. No vessel shall be required to pay at the same Port any Port-due chargeable under this Act oftener than once in sixty days.

Commencement of Act.

V. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the first day of January 1858; and the local Government shall, on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in any of the said Ports subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date no Port due shall be levied at any of the said Ports except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rates of Port-dues to be published.

No other Port-dues to be levied.

Construction.

VI. This Act shall be read with and taken as a part of Act XXII of 1855.

SCHEDULE.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 3rd October 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council on the 19th September 1857, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 7th of January 1858 :—

A Bill to extend the provisions of Act XXI of 1855 in the Presidency of Fort St. George to Minors not subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards.

WHEREAS, by Section XX Regulation V. 1804 and Section III Regulation X. 1831 of the Madras Code, the Zillah Courts, subject to the confirmation of the Sudder Adawlut, are authorized and required to appoint guardians to the Minor heirs of property of every description not subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards; and whereas, by Act XXI of 1855, better provision has been made for the education of Minors subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards, and it is expedient that the same powers which are thereby given to the Collectors and Courts of Wards in respect of the Minors under their superintendence should be exercised by the Zillah Courts, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, in respect of the Minors for whom they are required to appoint guardians; It is enacted as follows :—

Preamble.

I. The general superintendence and control of the education of every male Minor, for whom a guardian has been or shall be appointed by the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the Judge of the Zillah Court of the District within whose jurisdiction such Minor's estate is situate; or, if such Minor is possessed of immoveable property within the jurisdiction of more than one Zillah Court, in the Judge of such Court as the Sudder Adawlut shall direct.

General superintendence and control of the education of male Minor Wards vested in Zillah Judges.

II. The Judge of the Zillah Court, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, is hereby authorized to exercise in respect of such Minor and the guardian of such Minor all the powers and authorities, which, by Sections II, III, IV, and V Act XXI of 1855, the Collector of Revenue or the Court of Wards is authorized to exercise in respect of Minors and guardians of Minors whose property is under the management of the Court of Wards.

Powers of Zillah Judges.

III. The right to the custody of the person of every male Minor, for whom a guardian is appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the person appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, with the confirmation of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, either originally or upon the removal of a former guardian, to be the guardian of such Minor.

The right to the custody of the person of a male Minor vested in guardian appointed by the Zillah Judge with the confirmation of Sudder Court.

IV. All orders and proceedings of a Judge of a Zillah Court under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the revision of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, and every person aggrieved by any such order or proceeding may prefer an appeal therefrom to the Court of Sudder Adawlut.

Appeal from the orders of a Zillah Judge to lie to Sudder Court.

NOTIFICATION.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has the great satisfaction of publishing the subjoined letter of this day's date, from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, accompanied by letters from the General in Command and from the Adjutant General of the Army at Delhi.

It will be seen that further and more complete reports from Major General Wilson are yet to follow.

Most cordially does the Governor General in Council join in the high encomium passed upon Major General Wilson and his brave Troops by General Sir Colin Campbell; from whom praise so hearty and so just will not fail to be appreciated by every Soldier, British or Native, in the Army of the North-West.

The noble qualities which that Army has evinced during the arduous and wearing struggle of the last three months are indeed worthy of the highest admiration and praise. Its steady perseverance and eager, resistless courage have gloriously upheld the authority and will not disappoint the expectations of England.

By Order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,

COUNCIL CHAMBER;
FORT WILLIAM,

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
Calcutta, 8th October 1857

To

COLONEL BIRCH, C. B.,
Secretary to Government,
Military Department.

SIR,—I have the honor to forward for submission to His Lordship the Governor General in Council two Despatches, which have arrived from Major General Wilson, Commanding the Field Force before Delhi, and the Adjutant General of the Army.

I beg very particularly to call the attention of His Lordship to the matter contained in these two communications, and to give expression to the very cordial feeling I experience towards Major General Wilson and the Force under his Command.

It is impossible to be too lavish of praise for the untiring energy, invincible fortitude, and splendid gallantry by which this Force has been distinguished, from the General in Command to the private Soldier in the Ranks.

All have done their duty most nobly; and the steadfast courage of the men has enabled the General to carry out his enterprize, in spite of scanty means and a deadly season.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your very obedient, humble servant,
C. CAMPBELL, General,
Commander-in-Chief

HEAD QUARTERS FIELD FORCE,
Delhi, 16th September 1857.

To

CAPTAIN H. W. NORMAN,
Asst. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

SIR,—I have the high satisfaction of reporting, for the information of the Major General Commanding in the Upper Provinces, and through him of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and of Government, that on the morning of the 14th Instant, the Force under my Command successfully assaulted the City of Delhi.

Under present circumstances, Major General Nowan will, I trust, allow me to withhold for a time a full and complete detail of the operations from their commencement to their close, and to limit myself to a summary of events.

After six days of open trenches, during which the Artillery and Engineers, under their respective Commanding Officers, Major Gaitskell and Lieut.-Colonel Baird Smith, vied with each other in pressing forward the work, two excellent and most practicable breaches were formed in the walls of the place, one in the curtain to the right of the Cashmere Bastion, the other to the left of the Water Bastion, the defences of those Bastions and the parapets giving musquetry cover to the Enemy commanding the breaches, having also been destroyed by the Artillery.

The assault was delivered on four points. The 1st Column, under Brigadier J. Nicholson, consisting of Her Majesty's 75th Regiment (300 men,) the 1st European Bengal Fusiliers (200 men,) and the 2nd Punjaub Infantry (450 men,) assaulted the main breach, their advance being admirably covered by the 1st Battalion, Her Majesty's 60th Rifles, under Colonel J. Jones. The operation was crowned with brilliant success, the Enemy after severe resistance being driven from the Cashmere Bastion, the Main Guard, and its vicinity, in complete rout.

The 2nd Column, under Brigadier Jones, of Her Majesty's 61st Regiment, consisting of Her Majesty's 8th Regiment (250 men,) the 2nd European Bengal Fusiliers (250 men,) and the 4th Regiment of Seikhs (350 men,) similarly covered by the 60th Rifles, advanced on the Water Bastion, carried the breach, and drove the Enemy from his guns and position, with a determination and spirit which gave me the highest satisfaction.

The 3rd Column, under Colonel Campbell, of Her Majesty's 52nd Light Infantry, consisting of 200 of his own Regiment, the Kemaoon Battalion, (250 men,) and the 1st Punjab Infantry (500 men,) was directed against the Cashmere Gateway. This Column was preceded by an explosion party, under Lieutenants Home and Salkeld, of the Engineers, covered by the 60th Rifles. The demolition of the Gate having been accomplished, the Column forced an entrance, overcoming a strenuous opposition from the Enemy's Infantry and heavy Artillery, which had been brought to bear on the position. I cannot express too warmly my admiration of the gallantry of all concerned in this difficult operation.

The Reserve, under Brigadier Longfield, Her Majesty's 8th Regiment, composed of Her Majesty's 61st Regiment (250 men,) the 4th Regiment Rifles (450 men,) the Belooch Battalion (300 men,) the Jheend Rajah's Auxiliaries (300 men,) and 200 of Her Majesty's 60th Rifles, who joined after the assault had been made, awaited the result of the attack, and on the Columns entering the place, took possession of the posts I had previously assigned to it. This duty was ultimately performed to my entire satisfaction.

The firm establishment of the Reserve rendering the assaulting columns free to act in advance, Brigadier General Nicholson, supported by Brigadier Jones, swept the Ramparts of the place from the Cashmere to the Cabul Gates, occupying the Bastions and Defences, capturing the Guns, and driving the Enemy before him.

During the advance, Brigadier General Nicholson was, to the grief of myself and the whole Army, dangerously wounded. The Command consequently devolved on Brigadier Jones, who, finding the Enemy in great force, occupying and pouring a destructive fire from the roofs of strong and commanding houses in the City on all sides, the Ramparts themselves being enfiladed by Guns, prudently resolved on retaining possession of the Cabul Gate, which his Troops had so gallantly won, in which he firmly established himself, awaiting the result of the operations of the other Columns of occupation.

Colonel Campbell, with the Column under his Command, advanced successfully from the Cashmere Gate by one of the main streets beyond the "Chandnee Chouk," the central and principal street of the City towards the Jumma Musjid, with the intention of occupying that important post. The opposition, however, which he met from the great concentration of the Enemy, at the Jumma Musjid and the houses in the neighbourhood, he himself, I regret to state, being wounded, satisfied him that his most prudent course was not to maintain so advanced a position with the comparatively limited force at his disposal, and he accordingly withdrew the head of his Column and placed himself in communication with the Reserve, a measure which had my entire approval; I having previously determined that, in the event of serious opposition being encountered in the Town itself, it would be most inexpedient to commit my small Force to a succession of street fights, in which their gallantry, discipline, and organization could avail them so little.

My present position, therefore, is, that which, under such a contingency, I had resolved to occupy and establish myself in firmly as the base of my systematic operations for the complete possession of the City. This embraces the Magazine on one side, and the Cabul Gate on the other, with the Moree, Cashmere and Water Bastions, and strong intermediate posts with secure communication along the front and to the rear.

From this base, I am now cautiously pressing the Enemy on all points, with a view to establishing myself in a second advanced position, and I trust before many days to have it in my power to announce to the Supreme Government, that the Enemy have been driven from their last stronghold in the Palace, Fort, and Streets of the City of Delhi.

Simultaneously with the operations above detailed, an attack was made on the Enemy's strong position outside the City, in the Suburbs of Kissengunge and Pahareepore, with a view of driving in the Rebels, and supporting the main attack by effecting an entrance at the Cabul Gate after it should be taken.

The Force employed on this difficult duty, I entrusted to that admirable Officer, Major C. Reid, Commanding the Sirmoor Battalion, whose distinguished conduct I have already had occasion to bring prominently to the notice of Superior Authority, and who was, I much regret, severely wounded on this occasion. His Column consisted of his own Battalion, the Guides, and the men on duty at Hindoo Raos (the main Picquet,) numbering in all about 1,000, supported by the Auxiliary Troops of His Highness the Moharajah Rumbeir Singh, under Captain R. Lawrence.

The strength of the positions, however, and the desperate resistance offered by the Enemy, withstood for a time the efforts of our Troops, gallant though they were, and the combination was unable to be effected. The delay, I am happy to say, has been only temporary, for the Enemy have subsequently abandoned their positions, leaving their Guns in our hands.

In this attack I found it necessary to support Major Reid with Cavalry and Horse Artillery, both of which Arms were admirably handled respectively by Brigadier Hope Grant, of Her Majesty's 9th Lancers, Commanding the Cavalry Brigade, and Major H. Tombs, of the Horse Artillery, who inflicted severe punishment on the Enemy, though I regret their own loss was very heavy.

The resistance of the Rebels up to this time has been that of desperate men, and to this must be attributed the severe loss we have sustained, amounting proximately, so far as I am able to judge, in the absence of Casualty Returns, to 46 Officers killed and wounded, and about 800 men. Amongst those of whose services the State has been deprived, are many Officers of distinction and merit, holding superior Commands, whose places cannot be supplied, and I have specially to lament the loss which has been sustained by that splendid Corps, the Engineers, nine Officers of that Arm having fallen in the gallant performance of their duty.

Until I am in possession of reports from Brigadiers and other Commanding Officers, I shall be unable to enter more fully into the details of these operations, and I trust the circumstances under which I write, will excuse any slight inaccuracies or imperfections which my Despatch may exhibit.

The absence of such reports also prevents my bringing to notice the names of those Officers and Men who have specially distinguished themselves. This will be my grateful duty hereafter. But I cannot defer the expression of my admiration for the intrepidity, coolness, and determination of all engaged, Europeans and Natives, of all Arms of the Service.

I have, &c.,

FROM

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY,

TO

THE OFFICER COMMANDING AT CAWNPORE

SIR,—On the afternoon of the 14th, I despatched a messenger to you, intimating the success of the assault in Delhi, which took place that morning, and that we held from the Cabul Gate to the College; since then we have pushed on, and now occupy from the Cabul Gate along the line of the Canal, with our left holding the Bank, which opens on the Chandnee Chouk. The Magazine was breached during the 15th and taken by assault at day break on the 16th. You will understand from this that the Mutineers occupy the Burn Bastion and all that portion of the City to its South, excepting the Bank; they also still occupy the Palace and Selimgurh, and have a Camp pitched outside near the Ajmere Gate. The Palace wall will be breached as soon as we attain a suitable site for our Battery, which we have not yet acquired. Our Mortars have been brought into the Town and are shelling the Palace. The Guns taken on the works have also been turned upon the portions of the Town which are in possession of the Mutineers, and we are gradually pressing forwards. The usual license which invariably accompanies an assault of a large City has somewhat retarded our advance, but order is fast being restored. At first, the Mutineers offered obstinate resistance, but they have become less active. The townspeople are flying the City in crowds, and the Mutineers themselves are deserting in large bodies, their Cavalry it is reported having almost entirely disappeared. We can get no good information as to the Mutineers' line of retreat, but some say Gwalior. Few pass over the bridge. Their positions at Kissengunge were abandoned on the day after the assault, seven Guns being left behind in position. Our casualties on the day of the assault were:—Europeans, killed, 8 Officers, 162 Rank and File; wounded, 52 Officers, 510 Rank and File. Natives—killed, 103; wounded, 310. Missing, 10 Europeans. Total, Europeans and Natives, killed and wounded, 1,115. The following Officers killed:—Engineer, Lieutenant Tandy, H. M.'s 75th; Lieutenant Fitzgerald, H. M.'s 52nd; Lieutenant Bradshaw, H. M.'s 8th; Lieutenant Webb, 1st Fusiliers; Major Jacob; Captain MacBarnet, 55th N. I., doing duty; Lieutenant Davidson, 26th N. I., doing duty with 2nd Punjaub Infantry; Lieutenant Murray, 42nd N. I., doing duty with Guides. Wounded—Artillery, Major Tombs, Lieutenant Lindsay; Engineers, Lieutenants Greathead, Maunsell, Medley, Salkeld (dangerously), Chesney, Brownlow (dangerously), Hovenden, Pemberton; Local Ensign Gustavinske, 6th Dragoons; Captain Rosser, (mortally) 84th Foot (doing duty with 9th Lancers); Captain the Hon'ble A. Anson; Lieutenant B. Cuppage, 6th Light Cavalry, doing duty with 9th Lancers; H. M.'s 75th Foot, Colonel Herbert; Lieutenants Armstrong, Watson, Dayrell, 58th Native Infantry (doing duty) 2nd Fusiliers; Captain Hay, 60th Native Infantry (doing duty), dangerously; Lieutenant Elderton, Lieutenant Gambier, 38th Native Infantry (doing duty), dangerously; Lieutenant Walker, 60th Native Infantry (doing duty), H. M.'s 52nd; Colonel Campbell, Captain Bayley, Lieutenant Atkinson, H. M.'s 60th Rifles; Captain Waters, Lieutenant Curtis, Sirmoor Battalion; Major C. Reid, H. M.'s 8th; Lieutenant Colonel Brooke, Major Bayne (dangerously); Captain Boore; Captain Sandilands; Lieutenant Pogson (since dead); Lieutenant Walker, Lieutenant Metge, H. M.'s 61st; Captain Deacon, Lieutenant Moore, Lieutenant A. E. Young, Lieutenant Jenkins, 37th Native Infantry, attached to 4th Sikhs; Brigadier General Nicholson, dangerously, 1st Fusiliers; Captain Greville; Captain Caulfield, 3rd Native Infantry (doing duty); Captain Graydon, 16th Native Infantry (doing duty); Lieutenants Wemyss Owen, Lambert, Woodcock, 55th Native Infantry (doing duty); Lieutenant Speke, 65th Native Infantry, (doing duty) 1st Punjaub Infantry; Lieutenant Nicholson, 2nd Punjaub Cavalry (doing duty); Lieutenant Shelley, 11th Native Infantry (doing duty); Ensign Prior, Local Officer (doing duty), 2nd Punjaub Infantry; Captain Green, Lieutenant Frankland, Madras Infantry; 4th Punjaub Infantry, Lieutenant Remfray (since dead); Guide Infantry; Lieutenant Bond, 57th Native Infantry (doing duty). The following Ordnance has been captured:—In position and in the streets, 35 pieces of sorts, in the Magazine 171, total 206. The amount of Shot and Shell is unlimited. I have communicated the contents of this to Government.

P. S.—19*th.* During the night we advanced our left up to Abbott's house, and also Khan Mahomed's house. This gives us a strong position up to within 150 yards of the Palace walls. All our Mortars are bearing upon the Jumma Musjid and the Southern part of the Town, which is being fast evacuated, the resistance becoming much less on our right: we are also progressing by working through the houses. The King and Royal family are said to have evacuated the Palace and gone to the old Fort outside the City to the South. Our very small number make it necessary to be cautious in taking possession of so large a City, for from the great number we have of sick and wounded, and our loss on the day of the assault, have reduced us very much. This was too late to be sent yesterday.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 3rd October 1857

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council on the 19th September 1857, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 7th of January 1858.—

A Bill to extend the provisions of Act XXI of 1855 in the Presidency of Fort St. George to Minors not subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, by Section XX Regulation V. 1804 and Section III Regulation X. 1831 of the Madras Code, the Zillah Courts, subject to the confirmation of the Sudder Adawlut, are authorized and required to appoint guardians to the Minor heirs of property of every description not subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards; and whereas, by Act XXI of 1855, better provision has been made for the education of Minors subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards, and it is expedient that the same powers which are thereby given to the Collectors and Courts of Wards in respect of the Minors under their superintendence should be exercised by the Zillah Courts, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, in respect of the Minors for whom they are required to appoint guardians; It is enacted as follows:—

General superintendence and control of the education of male Minor Wards vested in Zillah Judges

I. The general superintendence and control of the education of every male Minor, for whom a guardian has been or shall be appointed by the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the Judge of the Zillah Court of the District within whose jurisdiction such Minor's estate is situate; or, if such Minor is possessed of immoveable property within the jurisdiction of more than one Zillah Court, in the Judge of such Court as the Sudder Adawlut shall direct.

Powers of Zillah Judges.

II. The Judge of the Zillah Court, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, is hereby authorized to exercise in respect of such Minor and the guardian of such Minor all the powers and authorities, which, by Sections II, III, IV, and V Act XXI of 1855, the Collector of Revenue or the Court of Wards is authorized to exercise in respect of Minors and guardians of Minors whose property is under the management of the Court of Wards.

The right to the custody of the person of a male Minor vested in guardian appointed by the Zillah Judge with the confirmation of Sudder Court.

III. The right to the custody of the person of every male Minor, for whom a guardian is appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the person appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, with the confirmation of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, either originally or upon the removal of a former guardian, to be the guardian of such Minor.

Appeal from the orders of a Zillah Judge to lie to Sudder Court.

IV. All orders and proceedings of a Judge of a Zillah Court under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the revision of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, and every person aggrieved by any such order or proceeding may prefer an appeal therefrom to the Court of Sudder Adawlut.

Fort William, 8th October 1857.

No. 1257 of 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General In Council has the great satisfaction of publishing the subjoined letter of this day's date, from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, accompanied by letters from the General in Command and from the Adjutant General of the Army at Delhi.

It will be seen that further and more complete reports from Major General Wilson are yet to follow.

Most cordially does the Governor General in Council join in the high encomium passed upon Major General Wilson and his brave Troops by General Sir Colin Campbell; from whom praise so hearty and so just will not fail to be appreciated by every Soldier, British or Native, in the Army of the North-West.

The noble qualities which that Army has evinced during the arduous and wearing struggle of the last three months are indeed worthy of the highest admiration and praise. Its steady perseverance and eager, resistless courage have gloriously upheld the authority and will not disappoint the expectations of England.

By Order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,

R. J. H. Birch, Colonel,
Secy. to the Govt. of India, in the Mily. Dept.

Council Chamber; Fort William, 8th October 1857.

Government House,
Calcutta, 8th October 1857.

To

Colonel Birch, C. B.,
Secretary to Government, Military Department.

Sir,—I have the honor to forward for submission to His Lordship the Governor General in Council two Despatches, which have arrived from Major General Wilson, Commanding the Field Force before Delhi, and the Adjutant General of the Army.

I beg very particularly to call the attention of His Lordship to the matter contained in these two communications, and to give expression to the very cordial feeling I experience towards Major General Wilson and the Force under his Command.

It is impossible to be too lavish of praise for the untiring energy, invincible fortitude, and splendid gallantry by which this Force has been distinguished, from the General in Command to the private Soldier in the Ranks.

All have done their duty most nobly; and the steadfast courage of the men has enabled the General to carry out his enterprize, in spite of scanty means and a deadly season.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your very obedient, humble servant,
C. Campbell, General,
Commander-in-Chief.

Head Quarters Field Force,
Delhi, 16th September 1857.

To Captain H. W. Norman,
Asst. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

Sir,—I have the high satisfaction of reporting, for the information of the Major General Commanding in the Upper Provinces, and through him of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and of Government, that on the morning of the 14th instant, the Force under my Command successfully assaulted the City of Delhi.

Under present circumstances, Major General Gowan will, I trust, allow me to withhold for a time a full and complete detail of the operations from their commencement to their close, and to limit myself to a summary of events.

After six days of open trenches, during which the Artillery and Engineers, under their respective Commanding Officers, Major Gaitskell and Lieut.-Colonel Baird Smith, vied with each other in pressing forward the work, two excellent and most practicable breaches were formed in the walls of the place, one in the curtain to the right of the Cashmere Bastion, the other to the left of the Water Bastion, the defences of those Bastions and the parapets giving musquetry cover to the Enemy commanding the breaches, having also been destroyed by the Artillery.

The assault was delivered on four points. The 1st Column, under Brigadier General J. Nicholson, consisting of Her Majesty's 75th Regiment (300 men,) the 1st European Bengal Fusiliers (200 men,) and the 2nd Punjaub Infantry (450 men,) assaulted the main breach, their advance being admirably covered by the 1st Battalion, Her Majesty's 60th Rifles, under Colonel J. Jones. The operation was crowned with brilliant success, the Enemy after severe resistance being driven from the Cashmere Bastion, the Main Guard, and its vicinity, in complete rout.

The 2nd Column, under Brigadier Jones, of Her Majesty's 61st Regiment, consisting of Her Majesty's 8th Regiment (250 men,) the 2nd European Bengal Fusiliers (250 men,) and the 4th Regiment of Seikhs (350 men,) similarly covered by the 60th Rifles, advanced on the Water Bastion, carried the breach, and drove the Enemy from his guns and position, with a determination and spirit which gave me the highest satisfaction.

The 3rd Column, under Colonel Campbell, of Her Majesty's 52nd Light Infantry, consisting of 200 of his own Regiment, the Kemaoon Battalion, (250 men,) and the 1st Punjaub Infantry (500 men,) was directed against the Cashmere Gateway. This Column was preceded by an explosion party, under Lieutenants Home and Salkeld, of the Engineers, covered by the 60th Rifles. The demolition of the Gate having been accomplished, the Column forced an entrance, overcoming a strenuous opposition from the Enemy's Infantry and heavy Artillery, which had been brought to bear on the position. I cannot express too warmly my admiration of the gallantry of all concerned in this difficult operation.

The Reserve, under Brigadier Longfield, Her Majesty's 8th Regiment, composed of Her Majesty's 61st Regiment (250 men,) the 4th Punjaub Rifles (450 men,) the Belooch Battalion (300 men,) the Jheend Rajah's Auxiliaries (300 men,) and 200 of Her Majesty's 60th Rifles, who joined after the assault had been made, awaited the result of the attack, and on the Columns entering the place, took possession of the posts I had previously assigned to it. This duty was ultimately performed to my entire satisfaction.

The firm establishment of the Reserve rendering the assaulting columns free to act in advance, Brigadier General Nicholson, supported by Brigadier Jones, swept the Ramparts of the place from the Cashmere to the Cabul Gates, occupying the Bastions and Defences, capturing the Guns, and driving the Enemy before him.

During the advance, Brigadier General Nicholson was, to the grief of myself and the whole Army, dangerously wounded. The Command consequently devolved on Brigadier Jones, who, finding the Enemy in great force, occupying and pouring a destructive fire from the roofs of strong and commanding houses in the City on all sides, the Ramparts themselves being enfiladed by Guns, prudently resolved on retaining possession of the Cabul Gate, which his Troops had so gallantly won, in which he firmly established himself, awaiting the result of the operations of the other Columns of occupation.

Colonel Campbell, with the Column under his Command, advanced successfully from the Cashmere Gate by one of the main streets beyond the "Chandnee Chouk," the central and principal street of the City towards the Jumma Musjid, with the intention of occupying that important post. The opposition, however, which he met from the great concentration of the Enemy, at the Jumma Musjid and the houses in the neighbourhood, he himself, I regret to state, being wounded, satisfied him that his most prudent course was not to maintain so advanced a position with the comparatively limited force at his disposal, and he accordingly withdrew the head of his Column and placed himself in communication with the Reserve, a measure which had my entire approval; I having previously determined that, in the event of serious opposition being encountered in the Town itself, it would be most inexpedient to commit my small Force to a succession of street fights, in which their gallantry, discipline, and organization could avail them so little.

My present position, therefore, is that which, under such a contingency, I had resolved to occupy and establish myself in firmly as the base of my systematic operations for the complete possession of the City. This embraces the Magazine on one side, and the Cabul Gate on the other, with the Moree, Cashmere and Water Bastions, and strong intermediate posts with secure communication along the front and to the rear.

From this base, I am now cautiously pressing the Enemy on all points, with a view to establishing myself in a second advanced position, and I trust before many days to have it in my power to announce to the Supreme Government, that the Enemy have been driven from their last stronghold in the Palace, Fort, and Streets of the City of Delhi.

Simultaneously with the operations above detailed, an attack was made on the Enemy's strong position outside the City, in the Suburbs of Kissengunge and Pahareepore, with a view of driving in the Rebels, and supporting the main attack by effecting an entrance at the Cabul Gate after it should be taken.

The Force employed on this difficult duty, I entrusted to that admirable Officer, Major C. Reid, Commanding the Sirmoor Battalion, whose distinguished conduct I have already had occasion to bring prominently to the notice of Superior Authority, and who was, I much regret, severely wounded on this occasion. His Column consisted of his own Battalion, the Guides, and the men on duty at Hindoo Raos (the main Picquet,) numbering in all about 1,000, supported by the Auxiliary Troops of His Highness the Moharajah Runbeir Singh, under Captain R. Lawrence.

The strength of the positions, however, and the desperate resistance offered by the Enemy, withstood for a time the efforts of our Troops, gallant though they were, and the combination was unable to be effected. The delay, I am happy to say, has been only temporary, for the Enemy have subsequently abandoned their positions, leaving their Guns in our hands.

In this attack I found it necessary to support Major Reid with Cavalry and Horse Artillery, both of which Arms were admirably handled, respectively, by Brigadier Hope Grant, of Her Majesty's 9th Lancers, Commanding the Cavalry Brigade, and Major H. Tombs, of the Horse Artillery, who inflicted severe punishment on the Enemy, though I regret their own loss was very heavy.

The resistance of the Rebels up to this time has been that of desperate men, and to this must be attributed the severe loss we have sustained, amounting proximately, so far as I am able to judge, in the absence of Casualty Returns, to 46 Officers killed and wounded, and about 800 men. Amongst those of whose services the State has been deprived, are many Officers of distinction and merit, holding superior Commands, whose places cannot be supplied, and I have specially to lament the loss which has been sustained by that splendid Corps, the Engineers, nine Officers of that Arm having fallen in the gallant performance of their duty.

Until I am in possession of reports from Brigadiers and other Commanding Officers, I shall be unable to enter more fully into the details of these operations, and I trust the circumstances under which I write, will excuse any slight inaccuracies or imperfections which my Despatch may exhibit.

The absence of such reports also prevents my bringing to notice the names of those Officers and Men who have specially distinguished themselves. This will be my grateful duty hereafter. But I cannot defer the expression of my admiration for the intrepidity, coolness, and determination of all engaged, Europeans and Natives, of all Arms of the Service.

I have, &c.,

City of Delhi, 18th September 1857.

FROM

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY,

TO

THE OFFICER COMMANDING AT CAWNPORE.

SIR,—On the afternoon of the 14th, I despatched a messenger to you, intimating the success of the assault in Delhi, which took place that morning, and that we held from the Cabul Gate to the College; since then we have pushed on, and now occupy from the Cabul Gate along the line of the Canal, with our left holding the Bank, which opens on the Chandnee Chouk. The Magazine was breached during the 15th and taken by assault at day-break on the 16th. You will understand from this that the Mutineers occupy the Burn Bastion, and all that portion of the City to its South, excepting the Bank; they also still occupy the Palace and Selimgurh, and have a Camp pitched outside near the Ajmere Gate. The Palace wall will be breached as soon as we attain a suitable site for our Battery, which we have not yet acquired. Our Mortars have been brought into the Town and are shelling the Palace. The Guns taken on the works have also been turned upon the portions of the Town which are in possession of the Mutineers, and we are gradually pressing forwards. The usual license which invariably accompanies an assault of a large City has somewhat retarded our advance, but order is fast being restored. At first, the Mutineers offered obstinate resistance, but they have become less active. The townspeople are flying the City in crowds, and the Mutineers themselves are deserting in large bodies, their Cavalry it is reported having almost entirely disappeared. We can get no good information as to the Mutineers' line of retreat, but some say Gwalior. Few pass over the bridge. Their positions at Kissengunge were abandoned on the day after the assault, seven Guns being left behind in position. Our casualties on the say of the assault were :—Europeans—killed, 8 Officers, 162 Rank and File; wounded, 52 Officers, 510 Rank and File. Natives—killed, 103; wounded, 310. Missing, 10. Europeans. Total, Europeans and Natives, killed and wounded, 1,145. The following Officers killed:—Engineer, Lieutenant Tandy, H. M.'s 75th; Lieutenant Fitzgerald, H. M.'s 52nd; Lieutenant Bradshaw, H. M.'s 8th; Lieutenant Webb, 1st Fusiliers; Major Jacob, Captain MacBarnet, 55th N. I., doing duty; Lieutenant Davidson, 26th N. I., doing duty with 2nd Punjaub Infantry; Lieutenant Murray, 42nd N. I., doing duty with Guides. Wounded —Artillery, Major Tombs, Lieutenant Lindsay; Engineers, Lieutenants Greathead, Maunsell, Medley, Salkeld (dangerously), Chesney, Brownlow (dangerously), Hovenden, Pemberton; Local Ensign Gustavinske, 6th Dragoons; Captain Rosser, (mortally) 84th Foot (doing duty with 9th Lancers); Captain the Hon'ble A. Anson, Lieutenant B. Cuppage, 6th Light Cavalry, doing duty with 9th Lancers; H. M.'s 75th Foot, Colonel Herbert; Lieutenants Armstrong, Watson, Dayrell, 58th Native Infantry, (doing duty) 2nd Fusiliers; Captain Hay, 60th Native Infantry (doing duty), dangerously; Lieutenant Elderton, Lieutenant Gambier, 38th Native Infantry (doing duty), dangerously; Lieutenant Walker, 60th Native Infantry, (doing duty) H. M.'s 52nd; Colonel Campbell, Captain Bayley, Lieutenant Atkinson, H. M.'s 60th Rifles; Captain Waters, Lieutenant Curtis, Sirmoor Battalion; Major C. Reid, H. M.'s 8th; Lieutenant Colonel Brooke, Major Bayne (dangerously), Captain Beere, Captain Sandilands, Lieutenant Pogson (since dead), Lieutenant Walker, Lieutenant Metge, H. M.'s 61st; Captain Deacon, Lieutenant Moore, Lieutenant A. E. Young, Lieutenant Jenkins, 57th Native Infantry, attached to 4th Sikhs; Brigadier General Nicholson, dangerously, 1st Fusiliers; Captain Greville, Captain Caulfield, 3rd Native Infantry (doing duty); Captain Graydon, 16th Native Infantry (doing duty); Lieutenants Wemyss, Owen, Lambert, Woodcock, 55th Native Infantry (doing duty); Lieutenant Speke, 65th Native Infantry, (doing duty) 1st Punjaub Infantry; Lieutenant Nicholson, 2nd Punjaub Cavalry (doing duty); Lieutenant Shelley, 11th Native Infantry (doing duty); Ensign Prior, Local Officer, (doing duty) 2nd Punjaub Infantry; Captain Green, Lieutenant Frankland, Madras Infantry, 4th Punjaub Infantry; Lieutenant Remfray (since dead), Guide Infantry; Lieutenant Bond, 57th Native Infantry (doing duty). The following Ordnance has been captured :—In position and in the streets, 35 pieces of sorts, in the Magazine 171—total 206. The amount of Shot and Shell is unlimited. I have communicated the contents of this to Government.

P. S.—19th. During the night we advanced our left up to Abbott's house, and also Khan Mahomed's house. This gives us a strong position up to within 150 yards of the Palace walls. All our Mortars are bearing upon the Jumma Musjid and the Southern part of the Town, which is being fast evacuated, the resistance becoming much less on our right: we are also progressing by working through the houses. The King and Royal family are said to have evacuated the Palace and gone to the old Fort outside the City to the South. Our very small number make it necessary to be cautious in taking possession of so large a City, for from the great number we have of sick and wounded, and our loss on the day of the assault, have reduced us very much. This was too late to be sent yesterday.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 3rd October 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council on the 19th September 1857, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 7th of January 1858 :—

A Bill to extend the provisions of Act XXI of 1855 in the Presidency of Fort St. George to Minors not subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, by Section XX Regulation V. 1804 and Section III Regulation X. 1831 of the Madras Code, the Zillah Courts, subject to the confirmation of the Sudder Adawlut, are authorized and required to appoint guardians to the Minor heirs of property of every description not subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards; and whereas, by Act XXI of 1855, better provision has been made for the education of Minors subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards, and it is expedient that the same powers which are thereby given to the Collectors and Courts of Wards in respect of the Minors under their superintendence should be exercised by the Zillah Courts, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, in respect of the Minors for whom they are required to appoint guardians; It is enacted as follows :—

General superintendence and control of education of male Minor Wards vested in Zillah Judges.

I. The general superintendence and control of the education of every male Minor, for whom a guardian has been or shall be appointed by the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the Judge of the Zillah Court of the District within whose jurisdiction such Minor's estate is situate; or, if such Minor is possessed of immoveable property within the jurisdiction of more than one Zillah Court, in the Judge of such Court as the Sudder Adawlut shall direct.

Powers of Zillah Judges.

II. The Judge of the Zillah Court, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, is hereby authorized to exercise in respect of such Minor and the guardian of such Minor all the powers and authorities, which, by Sections II, III, IV, and V Act XXI of 1855, the Collector of Revenue or the Court of Wards is authorized to exercise in respect of Minors and guardians of Minors whose property is under the management of the Court of Wards.

The right to the custody of the person of a male Minor vested in guardian appointed by the Zillah Judge with the confirmation of Sudder Court.

III. The right to the custody of the person of every male Minor, for whom a guardian is appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the person appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, with the confirmation of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, either originally or upon the removal of a former guardian, to be the guardian of such Minor.

Appeal from the orders of a Zillah Judge to lie to Sudder Court.

IV. All orders and proceedings of a Judge of a Zillah Court under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the revision of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, and every person aggrieved by any such order or proceeding may prefer an appeal therefrom to the Court of Sudder Adawlut.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Fort William, Home Department,

The 29th September 1857.

Notifications.—In supersession of the Notification of the 18th January 1856, it is hereby declared that all Medical Officers in the service of the Government are, as a general rule, entitled to remuneration for professional attendance on the families of those public servants whom they are bound to attend gratuitously. An exception is made in the case of the families of Military Officers, Staff or Regimental, and of Chaplains and Assistant Chaplains, but this exception does not include the families of Commissioned Military Officers in Civil employment.

The amount of remuneration for attendance on the families of public servants shall be left in every case to private adjustment, and the conduct of any Medical Officer who makes a demand, which, under the circumstances of the case, shall appear to the Government to be excessive, will be noticed as it deserves.

No. 42.

Fort William, Financial Department,
The 14th October 1857.

Notifications.—Read again Clause 4 of Section VI. of the Absentee Rules for the Covenanted Civil Service.

Read again the Financial Notifications, No. 25, of 27th June 1856, and No. 36, of 11th July 1856.

Read Paras. 9 and 10 of a Financial Despatch from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, No. 53, of 1857, dated the 5th August, on the subject of the periods of Preparatory Leave to be allowed to Covenanted and Uncovenanted Civil Servants who may take leave on Medical Certificate.

Resolution.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council observes that Clause 4 of Section VI of the Absentee Rules for the Covenanted Civil Service, allows, in cases of Sick Leave, Preparatory Leave for a period of one, two, or three months, according to the distance to be travelled on half salary, not exceeding 10,000 Rupees per annum.

On the 27th June 1856, it was notified that the Preparatory Leave allowed under the above Clause should, from that date, be calculated at the rate of one day for every ten miles of the distance to be travelled, provided that the limit of three months was not exceeded, and that the whole time claimed was spent bonâ fide between the place of departure and the place of destination.

A like provision was made in Para. 2 of the Notification, No. 36, dated 11th July 1856, for Uncovenanted Servants, with the following alterations, viz., that the time allowed to them should be calculated at the rate of one day for every fifteen miles of the distance travelled, and that the maximum limit of the Preparatory Leave should be two months.

In lieu of the above rulings, the Hon'ble Court have now authorized this Government to grant, as a general rule, to both Covenanted and Uncovenanted Officers proceeding beyond Sea, on Medical Certificate, Special Leave for the interval elapsing between departure from Station and the commencement of reckoning absence, or between the end of reckoning absence and re-arrival at Station, for an additional period of four, six, or eight weeks, according as the distance to be travelled shall not exceed 300 or 600 miles, or be in excess of the last-mentioned distance, on the condition that during this additional period, the Absentee shall be entitled to draw the same rates of Allowances as are granted by the Clauses noted in the margin.* If the leave on Medical Certificate be taken in India, the Preparatory Leave to both Covenanted and Uncovenanted Servants is to be calculated at the rate of one day for every fifteen miles of the distance to be travelled to the Sanatarium.

* In the case of Covenanted Servants, Clause 3 of Section VI. of the Absentee Rules for the Covenanted Service.

In the case of Uncovenanted Servants, Clause 3 of Section V. of the Absentee Rules for the Uncovenanted Service.

ORDER.—Ordered that a Copy of the foregoing be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

Ordered also, that a transcript be sent to the Departments,* the Governments,† and the Officers,‡ noted in the margin, for information and guidance.

The following Extract, from the Proceedings of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, No. 39. A., under date 11th September 1857, is re-published for general information :—

Read again, Section X. Chapter 3 of the Rules for regulating Leave of Absence to Uncovenanted Civil Servants.

Read, an endorsement from the Home Department, No. 1598, dated the 25th Ultimo, forwarding, for consideration and orders, a letter, No. 1941, dated the 4th Idem, from the Secretary to the Government of Bombay, requesting to be furnished with precise information as to the nature of the leave to which Section X. Chapter 3 of the Uncovenanted Service Absentee Rules refers.

RESOLUTION.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council observes, in reference to the above enquiry, that Section X. of the Uncovenanted Service Absentee Rules applies only to Absentees on Sick Leave, who, while absent on leave, may wish to draw their Allowances through their Agents; and he therefore directs that the above Section be transferred from the head "Rules for Leave on Private Affairs" to the head "Rules for Sick Leave," and that it be numbered as Section VI., the four subsequent Sections at present numbered VI, VII., VIII. and IX. being numbered VII., VIII., IX. and X.

Section X. Parties who may desire to draw their Allowances while absent on leave, will be required to give security in such amount and form as may be fixed by Government for the refund of any excess that may be drawn in case of their coming under retrenchment.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be sent to the Home Department for communication to the Government of Bombay, and that the original paper received therefrom be returned.

Ordered also, that a copy of the above Resolution be sent to the Departments,* Governments,† and Officers,‡ noted in the margin, for their information and guidance.

Ordered also, that a transcript of the above Resolution be published in the Official Gazette for general information.

Fort William, the 19th October 1857.

No 1310 of 1857.—The following Notification, from the Home Department, is published in General Orders :—

No. 2095, dated 29th September 1857.—In supersession of the Notification of the 18th January* 1856, it is hereby declared that all Medical Officers in the service of the Government are, as a general rule, entitled to remuneration for professional attendance on the families of those public servants whom they are bound to attend gratuitously. An exception is made in the case of the families of Military Officers, Staff or Regimental, and of Chaplains and Assistant Chaplains, but this exception does not include the families of Commissioned Military Officers in Civil employment.

* In Government General Order, Military Department, No. 143 of 1856.

The amount of remuneration for attendance on the families of public servants shall be left in every case to private adjustment, and the conduct of any Medical Officer who makes a demand, which, under the circumstances of the case, shall appear to the Government to be excessive, will be noticed as it deserves.

No. 1311 of 1857.—The following Notification, from the Foreign Department, is published in General Orders :—

No. 4232, of the 16*th October* 1857.—Lieutenant C. F. Vincent, 30th Regiment Bengal Native Infantry, and Officiating Second in Command of the Mhairwarra Local Battalion, has obtained leave of absence, on Medical Certificate, for six weeks.

No. 1312 of 1857.—The following Notification, from the Financial Department, is published in General Orders :—

No. 42, dated 14*th October* 1857.—Notification.—Read again, Clause 4 of Section VI. of the Absentee Rules for the Covenanted Civil Service.

Read again, the Financial Notifications, No. 25, of 27th June 1856, and No. 36, of 11th July 1856.

Read, Paras. 9 and 10 of a Financial Despatch from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, No. 53, of 1857, dated the 5th August, on the subject of the periods of Preparatory Leave to be allowed to Covenanted and Uncovenanted Civil Servants who may take leave on Medical Certificate.

Resolution.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council observes that Clause 4 of Section VI of the Absentee Rules for the Covenanted Civil Service, allows, in cases of Sick Leave, Preparatory Leave for a period of one, two, or three months, according to the distance to be travelled on half salary, not exceeding 10,000 Rupees per annum.

On the 27th June 1856, it was notified that the Preparatory Leave allowed under the above Clause should, from that date, be calculated at the rate of one day for every ten miles of the distance to be travelled, provided that the limit of three months was not exceeded, and that the whole time claimed was spent bonâ fide between the place of departure and the place of destination.

A like provision was made in Para. 2 of the Notification, No. 36, dated 11th July 1856, for Uncovenanted Servants, with the following alterations, viz., that the time allowed to them should be calculated at the rate of one day for every fifteen miles of the distance travelled, and that the maximum limit of the Preparatory Leave should be two months.

In lieu of the above rulings, the Hon'ble Court have now authorized this Government to grant, as a general rule, to both Covenanted and Uncovenanted Officers proceeding beyond Sea, on Medical Certificate, Special Leave for the interval elapsing between departure from Station and the commencement of reckoning absence, or between the end of reckoning absence and re-arrival at Station, for an additional period of four, six, or eight weeks, according as the distance to be travelled shall not exceed 300 or 600 miles, or be in excess of the last-mentioned distance, on the condition that during this additional period, the Absentee shall be entitled to draw the same rates of Allowances as are granted by the Clauses noted in the margin.* If the leave on Medical Certificate be taken in India, the Preparatory Leave to both Covenanted and Uncovenanted Servants is to be calculated at the rate of one day for every fifteen miles of the distance to be travelled to the Sanatarium.

* In the case of Covenanted Servants, Clause 3 of Section VI. of the Absentee Rules for the Covenanted Service.

In the case of Uncovenanted Servants, Clause 3 of Section V. of the Absentee Rules for the Uncovenanted Service.

Order.—Ordered that a Copy of the foregoing be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

Ordered also, that a transcript be sent to the Departments,* the Governments,† and the Officers,‡ noted in the margin, for information and guidance.

Lieutenant Boddam is also vested with the powers described in Section I. Act. XVII. of 1857, to try for mutiny or desertion, wherever the offence may have been committed, any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Troops of the East India Company.

Dated 26th October 1857.—In continuation of the Notification under date the 9th instant, published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 10th idem, it is hereby further notified that Sections XII. to XXV. and Sections XXVII. to XXXVI. of Act XXVIII. of 1857, are extended from this date to all places within the jurisdiction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Licenses to manufacture or deal in Arms and Ammunition will be granted in Calcutta by the Commissioner of Police, and elsewhere by the District Magistrates.

The same Officers will give licenses, under Section XV., for the transport of Arms, Ammunition, Military Stores, Sulphur, and Saltpetre.

Licenses to manufacture Percussion Caps will be granted under the special order of the Lieutenant-Governor only.

Licenses to import Arms, Ammunition, Sulphur, and Saltpetre, will also be granted by the Lieutenant-Governor; but Arms and Ammunition in reasonable quantities, for private use and not for sale, may be passed by the Collector of Customs, without previous reference to Government.

The licenses for the manufacture or sale of Arms and Ammunition will be subject to no other conditions than those prescribed in Section IX. of the Act.

The transport in any direction, by any person not acting on behalf of Government, of Arms, Ammunition, Military Stores, and Sulphur, and the transport by any such person of Saltpetre, except towards Calcutta, will not be permitted without a license, in which must be specified the route and destination of the Arms or other Articles protected by the license.

Any person having in his possession more than one maund of Sulphur at any one time, or whose dealings in Sulphur or use of that article for the purposes of his business exceed ten maunds in the month, must give notice, if in Calcutta, to the Commissioner of Police, and if out of Calcutta, to the Magistrate of the District, who may grant him a license to retain in store such quantity as may be necessary, on condition that none be removed from the place in which it is stored without his permission in writing, and that the whole of such quantity will be duly accounted for whenever the authority granting the license may require this to be done.

The sale of more than one maund of Sulphur at a time, or of more than ten maunds to the same person, within one month, is prohibited.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th October 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 23rd October 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXX OF 1857.

An Act for the levy of Port-dues and fees in the Port of Calcutta.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues and fees to be hereafter levied and taken in the Port of Calcutta in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows :—

Port due chargeable on sea-going vessels of twenty tons and upwards entering the Port.

I. A Port-due, at a rate not exceeding the rate of four annas for every ton of burden, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of twenty tons and upwards which shall enter the said Port.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter the Port.

II. Provided that no such due shall be chargeable in respect of any vessel which, having left the Port, is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage.

Military Department.
No. 170 of 1857.

OUR GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

We transmit herewith three copies of each of the Royal Warrants named in the margin. That dated 18th July 1857, directing that the claim of the widow of an Officer, whose death might have been accelarated by the performance of his duty, shall be admissible, if the husband shall have served five, instead of seven years, and that dated the 20th July 1857, prescribing revised Rules for the pensioning of Non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers, with reference to the Good Conduct Service or Good Conduct Pay to which they may be entitled.

Royal Warrants dated 18th and 20th July 1857.

VICTORIA R.

Whereas by Our Royal Warrant, bearing date the 15th June 1855, Regulations were established for the grant of Pensions to widows of Officers of the Land Forces, and whereas by the said Regulations it is required, in order to give a claim to Pension to the Widow of an Officer dying from the effects of Foreign Service while serving on Full Pay, that such Officer shall have served "seven" years, shall have been in good health when he married, and that it shall be clearly shown that the disease which occasioned his death was accelerated by the performance of his duty, and was not the result of constitutional pre-disposition, misconduct, or any circumstances over which the Officer himself had control : Our will and pleasure is, that hereafter, if any Officer so dying shall have served "five" years, his widow's claim shall be admissible, subject to the provisions of Our said Royal Warrant. And it is Our further will and pleasure, that the Regu-

VICTORIA R.

Whereas by Our Royal Warrant of the 1st July 1848, it is declared that the distinction and rewards for good conduct shall not extend to Serjeants and other Non-Commissioned Officers above the rank of Corporal: And whereas it is further declared, that Corporals shall not be entitled to have their good-conduct pay added to their pension on discharge, but that they shall have the option of having their pensions computed as privates, either with the addition of good-conduct reward, or with the addition of one half-penny per diem for each year of service completed in the rank of Corporal, Our will and pleasure is, that all Corporals who enlisted into Our Service subsequently to the 1st March 1833, and who may have been, or who shall hereafter be, discharged after completing twenty one years' service in the Infantry, or twenty-four years' service in the Cavalry, shall be entitled to have their pensions computed according to the scale prescribed in the second portion of the ninth clause of Our said Royal Warrant; and shall also be allowed to add the good-conduct pay of which which they shall have been in possession when discharged, to augment the rate of pension to a sum not exceeding one shilling and six-pence a day.

It is Our further will and pleasure that all Serjeants and other Non-Commissioned Officers above the rank of Corporal, who enlisted subsequently to the 1st March 1833, and who may have been, or who shall hereafter be, discharged after twenty-one years' service in the Infantry, or twenty-four years' service in the Cavalry, shall be entitled to have their pensions computed according to the scale prescribed in the said article of Our said Royal Warrant; and shall also be entitled to have their service as Serjeant reckoned as good-conduct service to enable them to add to the rate of good-conduct pay which they had acquired prior to promotion, and to carry the whole to increase their pension: Provided always, that the amount of pension thus to be awarded shall, in no case, exceed the maximum pension prescribed by Our said Royal Warrant of the 1st July 1848; namely, for a Serjeant-Major two shillings and six-pence a day; for a Quarter-Master Serjeant two shillings and three-pence; and for a Troop Serjeant Major, Colour Serjeant, or Serjeant, two shillings a day.

And whereas by the fifth paragraph of the twenty-first clause of Our said Royal Warrant of the 1st July 1848, it is declared that Soldiers who had enlisted before the 2nd March 1833, shall not be entitled to have their good-conduct pay added to their pension on discharge: Our will and pleasure further is, that all such Soldiers, except those who have been discharged upon the modified rate of pension, whether Privates, Corporals, Serjeants, or other Non-Commissioned Officers above the rank of Corporal, who, since the grant of good-conduct pay, have been or may hereafter be discharged, shall have the option of being pensioned for service alone, without any consideration for good-conduct pay, under the provisions of the Warrant of the 14th November 1829, or of reckoning their good-conduct pay or good-conduct service in addition to such rates of pension as men of similar length of service, enlisted after the 1st March 1833, would be entitled to under the provisions of the Warrant of the 1st July 1848; provided, however, that the pension, except for wounds received in action, shall in no case exceed, for a Private one shilling and three-pence; for a Corporal one shilling and six-pence; for a Serjeant, Troop Serjeant-Major, or Colour Serjeant, two shillings; for a Quarter-Master Serjeant two shillings and three-pence; and for a Serjeant-Major two shillings and six-pence a day.

No. 1395 of 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council directs the publication in General Orders of the following Extract of a Military letter from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors to the Government of India, No. 174, of the 23rd September 1857, and the Royal Warrant therein referred to:—

Military Department.

No. 174 of 1857.

OUR GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

We transmit herewith three copies of a Royal Warrant dated 1st August 1857, No 128, establishing a Corps to be called the "Army Hospital Corps," and fixing the rates of pay and pension to which the men of that Corps are to be entitled.

We are, &c.,

(Signed) ROSS D. MANGLES,

And Eleven other Directors.

LONDON,
The 23rd September 1857.

No. 128.

VICTORIA R.

Whereas We have deemed it necessary to constitute a new Corps of Attendants at our Military Hospitals, for the better care of the Sick and Wounded Soldiers of Our Army: Our will and pleasure is that a Corps shall be forthwith raised for this purpose, which shall be called the "Army Hospital Corps," and shall consist of the ranks, and shall receive the rates of pay, specified in this Warrant, and shall be subject to the Rules and Regulations laid down in the same.

157,717 / 883

1. The Army Hospital Corps is to consist of the following ranks:—

Serjeant Major.
Company-Serjeant.
Serjeant.
Private.

2. The pay of these ranks is to be as follows:—

Serjeant-Major	4*s.*	a day.
Company-Serjeant ..	3*s.*	„
Serjeant	2*s.*	„
Private	1*s.*	„

3. Increased pay for good conduct and long service is to be granted to the Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of this Corps, under the provisions of the Good-Conduct Warrant for the Line, subject to the usual forfeiture for each entry in the Defaulter Book.

4. Every Non-Commissioned Officer and Private of this Corps is to be allowed the daily ration of a Soldier in Hospital on full diet, free of any stoppage, whenever it is practicable to furnish such diet; but in the event of his becoming a patient in Hospital, he is to be supplied with the class of diet applicable to his case, and for such diet he is not to be liable to any stoppage from his pay. He will not be entitled under any circumstances to the allowance of 1*d.* a-day for beer money.

5. Whenever it is not practicable to furnish him with a full hospital diet, he is to be supplied from the public stores with a ration as nearly as possible equivalent thereto, free of any stoppage; and when he cannot draw rations from the public stores, whether on board ship or on shore, he is to receive a money allowance of 8*d.* a-day in lieu of a free ration. Under no circumstances is he to be liable to stoppage from his pay for any ration supplied to him at the public expense. When he is in confinement for any offence, the whole of his pay is to be forfeited, and he is to be provided with the usual prison diet.

6. When he is on a march, under route, in the pursuance of the public duty, the same allowances for marching money and hot meals are to be charged for him as for a Soldier on the march; and in such case he is not to be entitled to rations, but is to receive in addition to such marching allowances, the money allowance of 8*d.* mentioned in Article 5.

7. While on furlough, he is to be subject to the same Rules as Soldiers, but the pay to be advanced to him, while so situated, is to be 6*d.* a-day less than the full rate of pay of his rank, and the residue is to be accounted for to him on his return to duty.

8. While on Furlough he will not be entitled to the money allowance of 8*l.* a day, in lieu of rations, but will be settled with for his pay only.

9. A Private of this Corps, appointed to act as Surgery-man, is to receive, while so acting, 1*s.* a-day in addition to his pay. A Private, appointed to act as Assistant Cook or Barber, is to receive, while so acting, 2*d.* a-day in addition to his pay.

10. All Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of this Corps are to be liable to be employed in any way that may be required in the performance of Hospital duties; and, when on duty with an Army in the Field, they will be liable to be attached to the Field Ambulances, and to attend on the wounded, carrying them off the field, and performing any such like duties.

11. Although a portion of the Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates may be placed under the immediate orders of the Purveyor, they are to be under the general superintendence and control of the Principal Medical Officer of each Station, or of the Senior Medical Officer of each Regiment, as the case may be.

12. The Non-Commissioned Officers are to take rank with those of the other Corps of Our Army, and are to wear the ordinary distinctions of Non-Commissioned Officers on their uniforms.

13. The ranks of the Army Hospital Corps are to be filled, as a general rule, by Soldiers volunteering from the ranks of other Corps of Our Army, and having such length of service as shall from time to time be fixed by Our Commander-in-Chief.

14. Whenever it may be desirable to admit into this Corps candidates who are not Soldiers, application is to be made to Our Secretary of State for the War Department for special authority to enlist such candidates.

15. All Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of this Corps are to be liable to be discharged from the Service at any time that Our Commander-in-Chief shall think fit, without any claim to compensation beyond the scale of pensions hereinafter laid down, and they may be re-transferred, at the order of Our Commander-in-Chief, for misconduct, unfitness, or any other cause which Our Commander-in-Chief may deem sufficient, to the Corps of the Army from which they may have been transferred to this Corps.

16. When their services shall be dispensed with, they shall be entitled to pensions on the following scale, after a total service in this Corps, or in the Line, exceeding twenty-one years, of which sixteen at least shall have been in this Corps

17. Serjeants-Major.—After twenty-one years' service, of which at least five in that rank, a pension for life of 2*s.* a day, increasing to a maximum of 3*s.* a-day, at the rate of 2*d.* for each additional year's service, with the further additions of good-conduct pay of which they may be in possession at the time of their discharge, and of 1*d.* a-day for every five years' service as Non-Commissioned Officers, but the maximum with such additions not to exceed 3*s.* a-day.

18. Company-Serjeants.—After twenty-one years' total service, of which at least five in that rank, a pension for life of 1*s.* 6*d.* a-day, increasing to a maximum of 2*s.* 6*d.* a-day, at the rate of 1½*d.* for each additional year's service, with the further addition of the good conduct pay of which they may be in possession at the time of their discharge, and of 1*d.* a day for every five years' service as Non-Commissioned Officers, but the maximum with such additions not to exceed 2*s.* 6*d.* a-day.

19. Serjeants.—After twenty-one years' total service, of which at least five in that rank, a pension for life of 1*s.* 3*d.* a-day, increasing to a maximum of 2*s.*, at the rate of 1*d.* a day for each additional year's service, with the further additions of the good-conduct pay of which they may be in possession at the time of their discharge, and of 1*d.* a-day for every five years' service as Non-Commissioned Officers, but the maximum with such additions not to exceed 2*s.* a-day.

20. Privates.—After twenty-one years' service, of which sixteen years at least shall have been in this Corps, a pension for life of 10*d.* a-day, increasing to a maximun of 1*s.* 4*d.*, at the rate of ¾*d.* a-day for each additional year's service, with the further addition of the good-conduct pay, of which they shall have been in uninterrupted possession for six months immediately preceding their discharge, but the maximum with such addition not to exceed 1*s.* 7*d.* a-day.

21. In case a Non Commissioned Officer or Private of this Corps shall become disabled by disease or injury contracted on duty in the service, his case shall be specially considered, with a view to a pension being awarded to him, proportionate to his disability, without reference to length of service.

22. In all points not specifically detailed or provided for in this Warrant, the Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates of this Corps shall be subject to all the Rules and Regulations affecting the other Corps of Our Army.

23. For the general management of the Corps and the due preservation of its records, an Officer or Officers shall be appointed, who will be stationed at the Depôt, and will perform generally the duties of the Pay-master, Adjutant, and Quarter-master of a Regiment.

24. For men of this Corps who may be attached to a General Hospital, the Purveyor is to perform the duty of Pay-master and Quarter-master; but when the men are serving in Regimental or Depôt Battalion Hospitals, the Officer Commanding will attach them to Companies for the purposes of discipline and payment.

Given at Our Court at Saint James's, this first day of August 1857, in the twenty-first year of Our Reign.

At a Marine Court assembled on Friday, the Sixteenth day of October, One-thousand Eight-hundred and Fifty-seven, under Act XXIV. of 1845, Mr Master Pilot J. C. Priddle was tried on the following Charge :—

CHARGE.

Mr. Master Pilot J. C. Priddle, placed under arrest by order of the Superintendent of Marine on the following Charge :—

For breach of duty in the following Instance—

That he, being in Pilotage Charge of the inward-bound English Ship Constantinople, upon the sixth day of this present month of October, through unskilful performance of his duty, caused that Vessel to ground upon the Muckreeputty Lump, where she immediately rolled over and became a total wreck.

(Signed) H. HOWE,
Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM ;
Marine Supdt.'s Office,
The 12th October 1857.

FINDING.

The Court, having maturely weighed and considered the evidence brought forward in support of the prosecution, together with the Defence, is of opinion that the Defendant, Mr. Master Pilot J. C. Priddle, is Guilty of the Charge preferred against him.

(Signed) HY. PIDDINGTON,
President.

The Court having found the Defendant Guilty of the Charge preferred against him, do adjudge that he, Mr. J. C. Priddle, lose one step in rank, and his name do stand below Mr. Master Pilot W H. Cox and above Mr. Master Pilot G. G. Todd in the List of Master Pilots.

(Signed) HY. PIDDINGTON,
President.
(Signed) THOMAS HILL,
Judge Advocate.

2. The Proceedings having been submitted to Government, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has been pleased to intimate that he is unable to approve of the Sentence of the Court, and therefore directs that Mr. Priddle do return to his duty.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1857.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 332.

FORT WILLIAM,

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT,

The 6th November 1857.

REFERRING to the Notifications from this Department, Nos. 140 and 185, dated the 18th June and 1st July last, in which the services of the Persian Expeditionary Force were acknowledged, the Right Honorable the Governor General in Council desires to express his obligations to the Clergymen who were attached to the Force, and to certain Officers whom Lieutenant-General Sir James Outram, K. C. B., omitted to notice in his Despatch.

The Reverend Messrs. Badger, Watson and Schwabe, and the Roverend Mr. Strickland, Roman Catholic Clergyman, were assiduous in their attention to the spiritual wants of the Officers and European Troops during the continuance of the Campaign, and have established a claim, as well to the gratitude of those who benefited by their ministrations, as to the thanks of the Government of India.

Captain Playfair, of the Bombay Engineers, was Field Engineer under the late Major-General Stalker at the Affair of Bushire and the Capture of Bushire, and he acted in the same capacity at Khooshab, and again at Mohamreh, under the Command of Lieutenant-General Sir James Outram. On all occasions, Captain Playfair made himself conspicuous by his zeal and activity, and won the approbation of his Superiors.

Captain Good commanded a Detachment of H. M.'s 64th Foot, on the Expedition to Ahwaz, and contributed to the signal success which was there achieved.

Lieutenant W. Gray, late Deputy Assistant Commissary General, was in charge of the Executive Commissariat duties at Bushire, which were of an extensive and important character, and were conducted by that Officer with commendable zeal and efficiency.

The services of these Officers have been noticed by Lieutenant-General Sir J. Outram, K. C. B., with much approbation, and the Right Honorable the Governor General in Council has great pleasure in tendering to them the thanks of the Government of India.

No. 333.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has received official information of the evacuation of Bushire by the British Troops on the 2nd October. The Island of Karrack is the only spot of Persian Soil which is still in the occupation of the British Government, and the relinquishment of that post only awaits the receipt of authentic intelligence by the Officer in Command, that the conditions of the Treaty of Peace concluded on the 4th March last have been completely fulfilled by the Persian Government.

In making this announcement, it becomes the gratifying duty of the Governor General in Council to record the sense which is entertained by the Government of India of the services rendered by Brigadier-General Jacob, C. B., and the Officers under his Command.

When Lieutenant-General Sir J. Outram, K. C. B., left Bushire in progress to Mohamreh, the Command of the Troops remaining at the former post was committed to Brigadier-General John Jacob, and subsequently, when the Lieutenant-General was re-called to India, all the Military and Political authority, which had been exercised by him, devolved on Brigadier-General Jacob. The admirable discipline, order and efficiency, which have been maintained amongst the Troops under Brigadier-General Jacob's Command at Bushire, and the judgment with which he has discharged all his high and important functions, entitle that very distinguished Officer to the warmest thanks of the Government of India.

The confidence with which Lieutenant-General Sir J. Outram resigned his Command into the hands of the Brigadier General, has been fully justified by the issue. The British Troops leave behind them in Persia a reputation, not for valor alone, but for discipline, moderation, and justice, and it is to Brigadier-General Jacob especially, and to the able Officers by whom he was surrounded, that this gratifying result is due.

Brigadier-General Jacob, C. B., has expressed his obligations to the Field Force under his Command.

The thanks of the Government of India are especially due to Brigadier Wilson, K. H., Brigadier Stuart, Commanding the Cavalry at Bushire, and Brigadier Honner.

Colonel Trevelyan, Commanding the Artillery, has zealously and usefully aided Brigadier-General Jacob in matters beyond the ordinary range of his duty, and Major John Hill, Commanding the Engineers, has done excellent service.

To the Officers Commanding Regiments, and to the Heads of Departments, high credit is due, for the perfect order and efficiency maintained during the whole period of occupation; and to none more than to Superintending Surgeon Stovell, who has labored to preserve the health of the Army with assiduity and success.

Captain Felix Jones, of the Indian Navy, Political Resident and Civil Commissioner of Bushire, has, together with the Officers under his Orders, earned the best thanks of the Governor General in Council for the mode in which his charge has been administered.

The various duties which have fallen to Commodore Rennie, Indian Navy, since the cessation of hostilities, have been scarcely less important than those previously discharged by him; and through the ability and zeal of himself and the Officers under his Command, they have been performed in a manner to call for the marked approbation of the Governor General in Council.

Finally, the Governor General in Council begs to offer his cordial thanks to all the Officers, the Non-Commissioned Officers, and Men, composing the Force under the Command of Brigadier General Jacob, C. B., for their orderly conduct and their steady discipline during the occupation of Bushire, and to assure them that it will be his care to bring their services under the favorable notice of Her Majesty's Government and the Hon'ble the Court of Directors.

By Order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,

G. F. EDMONSTONE,
Secretary to the Govt. of India.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1857.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1383 of 1857.

FORT WILLIAM, 5TH NOVEMBER 1857.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has received a Despatch from Major-General Wilson, in continuation of that which was published in the Notification No. 1257, of the 8th Ultimo, and completing the Narrative of the Capture of Delhi.

The Reports and Returns which accompany this Despatch establish the arduous nature of a contest carried on against an Enemy vastly superior in numbers, holding a strong position, furnished with unlimited appliances, and aided by the most exhausting and sickly season of the year.

They set forth the indomitable courage and perseverance, the heroic self-devotion and fortitude, the steady discipline and stern resolve of English Soldiers.

There is no mistaking the earnestness of purpose with which the struggle has been maintained by Major-General Wilson's Army. Every heart was in the cause; and whilst their numbers were, according to all ordinary rule, fearfully unequal to the task, every man has given his aid wherever and in whatever manner it could most avail to hasten retribution upon a treacherous and murderous foe.

In the name of outraged humanity, in memory of innocent blood ruthlessly shed, and in acknowledgment of the first signal vengeance inflicted upon the foulest treason, the Governor General in Council records his gratitude to Major-General Wilson and the brave Army of Delhi. He does so in the sure conviction, that a like tribute awaits them, not in England only, but wherever, within the limits of civilization, the news of their well-earned triumph shall reach.

Major-General Wilson has testified to the earnest and efficient support which he has received from every branch of the Force under his Command.

To Major F. Gaitskell, who, on Brigadier Garbett being disabled by a wound, assumed the Command of the Artillery in the Field, and to the Officers and Men of that Arm—to Lieutenant Colonel Hogge, Director of the Artillery Depôt, who volunteered his services as Commissary of Ordnance with the Siege Train—to Captain J. Young and to the other Officers of that branch, the Governor General in Council tenders his cordial thanks for their exertions during the whole siege.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Baird Smith, for the able and successful conduct of the siege operations, under the discouragement of sickness and pain, the best thanks of the Governor General in Council are eminently due. This distinguished Officer was admirably seconded by Captain A. Taylor, and the Officers and Men of the Engineer Brigade.

To Brigadier Hope Grant, C. B., Commanding the Cavalry Brigade, and to Brigadiers J. Longfield and W. Jones, C. B, Commanding the Brigades of Infantry, the Governor General in Council offers his warm acknowledgments of their excellent service; as also to Colonel Campbell, Commanding Her Majesty's 52nd Light Infantry; to Major C. Reid, Sirmoor Battalion; to Colonel Jones, Commanding 1st Battalion, Her Majesty's 60th Rifles; and to Colonel J. Denniss, of Her Majesty's 52nd Light Infantry, to whose care the charge of the Camp was confided during the operations against the Town. The manner in which these Officers have discharged their duties is highly appreciated by the Government.

It is a matter of the deepest regret to the Governor General in Council, that the mortal wounds received by Brigadier General Nicholson in the Assault, to the success of which he so eminently contributed, have taken from the Army of India one of its brightest ornaments, and have deprived the State of services which it can ill afford to lose. The services rendered by Lieutenant-Colonel H. Burn, attached as Field Officer to the 1st Brigade of Infantry, and by Captain Seymour Blane, (Her Majesty's 52nd Light Infantry,) Brigade Major to Brigadier General Nicholson, have earned the approbation of the Government.

The Governor General in Council cordially acknowledges the admirable manner in which the Staff of the Field Force and the General Staff of the Army have performed their arduous duties, and to Brigadier General Chamberlain, Adjutant General of the Army; to Captain H. Norman, Assistant Adjutant General; to Major E. S. Ewart, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; to Captain E. B. Johnson, Assistant Adjutant General of Artillery; to the Officers of the Quarter Master General's Department, Captain D. M. Shute and Captain H. M. Garston; as also to Captain W. S. Hodson, who has performed good service with his newly-raised Regiment of Irregular Horse, and at the same time conducted with great ability the duties of the Intelligence Department; to Lieutenant F. S. Roberts, attached to the Artillery Brigade as Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; to Lieutenant-Colonel Keith Young, and the Officers of the Judge Advocate General's Department; as well as to Captain H. Barchard, Captain J. R. Turnbull, Captain H. D. Lowe, Lieutenant R. C. Low, and to Major H. A. Ouvry, attached to the personal Staff of Major-General Wilson, the Governor General in Council offers his best thanks, for the zealous assistance which they have afforded to their Commander and to the State. The Governor General in Council has much pleasure in recognizing the valuable aid rendered to the Force by the Officers of the Civil Service who have been attached to it, and His Lordship in Council desires to record his approbation of the services of Mr. Hervey Greathed, whose untimely death is a heavy public loss; of Mr. C. B. Saunders, and of Mr. R. M. Clifford, who made themselves most useful to the Major-General in action; and of Sir T. Metcalfe whose gallantry in conducting the Assaulting Column under Colonel Campbell through the City was conspicuous.

While tendering his thanks to the Officers, whose conduct on the occasion of the final assault of the City has been brought under his notice, the Governor General in Council is anxious not to overlook the gallantry displayed on other occasions by several Officers who were debarred by wounds or sickness from joining in the operations of that day. The distinguished services of Brigadier St. G. Showers, of Colonel A. M. Becher, Quarter Master General of the Army, of Lieutenant-Colonel Seaton, C. B., 35th Native Infantry, of Lieutenant-Colonel Murray Mackenzie, Major J. Coke, and Captain H. D. Daly, Commanding the Guides, deserve the recognition, and have gained the approval of Government.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. B. Thompson, Deputy Commissary General, and the other Officers serving in the Commissariat Department, are entitled to the thanks of the Governor General in Council, for the efficiency with which their duties were performed.

The arrangements made by Superintending Surgeon E. Tritton, for the care and comfort of the numerous patients in Hospital, have been most satisfactory, and the Governor General in Council has pleasure in offering to that Officer, as well as to the Regimental and Staff Officers of the Medical Department by whom he was supported, this acknowledgment of their good service.

The Governor General in Council desires to express to the Non-Commissioned Officers and Men of Her Majesty's 9th Lancers and Carabineers the great satisfaction with which he has received the report of the cheerful and effective assistance rendered by them to their comrades of the Artillery in working the Batteries.

To all the Troops, European and Native, to the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men serving with the Field Force, His Lordship in Council offers his hearty thanks for the gallantry, perseverance, skill, and discipline which they have displayed throughout the service on which they have been employed.

Where so much has been done to command admiration, it is difficult fairly to select acts for particular notice. But the Governor General in Council feels that no injustice will be done to any man if he offers a tribute of admiration and thanks to the brave Soldiers who, under Lieutenants Home and Salkeld, accomplished the desperate task of blowing open the Cashmere Gate.

From first to last, from the first advance of the devoted little band against the ramparts, throughout the perilous operation so successfully achieved, to the last act of the Bugler Hawthorne in tending his Officer's wounds under a heavy fire, this deed was one of deliberate and sustained courage, as noble as any that has ever graced the annals of war. It will be the care of the Governor General in Council, that the brave men, Englishmen and Natives, who survive to share the glory of it, shall not go unrewarded, and that the memory of those who fell shall be honored.

It is a satisfaction to the Governor General in Council to find that, in estimating upon a late occasion the eminent services rendered by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjaub to the State during the siege of Delhi, and in expressing his earnest thanks for them, he has spoken the sentiments of the individual best able to appreciate those services at their true value. To the indefatigable exertions of Sir John Lawrence, Major General Wilson frankly attributes his own success.

There remains to the Governor General in Council the pleasing duty of noticing the part taken in the contest before Delhi by some of the neighbouring Native Chiefs.

The loyal and constant co operation of the Maharajah of Puttiala and his Troops; the steady support of the Rajah of Jheend, whose Forces shared in the assault; and the assistance given to the British Arms by Jan Fishan Khan and Sirdar Meer Khan Sahib, well call for the marked thanks of the Governor General in Council.

These true-hearted Chiefs, faithful to their engagements, have shown trust in the power, honor, and friendship of the British Government, and they will not repent it.

The Governor General in Council will also have the gratification of thanking Maharajah Runbeer Sing of Cashmere, for the timely support given by the Jummoo Contingent, placed by His Highness under the Command of Captain Richard Lawrence. The conduct of the Ruler of Cashmere has been that of a sincere ally.

FROM

MAJOR GENERAL A. WILSON,
Commanding Delhi Field Force,

TO

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY

Delhi, 22nd September 1857.

SIR,

IN continuation of my Despatch of the 16th Instant, I now have the honor to forward a Report for the information of the Major General Commanding in the Upper Provinces, His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, and the Government, of the further operations of the Force under my Command since that date.

During the 17th and 18th, we continued to take up advanced posts in the face of considerable opposition on the part of the Rebels, and not without loss to ourselves, three (3) Officers being killed, and a number of Men killed and wounded. On the evening of the 19th, the Burn Bastion, which had given us considerable annoyance, was surprised and captured.

On the morning of the 20th, our Troops pushed on and occupied the Lahore Gate, from which an unopposed advance was made on the other Bastions and Gateways, until the whole of the defences of the City were in our hands.

From the time of our first entering the City, an uninterrupted and vigorous fire from our guns and mortars was kept up on the Palace, Jumna Musjid, and other important posts in possession of the Rebels; and as we took up our various positions in advance, our light guns and mortars were brought forward and used with effect on the Streets and Houses in their neighbourhood.

The result of this heavy and unceasing bombardment, and of the steady and persevering advance of our Troops, has been the evacuation of the Palace by the King, the entire desertion of the City by the inhabitants, and the precipitate flight of the Rebel Troops—who, abandoning their camp, property, many of their sick and wounded, and the greater part of their Field Artillery, have fled in utter disorganization; some 4 or 5,000 across the bridge of boats into the Dooab, the remainder down the right bank of the Jumna

The gates of the Palace having been blown in, it was occupied by our Troops at about noon on the 20th, and my Head Quarters established in it on the same day.

The great diminution of our strength by losses in action during the last few days, added to the severe sickness prevailing among the Troops, has prevented my immediately organizing and sending a Column in pursuit, but a Force as per margin, under Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed will march to-morrow morning towards Bolundshuhur and Allyghur, to intercept the Rebels, whose intentions are said to be to cross the Jumna at Muttra. My intelligence, however, I regret to say, is very defective.

1st, 2nd and 5th Punjab Cavalry.
Hodson's Horse (200.)
2 Companies Punjab Sappers.
H. M.'s 8th Regiment.
H. M.'s 75th ditto.
2nd and 4th Punjab Infantry.

The King, who accompanied the Troops, it is believed, for some short distance, last night gave himself up to a party of Irregular Cavalry, whom I had sent out in the direction of the fugitives, and he is now a prisoner under a Guard of European Soldiers. Three of the Shahzadas* who are known to have taken a prominent part in the atrocities attending the insurrection, have been this day captured by Captain Hodson and shot on the spot.

* Mirza Moghul, Mirza Khayr Sultan, } Sons of the King. Mirza Aboo Bukker, ...Grandson ditto.

Thus has the important duty committed to this Force been accomplished, and its object attained. Delhi, the focus of rebellion and insurrection, and the scene of so much horrible cruelty, taken and made desolate; the King, a prisoner in our hands; and the Mutineers, notwithstanding their great numerical superiority, and their vast resources in ordnance, and all the munitions and appliances of War, defeated on every occasion of engagement with our Troops, are now driven with slaughter in confusion and dismay from their boasted stronghold.

The details of the operations have been so fully entered into in my previous Despatch and annexed Reports and Returns from the various Commanding Officers, that little remains for me to say, but to again express my unqualified approbation of the conduct and spirit of the whole of the Troops, not only on this occasion, but during the entire period they have been in the Field.

For four months of the most trying season of the year, this Force, originally very weak in number, has been exposed to the repeated and determined attacks of an enemy far out-numbering it and supported by a numerous and powerful Artillery. The duties imposed upon all have been laborious, harassing and incessant, and notwithstanding heavy losses, both in action and from disease, have been at all times zealously and cheerfully performed.

I beg to add my most cordial concurrence in the commendations bestowed by Officers Commanding Brigades, Columns, and Detachments, on the Officers and Men named in their several Reports, and I have to express my own deep obligations to those Officers themselves for the valuable assistance I have at all times received from them.

To Major F. Gaitskell, who recently assumed Command of the Artillery in the Field, consequent on Brigadier Garbett having been disabled by a wound, and to the Officers and Men of that distinguished arm, to whose energy and untiring zeal the successful issue of the operations is so largely attributable, I have to offer my hearty thanks. And particularly am I indebted to that excellent Officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Hogge, Director of the Artillery Depôt, who volunteered his services as Commissary of Ordnance with the Siege Train, through whose able superintendence of the Park, and arrangements for the supply of ammunition to the Batteries, our Artillery was enabled to deal out the destruction which was effected; as also to Captain J. Young, Deputy Commissary, and Mr. J. Stolesbury, Assistant Commissary of Ordnance, for their exertions during the whole Siege.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Baird Smith, Chief Engineer, who, in ill health and whilst suffering from the effects of a painful wound, devoted himself with the greatest ability and assiduity to the conduct of the difficult and important operations of the Siege—to his gallant and eminently talented Second, Captain A. Taylor, and to the whole of the Officers and Men of the Engineer Brigade, my thanks and acknowledgments are especially due for having planned and successfully carried out, in the face of extreme and unusual difficulties, an attack almost without parallel in the annals of Siege operations.

To that most brilliant Officer, Brigadier General J. Nicholson, whose professional character and qualifications are so well known and appreciated, I am under the greatest obligations for the daring manner in which he led his Column to the Assault; and I deeply deplore that his services are for the present lost to the State.

To Brigadier Hope Grant, C. B., Commanding the Cavalry Brigade, and to Brigadiers J. Longfield and W. Jones, C. B., Commanding Infantry Brigades, I am deeply indebted; and I have to offer my best thanks to Colonel G. Campbell, Commanding H. M's 52nd Light Infantry, and to that intrepid and excellent Officer, Major C. Reid, of the Sirmoor Battalion, both wounded whilst gallantly leading Columns of Attack; as also to Colonel J. Jones, Commanding the 1st Battalion 60th Royal Rifles—a Regiment which has shown a glorious example both in its daring gallantry and its perfect discipline to the whole Force—for the ability with which he covered the advance of the Assaulting Columns.

I have pleasure also in bringing favorably to notice the services rendered by Lieutenant-Colonel H. P. Burn, attached as Field Officer to the 1st Brigade of Infantry, and by Captain Seymour Blane, H. M.'s 52nd Light Infantry, Major of Brigade, to Brigadier General Nicholson.

Colonel J. L. Dennis, of H. M.'s 52nd Light Infantry, whom I placed in charge of the Camp during the operations, is entitled to my thanks and acknowledgments for the able dispositions he made with the Troops under his Command, for the due protection of his important charge.

To the Officers of the General Staff of the Army, and to those of the Staff of the Field Force, my cordial acknowledgments are due for the admirable manner in which they have performed their responsible duties.

To that very distinguished Officer, Brigadier General N. B. Chamberlain, Adjutant General of the Army, who though still incapacitated by a severe wound previously received, proceeded to the ridge at Hindoo Rao's and performed essential service after Major Reid had been wounded, and it became necessary to resume that position.

To Captain H. W. Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army, who, on this, as on each and every occasion, has been distinguished by his gallantry, zeal, and professional ability.

To that experienced Officer, Major R. S. Ewart, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, and his gallant and energetic co-adjutor Captain D. M Stewart, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, who have conducted the duties of this important Department with the Force much to my satisfaction, and to Captain E. B. Johnson, Assistant Adjutant of Artillery, who volunteered to Command the 24-pounder Breaching Battery, most ably and effectually carried out the duty assigned to him, and who re-joined my personal Staff on the morning of the Assault, and who has, throughout those operations, given me the most zealous and efficient support. I am greatly indebted for the assistance they have afforded me.

I beg also to bring very favorably to notice the Officers of the Quarter Master General's Department, Captain D. C. Shute and Captain H. M. Chastin, and Captain W. S. R. Hodson, who has performed such good and gallant service with his newly-raised Regiment of Irregular Horse, and at the same time conducted the duties of the Intelligence Department under the orders of the Quarter Master General, with rare ability and success, also that active and gallant Officer, Lieutenant F. S. Roberts, attached to the Artillery Brigade, in the capacity of Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General.

Lieutenant-Colonel Keith Young, Judge Advocate General also, and his Deputies, Captain T. C. Maisey and Captain H. W. Wilson, most zealously assisted me in carrying my orders.

To the Officers of my personal Staff—Captain C. H. Barchard, who has served with me first as my Orderly Officer and subsequently as Aide-de-Camp, and to whose zealous and untiring exertions I am deeply indebted—to Captain J. R Turnbull, 2nd Aide-de-Camp—Captain R. H. D. Lowe and Lieutenant R. C. Low, Extra Aides-de-Camp, I am under great obligations for the zeal and readiness with which they on this, and all other occasions, have performed their duties. My thanks are also due to Major H. A. Ouvry, who attended me on the day of Assault.

For the valuable aid at all times rendered by the Officers of the Civil Service who have been attached to the Force, I have to record my warm acknowledgments. Mr. Hervey Greathed, Agent to the Deputy Governor, North-Western Provinces, (whose subsequent sudden death I deeply lament,) and Mr. C. B. Saunders, both of whom attended me in action, and made themselves most useful; Sir T. Metcalf, Bart., whose gallantry in conducting Colonel Campbell's Assaulting Column through the City was conspicuous; and Mr. R. W. Clifford, who was also in attendance on me, are all entitled to my thanks.

Whilst, however, in acknowledging the services of those Officers whose good fortune it was to be present at the Assault, and in the Action of the 14th, I have only performed a grateful duty, I should be greatly wanting if I failed to record the names of those who have previously distinguished themselves, but who, incapacitated by wounds or sickness, were unable to join in the operations of that day.

Amongst these I have specially to notice Brigadier St. G. D. Showers, whose cool gallantry on the numerous occasions in which he has been engaged, has been conspicuous.

Also Colonel A. M. Becher, Quarter Master General of the Army, who, though prevented by a severe wound, received in June last, from taking an active part in the Field, has at all times rendered me zealous assistance.

Lieutenant-Colonel T. Seaton, C. B., of the 35th Native Infantry, attached to the Force, a most valuable and experienced Officer, of whose services I have been deprived owing to a wound received by him on the 23rd July.

That admirable Officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Murray Mackenzie, Commanding the 1st Brigade of Horse Artillery, of whose services I have also been deprived by a wound which he received when in charge of the heavy Batteries at an early stage of our operations.

That Officer so distinguished in our Frontier Warfare, Major J. Coke, Commanding the 1st Punjab Rifles, severely wounded at the head of his Regiment on the 12th August, and the gallant Commander of the Guides, Captain H. D. Daly, who was very severely wounded leading a most daring charge on the enemy's guns in the action of the 19th June.

I need not observe how largely the success and efficiency of an Army depends on the regularity of its supplies. Under circumstances of peculiar difficulty, in a District the population of which has been inimical, and in which Civil Authority has ceased to exist, this Force has, from the commencement, been kept well and sufficiently provisioned with supplies of every description, the issue of rations to the Soldiers having been as regular, both in quantity and quality, as in Cantonments. My warmest thanks are therefore due to Lieutenant-Colonel W. B. Thompson, Deputy Commissary General, the admirable and indefatigable head of that Department in the Field; as also to Lieutenant T. H. Sibley, Principal Executive Officer, to Lieutenant Waterfield, and to the other Officers serving in that Department.

With the Medical arrangements of Superintending Surgeon E. Tritton I have every reason to be satisfied, and he is entitled to my cordial acknowledgments. At such a trying season of the year, and in a notoriously unhealthy locality, the sickness and mortality has of course been heavy. In addition to those suffering from disease, the Hospitals have received almost daily accessions of wounded men. The labours, therefore, of the Medical Department have been unceasing, notwithstanding there has not been at any time the slightest failure in the arrangements for the care and comfort of the very numerous patients.

Amongst those Medical Officers whose unwearied zeal and superior ability have come prominently before me, are, Officiating Superintending Surgeon C. McKinnon, M. D., who has been in Medical Charge of the 1st Brigade Horse Artillery; Surgeon J. H. Ker. Innes, 60th Royal Rifles; Surgeon J. P. Brougham, 1st Fusiliers; Surgeon E. Hare, of the 2nd Fusiliers; Assistant Surgeon J. J. Clifford M. D., of the 9th Lancers; and Assistant Surgeon W. F. Mactier, M. D., on the personal Staff of the late Commander-in-Chief.

Credit is also due to Surgeon D. Scott, M. D. Medical Store keeper.

The duties and offices of Provost Marshal to the Force have been conducted by a very deserving old Non-Commissioned Officer, Serjeant Major Stoud, 3rd Brigade Horse Artillery, whom I recommend to favorable consideration for a Commission.

The names of other Non-Commissioned Officers deserving of a similar reward I shall have the pleasure of submitting hereafter.

I should neither be fulfilling the repeatedly expressed wishes of the Artillery Officers attached to this Force, nor following the dictates of my own inclination, if I failed to acknowledge the valuable assistance which has, throughout the operations before Delhi, been most cheerfully given by the Non-Commissioned Officers and Men of H. M.'s 9th Lancers and the 6th Dragoon Guards in working the Batteries. Without it, owing to the comparatively small number of Artillery-men. I should have been quite unable to man the Batteries efficiently, or keep up the heavy fire which, aided by those Men, I have happily been able to do. To these Regiments, therefore, and to Brigadier Grant, who so readily placed a certain number of his Men at my disposal for such purpose, I tender my best thanks.

It would be an omission on my part were I to pass over in silence the good services and loyal conduct of one who has already been rewarded by the Government for the friendly assistance he rendered to our Army in Affghanistan; I allude to the Nawab Jan Fishan Khan, who, with his brave nephew, Sirdar Bahadoor Meer Khan, and their retainers, accompanied me from Meerut, was present at the actions on the Hindun, and has since taken part in nearly every action in which this Force has been engaged.

Of the loyal services rendered to the State by the Rajah of Puttiala, which must be so well known to the Government, it may not be considered necessary for me to speak; but it is incumbent on me in my capacity as Commander of this Force to acknowledge officially the great assistance the Rajah's Troops have afforded me in enabling the numerous convoys of ammunition and stores to travel in security and safety to my Camp under their escort and protection.

Equally is it my duty to bring prominently to the notice of Government the admirable service performed by the Jheend Rajah and his Troops, under Command of Lieut.-Colonel H. F. Dunsford. They have not only had very harassing duties to carry out in the constant escort of convoys of sick and wounded Men, ammunition, &c., but they have also aided me in the Field on more than one occasion, and finally participated in the assault of the City.

Lastly, I trust I may be excused if I thus publicly acknowledge the all-important and invaluable aid for which I am indebted to the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, Sir John Lawrence, K. C. B., to whose indefatigable exertions in reinforcing me with every available Soldier in the Punjab, the successful result of our operations is, I unhesitatingly pronounce, attributable, and I take this opportunity of recognizing the advantage derived from the presence of the Troops of His Highness the Maharajah Runbeer Sing in alliance with the British Force, the moral effect of which has been great. And although unsuccessful, I regret to say, in the actual accomplishment of that part of the operations in which the Jummoo Contingent was engaged on the 14th, I can attach no particle of blame to those Troops, as I consider, under the circumstances in which they were placed, the very strong position which they had to attack, and the prolonged and determined resistance which they encountered from an enemy superior to them in number, arms, training, and experience, that they behaved under their gallant Commander, Captain R. C. Lawrence, and the other British Officers serving with them, to whom my best thanks are due, as well as they could have been expected to do.

Captain Lawrence's Report of his operations is annexed.

I have, &c.,

Sir,

A. WILSON, Major General,

Commanding Delhi Field Force.

No. 20.

FROM

MAJOR F. GAITSKELL,
Commanding Artillery Brigade,

To

THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Field Force, Delhi

Delhi, 19th September 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to submit, for the information of the Major General Commanding Field Force, my Report of the operations of the Artillery Brigade under my Command from the evening of the 6th to the morning of the 14th September.

The first guns were placed in a light Battery on the evening of the 6th September to the left front of the Sammy House Picquet, and about 950 yards from the Shah Bastion. These guns, with (4) four heavy guns in the light Batteries on the Ridge, and (2) two light guns at the Crow's Nest were placed under the Command of Captain Remmington, of the 1st Troop 1st Brigade Horse Artillery, the light guns for the purpose of keeping the ground clear between the Shah Bastion and Kissengunge, and the whole to aid generally in the defence of our right flank. These objects were principally attained on several occasions during the time the Siege Batteries were in play, from the 8th to 14th September, in repelling the attacks of the enemy on our right (No. 1) Siege Battery.

Six 9-pounders
Two 24-pounders

No. 1 Siege Battery was commenced on the evening of the 7th September, and although originally intended for (10) ten guns, was subsequently divided into two portions,—the one on the right under Major Brind, to silence the fire of the guns on the Shah Bastion, distance 700 yards, containing (5) five 18-pounders, and one 8-inch howitzer; that on the left (4) four 24-pounders, under Major Turner, (until that Officer was compelled to leave from severe sickness, when Major Kaye received the Command) to ruin the defences, and keep down, as far as practicable, the fire of the Cashmere Bastion, distant 850 yards. The two portions of this Battery not being sufficiently ready on the morning of the 8th September, only two guns in each were enabled to open fire; but during that day and the following night the whole were got into position, and a steady and most efficient fire was kept up from the right portion until the assault on the morning of the 14th Instant, being a period of 7¼ days, at a most sickly season of the year, and there being no relief or only a partial one for Officers and Men. From the left portion the fire was kept up until the afternoon of the 10th, when the Battery caught fire, and was destroyed, fortunately only a few hours before the guns were to have been removed to No. 11 Battery.

On the night of the 10th September No. 11 Battery, also consisting of two portions, was armed,—the right with 7 8-inch howitzers, and 2 18-pounder guns, under Major Kaye, and the left—consisting of 9 24-pounder guns, under the Command of Major J. H Campbell, until the evening of the 11th, when, I regret to say, he was compelled, from a severe grape shot wound, to make over the Command to Captain E. B Johnson The right portion of this Battery was placed at a distance of 500 yards from the Cashmere Bastion, and was designed to destroy the Masonry parapet of the Bastion, dismount the guns, strip off the Musketry parapet in the left face for 200 yards, and destroy a small Tower in the curtain. The fire from this portion of the No. 11 Battery was sustained during the 11th, 12th and 13th by day and night, and with the greatest success The left portion of this Battery, 9 24-pounders, opened fire at a distance of 500 yards for the purpose of effecting a breach in the curtain immediately adjoining the right flank of the Cashmere Bastion, about ½ past 5 A. M. on the morning of the 11th September, and by 9 o'clock every gun on the Bastion was silenced, and until the night of the 13th September an incessant fire was kept up with 5 guns in making the breach, the other 4 being directed on the defences of the Cashmere Bastion, and of the parapet of the curtain.

The Siege Battery No III, under Major E. W. S. Scott, was armed on the night of the 11th Instant, with 6 18-pounder guns at a distance of 160 yards from the left face of the Water Bastion, mounting 6 heavy and 2 light guns, and a fire was opened from 4 guns at 1. P. M on the 12th; a greater number of guns could not be used at once, as the embrasures required constant repairs. There were also 12 5⅘-inch mortars attached to this Battery, under Captain Blunt, which shelled the interior of the Bastion and the ground to the left of the Church. By 1 P. M of the 13th Instant the wall was pierced, and a practicable breach of about 60 feet wide was made by dusk the same evening. It was subsequently ascertained that in addition to effecting the breach, 4 of the enemy's guns were rendered unserviceable, and the carriages of the 2 light guns destroyed.

No. IV. Siege Battery, under the Command of Major Tombs, consisting of 4 10-inch and 6 8-inch mortars, was armed on the evening of the 9th September, but did not (pursuant to orders received) open fire until the morning of the 11th, from which date until the assault an incessant and destructive fire was kept up from the whole Battery on the following points; viz.,—the Cashmere Gate and Bastion, the Church, Skinner's House, and the Water Gate and Bastion.

The several Batteries ceased their fire on the morning of the 14th, shortly before the assault was made.

I beg to recommend to the most favorable notice of the Major General Commanding, the services of Majors Brind, Campbell, Scott, Turner, Kaye and Tombs, Captains Remmington, Johnson and Blunt, for the admirable manner in which they exercised the duties of their respective Commands; and I cannot praise too highly the conduct of every Officer, Non-Commissioned Officer and Soldier, who performed their duties with the greatest energy, and bore the constant exposure and hardship with the utmost cheerfulness, and I beg to recommend their services as recorded in the reports of Officers Commanding Batteries, herewith forwarded, to the Major General's favorable notice. I have also to acknowledge the services of Captain the Hon'ble A. Anson, H M.'s 84th Regiment, and the Officers of other branches of Her Majesty's and the Company's Services who volunteered to serve with the Artillery, and who have been reported of most favorably by Commanding Officers of Batteries.

My best acknowledgments are also due to Lieutenant-Colonel Hogge, Commissary of Ordnance, for the arrangements he made in his Departments, likewise to Lieutenant J. S. Frith, my Brigade Major, for his services during the operations, and the assistance he has afforded me at all times.

I desire also to report the valuable services rendered by Detachments of H. M.'s 6th Dragoon Guard (Carabineers) and 9th Lancers, who did duty in the several Batteries, and who, by their steady conduct, gained for themselves the highest approbation from the several Officers Commanding Batteries.

I have to deplore the loss of two gallant Officers of the Artillery;—Lieutenant Hildebrand, who was killed in No. II. Battery on the 8th September—an Officer who had performed much valuable service during the time the Force has been at Delhi; and Captain R. C. H. B. Fagan, who was killed in No. IV. Battery on the evening of the 12th. This Officer, whose career during the whole period that the Force has been at Delhi, was marked by unceasing energy and conspicuous devotion to his profession, had gained for himself the respect of Officers and Men in every branch of the Force.

The casualties among the Non-Commissioned Officers and Men in the several Batteries was not, I rejoice to state, great, and principally caused by the light guns which the enemy brought out against the Siege Batteries during the period under report.

A roll of casualties, from the 6th to 14th Instant, is forwarded.

I have, &c.,

FROM

MAJOR F. GAITSKELL,
Commanding Artillery Brigade,

TO

THE DY. ASST. ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Field Force, Delhi.

Delhi, 19th September 1857.

SIR,

IN continuation of my letter, No 20, of this date, I have now the honor to report the operations of the Artillery Brigade on the 14th September, during the period of and after the assault.

The orders for the assault having been received during the night of the 13th September, immediate arrangements had to be carried out for the relief of the Officers and Men of the Horse Artillery; and 3 Detachments of Foot Artillery were told off, consisting of 60, 20 and 20 Men, each under a Subaltern, to accompany the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Columns of Assault respectively in order to take possession of the guns on the Ramparts and turn them on the City.

These arrangements were, as far as practicable, carried out; and at the same time the Cavalry Brigade. The left half of the 1st Troop 1st Brigade Horse Artillery were unable to join Major Reid's Column, as there were not sufficient Foot Artillerymen to relieve the Men of that Troop on the right Batteries.

The Troop of Horse Artillery, under Major Tombs, with the Cavalry Brigade, was actively engaged with the enemy, who were in a ruined Suburb near Pahairpoor, outside the Cabul Gate of the City, where their Infantry, supported by guns, occupied the ruined mud houses at a distance of about 250 yards. There being no Infantry with these guns, which were unable to dislodge the enemy from their position, and while holding their own, our guns suffered very severely, for in addition the enemy brought grape from a heavy gun at the Lahore Gate to bear on them, thereby compelling the 2 advanced guns of the Troop to retire about 20 yards, and the enemy's Infantry advancing, was only held in check by repeated rounds of grape. At this time the right half troop of Captain Remmington's Troop, under Lieutenant Lindsay, joined; but still the enemy continued a very heavy fire of grape and musketry, causing many casualties among Men and Horses. Some of the Belooch Battalion now joined, and the enemy's fire gradually slackened, and Major Tombs' Detachment retired slowly and in good order, after 2 heavy guns had by his orders been gallantly spiked (under a galling musketry fire) by Lieutenant E. B. Traill.

Two pieces of Captain Money's Troop of Horse Artillery were detached under Lieutenant C. Hunter, who opened fire on the enemy's Cavalry and Infantry, who were making towards our rear, and directed the fire on Kissengung until the enemy had retreated beyond the range of his guns.

The remainder of the Horse Artillery, consisting of the Head Quarters and remainder of Captain Money's Troop, (as also Major Turner's Troop which was to have accompanied the 1st and 2nd Columns of Assault, but from the Men not having been able to be relieved from the Siege Battery where they were stationed in sufficient time,) was left for the protection of the Camp with the Troops under the Command of Colonel Dennis, Her Majesty's 52nd Regiment.

No. 14 Light Field Battery, under Major Scott, was attached, on the morning of the 14th September, to the Reserve Column under Brigadier Longfield, and at 10 A. M. 2 guns were posted at the Street next the College Garden, 2 at the Cabul Gate, and 2 at the Street passing Skinner's House; but were not actively engaged.

Two guns of No. 17 Light Field Battery were attached to the 1st Column of Assault, and 2 to the 2nd Column; but all four were subsequently detached, under Captain Bourchier, to support the Cavalry Brigade, where they relieved Major Tombs' Troop of Horse Artillery, which had suffered very severely in Men and Horses, and after opening fire on Kissengung and checking the enemy's advance from that direction, were in the evening, with their 4 guns posted, with the Cavalry Brigade at Ludlow Castle.

I beg especially to bring to the notice of the Major General Commanding, the conduct of Major Tombs, his Officers and Men, which was in strict accordance with their past gallant services.

I also recommend to the favorable notice of the Major General, the services of Majors Scott and Turner, Captains Bourchier and Remmington, and Lieutenants Wilson, Lindsay, Traill and C Hunter, and all the Non-Commissioned Officers and Men under their Command.

I enclose the Reports of Officers Commanding, and trust that the services of the Artillery Brigade will be considered to have been such, during a long and arduous period, as to elicit the approbation of the Major General Commanding the Force.

I have, &c.,

Comdg. Artillery Brigade.

FROM

LIEUT.-COLONEL R. BAIRD SMITH,
Chief Engineer, Delhi Field Force,

TO

THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Delhi Field Force.

Head Quarters, Delhi, 17th Sept. 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to submit herewith, for the information of the Major General Commanding, the following Report of the operations carried on by the Engineer Brigade under my Command during the siege and capture of Delhi.

2. To make these more intelligible, I may first detail very briefly the leading and characteristic features of the place.

3. The Eastern face of the City rests on the Jumna, and during the season of the year when our operations were carried on, the stream may be described as washing the base of the walls. All access to a besieger on the River Front is, therefore, impracticable. The defences here consist of an irregular wall with occasional Bastions and Towers, and about one-half of the length of the River Face is occupied by the Palace of the King of Delhi and its outwork—the old Mogul Fort of Selimgurh.

4. The River may be described as the chord of a rough arc formed by the remaining defences of the place. These consist of a succession of Bastioned Fronts, the connecting curtain being very long, and the outworks limited to one crown-work at the Ajmere Gate and Martello Towers, mounting a single gun at such points as require some additional flanking fire to that given by the Bastions themselves. The Bastions are small, mounting generally 3 guns in each face, 2 in each flank, and 1 in embrasure at the salient. They are provided with masonry parapets about 12 feet in thickness, and have a relief of about 16 feet above the plane of site. The curtain consists of a simple masonry wall or rampart 16 feet in height, 11 feet thick at top, and 14 or 15 feet at bottom. This main wall carries a parapet loopholed for musketry 8 feet in height and 3 feet in thickness. The whole of the land front is covered by a berm of variable width, ranging from 16 to 30 feet, and having a scarp wall 8 feet high; exterior to this is a dry ditch of about 25 feet in height and from 16 to 20 feet in depth. The counter-scarp is simply an earthen slope easy to descend. The glacis is a very short one, extending only 50 or 60 yards from the counter-scarp; using general terms, it covers from the besieger's view from $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{3}$ of the height of the walls of the place.

5. These details will, I trust, be sufficient to give a general conception of the nature of the defences of Delhi. They are, in a word, modernised forms of the ancient works that existed when the City fell before Lord Lake's Army in 1803. They extend about 7 miles in circumference, and include an area of about 3 square miles.

6. The ground occupied by the besieging force presents some features deserving of notice here, as having exercised a most important influence on the plan and progress of the works of attack. On the Western side of Delhi, there appear the last outlying spurs of the Aravelli Mountains, represented here by a low ridge which disappears at its intersection with the Jumna, about 2 miles, above the place. The drainage from the Eastern slope of the ridge finds its way to the River along the Northern and North-western faces of the City, and has formed there a succession of parallel or connected ravines of considerable depth. By taking advantage of these hollow ways, admirable cover was constantly obtained for the Troops, and the labour of the siege most materially reduced. The whole of the exterior of the place presents an extraordinary mass of old buildings of all kinds of thick brush-wood and occasional clumps of forest trees, giving great facilities for cover, which, during the siege operations at least, proved to be, on the whole, more favorable to us than to the enemy.

In anticipation of the siege, means had been taken to store the Engineer Park with all the materials and tools likely to be required during the operations, the Siege Train placing the Artillery means in an equally satisfactory state of efficiency, ground was broken as soon after its arrival as possible, being on the night of the 7th September 1857.

7. The project of attack submitted by me to the Major General Commanding, and honored with his sanction provided for a concentrated rapid and vigorous attack on the front of the place, included between the Water or Moira and Cashmere Bastions, provision being made at the same time for silencing all important flanking fire, whether of Artillery or Musketry, that could be brought to bear on the lines of advance to be taken by the Assaulting Columns. Due care was also taken to protect the exposed right flank of the trenches from sorties. The left was secured by being rested on the river and by the occupation of the Koodsee Bagh—a very strong post in front.

8. The best information procurable indicated that, on the front of attack, the fire of from 25 to 30 pieces might have to be subdued. To effect this, 54 Siege Guns were available, and were distributed as follows :—

Siege Battery No. 1, for 10 pieces, by which 6 were to be directed against the defences of the Shah of Moree Bastion, with the object of ruining them and preventing the flank fire from bearing on the advance of the Assaulting Columns. The remaining 4 were directed against the Cashmere Bastion, with the object of diverting its fire from the covering and woking parties engaged on No. 2 Battery.

5 18-Pounders.
1 8-inch Howitzer.
6 Total.
Distance 700 yards.
4 24-Pounders.

Siege Battery No. 2, for 18 pieces, designed to breach the curtain to the right of the Cashmere Bastion, to destroy the defences of the Bastion itself, and to strip off the parapet for about 200 yards on each side of the breach, and thus deprive Infantry of all cover.

24-Pounders .. 8
18-Pounders .. 3
8-inch Howitzers 7
Distance 600 yards.

Siege Battery No. 3, for 8 heavy guns and 12 coehorn mortars, designed to destroy the defences of the Moira or Water Bastion, and to maintain a heavy fire of shells on both the Water and Cashmere Bastions. In the original project, the site of this Battery was about 330 yards from the Water Bastion; but subsequent examination making it doubtful whether the position was an effective one, Captain Taylor pushed a reconnoissance in advance to the Custom House or within 160 yards, and finding there an excellent site for a Breaching Battery, reported the circumstance to me. I obtained at once the Major General's sanction to this bold advance, and it is satisfactory to be able to say that Battery No. 3 was constructed with remarkably few casualties, and proved one of the most efficient of the series. It was, however, limited to 6 breaching guns, and in the demolition of the light parapets was aided by 9-pounders.

Coehorns	12

Distance 160 yards.

Battery No. 4, for 10 heavy mortars, to shell the whole of the ground between the Water and Cashmere Bastions, and the localities in the neighbourhood, when the enemy would be likely to find shelter.

10-inch Mortars	4
8 inch Mortars	6
Total	10

9. On the extreme right, 4 heavy guns were left in position, and on an advanced plateau on the ridge, a battery for 6 field guns was constructed, by which the only route open to the enemy's sorties would be swept by grape. Although the enemy gave some annoyance with light guns in this direction, he was unable to make a single effective sortie.

9-Pounders	4

10. At different times, between the 7th and 11th, these Bastions opened fire with an efficiency and vigor which excited the unqualified admiration of all who had the good fortune to witness it. Every object contemplated in the attack, was accomplished with a success even beyond my expectations, and I trust I may be permitted to say, that while there are many noble passages in the History of the Bengal Artillery, none will be nobler than that which will tell of its work on this occasion.

11. On the night of the 13th, the breaches in the curtain between the Water and Cashmere Bastions were examined personally by Lieutenants Greathed Medley and Lang, of Engineers, who reported both in excellent condition for assault. No. 1 Siege Battery had effectually disposed of the Mooree Bastion, No. 2 had completely destroyed the musketry cover near the main breach; No. 3 had done the same near the Water Bastion breach, and it was evident that the place was ripe for the assault. On reporting the circumstance to the Major General, he issued instant orders, naming the next morning or that of the 14th for this critical operation.

12 The details of the assault will be best laid before the Major General by the Brigadiers Commanding the different Columns. I will, therefore, only state here that the distribution of the Engineer Officers was made.

1st Column, under Brigadier General Nicholson

Captain	A. Taylor.
Lieutenant	Medley.
„	Bingham.
„	Lang.
Ensign	Chalmers.

2nd Column, under Brigadier Jones, H. M's 60th.

Lieutenant	Greathed.
„	Hovenden.
„	Murray.
Ensign	Gustavinski.

3rd Column, under Brigadier Campbell, H. M.'s 52nd.

Lieutenant	Home.

Ensign	Nuthall.

4th Column, under Major Reid.

Lieutenant	Maunsell.
„	Tennant.

Reserve Column, under Brigadier Longfield.

Lieutenant	Ward.
„	Thackeray.

These Officers accompanied the Columns to which they were attached during the assault, and I grieve to say that a large proportion fell wounded, more or less dangerously, under the heavy fire of the enemy.

13. It only remains for me, in closing this Report, to bring under the favorable notice of the Major General Commanding, the Officers of the Brigade whose merits have been conspicuous.

To my Second in Command, Captain Taylor, Director of the Trenches, I have been indebted for the most constant, cordial, and valuable assistance throughout the whole period of the operations. Gifted with rare soundness of professional judgment, his advice has been sought by me under all circumstances of difficulty or doubt, and I find that I cannot express too strongly to the Major General my sense of the valuable services this Officer has rendered.

To Captain Chesney (very severely wounded), Brigade Major of Engineers, I have also hearty acknowledgments to make for the uniform efficiency, zeal, and intelligence with which he has conducted the duty of his office.

Lieutenants Greathed and Maunsell, Directing Field Engineers on the Left and Right Attacks respectively, have earned my warm approbation by the manner in which they performed duties involving great labour and exposure. Both guided Columns of Attack, and both, I grieve to add, were severely wounded while doing so.

The gallantry with which the Explosion Party under Lieutenants Home and Salkeld, performed the desperate duty of blowing in the Cashmere Gate in broad daylight, and in the face of the enemy, will, I feel assured, be held to justify me in making special mention of it. The party was composed, in addition to the two Officers named, of the following—

Serjeant John Smith
" A. B. Carmichael...	Of the Sappers and Miners.
Corporal F. Burgess, alias Joshua Burgess Grierson....
Bugler Hawthorne,.....	H. M.'s 52nd
14 Native Sappers and Miners.
10 ditto Punjaub Sappers and Miners.

Covered by the fire of H. M.'s 60th Rifles, this party advanced at the double towards the Cashmere Gate; Lieutenant Home, with Serjeants John Smith and Carmichael and Havildar Madhoo, all of the Sappers, leading and carrying the powder bags, followed by Lieut. Salkeld, Corporal Burgess, and a section of the remainder of the party. The advanced party reached the Gateway unhurt, and found that part of the Drawbridge had been destroyed; but passing across the precarious footing supplied by the remaining beams, they proceeded to lodge their powder against the Gate. The wicket was open, and through it the enemy kept up a heavy fire upon them. Serjeant Carmichael was killed while laying his powder, Havildar Madhoo being at the same time wounded. The powder being laid, the advanced party slipped down into the ditch to allow the firing party under Lieutenant Salkeld to perform its duty. While endeavoring to fire the charge, Lieutenant Salkeld was shot through the leg and arm, and handed over the slow match to Corporal Burgess, who fell mortally wounded just as he had successfully performed his duty. Havildar Tiluk Sing, of the Sappers and Miners, was wounded, and Ram Heth Sepoy, of the same corps, was killed during this part of the operation.

The demolition having been most successful, Lieutenant Home, happily unwounded, caused the bugle to sound the Regimental call of the 52nd Regiment as the signal for the advance of the Column. Fearing that amid the noise of the assault the sound might not be heard, he had the call repeated three times, when the Troops advanced, and carried the Gateway with entire success.

I feel assured that a simple statement of the facts of this devoted and glorious deed will suffice to stamp it as one of the noblest on record in Military History. Its perfect success contributed most materially to the brilliant results of the day, and Lieutenants Home and Salkeld, with their gallant Subordinates, European and Native, will, I doubt not, receive the reward which valour before the enemy so distinguished as theirs has entitled them to.

Lieutenant Home mentions with special approbation the cool courage of Serjeant John Smith, and while sincerely regretting their loss, he states that the gallantry shown by Serjeant Carmichael and Corporal Burgess could not have been surpassed. Bugler Hawthorne's conduct has also been particularly commended. This brave man, after performing his own dangerous duty, humanely attached himself to Lieutenant Salkeld, bound up his wounds under a heavy musketry fire, and ultimately had him removed without further injury, and I beg to commend him most cordially to the favorable notice of the Major General.

The following Native Officers and Sepoys of the Sappers and Miners are reported by Lieutenant Home to have shown the most determined bravery and coolness throughout the whole operations. Havildar Madhoo, who accompanied the advance under Lieutenant Home; Soobadhar Toola, Jemadar Bisram, Havildars Tiluk Singh and Ramtaroy, and Sepoy Sahib Sing, who were with the firing or reserve parties. The remarkable courage shown by the Native Officers and Men in assisting their wounded European comrades deserves to be mentioned as showing the excellent feeling between them.

Lieutenant Medley (wounded) was appointed to guide the 1st Division of the 1st Column to the main breach, which he had personally examined the night before, and though shot through the arm continued with the Column till it was established in the Cabul Gate. Lieutenant Lang was appointed to similar duties with the 2nd Division, and both Officers have earned my best thanks by the gallant and efficient manner in which they did their work. Lieutenant Rovenden (wounded) conducted the ladder party of the 2nd Column, and here, as on all occasions, showed the intelligence and gallantry which have made his services so valuable during the siege.

I beg also to bring under the notice of the Major General the good service on this occasion of Lieutenant Bingham, an old and most meritorious Officer, whose gallantry in action on previous instances had led the Government to confer upon him the Commission of Lieutenant. He Commanded a party of the Corps of Sappers and Miners in the assault of the main breach with his accustomed bravery, and I respectfully recommend him for favorable consideration.

To Lieutenant H. A. Brownlow, (dangerously wounded) who had charge of the Engineer Park, I have to offer my most cordial acknowledgments for his incessant exertions to expedite the works. This Officer was dangerously wounded while carrying to the 3rd Column materials and tools which it was supposed to be in need of.

I have only further to bring under the notice of the Major General Commanding, the admirable conduct of the remaining Officers and Men of the Brigade. None could have displayed a higher and better spirit than they have done, and whether in the trenches, in the assault, or during the occupation, they have been forward and zealous in every duty. I may be allowed to refer especially to the gallantry and devotion of the Sappers and Miners under their acting Commandant Lieutenant Maunsell—a remnant of the Corps which mutinied in May last. Throughout the whole operations these Men have shown a distinguished bravery and fidelity to their salt, and it has been my agreeable duty to bring from time to time special instances of these qualities to the notice of the Major General. The Punjab Sappers and Miners, under their Commandant Lieutenant Gulliver (of whose valuable services I was deprived during the siege by his severe illness) and their Acting Commandant Lieutenant Home, have done excellent service, and give the best possible promise of being an efficient and soldier-like Corps.

The Pioneers, under Lieutenant Bingham, have proved to be a most useful and fearless body of Men. Though designed for works only and being unarmed and only rudely organised for the occasion, they have shown perfect readiness to work under fire, and have taken their turn in the most exposed and dangerous positions it has been necessary to occupy.

I take the liberty of mentioning here that since I joined this Camp I have received most valuable aid in Military arrangements from my Assistant (in the Civil Department) Mr. Harry Marten.

I deeply regret the heavy list of casualties which accompanies this Report. In Lieutenant Tandy the Corps has lost one of its most gallant and promising young Officers; but I earnestly hope that the Government will be only temporarily deprived of the services of the wounded, all of whom, I am happy to be able to report, are doing well.

Delhi, 17th September 1857.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of Major General Wilson, that, according to instructions received, I proceeded before daylight on the morning of the 14th with 200 of H. M.'s 9th Lancers and 410 Natives from the Guides, 1st, 2nd and 5th Punjab Cavalry, and Hodson's Horse, 3 guns of the 1st Troop Horse Artillery, and 4 guns of the 2nd to the neighbourhood of the 1st Field Battery, where I remained till the assault of the Town had commenced. At about 6 o'Clock the Major General sent me instructions to proceed to the front. I formed up opposite the walls of the Town,—the 9th Lancers forming the advanced party, the Irregular Cavalry the reserve,—and proceeded till I came to the Moree Bastion, which was in our hands. We advanced on to the Cabul Gate; and at this point a most heavy fire of grape and musketry was opened upon us,—the grape coming from the Lahore Gate, and the musketry from the Gardens and Houses of Kishengung on our right, between 2 and 300 yards off. Major Tombs, who was in Command of the guns, as fine an Officer as there is in the Company's Service, drove the enemy out from our right flank, and succeeded in spiking two guns in Battery,—one an 18-pounder, and the other 12-pound iron gun. We retired a short distance to get out of the severe fire that was opened upon us; but in so doing the enemy came out in great numbers through the Gardens, and it was necessary to retain our position to prevent the enemy from taking our Batteries and the Cashmere Gate. A party, consisting of an Officer and 80 of the Infantry Guides, came down to our support, and though so small a number, went gallantly into the Gardens and took up a position in a House close to the Battery. I regret, however, to say, the Officer in Command, a most gallant young fellow—Lieutenant Bond—was wounded in the head and had to be taken away; but the Guides held out most bravely till they got surrounded in the House and were in great danger. A detachment of the Belooch Battalion, under Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Farquhar, however, came to their assistance, and brought them away in safety. The fire now slackened, and we were enabled to retire a short distance, where we had little to fear.

2. I beg leave to state I have never in the whole course of my life seen so much bravery and so much noble conduct displayed by Men as was the case in the Brigade I had the honor to Command. Major Tombs and the two Officers under him in Command of the two Troops,—Lieutenant Wilson and Lieutenant Lindsay, as well as the Adjutant Sankey, did their duty in a manner most praiseworthy, and the enemy were completely checked by the fire from their guns. In the 1st Troop, one European and one Native were killed, 4 Horses killed and 9 wounded. In the 2nd Troop, 1 European and 1 Native killed, 17 Europeans and 13 Natives wounded, 13 Horses killed, and 9 wounded, and one Officer's Charger. Nothing could be finer than the conduct of the 9th Lancers,—one Squadron Commanded by Captain French, and the other by Captain Sarel, the whole by Captain Drydale. Not a man flinched from his post though under this galling fire for two hours, and when a poor fellow got knocked over it seemed to put the Men in good spirits. I am sorry to say, however, the 9th Lancers had 38 Men wounded, 61 Horses killed, wounded and missing, and the Officers lost 10 Horses.

3. The behaviour of the Native Cavalry was also admirable. Nothing could be steadier, nothing could be more soldier-like than their bearing. The Guide Cavalry, Commanded by Captain Sandford—a most excellent and useful Officer,—on outpost duty, lost 1 Native Officer killed, 1 Non-Commissioned Officer, and 14 Privates. Lieutenant Hodson Commanded a Corps raised by himself, and he is a first-rate Officer, brave, determined and clear-headed. Lieutenant Watson, Commanding the 1st Punjab Cavalry, Lieutenant Probyn, Commanding the 2nd, and Lieutenant Younghusband, the 5th, are also most excellent Officers. I was afterwards joined by Captain Bourchier's Battery, which was of great service and enabled us to hold our position.

4. I beg especially to bring to the notice of Major General Wilson, the names of the Officers mentioned in this Despatch, and also that of Captain Hamilton, my Brigade Major, a most excellent Officer in every respect, ready and willing to do his duty whenever he is called upon. His Horse was shot upon this occasion.

5. Also that of the Hon'ble Captain Anson, my acting Aide de Camp, who got wounded in the hand by a musket shot. He is most useful and energetic, and promises to be a first-rate Officer. Also Captain Rosser, of the Carabineers; and Captain Hall, of the 4th Irregular Cavalry, who were also extra Aides-de-Camp on that day. The former, I am sorry to say, was struck by a musket ball in the head, and there are little hopes of his recovery. The other had his Horse shot under him. I beg also to mention the name of Lieutenant Jones, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, who is most zealous and attentive to all his duties. Colonel Custance, of the Carabineers, Commanded the Reserve, which he did to my satisfaction. I regret I am unable to give a return of the casualties in the several of the Regiments of Native Cavalry, as I have not yet received them; but the whole shall be sent as soon as practicable.

FROM

CAPTAIN W. BROOKES,
75th Regiment,

TO

THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Field Force.

Camp before Delhi, 17th September 1857.

SIR,

IN compliance with an order received from Lieutenant-Colonel Herbert, 75th Regiment, I have the honor to forward, for the information of Major General Wilson, Commanding Field Force, the following report of the proceedings, so far as they are known to me, of the 1st Column of Attack, under Brigadier General Nicholson, who was unfortunately severely wounded on the day named, and obliged to relinquish the Command.

The Regiments composing the 1st Column—Detail of Artillery; 300 Men H. M.'s 75th Regiment; 250 1st European Bengal Fusiliers; 500 2nd Punjab Infantry, which were to assault the breach in the Cashmere Curtain Gate, were under arms at 3 A. M. on the morning of the 14th; and moved to the assault as follows. The 1st Fusiliers, led by Brigadier General Nicholson in person, escaladed the left face of the Cashmere Bastion. H. M.'s 75th Regiment and 2nd Punjab Infantry, covered in splendid style by a portion of H. M.'s 60th Rifles, moved to assault the breach on our left of the Cashmere Gate. Colonel Herbert, 75th, being wounded on the Glacis, the Command of this portion of the Assaulting Column devolved on myself, and it is with great pleasure that I testify to the gallant conduct of all the Troops engaged. Lieutenant FitzGerald, H. M.'s 75th Regiment, led up the breach most nobly, and I regret that this Officer's death from a grape shot immediately afterwards renders my venturing to bring his name to the notice of the General Commanding useless. The Column, on being established within the City, re-formed, and agreeably to orders from Brigadier General Nicholson, moved towards the right. During this movement the enemy maintained a heavy flanking fire, and inflicted much loss on the Column. Our loss was also considerable. On reaching the various Batteries, Moree, &c., a party of Men were left to occupy them, and the Column dashed on at a rapid rate. On reaching the head of the street at Cabul Gate, the enemy again made a resolute stand, but were speedily driven forward. A portion of the 1st Column was halted here, and proceeded to occupy the Houses round the Cabul Gate; a portion of the 75th, Commanded by Captain Freer, H. M.'s 27th Regiment attached, supported by myself, continued the pursuit, accompanied by some Men of other Corps, 60th Rifles, 1st European Bengal Fusiliers, &c. On advancing about 200 yards along the Rampart Road, which here became so narrow that scarce 4 Men could stand abreast, the enemy opened a heavy and destructive fire from an iron gun on the wall and a small brass gun on the pathway, together with musketry from behind a barrier on the road. I regret to say that notwithstanding repeated charges up this narrow channel, the Troops did not succeed in effecting a passage. The loss was so severe both in Men and Officers, that I felt it my duty to desist, after two hours, from any further attempts. Brigadier General Nicholson at this period joined us, and while endeavouring to induce the Men to renew the attempt was severely wounded, and finding that each effort only caused further loss without success, I finally drew off the Men and retired to the Cabul Gate. Brigadier Jones' Column joined us here, and I placed myself under the Brigadier's orders.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. BROOKES,
Captain, 75th Regiment.

FROM

BRIGADIER WILLIAM JONES,
Commanding 2nd Column,

TO

MAJOR GENERAL WILSON,
Commanding Field Force, Delhi.

Cabul Gate, Delhi, 17th September 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report that the 2nd Column, consisting of the Corps as per margin, paraded, agreeably to order, on the morning of the 14th Instant, and immediately moved down to the attack of the Water Bastion. The Column was told off into a Storming Party, Supports, and Reserve. The former consisted of 75 Men of H. M.'s 8th Regiment, under the Command of Captain Baynes, and 75 Men of the 2nd Fusiliers, under the Command of Captain Hay, late 60th N. I; the Supports of 175 Men of H. M.'s 8th Regiment, 75 Men of the 2nd Fusiliers, and 50 Men of the 4th Seikh Infantry.

H. M.'s 8th Regiment.
2nd Fusiliers.
4th Seikh Regiment of Infantry.

Brigadier General Nicholson having communicated with me, we arranged that the 1st and 2nd Columns should move forward simultaneously, as soon as the skirmishers of the 60th Royal Rifles had covered our front. This having been done, the 2nd Column advanced through the breach in the most gallant manner, and took possession of the walls without the slightest check. The moment the Column entered the Treasury Garden, it turned to its right, and proceeded along the wall under the Ramparts as far as the Cabul Gate, where it established itself, having left a party in charge of the Moree Bastion, and thrown out Picquets in commanding positions along the right and left of the Canal.

One of the enemy's guns on the Cabul Gate was immediately turned upon the Lahore Gate, from which the enemy were firing grape and round shot.

I cannot speak too highly of the conduct of the Troops under my Command, and my best thanks are due to Lieut.-Colonel Greathed, Commanding H. M.'s 8th Regiment; to Captain Baynes, of the same Corps, who led the assault; to Captain Boyd, Commanding 2nd Fusiliers; and to Captain Rothney, Commanding the 4th Seikh Infantry; also to Lieutenant Greathed, of the Engineers, who gallantly conducted the party carrying the ladders, until he was unfortunately wounded; and to Lieutenant Hovenden, of that Corps, who was also wounded in the performance of the same dangerous duty.

I am also much indebted to my immediate Staff, Captain Barnside, H. M.'s 61st Regiment, my Brigade Major, and Lieut. Sloman, H. M.'s 61st Regiment, my Orderly Officer, who rendered me every assistance during the operations.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) WILLIAM JONES, Brigadier,
Commanding 2nd Column.

FROM

COLONEL G CAMPBELL,
Commanding H. M.'s 52nd Foot, and in Command of the 3rd Column of Assault.

TO

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

Delhi, 16th September 1857

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Major General, the operations of the 3rd Column of Assault, which was under my Command, on the morning of the 14th Instant.

It consisted of 240 of H. M.'s 52nd, 500 of the 1st Punjab Infantry, and 200 of the Kumaon Battalion. On the order for the several Columns to advance, the Explosion Party at once proceeded towards the Cashmere Gate, upon which they advanced with most fearless intrepidity. The explosion was accomplished successfully; but I regret to say that out of the 7 brave Officers and Men who composed it, 5 of them fell. Immediately upon the report of the explosion, the Storming Party, consisting of a Company of H. M.'s 52nd, under the Command of Captain Bayley, advanced with a cheer, and overcoming all resistance, speedily secured the Gateway, the Supports, consisting of 50 Men of H. M.'s 52nd, 50 of the Kumaon Battalion, and 50 of the 1st Punjab Infantry, followed the Storming Party at a distance of 50 yards. The entire Column having entered the Main Guard, and re-formed as speedily as possible, proceeded to carry out the orders issued by the Major General, viz., to advance upon the Jumma Musjid, and, if possible, to occupy it as well as the Kotwallie. Before quitting the neighbourhood of the walls, some of the enemy being still within the Water Bastion, I detached a party to clear it out, which was done at the point of the bayonet, the enemy who escaped the bayonet jumping over the parapets on to the river side, where they were destroyed. We cleared the adjoining Cutcherry compound, also the Houses in its neighbourhood, the Church, and the Gazette Press compound. The Column carrying everything before it without much opposition, I proceeded through the Cashmere Durwaza Bazar, marked out as our line of advance. Hearing that a gun was placed in position bearing down the street, upon arriving at the point where the gun could be seen, I detached a party to get to its rear, through a bye street; but before this party arrived at its point, the gun was taken with a rush without loss, except Lieutenant Bradshaw, who, regardless of danger, received a discharge, which killed him on the spot. We proceeded without opposition through the Begum's Bagh. Upon arriving at the gate which opens on the Chandnee Chouk, the gate of the Dureeba was found to be shut. This difficulty, however, was speedily overcome through the good conduct of a native, Mahun Singh, a Chuprassie, who, accompanied by 5 Men of the 52nd, volunteered to endeavour to open it. The Column then passed up the Dureeba without opposition, except from musketry from a few Houses. Upon arriving at the turn which brings the Musjid into view, and at about 100 yards distant, the side arches were found to be bricked up, and the gate itself closed. It was too strong to be forced open without powder bags or Artillery, neither of which were with me,—the former in consequence of the Engineer and his party having fallen, and the latter not having been able to enter the Cashmere Gate, as the bridge had been destroyed, and moreover the houses on each side the street were filled with the enemy.

I remained at this point about half an hour, in the hopes of hearing of the successful advance of the other Column at the Lahore and Ajmere Gates. At the expiration of this period, many Men having fallen by the fire from the surrounding houses, I judged it expedient to fall back upon the Begum's Garden, which we held for at least an hour and a half under a heavy fire of musketry, grape and canister.

Captain Ramsay, of the Kumaon Battalion, who had diverged to the right from the Column and had been in possession of the Kotwalee for some time, here rejoined the Column. Having communicated with the Head Quarters and ascertained that the 1st and 2nd Columns had not advanced beyond the Cabul Gate, I fell back upon the Church.

The operations of the Column, I regret to say, were attended with considerable loss; but the number of those who fell I am at present unable to state.

It now becomes my duty to bring to the notice of the Major General the gallantry and good conduct of all the Troops concerned, more especially H. M.'s 52nd Light Infantry, who led the Column from first to last, and who, I consider, fully maintained its high reputation. The Officers to whom I am more particularly indebted are Lieutenant Salkeld, of the Engineers, who personally fastened the powder bags to the Gate, fixed the hose, and although fearfully wounded, contrived to hand to a Non-Commissioned Officer of the Sappers and Miners the light to fire the train; Lieutenant Home, of the Engineers, who also accompanied the Explosion Party; Captain Bayley, H. M.'s 52nd, who Commanded and led the Storming Party, and who was unfortunately wounded approaching the Gate; Captain Cross, H. M.'s 52nd, who Commanded the Supports; Major Vigors, who Commanded H. M.'s 52nd; Captain Ramsay, who Commanded the Kumaon Battalion; Lieutenant Nicholson, who Commanded the 1st Punjab Infantry, and who, I regret to say, was wounded shortly after the entry was effected; Captain Synge, H. M.'s 52nd, who acted as my Brigade Major to the Column.

I have further the gratification of bringing to the especial notice of the Major General the invaluable assistance I received from Sir T. Metcalfe, who was at my side throughout the operations, and fearlessly guided me through many intricate streets and turnings to the Jumma Musjeed, traversing at least two-thirds of the City, and enabling me to avoid many dangers and difficulties.

It is difficult to select individuals from the Ranks, where all behaved so well, who may have particularly distinguished themselves: but I have no hesitation in specifying the following Non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers as deserving of peculiar reward, viz—the Non-Commissioned Officers of the Sappers and Miners, who formed the Explosion Party; Bugler Robert Hawthorn, H. M.'s 52nd, who accompanied the Explosion Party and sounded the Signal to advance; No. 1104, Sergeant Major Streets, H. M.'s 52nd, whose gallantry and good conduct was conspicuous up to the time he was severely wounded; No. 2764, L. Corporal Henry Smith, H. M.'s 52nd, who carried away a wounded comrade under a heavy fire of grape and musketry in the Chandnee Chouk; No. 1836, L. Corporal William Taylor, H. M.'s 52nd, whose conduct was conspicuous throughout the operations.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) G. CAMPBELL, Colonel.
Comdg. H. M.'s 52nd and the Column of Assault.

I am unable to state the names of the Non-Commissioned Officers of the Sappers and Miners who were with the Explosion Party.

From

Brigadier J. Longfield,
Comdg. Reserve Column,

To

The Depy. Asst Adjutant General,
Field Force, Delhi.

Delhi, 17th September 1857.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of the Major General Commanding the Field Force, that in accordance to orders received, I took the Command of the Reserve Column, as per margin, at ½ past 3 o'Clock the morning of the 14th Instant.

	Rank and File
H. M.'s 60th Rifles	200
„ „ 61st. Regt.	250
Belooch Battalion	200
4th Punjab Infantry	550
Jheend Force	200
	1,400

The whole of H. M.'s 60th Rifles, Commanded by Lieut.-Colonel Jones, were detached for the purpose of covering the three Attacking Columns.

The Belooch Battalion, under Command of Lieut.-Colonel Farquhar, were, according to orders, detached to the Advanced Batteries.

When about two-thirds of the way from the Camp to the Cashmere Gate, I received orders to re-inforce the Attacking Column. H. M.'s 61st Regiment, under Command of Lieut.-Colonel Deacon, and the Right Wing of the 4th Punjab Infantry, under Command of Capt. Wild, were sent forward.

The remainder of the Reserve Column, namely, the Left Wing of the 4th Punjab Infantry and the Jheend Force, under Command of Lieut.-Colonel Dunsford, then proceeded, the attack on the Cashmere Gate being successful.

The Jheend Force occupied the Cashmere Gate and the Main Guard.

The 4th Punjab assembled at the Church and formed part of a Column of Attack on the College and grounds.

A party of H. M.'s 60th Rifles and the 4th Punjab Infantry had already compelled the enemy to withdraw the gun they had placed at the gate of the College Compound. Captain Wild then charged up to the House with his Corps and gained the building with a loss of 3 Sepoys and 2 Native Officers killed and 22 Sepoys wounded.

The Belooch Battalion were directed to re-inforce Major Reid's Column, and subsequently took post at the College.

H. M.'s 60th Rifles, on re-joining the Reserve, proceeded to Ahmed Alli Khan's House.

H. M.'s 61st Regiment, under Command of Lieut-Colonel Deacon, which had been already detached to support the Attacking Column, proceeded to the Cabul Gate.

A return of the casualties that took place has been already forwarded.

I have a great deal of pleasure in stating that I received every assistance and support from the Commanding Officers, namely, Lieut.-Colonel Jones, H. M.'s 60th Rifles; Lieut.-Colonel Deacon, H. M.'s 61st Regiment; Lieut.-Colonel Farquhar, Belooch Battalion; Lieut.-Colonel Dunsford, Jheend Force; and Capt. Wild, 4th Punjab Infantry.

Capt. Nicoll, Major of Brigade, and Capt. Campbell, 2nd Fusiliers, my Orderly Officer, rendered me every assistance in their power.

I have, &c.,

J. Longfield, Brigadier,
Commanding Reserve Column.

To

Major W. S. Ewart,
Deputy A. A. General, Camp.

Delhi, 17th September 1857.

Sir,

At dawn on the 14th September, the Column of Attack on Kishengunge in the order a strength as per margin was drawn up at the Subzee Mundee Serai, under Command of Major Reid.

50 Men 60th Rifles.
200 Men Sirmoor Battn.
160 Men 1st Fusiliers.
200 Guides.
25 Coke Corps.
65 Kumaon Battn.
80 H. M.'s 61st Regt.
780 Total.

The Jummoo Contingent commenced the attack before our Artillery had arrived, and Major Reid, wishing to support the attack, moved down the road in a Column of fours covered by 25 riflemen in skirmishing order.

The enemy opened fire from the bridge over the canal, and from behind walls, and the loopholed Serai of Kuhrengunge. Major Reid fell wounded in the head. The fall of their gallant leader checked the advance of the Goorkahs The Fusiliers came to the front at the double, led by Captain Wriford.

The rush of the Rifles and Fusiliers placed them for a moment in possession of the breastwork at the end of the Serai; but those Men, unsupported, were unable to maintain the position under the heavy flanking fire to which they were exposed.

The Native Troops lined a Garden to the right of the road, and Lieutenant R H Shebbeare, whose gallantry in this trying affair was the admiration of every one, with a few of the Guides and some Europeans, took possession of a Mosque. Every effort was made here to re-form the Troops, and charge the enemy's position, but without success, though many Officers sacrificed themselves in the attempt.

As I observed Columns of the enemy's Horse and Foot taking ground to our right, and as I saw they were in great force to our front and left flank, I considered the object of the attack so far gained in having directed the attention of the enemy from the main point of attack. Fearing also that the enemy's great strength might encourage him to attack our Batteries on the hill, I thought it right, as I had succeeded to the Command on the fall of Major Reid, to re-occupy the position from which we had been withdrawn. This was accomplished with little further loss, under cover of the Crow's Nest Battery, which fired shrapnell a few feet over our heads, and with the most admirable precision and fatal effect to the enemy.

This Battery was Commanded by Lieutenant H. I. Evans, of the Artillery.

I cannot close this report without mentioning the noble way in which two Officers and one Serjeant fell in the attack. Captain G. G. McBarnet, attached to the 1st Bengal Fusiliers, died at the head of his Men at the first rush, and Lieutenant A. W. Murray, of the Guides, was killed while gallantly seconding his immediate Superior Lieutenant Shebbeare, who was himself struck by two balls.

I am much disappointed in learning that Serjeant Dunleary, of the Fusiliers, a Man whose conduct was conspicuous throughout, was killed in the Field.

Annexed is a statement of our loss, which, I regret to say, has been very heavy.

I have, &c.,

The following Despatch from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, is published for general information :—

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

No. 116 OF 1857.

OUR GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL

1. Adverting to the state of disorganization in nearly all the Districts of the North-Western Provinces and in other parts of the Territories under your Government, reported in your late Despatches—to the losses sustained in Officers, and to the obvious expediency of rendering as efficient as possible the European Agency at your disposal, for reorganizing and maintaining the Civil Administration in the three Presidencies, we have directed all the Members of our Civil Service, who are are at home on Furlough or leave on Private Affairs, to return forthwith to their duties, and as regards Absentees on Sick Certificate, we have ordered that those who have been absent for twelve months and upwards, shall likewise return immediately, unless they may produce a sufficient Medical Certificate of the necessity of their continued residence in this country.

2. We have not deemed it desirable to await an application from you on this subject. We cannot doubt that you will find employment for all these Officers. It is our wish that their services may be made use of in any way most beneficial to the public interests: and we need hardly intimate to you that we shall be prepared to sanction any special arrangement for their employment which the exigencies of the present emergency may, in your judgment, render necessary.

3. It is not our intention that Officers who have been obliged, under the operation of this order, to return to India before the expiration of the Furloughs to which their services had entitled them, should, in respect to the remaining portions of the Furloughs now relinquished, be subject to the restrictions prescribed by the printed Rules, as to the periods which must ordinarily elapse before leave can again be given. It will be at your discretion to give permission to those Officers to take the remainder of their Furloughs whenever their services may not be required in India.

4 You will communicate this Despatch to the subordinate Governments.

We are, &c.,

CECIL BEADON,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE 2ND FEBRUARY 1855.—The Government of Bengal having entered into a Contract with Messrs Samuel Smith and Co, for the execution of the Government Printing Work, all Public Officers under the Government of India at the Presidency are hereby directed not to employ any other Printing Establishment for the execution of Government Work.

CECIL BEADON,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council on the 7th February 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who will report thereon after the 11th day of December 1857 :—

A Bill for raising Funds for making and repairing roads in the Suburbs of Calcutta and the Station of Howrah.

Preamble.

WHEREAS considerable sums are expended annually by Government for making and repairing roads in the suburbs of Calcutta and the station of Howrah ; and whereas it is just and expedient that such expenses should be defrayed by the inhabitants of the said suburbs and station in the same manner as the expense of making and repairing roads in the Town of Calcutta is defrayed by the inhabitants of the said Town ; and whereas a tax has been imposed upon carriages and horses kept within the said Town ; and it is expedient that a similar tax should be imposed upon carriages and horses kept within the said suburbs and station : It is enacted as follows :—

Expense of making roads to be defrayed by inhabitants.

I. The sums required for making and repairing roads within the limits of the said suburbs and station, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, shall be contributed by the inhabitants of the said suburbs and station and shall be recovered in the manner hereinafter provided.

A tax to be imposed on carriages, horses, &c.

II. A tax shall be imposed upon all carriages, horses, ponies, and mules kept within the limits of the said suburbs and station as those limits are defined in Act 1857, at the rates specified in the annexed Schedule, and shall be payable quarterly by the owners or persons having charge of the same.

Exemptions.

III. Provided that the carriages and animals hereinafter mentioned shall be exempt from the tax, namely,

Gun carriages, and ordnance carts and waggons.

Cavalry horses.

Horses belonging to Officers doing regimental duty at the Presidency or in the said suburbs or station, at the rate of one horse for each Officer.

Carriages and animals kept for sale and not used for any other purpose, if kept by bonâ fide dealers in such carriages or animals.

Lieutenant-Governor may appoint Collector of tax.

IV. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may appoint such person as he shall deem fit to be Collector of the carriage and horse-tax in the said suburbs and in the said station.

What will constitute liability to the tax for a whole quarter.

V. Every person, who may have owned or had charge of any carriage or animal kept within the said suburbs or station for a period exceeding thirty days in any quarter, shall be liable to the whole tax for that quarter. If the period do not exceed thirty days, no tax shall be chargeable for that quarter. Provided that, when any person owning or having charge of any carriage or animal shall transfer the same to another person, he shall give notice thereof to the Collector within one week of the date of such transfer, or, if he fail to give such notice, shall be liable to the whole tax for the quarter, although the period during which he may have owned or had charge of such carriage or animal shall not have exceeded thirty days.

Carriages under repair.

VI. When a carriage shall have been under repair at a carriage-maker's for more than thirty days in any quarter, the Collector shall remit so much of the tax for that quarter as may be proportionate to the number of days the said carriage may have been under repair.

Collector may compound with livery stable-keepers.

VII. The Collector, at his discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with livery stable-keepers and other persons keeping carriages and horses for hire, for a certain sum to be paid for the carriages and horses so kept by such persons in lieu of the rates specified in the Schedule.

Carriages and horses let for hire to residents in the suburbs liable to the tax.

VIII. Carriages and horses, let out for hire and kept for the time being in premises situated within the said suburbs or station, although owned by livery stable-keepers or others not residing within the limits of the said suburbs or station, shall be subject to the tax, and the sums to be charged for such carriages and horses shall be recoverable from the persons in whose premises they are for the time being kept.

Registry and numbering of carriages for hire.

IX. Every carriage of the description rated in the Schedule at one Rupee and eight annas, kept within the said suburbs or station and let out for hire, shall be registered in the Office of the Collector, and shall bear, in such manner as the Collector shall direct, the number of such registration. The registration shall be made and the number assigned annually upon such day in each year as the Collector shall appoint. Any person becoming possessed, within the year, of any such carriage which has not been registered, may obtain registration on application to the Collector at his Office. When any registered carriage is transferred within the year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred. A fee of four annas shall be paid for each registration.

Penalty for not registering.

X. Whoever keeps any such carriage, required to be registered by the provisions of the last preceding Section, without being so registered, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding ten Rupees, and the Collector or any Officer duly authorized by him may seize or cause to be seized any such carriage (provided the same be not employed at the time of seizure in the conveyance of any passengers or goods) together with the horses or other animals drawing the same, and may deliver them over to the Police; and all Police Officers are hereby required, on the application of the Collector or his Officer as aforesaid, to seize and detain the same. If the carriage as aforesaid be not claimed, or if the fine be not paid within ten days, such carriage, together with the animals seized with it, may be sold by auction by order of the Magistrate, and the proceeds applied to the payment of the fine and all costs and charges incurred on account of the detention and sale, and the surplus (if any), if not claimed by the owner within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Collector.

List of persons liable to tax to be prepared.

XI. The Collector shall from time to time cause to be prepared and entered in distinct columns in a book to be kept at his Office, and to be open to the inspection of any person interested therein, a list of the persons liable to the payment of the tax, a description of the carriages and animals in respect of which they are liable, and the amount of the tax assessed thereon.

Returns may be required for purpose of making list.

XII. In order to enable the Collector to make such list, the Collector or any Officer authorized by him may send to all persons supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax, a Schedule to be filled up with such information respecting the carriages and animals kept by them as the Collector may judge necessary for the assessment of the tax. The Schedule shall be filled up in writing, and signed and dated, and returned to the Office of the Collector by every person to whom it is sent whether or not liable to the payment of the tax; and whoever refuses, neglects, or omits duly to fill up and return such Schedule within one week from the receipt thereof, or knowingly gives therein any incorrect or false return, shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Power to summon persons liable to tax.

XIII. The Magistrate on the report of the Collector may, if he thinks proper, summon any person supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax, or any servant of such person, to appear before the Collector; and the Collector may examine such person or his servant as to the number and description of the carriages and horses in respect of which such person is liable to be assessed. If the person summoned shall, without lawful excuse, fail to appear in pursuance of the summons, or shall refuse to answer any lawful question of the Collector, or knowingly give an incorrect answer, he shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Appeal against assessment may be made to Magistrate.

XIV. Any person who may dispute his liability for any assessment made under the foregoing provisions of this Act or the amount of any such assessment, may appeal to the Magistrate. Provided that such appeal shall be commenced within ten days after the receipt by such person of a bill for the sum claimed from him in respect of such assessment.

Magistrate's decision final.

XV. The decision of the Magistrate upon every such appeal shall be final and conclusive; and no person shall be entitled to contest any assessment made under the foregoing provisions of this Act, in any other manner than by appeal to the Magistrate as hereinbefore provided.

Bill to be presented.

XVI. When any sum is due on account of the said tax, the Collector shall cause to be presented to the person liable to the payment thereof a bill for the amount, which shall also contain a statement of the period and a description of the carriages and animals for which the charge is made, together with a notice of the time within which an appeal may be preferred.

Notice of demand.

XVII. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within five days from the presentation thereof, the Collector may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand in the form (A) contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect; and if such person shall not, within five days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due or show sufficient cause for non-payment of the same to the satisfaction of the Collector, and if no appeal shall have been preferred, such sum with all costs may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the defaulter under a warrant in the form (B) in the Schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Collector.

Inventory and notice of sale.

XVIII. The Officer charged with the execution of the warrant of distress shall make an inventory of the goods and chattels seized under any such warrant, and shall at the same time give a notice in writing in the form (C) contained in the Schedule annexed to this Act, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said goods and chattels will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale.

XIX. If the arrear is not paid with costs, or the warrant is not discharged or suspended by the Collector, the goods and chattels seized shall be sold under the orders of the Collector, who shall apply the proceeds or such part thereof as may be necessary in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned on demand to the person in possession of the goods and chattels at the time of the seizure. The fees payable upon distraints under this Act shall be such as are set forth in the table of fees in the said Schedule.

Fees.

Collector may sue instead or on failure of distress.

XX. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or part of any sum due in respect of the tax, the Collector may sue the person liable for the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Estimate of probable expense of making and repairing roads, to be prepared annually, and published.

XXI. Previously to the first day of May of each year an estimate shall be prepared of the amount required during the year for the purpose of making and repairing roads in the said suburbs and in the said station; and such estimate, when sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor, shall be published in the Official Gazette for general information. If the said estimate shall exceed the sum which the carriage and horse-tax is estimated to produce, with the addition of such further sums as may be assigned by Government for the said purpose out of the Ferry Fund, or any other public fund, such excess shall be added to the amount of the assessment or rate to be levied in the said suburbs and station under Act XX of 1856, and shall be made and recovered according to the provisions of that Act. Provided, however, that the limitation prescribed for an assessment or rate by Section XI of the said Act shall not be applicable to any assessment or rate made under this Act.

If estimate of expense exceed estimated produce of carriage and horse tax, excess how to be made and recovered.

Proviso.

Collections and fines to be paid to suburban roads fund.

XXII. The proceeds of any assessment or rate made as aforesaid shall be kept distinct from the proceeds of the assessment or rate made for the purposes of the said Act XX of 1856, and such proceeds, together with all sums received by the Collector of the carriage and horse-tax and all sums assigned by Government as above provided, and all fines and penalties levied under this Act, shall form a fund which shall be called in the suburbs of Calcutta "the suburban roads fund," and in the station of Howrah "the station roads fund." All expenses incurred for the purpose of this Act shall be defrayed from the said fund, and the residue shall be applied exclusively to making, repairing, and improving roads within the limits of the said suburbs and station. Provided that no payment shall be made from the said fund for the repair of such roads or parts of roads as are hereinafter described, namely, in the said suburbs

Appropriation of fund.

The Barrackpore road with the Lock-gate road.

The road from the Cossipore gun-foundry to Dum-Dum.

The Belgatchya or Dum-Dum road.

No. 83, dated 5th November 1857.—The Lieutenant-Governor, Central Provinces, is pleased to make the following appointment:—

Lieutenant Dunbar, 37th Regiment Native Infantry, to have charge of the Benares Military Police Levy, with effect from 28th September last.

No. 1417 of 1857.—The following Notifications, from the Foreign Department, are published in General Orders:—

No. 332, dated 6th November 1357.—Referring to the Notifications from this Department, Nos. 140 and 185, dated the 18th June and 1st July last, in which the services of the Persian Expeditionary Force were acknowledged, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council desires to express his obligations to the Clergymen who were attached to the Force, and to certain Officers whom Lieutenant-General Sir James Outram, K. C. B., omitted to notice in his Despatch.

The Reverend Messrs. Badger, Watson and Schwabe, and the Reverend Mr. Strickland, Roman Catholic Clergyman, were assiduous in their attention to the spiritual wants of the Officers and European Troops during the continuance of the Campaign, and have established a claim, as well to the gratitude of those who benefited by their ministrations, as to the thanks of the Government of India.

Captain Playfair, of the Bombay Engineers, was Field Engineer under the late Major-General Stalker at the Affair of Bushire and the Capture of Bushire, and he acted in the same capacity at Khooshab, and again at Mohamroh, under the Command of Lieutenant-General Sir James Outram. On all occasions, Captain Playfair made himself conspicuous by his zeal and activity, and won the approbation of his Superiors.

Captain Good commanded a Detachment of H. M.'s 64th Foot, on the Expedition to Ahwaz, and contributed to the signal success which was there achieved.

Lieutenant W. Gray, late Deputy Assistant Commissary General, was in charge of the Executive Commissariat duties at Bushire, which were of an extensive and important character, and were conducted by that Officer with commendable zeal and efficiency.

The services of these Officers have been noticed by Lieutenant-General Sir J. Outram, K. C. B., with much approbation, and the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has great pleasure in tendering to them the thanks of the Government of India.

No. 333, dated 6th November 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has received official information of the evacuation of Bushire by the British Troops on the 2nd October. The Island of Karrack is the only spot of Persian Soil which is still in the occupation of the British Government, and the relinquishment of that post only awaits the receipt of authentic intelligence by the Officer in Command, that the conditions of the Treaty of Peace concluded on the 4th March last have been completely fulfilled by the Persian Government.

In making this announcement, it becomes the gratifying duty of the Governor General in Council to record the sense which is entertained by the Government of India of the services rendered by Brigadier-General Jacob, C. B., and the Officers under his Command.

When Lieutenant-General Sir J. Outram, K. C.B., left Bushire in progress to Mohamreh, the Command of the Troops remaining at the former post was committed to Brigadier General John Jacob, and subsequently, when the Lieutenant-General was recalled to India, all the Military and Political authority, which had been exercised by him, devolved on Brigadier-General Jacob. The admirable discipline, order, and efficiency which have been maintained amongst the Troops under Brigadier-General Jacob's Command at Bushire, and the judgment with which he has discharged all his high and important functions, entitle that very distinguished Officer to the warmest thanks of the Government of India.

The confidence with which Lieutenant-General Sir J. Outram resigned his Command into the hands of the Brigadier-General, has been fully justified by the issue. The British Troops leave behind them in Persia a reputation, not for valor alone, but for discipline, moderation, and justice, and it is to Brigadier-General Jacob especially, and to the able Officers by whom he was surrounded, that this gratifying result is due.

Brigadier-General Jacob, C. B, has expressed his obligations to the Field Force under his Command.

The thanks of the Government of India are especially due to Brigadier Wilson, K. H., Brigadier Stuart, Commanding the Cavalry at Bushire, and Brigadier Honner.

Colonel Trevelyan, Commanding the Artillery, has zealously and usefully aided Brigadier-General Jacob in matters beyond the ordinary range of his duty, and Major John Hill, Commanding the Engineers, has done excellent service.

To the Officers Commanding Regiments, and to the Heads of Departments, high credit is due, for the perfect order and efficiency maintained during the whole period of occupation, and to none more than to Superintending Surgeon Stovell, who has labored to preserve the health of the Army with assiduity and success.

Captain Felix Jones, of the Indian Navy, Political Resident and Civil Commissioner of Bushire, has, together with the Officers under his orders, earned the best thanks of the Governor General in Council for the mode in which his charge has been administered.

The various duties which have fallen to Commodore Rennie, Indian Navy, since the cessation of hostilities, have been scarcely less important than those previously discharged by him; and through the ability and zeal of himself and the Officers under his Command, they have been performed in a manner to call for the marked approbation of the Governor General in Council.

Finally, the Governor General in Council begs to offer his cordial thanks to all the Officers, the Non-Commissioned Officers, and Men, composing the Force under the Command of Brigadier General Jacob, C. B., for their orderly conduct and their steady discipline during the occupation of Bushire, and to assure them that it will be his care to bring their services under the favorable notice of Her Majesty's Government and the Hon'ble the Court of Directors.

No. 1421 of 1857.—The following Order, issued by the Resident at Hyderabad, is confirmed :—

No. 205, dated 17*th September* 1857.—Major C. Swinton, 35th Native Infantry, is permitted, in accordance with his request, to resign his appointment as Commandant of the 2nd Regiment Infantry, Hyderabad Contingent, and to proceed to Calcutta on his private affairs.

With reference to the foregoing, the services of Major Swinton are placed at the disposal of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

No. 1422 of 1857.—The Detachments of Her Majesty's Regiments arrived in the following Ships are brought on the Establishment of the Bengal Presidency, from dates of landing :—

Detachments.	Names of Ships.
Her Majesty's 54th Foot	...City of Manchester.

No. 1423 of 1857.—In modification of Government General Order No. 613, of the 8th June 1854, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased, at the recommendation of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, to authorize the following revised scale of Cooking Utensils for the use of all European Troops serving under the Bengal Presidency. Four Messes will be formed in each Company, instead of three, as before, and each Mess will be allowed :—

1	Copper Boiler of	8	Gallons, with Cover.
1	Ditto of	7	ditto, with Cover.
1	Ditto of	2	ditto, with Cover.
1	Frying Pan.
1	Grid Iron.
1	Chopper.
2	Ladles and 3 Baskets.

With reference to Government General Order No. 742 of 1855, sanctioning the issue to each European Soldier of a Sulleetah for containing his kit on the line of march, His Lordship in Council directs that, in future, one Sulleetah be issued to every two European Soldiers, instead of to each Soldier.

No. 1424 of 1857.—The under-mentioned Officer has returned to his duty on this Establishment, without prejudice to his rank, by permission of the Hon'ble the Court of Directors :—

	Date of Arrival at Fort William.
Captain George Byres Mainwaring, of the 16th Regiment Native Infantry (Grenadiers)	5th Nov. 1857.

No. 1425 of 1857.—That part of Government General Order No. 865, of the 3rd July 1857, placing Captain H. O. Fort William, 13th November 1857.

No. 1427 of 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to admit Subadar Sheick Hedayut Ali, of the Bengal Police Battalion, to the 1st Class of the "Order of British India," with the title of "Sirdar Bahadoor," in consideration of his faithful services and exemplary loyalty to the State.

This Native Officer was transferred from the 8th Native Infantry (in which Corps he was Drill Havildar) to the Bengal Police Battalion in 1856.

The records of the 8th Regiment Native Infantry bear witness to the high character sustained by him in that Corps, while serving with which he greatly distinguished himself at the Siege of Mooltan.

The strong testimony borne by the Commanding Officer to his faithful and excellent service since he gained the Police Battalion, and the example of honorable soldier-like conduct which he has given to his comrades in circumstances of difficulty, increase his claim to the favor of the Governor General in Council.

No. 1428 of 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to announce, for general information, that Her Majesty's Government have appointed the following gentlemen as Officiating Chaplains with Her Majesty's Troops sent out as reinforcements to India :—

THE 2ND FEBRUARY 1855.—The Government of Bengal having entered into a Contract with Messrs. Samuel Smith and Co., for the execution of the Government Printing Work, all Public Officers under the Government of India at the Presidency are hereby directed not to employ any other Printing Establishment for the execution of Government Work.

CECIL BEADON,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council on the 7th February 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who will report thereon after the 11th day of December 1857 :—

A Bill for raising Funds for making and repairing roads in the Suburbs of Calcutta and the Station of Howrah.

Preamble.

WHEREAS considerable sums are expended annually by Government for making and repairing roads in the suburbs of Calcutta and the station of Howrah; and whereas it is just and expedient that such expenses should be defrayed by the inhabitants of the said suburbs and station in the same manner as the expense of making and repairing roads in the Town of Calcutta is defrayed by the inhabitants of the said Town; and whereas a tax has been imposed upon carriages and horses kept within the said Town; and it is expedient that a similar tax should be imposed upon carriages and horses kept within the said suburbs and station: It is enacted as follows :—

Expense of making roads to be defrayed by inhabitants.

I. The sums required for making and repairing roads within the limits of the said suburbs and station, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, shall be contributed by the inhabitants of the said suburbs and station and shall be recovered in the manner hereinafter provided.

A tax to be imposed on carriages, horses, &c.

II. A tax shall be imposed upon all carriages, horses, ponies, and mules kept within the limits of the said suburbs and station as those limits are defined in Act 1857, at the rates specified in the annexed Schedule, and shall be payable quarterly by the owners or persons having charge of the same.

Exemptions.

III. Provided that the carriages and animals hereinafter mentioned shall be exempt from the tax, namely,

Gun carriages, and ordnance carts and waggons.

Cavalry horses.

Horses belonging to Officers doing regimental duty at the Presidency or in the said suburbs or station, at the rate of one horse for each Officer.

Carriages and animals kept for sale and not used for any other purpose, if kept by bonâ fide dealers in such carriages or animals.

Lieutenant-Governor may appoint Collector of tax.

IV. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may appoint such person as he shall deem fit to be Collector of the carriage and horse-tax in the said suburbs and in the said station.

What will constitute liability to the tax for a whole quarter.

V. Every person, who may have owned or had charge of any carriage or animal kept within the said suburbs or station for a period exceeding thirty days in any quarter, shall be liable to the whole tax for that quarter. If the period do not exceed thirty days, no tax shall be chargeable for that quarter. Provided that, when any person owning or having charge of any carriage or animal shall transfer the same to another person, he shall give notice thereof to the Collector within one week of the date of such transfer, or, if he fail to give such notice, shall be liable to the whole tax for the quarter, although the period during which he may have owned or had charge of such carriage or animal shall not have exceeded thirty days.

Carriages under repair.

VI. When a carriage shall have been under repair at a carriage-maker's for more than thirty days in any quarter, the Collector shall remit so much of the tax for that quarter as may be proportionate to the number of days the said carriage may have been under repair.

Collector may compound with livery stable-keepers.

VII. The Collector, at his discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with livery stable keepers and other persons keeping carriages and horses for hire, for a certain sum to be paid for the carriages and horses so kept by such persons in lieu of the rates specified in the Schedule.

Carriages and horses let for hire to residents in the suburbs liable to the tax.

VIII. Carriages and horses, let out for hire and kept for the time being in premises situated within the said suburbs or station, although owned by livery stable-keepers or others not residing within the limits of the said suburbs or station, shall be subject to the tax, and the sums to be charged for such carriages and horses shall be recoverable from the persons in whose premises they are for the time being kept.

Registry and numbering of carriages for hire.

IX. Every carriage of the description rated in the Schedule at one Rupee and eight annas, kept within the said suburbs or station and let out for hire, shall be registered in the Office of the Collector, and shall bear, in such manner as the Collector shall direct, the number of such registration. The registration shall be made and the number assigned annually upon such day in each year as the Collector shall appoint. Any person becoming possessed, within the year, of any such carriage which has not been registered, may obtain registration on application to the Collector at his Office. When any registered carriage is transferred within the year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred. A fee of four annas shall be paid for each registration.

Penalty for not registering.

X. Whoever keeps any such carriage, required to be registered by the provisions of the last preceding Section, without being so registered, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding ten Rupees, and the Collector or any Officer duly authorized by him may seize or cause to be seized any such carriage (provided the same be not employed at the time of seizure in the conveyance of any passengers or goods) together with the horses or other animals drawing the same, and may deliver them over to the Police; and all Police Officers are hereby required, on the application of the Collector or his Officer as aforesaid, to seize and detain the same. If the carriage as aforesaid be not claimed, or if the fine be not paid within ten days, such carriage, together with the animals seized with it, may be sold by auction by order of the Magistrate, and the proceeds applied to the payment of the fine and all costs and charges incurred on account of the detention and sale, and the surplus (if any), if not claimed by the owner within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Collector.

List of persons liable to tax to be prepared.

XI. The Collector shall from time to time cause to be prepared and entered in distinct columns in a book to be kept at his Office, and to be open to the inspection of any person interested therein, a list of the persons liable to the payment of the tax, a description of the carriages and animals in respect of which they are liable, and the amount of the tax assessed thereon.

Returns may be required for purpose of making list.

XII. In order to enable the Collector to make such list, the Collector or any Officer authorized by him may send to all persons supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax, a Schedule to be filled up with such information respecting the carriages and animals kept by them as the Collector may judge necessary for the assessment of the tax. The Schedule shall be filled up in writing, and signed and dated, and returned to the Office of the Collector by every person to whom it is sent whether or not liable to the payment of the tax; and whoever refuses, neglects, or omits duly to fill up and return such Schedule within one week from the receipt thereof, or knowingly gives therein any incorrect or false return, shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Power to summon persons liable to tax.

XIII. The Magistrate on the report of the Collector may, if he thinks proper, summon any person supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax, or any servant of such person, to appear before the Collector; and the Collector may examine such person or his servant as to the number and description of the carriages and horses in respect of which such person is liable to be assessed. If the person summoned shall, without lawful excuse, fail to appear in pursuance of the summons, or shall refuse to answer any lawful question of the Collector, or knowingly give an incorrect answer, he shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Appeal against assessment may be made to Magistrate.

XIV. Any person who may dispute his liability for any assessment made under the foregoing provisions of this Act or the amount of any such assessment, may appeal to the Magistrate. Provided that such appeal shall be commenced within ten days after the receipt by such person of a bill for the sum claimed from him in respect of such assessment.

Magistrate's decision final.

XV. The decision of the Magistrate upon every such appeal shall be final and conclusive; and no person shall be entitled to contest any assessment made under the foregoing provisions of this Act, in any other manner than by appeal to the Magistrate as hereinbefore provided.

Bill to be presented.

XVI. When any sum is due on account of the said tax, the Collector shall cause to be presented to the person liable to the payment thereof a bill for the amount, which shall also contain a statement of the period and a description of the carriages and animals for which the charge is made, together with a notice of the time within which an appeal may be preferred.

Notice of demand.

XVII. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within five days from the presentation thereof, the Collector may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand in the form (A) contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect; and if such person shall not, within five days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due or show sufficient cause for non-payment of the same to the satisfaction of the Collector, and if no appeal shall have been preferred, such sum with all costs may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the defaulter under a warrant in the form (B) in the Schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Collector.

Inventory and notice of sale.

XVIII. The Officer charged with the execution of the warrant of distress shall make an inventory of the goods and chattels seized under any such warrant, and shall at the same time give a notice in writing in the form (C) contained in the Schedule annexed to this Act, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said goods and chattels will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale.

XIX. If the arrear is not paid with costs, or the warrant is not discharged or suspended by the Collector, the goods and chattels seized shall be sold under the orders of the Collector, who shall apply the proceeds or such part thereof as may be necessary in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned on demand to the person in possession of the goods and chattels at the time of the seizure. The fees payable upon distraints under this Act shall be such as are set forth in the table of fees in the said Schedule.

Fees.

Collector may sue instead or on failure of distress.

XX. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or part of any sum due in respect of the tax, the Collector may sue the person liable for the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Estimate of probable expense of making and repairing roads, to be prepared annually, and published.

XXI. Previously to the first day of May of each year an estimate shall be prepared of the amount required during the year for the purpose of making and repairing roads in the said suburbs and in the said station; and such estimate, when sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor, shall be published in the Official Gazette for general information. If the said estimate shall exceed the sum which the carriage and horse-tax is estimated to produce, with the addition of such further sums as may be assigned by Government for the said purpose out of the Ferry Fund, or any other public fund, such excess shall be added to the amount of the assessment or rate to be levied in the said suburbs and station under Act XX of 1856, and shall be made and recovered according to the provisions of that Act. Provided, however, that the limitation prescribed for an assessment or rate by Section XI of the said Act shall not be applicable to any assessment or rate made under this Act.

If estimate of expense exceed estimated produce of carriage and horse tax, excess how to be made and recovered.

Proviso.

Collections and fines to be paid to suburban roads fund.

XXII. The proceeds of any assessment or rate made as aforesaid shall be kept distinct from the proceeds of the assessment or rate made for the purposes of the said Act XX of 1856, and such proceeds, together with all sums received by the Collector of the carriage and horse-tax and all sums assigned by Government as above provided, and all fines and penalties levied under this Act, shall form a fund which shall be called in the suburbs of Calcutta "the suburban roads fund," and in the station of Howrah "the station roads fund." All expenses incurred for the purpose of this Act shall be defrayed from the said fund, and the residue shall be applied exclusively to making, repairing, and improving roads within the limits of the said suburbs and station. Provided that no payment shall be made from the said fund for the repair of such roads or parts of roads as are hereinafter described, namely, in the said suburbs

Appropriation of fund.

The Barrackpore road with the Lock-gate road.

The road from the Cossipore gun-foundry to Dum-Dum.

The Belgatchya or Dum-Dum road.

The Behalea or Diamond Harbour road from the cross road to Allipore and Tollygunge.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 14th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 31st October 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 18th of January next :—

A Bill to amend the Law relating to the recovery of Rent in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to re-enact with certain modifications the provisions of the existing law relative to the rights of ryots with respect to the delivery of pottahs and the occupancy of land, to the prevention of illegal exaction and extortion in connection with demands of rent, and to other questions connected with the same ; to extend the jurisdiction of Collectors, and to prescribe rules for the trial of such questions, as well as of suits for the recovery of arrears of rent, and of suits arising out of the distraint of property for such arrears; and to amend the law relating to distraint : It is enacted as follows : —

Laws repealed.

I. The following Regulations and Acts, and portions of Regulations and Acts, are hereby repealed, except in so far as they repeal any other Regulation or Act, and except as to proceedings commenced before the date of this Act coming into force, namely,

Regulation XVII. 1793.
So much of Regulation IV. 1794 as is still in force.
Regulation XXXV. 1795.
Regulation XLV. 1795.
Sections IX and X Regulation LI. 1795.
Sections I to XX of Regulation VII. 1799.
Sections I to XX of Regulation V. 1800.
Regulation XXVIII. 1803.
Sections IX and X Regulation XXX. 1803.
Section IV of Regulation II. 1805.
Section XIX of Regulation VIII. 1805.
Sections V to XXIII of Regulation V. 1812.
Sections XV and XVI of Regulation XIX. 1817.
Sections XVIII and XIX of Regulation VIII 1819.
Section IV of Regulation II. 1821.
Section XXII, and so much of Section XX and the following Sections of Regulation VII. 1822 as apply to suits for rent, to complaints of excessive demand or undue exaction of rent or of the non-delivery of pottahs or receipts, to suits against agents for money or accounts, or to any other suits or complaints arising out of disputes between landholders or farmers and their under-tenants respecting the rent and occupancy of land.
Regulation XIV. 1824.
Regulation VIII. 1831.
Act I of 1839.
Act X of 1846, and
Act VIII of 1848.
Sections XIV and XV Regulation IX. 1833, so far as the same are applicable to the Territories under the Government of the Deputy Governor of Bengal, are also repealed.
Such parts of Regulation VIII. 1793, and Regulation XXX 1803, as relate to the adjudication of penalties for the refusal of pottahs and receipts for rent and for the exaction of any sums as abwab or in excess of the amount specified in any engagements for the payment of rent, are declared subject to the following modifications.

Person liable to pay rent is entitled to a pottah.

II. Every ryot and cultivator of land is entitled to receive from the person to whom the rent of the land held or cultivated by him is payable a pottah specifying the annual amount of such rent, and the instalments in which it is to be paid, or, in cases in which the rent is payable in kind, the proportion of the produce to be delivered.

Pottahs of hereditary ryots and of other cultivators.

III. Hereditary ryots holding lands at fixed rates of rent are entitled to receive pottahs at those rates. All other ryots and cultivators of land are entitled to receive pottahs according to the rates of rent for the time being established in the Pergunnah in which the land is situate, for land of the same description and quality, or if there be no known and recognized Pergunnah rates, according to the customary rates payable for land of a similar description in the places adjacent. The above rules are applicable not only to the first grant of pottahs, but also to the renewal (where right of renewal exists) of pottahs which may expire or which may become cancelled in consequence of the sale of the tenure or estate in which the land is situate for arrears of rent or revenue.

Right of occupancy of resident ryot or cultivator.

IV. Every resident ryot and cultivator has a right of occupancy in the land held or cultivated by him, whether it be held under pottah or not, so long as he pays the rent payable on account of the same; but this rule does not apply to khomar neejote or seer land belonging to the proprietor of the estate or tenure and leased for a term or year by year to a resident cultivator, nor (as respects the actual cultivator) to land sublet to a resident cultivator by a ryot having a right of occupancy.

Saving of terms of written contracts.

V. Nothing contained in either of the two last preceding Sections shall be held to affect the terms of any written contract for the payment of specific rates of rent, nor of any contract entered into between a landholder and a resident ryot or cultivator for the clearing and cultivation of waste land, or for the cultivation of land not previously in the occupation of such ryot or cultivator, when by such contract conditions of occupancy have been agreed on between the parties, or a right of re-entry has been expressly reserved to the landholder. Resident ryots cultivating land not previously in their occupancy without a pottah or other instrument in writing from the proprietor of the estate or tenure in which the land is situate, shall not acquire a right of occupancy in such land until rent shall have been paid by them for the same to the said proprietor for a period of three years.

Person granting pottah entitled to a counterpart engagement.

VI. Every person who grants a pottah is entitled to receive from the person to whom the pottah is granted a kubooliyet or counterpart engagement in conformity with the terms of the pottah. The tender of a pottah to any ryot or cultivator at the rate of rent which such ryot or cultivator is liable to pay shall be held to entitle the person to whom the rent is payable to receive a kubooliyet from such ryot or cultivator.

Exactions in excess of rent or receipt withheld.

VII. Every under-tenant, ryot or cultivator, from whom any sum is exacted in excess of the rent specified in his pottah, whether as abwab or under any other pretext, and every under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator from whom a receipt is withheld for any sum of money paid by him as rent, shall be entitled to recover from the person receiving such rent double the amount so exacted, or paid. Receipts for rent shall specify the periods on account of which the rent is acknowledged to have been paid; and any refusal to make such specification shall be held to be a withholding of a receipt.

Form of receipt

Landholder not to compel the attendance of tenant for adjustment of rent or for any other purpose.

VIII. The power heretofore vested in Zemindars and other landholders of compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rents or for any other purpose is withdrawn, and all such persons are prohibited from adopting any measures for enforcing payment of the rents due to them other than are authorized by the provisions of this Act. But nothing in this Act shall be held to restrict the right of landholders to measure any land in respect of which rent is paid to them, provided that such measurement is not at variance with the conditions under which the land is held by the persons by whom such rent is paid.

Payment of rent to be enforced under this Act.

Right to measure land reserved.

Damages for extorting payment of rent by duress.

IX. If payment of rent, whether the same be legally due or not, is extorted from any under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator, by illegal confinement or other duress, such under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator shall be entitled to recover three times the amount so extorted, in addition to any penalty to which the person practising such extortion may be subject by law.

Enhancement of rent of cultivator, &c., holding without or after expiry, &c., of written engagement.

X. No under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator who holds or cultivates land without any written engagement, or under a written engagement not specifying the period of such engagement, or whose engagement has expired, or has become cancelled in consequence of the sale for arrears of rent or revenue of the tenure or estate in which the land held or cultivated by him is situate, and has not been renewed, shall be liable to pay any higher rent for such land than the rent payable for the previous year, unless a written notice shall have been served on such under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator in or before the month of Jeyte, specifying the rent to which he will be subject for the ensuing Fusly or for the current Bengal year. Such notice shall be served by order of the Collector on the application (which may be on plain paper) of the person to whom the rent is payable, and shall, if practicable, be served personally on the under tenant, ryot, or cultivator; but if he shall abscond or conceal himself, so that it cannot be served personally upon him, it shall be affixed at his usual place of residence, or if he have no such place of residence in the District in which the land is situate. The mode of service of such notice shall be by affixing it at the Mal Cutcherry of such land or other conspicuous place thereon, or at the Village Chowree or Chowpal or some other conspicuous place in the village.

Mode of contesting enhancement of rent.

XI. Any under-tenant, ryot or cultivator, on whom such notice as aforesaid has been served, may contest his liability to pay the enhanced rent demanded of him, either by complaint of excessive demand of rent as hereinafter provided, or in answer to any suit preferred against him for recovery of arrears of the enhanced rent. No ryot or cultivator shall, under any circumstances, be liable to any enhancement of rent in excess of the rates specified in Section III of this Act.

Relinquishment of land by ryot or cultivator after notice given.

XII. Any ryot or cultivator, who desires to relinquish the lands held or cultivated by him, shall be at liberty to do so, provided he gives notice of his intention in writing to the person entitled to the rent of the lands in or before the month of Jeyte of the Bengal year in which, or of the Fusly year preceding which, the relinquishment is to have effect. If he fail to give such notice, and the lands are not let to any other person, he shall continue liable for the rent of the lands. If the person entitled to the rent of the land refuse to receive any such notice and to sign a receipt for the same, it shall be served upon him by the Collector on application for such service being made by the ryot or cultivator within the time above-mentioned.

What to be deemed an arrear of rent under this Act.

XIII. Any instalment of rent, which is not paid on or before the day when the same is payable according to the pottah or engagement, or, if there be no written specification of the time of payment, at or before the time when such instalment is payable according to established usage, shall be held to be an arrear of rent under this Act.

Liability of ryot or cultivator to be ejected for arrear due.

XIV. When an arrear of rent remains due from any ryot or cultivator of land at the end of the Bengal or Fusly year as the case may be, such ryot or cultivator shall be liable to be ejected from the land in respect of which the arrear is due; and the person to whom the rent is payable shall be at liberty to make such new arrangement as he may judge proper for the management of the land in question.

Liability of farmer to have his lease cancelled for arrear adjudged due.

XV. When an arrear of rent shall be adjudged to be due from any farmer or other leaseholder, not being an actual cultivator, nor having a right of occupancy or a transferable interest in the land, the lease held by such farmer or leaseholder shall be liable to be cancelled.

No ryot or cultivator to be ejected, and no lease to be cancelled, unless in execution of decree under this Act.

XVI. Provided always, that no ryot or cultivator shall be ejected from the land held or cultivated by him on account of an arrear of rent remaining due at the end of the year, and no lease shall be cancelled on account of an arrear of rent, otherwise than in execution of a decree or order under the provisions of this Act.

Cognizance of suits under this Act.

XVII. 1.—All suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets, or for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered;

2.—All suits for damages on account of the illegal exaction of rent, or of any unauthorized cess or impost, or on account of the refusal of receipts for rent paid, or on account of the extortion of rent by confinement or other duress;

3.—All complaints of excessive demand of rent, and all claims to remission of rent on account of diluvion or other cause;

4.—All suits for arrears of rent due, whether on account of land either kherajee or lakheraj, or of any rights of pasturage, forest-rights, fisheries, or the like;

5.—All suits to eject any ryot or cultivator, or to cancel any lease on account of the non-payment of arrears of rent, or on account of a breach of the conditions of any contract by which a ryot or cultivator may be liable to ejectment or a lease may be liable to cancelled;

6.—All suits to recover the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, from which a ryot or cultivator, farmer or tenant, has been illegally ejected by the person entitled to receive rent for the same;

7.—All suits arising out of the exercise of the power of distraint conferred on Zemindars and others by Sections XCVII and C of this Act, or out of any acts done under color of the exercise of the said power, as hereinafter particularly provided;

shall be cognizable by the Collectors of land revenue, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act, and shall not be cognizable in any other Court, or by any other Officer, or in any other manner.

Suits by Zemindars against their agents for money or accounts.

XVIII. Suits by Zemindars and others in receipt of the rent of land, against any agents employed by them in the management of land or collection of rents, for money received or accounts kept by such agents, or for papers in their possession, shall be cognizable by the Collectors, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act.

Ejectment of cultivators, farmers, &c., by Zemindars.

XIX. If any Zemindar or other person in receipt of the rent of land requires assistance to eject any cultivator not having a right of occupancy, or to eject any farmer or other tenant holding only for a limited period after the determination of his lease or tenancy, or any agent after the determination of his agency, or to enforce any attachment or ejectment expressly authorized by any Regulation or Act, he shall make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall proceed thereupon to enquire into the case and pass orders in the manner provided for suits under this Act. Provided that no such application for the ejectment of a farmer on the determination of a lease shall be received if the lease be of the kind denominated ticca zur-i-peshgee or the like, in which an advance has been made by the leaseholder, and the proprietor's right of re-entry at the end of the term is contingent on the re-payment of such advance either in money or by the usufruct of the land. In all such cases the parties must proceed by suit in the Civil Court

Measurement of lands.

XX. If the proprietor of an estate or tenure intending to measure any lands which he has a right to measure is opposed in making such measurement by the occupant of the land, or if any ryot or cultivator, having received notice of the intended measurement of land held or cultivated by him which is liable to such measurement, refuses to attend and point out such land, the proprietor of the estate or tenure may make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and shall pass an order either allowing or disallowing the measurement, and if the case so require, enjoining or excusing the attendance of any such ryot or cultivator.

Applications to dispossess grantees of land exempt from revenue.

XXI. So much of Section X Regulation XIX. 1793, as authorizes and requires proprietors and farmers of estates and dependent talooks, in cases in which grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue have been made subsequent to the 1st December 1790, of their own authority to dispossess the grantees of the proprietary right in such land, and to re-annex it to the estate or talook in which it may be situate, is repealed; and any proprietor or farmer who may desire to dispossess any such grantee shall make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall proceed thereupon to enquire into the case and pass orders in the manner provided for suits under this Act. But nothing contained in this Act relative to the limitation of suits shall be held applicable to such applications.

Time for commencement of suits generally.

XXII. Except as otherwise herein provided, all suits instituted under this Act shall be commenced within the period of one year from the date of the accruing of the cause of action.

Time for commencement of suits for grant of pottahs, &c.

XXIII. Suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets and for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered, may be instituted at any time during the tenancy. But no ryot or cultivator shall be entitled to claim an abatement of the rent previously paid by him, although such rent may be in excess of the rate to which he would be liable under Section III of this Act, if he have paid such rent for three years previous to the institution of the suit.

Time for the commencement of suits for arrears of rent.

XXIV. Suits for the recovery of arrears of rent shall be instituted within three years from the last day of the Bengal or Fusly year in which the arrear claimed shall have become due. For arrears of rent due at the passing of this Act, suit shall be brought within three years after the passing of this Act; but nothing in this Section shall be held to enlarge the period now allowed by law for the institution of any such suit.

Time for the commencement of suits against agents for money, papers, or accounts.

XXV. Suits for the recovery of money in the hands of an agent or for the delivery of accounts or papers by an agent, may be brought at any time during the agency, or within one year after the determination of the agency of such agent, or in the case of claims now existing within one year after the passing of this Act; but nothing in this Section shall be held to enlarge the period now allowed by law for the institution of any such suit.

Mode of instituting suits. Form of plaint or statement of claim.

XXVI. Suits under this Act shall be instituted by presenting to the Collector a plaint or statement of claim which shall contain the name, description, and place of abode of the plaintiff; the name, description, and place of abode of the defendant, so far as they can be ascertained; the substance of the claim, and the date of the cause of action.

Statement of claim to be written on stamped paper, except when plaintiff is unable to pay for a stamp.

XXVII. The statement of claim shall be written on paper bearing a stamp of the value of eight annas; but if the Collector be satisfied of the inability of the plaintiff to pay for a stamp, he may receive such statement on plain paper.

No other stamp duty to be required in suits under this Act.

No stamp shall be required in respect of any petition or other proceeding connected with the suit or with the execution of any order or judgment passed thereon, or for copies of any papers.

Documentary evidence to be produced by plaintiff.

XXVIII. If the plaintiff rely in support of his claim on any document in his possession, he shall deliver the same to the Collector at the time of presenting his statement of claim. Unless such document be delivered in, or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Collector see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

Form of plaint in suits for arrears of rent.

XXIX. If the suit be for the recovery of an arrear of rent, the statement shall specify the name of the village, and of the Pergunnah or other local division, in which the land is situate, the yearly rent of the land, the amount (if any) received on account of the year for which the claim is made, the amount in arrear, and the time in respect of which it is alleged to be due.

Documentary evidence to be produced by plaintiff in such cases.

If the suit be for an arrear alleged to be due from any ryot or cultivator, the plaintiff, in addition to any other documents upon which he may rely in support of his claim, shall produce the jumma-wasil-bakee account of the village or tenure, for the year preceding that for which the arrear is claimed if the same be not already filed in the Collector's Office; but this last rule shall not be held applicable to the case of an auction-purchaser or other person who, by reason of his having recently acquired possession of the village or tenure, or for any other cause, may, in the judgment of the Collector, be unable to produce the said account.

XXX. If the suit be for the ejectment of any ryot or cultivator, farmer or tenant, from any land, farm, or tenure, or for the recovery of the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, the statement shall describe (as circumstances may require) the extent, situation, and designation of the same; and if necessary for the identification of the land, shall set forth the boundaries of such land

Form of plaint in suits for ejectment of ryot, &c., or for recovery of occupancy or possession of land, &c.

XXXI. When in any suit against an undertenant or cultivator for the recovery of an arrear of rent, or against an agent for the recovery of any money, papers, or accounts, the plaintiff desires a warrant of arrest to be issued against the defendant, he shall present with his statement of claim an application for the issue of such warrant. When such application is presented, the Collector shall examine the plaintiff or his agent, and inspect the documents adduced by him in support of his claim, and if there be primâ facie grounds for believing the claim to be well-founded, and that if a summons be issued the defendant will abscond instead of appearing to answer the claim, provided also the defendant be resident in the District in which the suit is instituted, the Collector may issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant. The warrant shall be in the form A contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect, and shall be accompanied by a notice addressed to the defendant, enjoining him, if he contest the claim, to bring with him any document upon which he may intend to rely in support of his defence. But no such warrant shall be issued in a suit for arrears of rent due in respect of a dependent talook or other transferable tenure, which, as hereinafter provided, is liable to sale in execution of any decree which may be passed in the case.

Warrant of arrest in what cases to be issued.

XXXII. If a defendant be arrested under the warrant of arrest, he shall be brought with all convenient speed before the Collector, unless he forthwith deposit with the Officer entrusted with the execution of the warrant such sum as may be specified therein.

Procedure after arrest of defendant.

XXXIII. When a defendant is brought before the Collector under warrant, the Collector shall, with all convenient speed, proceed to try the case in the manner hereinafter provided when a defendant appears on summons; and if the suit cannot be at once adjudicated, the Collector may, if he think fit, take security from the defendant for his appearance whenever the same may be required at any time whilst the suit is depending or before the final decree which may be passed thereon shall be fully executed, and may commit the defendant to the Civil jail, to be there detained until he shall furnish such security or deposit such sum as the Collector shall order.

Procedure when defendant is brought before the Collector under warrant.

XXXIV. If the warrant of arrest cannot be served upon the defendant, the Collector, on the application of the plaintiff, shall either postpone the case for such period as he may think proper, in order that the plaintiff may apply within the said period for another warrant to be issued for the arrest of the defendant, or shall forthwith issue a proclamation to be affixed in his own Office and at the residence of the defendant fixing a day for the hearing of the case, which shall not be less than ten days from the date of the publication of notice at the residence of the defendant. If the defendant shall appear in pursuance of the proclamation, he shall be dealt with as provided in the last preceding Section.

Procedure if warrant of arrest cannot be served upon the defendant.

XXXV. In all other cases, the Collector shall direct the issue of a summons to the defendant, and if the plaintiff require the personal attendance of the defendant, and satisfy the Collector that such personal attendance is necessary, or the Collector of his own accord require such personal attendance, the summons shall contain an order for the defendant to appear personally on a day to be specified in the summons, otherwise the summons shall order the defendant to appear personally or by an agent duly authorized on his behalf who has personal knowledge of the subject, or who shall be accompanied by a witness who has such personal knowledge.

In all other cases, summons to issue and personal attendance of defendant may be required.

XXXVI. The day to be specified in the summons shall be fixed with reference to the state of the file and the distance that the defendant may be, or be supposed to be, at the time, from the place where the Court is held, and the summons shall order the defendant to produce any document which he may have in his possession, of which the plaintiff demands inspection, or upon which the defendant may intend to rely in support of his defence. It shall also enjoin him to bring with him his witnesses if they are willing to attend without issue of process; and shall be in the form C contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect.

The day to be specified in the summons how to be fixed. Defendant to be ordered to produce necessary documents and to bring witnesses willing to attend without process.

XXXVII. A copy of the statement of claim shall be sent with the summons, and the summons shall be served by delivering a copy of the summons and of the statement to the defendant personally when practicable; or if the summons cannot be served on the defendant personally, by affixing a copy of the summons and a copy of the statement to some conspicuous part of his usual place of abode and also by affixing copies of the same in the Collector's Office.

A copy of the plaint to be sent with the summons. Summons how to be served.

XXXVIII. If the summons be served personally, the Nazir shall endorse on the summons the fact of such service. If personal service be not effected, the Nazir shall endorse on the summons the reason of not serving it personally and how it has been served.

Endorsement by Nazir if summons has been personally served or not.

XXXIX. If the usual place of abode of the defendant be in another District, the summons, together with the cost of the service thereof, shall be sent by dâk to the Collector of such District, who shall issue the summons, and return the same, after service, with the prescribed endorsement, to the Officer by whom it was transmitted to him.

Execution of process in another District.

XL. The amount of the cost of serving the summons, or if a warrant be applied for of serving the warrant, shall in all cases be deposited in Court upon the same day or the day next following that on which the plaint or statement of claim is presented to the Collector, and if the said amount be not so deposited (except in cases in which the Collector may allow the issue of summons free of cost under the discretion reserved to him in Section CXXXI) the case shall not be brought on the file of suits; but the plaintiff may present another plaint at any time within the period allowed by the rules for the limitation of actions.

Cost of serving summons or warrant to be deposited in Court.

XLI. Upon the appearance of the parties on the day named in the summons, or upon any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned, for sufficient reason to be recorded by the Collector, the Collector shall call upon the defendant or his agent to make his defence. The defence shall be made either in writing in the official language of the District or verbally, and if made verbally shall be reduced into writing in the presence and under the personal superintendence of the Collector; after which the Collector shall proceed to examine such of the parties as may be present, and either party or his agent may cross-examine the other. If either of the parties be not bound to attend personally, any agent by whom he shall appear, or any witness who shall accompany such agent, shall be examined and cross-examined in like manner as the party himself would have been if he had attended personally.

On appearance of parties, defence to be made, after which the parties may be examined by the Collector or cross-examine each other.

XLII. If either of the parties shall bring forward a witness on such day, the Collector shall take the evidence of such witness.

Witnesses to be examined.

XLIII. If the defendant rely on any document in support of his defence, he shall deliver the same into Court at the time of making his defence; and unless such document be so delivered in, or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Collector see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

Documentary evidence to be produced by defendant.

XLIV. If after the examination required by Section XLI, and also the examination of any witness who may attend to give evidence on behalf of either of the parties, and after a consideration of the documentary evidence adduced, a decree can be properly made without further evidence, the Collector shall make his decree accordingly.

After examination, Collector may make his decree if no further evidence is required.

XLV. If on such examination as aforesaid, the agent of either party be unable to answer any material question relating to the case which the Collector is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Collector may postpone the hearing of the case to a future day, and direct that the party whose agent may have been unable to answer as aforesaid shall attend in person on such day; and if the party so directed to attend shall fail to appear in person on the day appointed, the Collector may pass judgment as in case of default, or make such other order as he may deem proper in the circumstances of the case.

Consequence of inability of agent to answer.

XLVI. If on such examination as aforesaid it appear that the parties are at issue on any question of fact upon which it is necessary to hear further evidence, the Collector shall declare and record such issue, and shall fix a convenient day for the examination of witnesses and the trial of the suit, and the trial shall take place on that day, unless there be sufficient reason for adjourning it, which reason shall be recorded by the Collector.

Collector to record issue and to fix a day for hearing further evidence.

XLVII. The parties shall bring foward their witnesses on the day of trial, and if either party require assistance to procure the attendance of a witness on such day, either to give evidence or to produce a document, he shall apply to the Collector in sufficient time before the day fixed for the trial, to enable the witness to be summoned to attend on that day; and the Collector shall issue a summons requiring such witness to attend.

Parties shall produce their witnesses on the day of trial; or collector, on application of either party, shall issue summons for the attendance of a witness.

XLVIII. The provisions of the Regulations and Acts, and all other rules for the time being in force relating to the evidence of witnesses, for procuring the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and for the examination, remuneration, and punishment of witnesses, whether parties to the case or not, in cases before the Civil Courts of the Presidency of Bengal, shall, except so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, apply to and be of equal force and effect in suits under this Act.

Rules regarding attendance, examination, &c., of witnesses.

XLIX. Any party to a suit may employ an authorized agent to conduct the case on his behalf, but the appointment of such agent shall not excuse the personal attendance of the plaintiff or defendant in cases where his personal attendance is required by the summons or any order of the Court, and no fee for any agent shall be charged as part of the costs of suit in any case under this Act.

Employment of authorized agents.

L. If a defendant, summoned to attend personally, shall not attend in person in pursuance of the summons, he shall not be heard by an agent, unless the Collector be satisfied that there is a reasonable excuse for his non-attendance. A defendant who has evaded a warrant of arrest and has not afterwards attended in person within the term of the proclamation prescribed in Section XXXIV, shall not be heard by an agent.

In what cases defendant shall not be heard by an agent.

LI. The Collector may in any case grant time to the plaintiff or defendant to proceed in the prosecution or defence of a suit, and may also from time to time, in order to the production of further proof or for other sufficient reason to be recorded by the Collector, adjourn the hearing or further hearing of any case in such manner as to him may seem fit.

Collector may grant time or adjourn hearing.

Collector may cause local enquiry to be made.

LII. The Collector may at any stage of a case cause a local enquiry and report respecting the matter in dispute to be made by any Officer subordinate to him, or by any other Officer of Government with the consent of the authority to whom such Officer is subordinate, or may himself proceed to the spot and make such local enquiry in person. The provisions of the laws in force relative to local enquiries by Ameens or Commissioners under orders of the Civil Courts shall apply to any local enquiry made by any Officer under this Section, and, so far as they are applicable, to enquiries made by the Collector in person. In the latter case the Collector, after completing the enquiry, shall record on the proceedings such observations as appear to him appropriate, and the observation so recorded shall be received as evidence in the suit.

Consequence of neither party appearing on the day of trial.

LIII. If on the day fixed by the summons or proclamation for the appearance of the defendant, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned prior to the recording of an issue for trial under Section XLVI, neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off, with liberty to the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit unless precluded by the rules for the limitation of actions.

If defendant only appear to dispute the demand, Collector shall dismiss the case; but if defendant admit the claim, Collector shall decree upon such admission.

LIV. If on any such day the defendant only appear, the Collector shall dismiss the case with costs, unless the defendant admit the cause of action, or any part of it; in which case the Collector shall proceed to give judgment for the plaintiff upon such admission without costs. Provided that such judgment, if there be several defendants, shall be only against the defendant who makes the admission.

Proviso.

If plaintiff only appear, Collector may proceed ex parte.

LV. If on any such day the plaintiff only appear, the Collector, upon proof that the summons or proclamation has been duly served according to the provisions of this Act, shall proceed to examine the plaintiff or his agent, and after considering the allegations of the plaintiff and any documentary or oral evidence adduced by him, may either dismiss the case or postpone the hearing of it to a future day for the attendance of any witness the plaintiff may wish to call, or may make an ex parte decree against the defendant.

If defendant appear on a day to which the case is postponed, Collector may allow him to be heard in answer to the suit.

LVI. If the defendant shall appear on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the suit may be postponed under the last preceding Section, the Collector may, upon such conditions, if any, as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, allow the defendant to be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his attendance.

Consequence of neither party appearing on the day fixed for the trial of any issue.

LVII. If on the day fixed for the trial of any issue under Section XLVI, neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off under the conditions provided in Section LIII. If on any such day one only of the parties appear, the issue shall be tried and determined ex parte.

Revival, reversal, and alteration of ex parte decrees under certain rules and conditions.

LVIII. If a decree be made ex parte, and the party against whom such decree shall have been made appear, either in person or by agent, if a plaintiff within fifteen days from the date of the Collector's order, and if a defendant within such time as the Collector shall deem reasonable under all the circumstances of the case, but before the decree shall have been finally executed, and shall show good and sufficient cause for his previous non-appearance, and shall satisfy the Collector that there has been a failure of justice, the Collector may, upon such terms and conditions as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, revive the suit and alter or rescind the decree, according to the justice of the case. But no decree shall be reversed or altered without previously summoning the adverse party to appear and be heard in support of it.

Defendant may pay money into Court in satisfaction of the demand.

LIX. The defendant in any action under this Act may pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think a full satisfaction for the demand of the plaintiff, together with the costs incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall be paid to the plaintiff. If the defendant deposit less than the sum claimed and the plaintiff elect to proceed in the case, and ultimately recover no further sum than shall have been paid into Court, the plaintiff shall be charged with any costs incurred by the defendant in the suit after such payment.

If plaintiff elect to proceed and ultimately recover no further sum than that paid into Court, he shall be liable to the subsequent costs.

No interest on deposits.

LX. No interest shall be allowed to a plaintiff on any sum paid by the defendant into Court from the date of such payment, whether such sum be in full of the plaintiff's claim or fall short thereof.

If on trial of suit for delivery of pottah parties do not agree as to the time for which the pottah is granted, Collector to fix the time.

LXI. If on the trial of a suit for the delivery of a pottah instituted by a ryot or cultivator having a right of occupancy on payment of rent at pergunnah-rates as explained in Section III, the parties do not agree as to the term for which the pottah is to be granted, the Collector shall fix such term as under the circumstances of the case he may think just and proper. Provided that in permanently settled estates the term shall not be longer than ten years; and in estates not permanently settled shall not extend beyond the period for which the proprietor of the estate has engaged with Government. Provided also, that if the defendant be a farmer or other person having only a temporary interest in the land, the term of the pottah shall not extend be yond the period of the continuance of such interest. For cultivators not having a right of occupancy, the term of pottah shall be exclusively in the discretion of the person entitled to the rent of the land.

If in actions for arrears of rent, a third claimant appear, he is to be made a party to the suit.

LXII. If in an action for the recovery of arrears of rent the right to receive the rent of the land or tenure involved in the action is claimed by any third person as being in actual possession of the same, such third person shall be made a party to the suit and the question of possession shall be put in issue, and the right of the plaintiff or of such third person to recover the rent of the land or tenure shall be determined according to the fact of possession. Provided always, that the decision of the Collector shall not affect the right of either party, who may have a legal title to the rent of such land or tenure, to establish his title by suit in the Civil Court if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

Proviso.

Suits for ejectment or cancelment of lease.

LXIII. Any person desiring to eject a ryot or cultivator or to cancel a lease on account of non-payment of arrears of rent, may sue for such ejectment or cancelment and for recovery of the arrear in the same action, or may adduce any unexecuted decree for arrears of rent as evidence of the existence of such arrear in a suit for such ejectment or cancelment. In all cases of suits for the ejectment of a ryot or cultivator or the cancelment of a lease the decree shall specify the amount of the arrear, and the ryot or cultivator or the leaseholder may, at any time before the execution of the decree, stay the execution by paying such amount into Court, together with costs of suit.

Judgment how to be pronounced.

LXIV. The Collector shall pronounce judgment in open Court, and the provisions of Act XXXIII of 1854 shall be applicable thereto.

If person required by the decree refuse to grant pottah, Collector may do so.

LXV. When a decree is given for the delivery of a pottah, if the person required by the decree to grant such pottah refuse or delay to grant the same, the Collector may grant a pottah in conformity with the terms of the decree under his own hand and seal, and such pottah shall be of the same force and effect as if granted by the person aforesaid.

Refusal of person to execute kubooliyet as required by the decree

LXVI. When a decree is given for the delivery of a kubooliyet, if the person required by the decree to execute such kubooliyet shall refuse to execute the same, the decree shall be evidence of the amount of rent claimable from such person, and a copy of the decree under the hand and seal of the Collector shall be of the same force and effect as a kubooliyet executed by the said person.

Mode of executing decree for ejectment or re-instatement of ryot or cultivator.

LXVII. If the decree be for the ejectment of any ryot or cultivator from land occupied by him, or for the re-instatement of any ryot or cultivator in the occupancy of land from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by an order issued to the Nazir to give the possession or occupancy of the land to the person entitled by the decree to such possession or occupancy; and if any opposition is made to the execution of such order, the Magistrate, on the application of the Collector, shall give effect to the same.

Punishment for obstructing execution.

Mode of executing decree for cancelment of a lease or for ejectment or re-instatement of a farmer or tenant.

LXVIII. If the decree be for the cancelment of any lease or the ejectment of any farmer or other person (not being an actual cultivator) or for the re-instatement of such farmer or person in the possession of a farm or tenure from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by erecting a pole upon some place within or adjacent to the farm or tenure, and proclaiming to the cultivators or other occupants at some convenient place or places the substance of the decree in regard to the farm or tenure.

Decree to contain order for immediate execution

In what case a judgment-debtor may be detained or imprisoned without issue of process of execution.

LXIX. Every decree for the payment of money or costs shall contain an order for immediate execution; and if the decree be for arrears of rent or for money, papers, or accounts, and the defendant have been committed to jail or appear pursuant to the conditions of the security given under Section XXXIII, he may, without the issue of any process of execution, be detained in or committed to the Civil Jail, unless he immediately pay into Court the amount of the decree with costs, or otherwise comply with the terms of the decree.

Liability of surety on failure to deliver judgment-debtor into custody.

LXX. If the judgment-debtor have given security for his appearance and be not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety shall fail to deliver him into custody when required so to do, process of execution may be taken out against the surety in the same manner as if a decree for the amount due by the debtor had been passed against the surety.

Issue of process of execution.

LXXI. Process of execution may be issued against either the person or the property of a judgment-debtor; but process shall not be issued simultaneously against both person and property. Process of execution against the person or moveable property of a debtor shall be in the form D or E contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect.

Application for execution against moveable property.

LXXII. Any moveable property required to be seized under an execution shall, if practicable, be described in a list to be furnished by the judgment-creditor, but if the creditor is unable to furnish such list he may apply for a general attachment of the debtor's effects to the amount of the judgment and costs. In either case the property to be seized shall be pointed out by the creditor or his agent.

How long warrant shall continue in force.

LXXIII. Process of execution shall bear date on the day on which it is signed by the Court, and no warrant shall continue in force for a longer period than sixty days calculated from such date.

LXXIV. Second and successive warrants of execution may be issued by order of the Collector on the application of the judgment-creditor after the expiration of the period above fixed for the continuance in force of a previous warrant. No such warrant shall continue in force for a longer period than sixty days.

Second and successive warrants.

LXXV. Process of execution shall not be issued upon any judgment without previous notice to the party against whom execution is applied for, if when application for the issue of the process is made a period of more than one year shall have elapsed from the date of the judgment or from the date of the last previous application for execution.

Time for issue of warrant.

LXXVI. Execution on a judgment shall not issue against the heir or other representative of a deceased party without notice to such heir or other representative to appear and be heard.

Execution not to issue against heir or representative of a deceased party without notice.

LXXVII. No process of execution of any description whatsoever, shall be issued on a judgment under this Act after the elapse of three years from the date of such judgment.

No process of execution to be issued three years after date of judgment.

LXXVIII. If a warrant issue for taking in execution the body of any person, the Nazir of the Court shall cause him to be seized, and unless such person shall immediately deposit with the Officer entrusted with the service of the warrant the full amount specified therein the Nazir shall bring him before the Collector. If such person shall not then deposit in Court the full amount specified in the warrant, or make such arrangement for the payment of the same as shall be satisfactory to the judgment-creditor, the Collector shall send him to the Civil Jail there to remain for such time as shall be directed by the warrant unless he shall in the mean time pay the full amount specified therein. Provided that the time for which a debtor may be confined in execution of a decree under this Act shall not exceed three calendar months when the amount decreed exclusive of costs does not exceed fifty Rupees, or six calendar months in any other case.

Warrant against the person.

LXXIX. Any person once discharged from jail shall not be imprisoned a second time under the same judgment, but such discharge shall not extinguish the liability of such person under the decree, or exempt any property belonging to such person from attachment in execution of the same.

No person to be imprisoned a second time under same judgment, but his property to be liable to attachment.

LXXX. Any person applying for a warrant of arrest under Section XXXI or suing out process of execution against the body of any person shall deposit with the Nazir of the Court, at the time of the issue of the warrant, diet-money for one month of thirty days at such rate as the Collector may direct, not exceeding two annas per diem, unless the Collector for any special reason direct that deposit be made at a higher rate, which shall not exceed four annas per diem.

Diet-money to be deposited at the time of issue of warrant.

LXXXI. Payment of diet-money at the same rate shall be made previous to the commencement of each succeeding month of the imprisonment, in failure of which the party confined shall be discharged.

Payment of diet money in advance during imprisonment.

LXXXII. All diet-money spent in providing subsistence for any prisoner shall be added to the costs in the suit, and any diet-money not so spent shall be returned to the person who deposited the same.

Diet-money to be costs in suit.

LXXXIII. In executing a writ of execution against the moveable property of a debtor liable under this Act, the Nazir shall prepare a list of the property pointed out by the judgment-creditor, and shall publish a proclamation specifying the day upon which the sale is intended to be held together with a copy of the said list at the intended place of sale and at the residence of the debtor. A copy of the said proclamation and list shall be transmitted to the Collector and shall be affixed in his Office.

List of property to be prepared by the Nazir, and proclamation of sale to be published, &c.

LXXXIV. No sale of any moveable property taken in execution shall be made until after the end of ten days next following the day on which such property may have been so taken. Until such sale the property shall be deposited by the Nazir in some fit place or it may remain in custody of some fit person approved by the Nazir. The provisions of Sections CXIV to CXVIII, so far as the same are applicable, shall be applied to sales under this Section.

Custody and sale of moveable property taken in execution.

LXXXV. If before the day fixed for the sale a third party appear before the Collector and by petition supported by his oath or affirmation claim a right or interest in any of the moveable property taken in execution, the Collector may stay the sale of such property.

Collector to stay sale of moveable property seized if a third party claim any interest therein.

LXXXVI. The Collector shall adjudicate upon such claim and make such order between the claimant and the plaintiff and defendant in the original suit as shall seem fit. In trying such claim the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in this Act so far as they may be applicable.

Collector to adjudicate such claims.

LXXXVII. If the claimant shall fail to establish his right to the property taken in execution, the Collector at the time of disposing of the case may award to the judgment-creditor against such claimant as part of the costs such sum as he may consider sufficient to cover any loss of interest or damage which the judgment-creditor may have sustained by reason of the postponement of the sale of the property.

Claimant failing to establish his right, liable to pay compensation to judgment creditor.

LXXXVIII. No appeal shall lie from any order passed by the Collector under the two last preceding Sections. But the party against whom the same may be given shall be at liberty to bring a suit in the Civil Court to establish his right at any time within one year from the date of the order; provided that, if the order be for the sale of the property, the suit shall be for damages against the judgment-creditor by whom the property was brought to sale.

Proviso.

Sale not vitiated by irregularity in publishing or conducting the same.

LXXXIX. No irregularity in publishing or conducting a sale of moveable property under an execution shall vitiate such sale; but this rule shall not be held to deprive any person who may sustain damage by reason of such irregularity from recovering such damage by action in the Civil Court; Provided such action be brought within one year from the date of sale.

Proviso.

Sale of transferable tenures in execution of decrees for arrears of rent.

XC. If the decree be for an arrear of rent due in respect of an under-tenure which by the title-deeds or the custom of the country is transferable by sale, the judgment-creditor may make application for the sale of the tenure, and the tenure may thereupon be brought to sale in execution of the decree, according to the rules for the sale of under-tenures for the recovery of arrears of rent due in respect thereof contained in Act of . But no such application shall be received when a warrant of execution has been previously issued against the person or moveable property of the judgment-debtor, so long as such warrant remains in force. If after sale of an under-tenure any portion of the amount decreed remains due, process may be applied for against any other property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to the debtor.

If third party claim to be the proprietor and lawful possessor of such under-tenure, Collector to stay the sale and to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

XCI. If before the day fixed for the sale of any such under-tenure as aforesaid in execution of a decree for arrears of rent due in respect of such under-tenure, a third party appear before the Collector and on oath or affirmation allege that such third party and not the person against whom the decree has been obtained is the proprietor of such under-tenure and was in lawful possession of the same at the time when such decree was obtained, and shall deposit in Court the amount of the decree or give sufficient security for the same, the Collector shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

Mode of adjudicating such claims.

XCII. In trying such claim the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in this Act, so far as the same may be applicable, and the judgment passed by the Collector on such claim shall be subject to the same rules in respect of appeal as a judgment in a suit instituted under this Act.

Execution of decrees given in favor of sharers in undivided estates or tenures.

XCIII. If a decree is given in favor of a sharer in a joint undivided estate, dependent talook, or other similar tenure for money due to him on account of his share of the rent of an under-tenure situate in such undivided estate or talook or tenure, application for the sale of such under-tenure shall not be received unless execution shall have been first taken out against any moveable property which the judgment debtor may possess within the District in which the suit was instituted and the sale of such property, if any, shall have proved insufficient to satisfy the judgment. In such case such under-tenure, if of the nature described in Section XC, may be brought to sale in execution of the decree in the same manner as any other immoveable property may be sold in execution of a decree for money under the provisions of the two next following Sections.

In all cases of decrees for money, if judgment cannot be satisfied by sale of debtor's moveable property, execution may be had against his immoveable property.

XCIV. In the execution of any decree for the payment of money under this Act not being money due as arrears of rent of a saleable under-tenure, if satisfaction of the judgment cannot be obtained by execution against the person or moveable property of the debtor within the District in which the suit was instituted, the judgment creditor may apply for execution against any immoveable property belonging to such debtor.

Mode of executing process if immoveable property be a house, shop, or other building.

XCV. If the immoveable property against which execution is applied for, be a house, shop, or other building, process shall be issued in the same manner as for the attachment and sale of moveable property, and the provisions of Section LXXXIV shall be applicable to the execution of such process. If the property be a saleable under-tenure it shall be sold under the provisions of Act of applicable to the sale of such under-tenures for demands other than those of arrears of rent due in respect thereof. If the property be an estate or a share of an estate, it shall be sold under the rules in force for the sale of such property for the recovery of demands recoverable by the same process as arrears of land revenue.

If it be a saleable under-tenure.

If it be an estate or a share of an estate.

Consequence of objection being offered before the sale of any immoveable property.

XCVI. If before the day fixed for the sale of any immoveable property as aforesaid, objection shall be offered to the sale on the ground of such property not belonging to the judgment-debtor, and consequently not being liable to be sold in execution of a decree against him, the Collector, if satisfied that there is sufficient ground for so doing, shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the objection, in the same manner, and subject to the same right of appeal as is provided in Section XCII.

Produce of the land to be held hypothecated for the rent.

Arrears of rent may be recovered by distraint under the following rules.

XCVII. The produce of the land is held to be hypothecated for the rent payable in respect thereof; and when an arrear of rent, as defined in Section XIII of this Act, is due from any cultivator of land, the zemindar, lakherajdar, farmer, dependent talookdar, under-farmer, or other person entitled to receive rent immediately from such cultivator, instead of bringing suit for the arrear as hereinbefore provided, may recover the same by distraint and sale of the produce of the land on account of which the arrear is due under the following rules.

XCVIII. Provided always, that when a cultivator has given security for the payment of his rent, the produce of the land occupied by such cultivator shall not be liable to distraint for any arrear of rent that may accrue due in respect of such land.

Cultivators who have given security to be exempt from distraint.

XCIX. After the lapse of one year from the time when this Act comes into operation, distraint shall be lawful only when a kabooliyet has been executed or a decree obtained under Section LXVI in respect of the rent for the recovery of which distraint is made. Distraint shall not be made for any arrear which has been due for a longer period than one year.

No distraint in certain cases.

C. The power of distraint vested by Section XCVII in zemindars and other persons entitled to receive rent from cultivators of land, may be exercised by managers under the Court of Wards, surburakars of estates held under khass management, and other persons lawfully entrusted with the charge of landed property; and also by the naibs, gomashtahs, and other agents employed by any such persons as aforesaid in the collection of rent if expressly authorized by power of attorney in that behalf. Provided that, if any illegal act is committed by any such naib, gomashtah, or other agent in the exercise of said power, the person employing such agent shall be liable, as well as the agent, for any damages accruing by reason of such act.

Power of distraint to be exercised by managers under the Court of Wards, &c.

Proviso.

CI. When standing crops and other ungathered products of the earth are distrained, the distress shall be made at or about the time when such crops or products are ready to be reaped or gathered, and such crops and products may, notwithstanding the distress, be reaped and gathered by the cultivator, and may be stored in such granaries or other places as are commonly used by him for the purpose. If the cultivator neglect to do so, the distrainer may cause the said crops or products to be reaped or gathered, and in such case shall store the same either in such granaries or other places as aforesaid, or in some other convenient place in the neighbourhood. No crops or products other than the produce of the land in respect of which an arrear of rent is due and no other property whatsoever shall be liable to distraint under this Act.

Standing crops, &c., when attached, to be reaped and stored by the cultivator, or, if he neglect to do so, by the distrainer.

CII. Before or at the time when distraint is made under this Act the distrainer shall cause the defaulter to be served with a written demand for the amount of the arrear, together with an account exhibiting the grounds on which the demand is made. The demand and account shall, if practicable, be served personally on the defaulter, or if he abscond or conceal himself so that they cannot be so served, shall be affixed at his usual place of residence in the presence of witnesses, who shall sign a certificate of the notice and account having been so affixed.

Defaulter to be served with a written demand, &c., before or at the time of distraint.

CIII. Unless the amount of the demand is immediately paid or tendered, the distrainer may distrain property as aforesaid of value proportionate to the amount of the arrear with costs of the distress; and shall prepare a list or description of the said property, and deliver a copy of the same to the owner, or if he be absent affix it to his usual place of residence in the manner provided in the last preceding Section. Except so far as may be necessary for the due preservation of the distrained property the same shall not be removed from the place where the distress is made, but shall there remain in the charge of some person appointed by the distrainer for the purpose.

Distress to be proportionate to the arrear if not paid or tendered.

List of property to be distrained, to be served on owner.

Charge of distrained property.

CIV. Distress shall be made between sun rise and sun-set; and distrainers are authorized to force open any golah, granary, or other building, and to enter any dwelling house the door of which may be open, for the purpose of attaching any property as aforesaid which may be lodged therein. If a distrainer shall be opposed, or shall apprehend resistance, or shall desire to force open the door of a dwelling-house for the purpose of attaching property as aforesaid, he shall make application to the Police Darogah, and thereupon the Darogah shall proceed as directed in Section XXVII Regulation XX. 1817.

Time for making distress.

Power of entry.

Distrainer may apply for aid of the Police upon occasion of resistance made or apprehended.

CV. When any person, empowered to distrain property under Section XCVII or Section C, shall employ a servant or other person to make the distress, he shall give to such servant or person a written authority (which may be on plain paper) for the same, and the distress shall be made in the name and on the responsibility of the person giving such authority.

Persons empowered to distrain may give written authority to their servants to do so.

CVI. If at any time after property has been distrained and prior to the day fixed for its being put up to sale as hereinafter provided, the owner of the property shall tender payment of the arrear demanded of him and of the expenses of the distress, the distrainer shall receive the same, and shall forthwith withdraw the distress.

Distress to be withdrawn if defaulter tender payment of arrear and expenses of attachment prior to the day of sale.

CVII. Within five days from the time of making the distress, or if the property distrained consist of standing crops or ungathered products within five days from the storing thereof, the distrainer shall apply for sale of the same to the Civil Court Ameen, or other Officer authorized to sell property in satisfaction of decrees of the Civil Court within the circle in which the distrained property is situate, or to such other public Officer as the Application for sale.

Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, or the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, shall appoint for the purpose.

Form of application.

CVIII. The application shall be in writing and shall contain an inventory or description of the property distrained, the name of the defaulter and his place of residence, the amount due, and the date of the distress, and the place in which the distrained property is deposited. Together with the application the distrainer shall deliver to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer the amount necessary for the service of a notice upon the defaulter as hereinafter provided.

Cost of notice upon defaulter to be deposited by distrainer.

Procedure by Civil Court Ameen, &c., on receipt of application.

CIX. Immediately on receipt of the application the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer shall transmit a copy of it to the Collector; and shall serve a notice (which shall be in the form F contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect) on the person whose property has been distrained, requiring him either to pay the amount demanded, or to institute a suit to contest the demand before the Collector within the period of fifteen days from the receipt of the notice. He shall at the same time put up in the cutcherry of the Moonsiff, or other Court or Office to which he may be attached, and if in the North-Western Provinces in the cutcherry of the Tuhseeldar, a proclamation fixing a day for the sale of the distrained property, which shall not be less than twenty days from the date of the application; and shall deliver a copy of the proclamation to the peon charged with the service of the notice, to be put up by him in the place where the distrained property is deposited. The proclamation shall contain a description of the property, the demand for which it is to be sold, and the place where the sale is to be held.

Ameen to suspend sale on receipt of Collector's certificate of the institution of a suit.

CX. If a suit shall be instituted before the Collector in pursuance of the aforesaid notice, the Collector shall transmit to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, or if so requested shall deliver to the owner of the distrained property, a certificate of the institution of such suit; and on such certificate being received by or presented to the Ameen or other Officer, he shall suspend proceedings in regard to the sale of the distrained property.

Suits to contest distrainer's demand before issue of notice of sale

CXI. A person whose property has been distrained in the manner hereinbefore provided may institute a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer immediately after the distraint of his property and before the issue of notice of sale. When such suit is instituted the Collector shall proceed in the manner prescribed in the last preceding Section. If thereafter application for the sale of the property is made to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, he shall transmit a copy of the application to the Collector, and suspend further proceedings pending the decision of the case.

Distress to be withdrawn on receipt of Collector's certificate that the owner has executed a bond with security to pay amount of decree with interest and costs.

CXII. The person whose property has been distrained may, at the time of instituting any such suit as aforesaid, or at any subsequent period, execute a bond with security binding himself to pay whatever sum may be adjudged to be due from him with interest and costs of suit, and when such bond is executed the Collector shall give to the owner of the property a certificate to that effect, or if so requested shall serve the distrainer with notice of the same; and the distrainer, upon such certificate being presented to him by the owner of the property or served on him by order of the Collector, shall immediately withdraw the distress.

On expiration of period fixed in the proclamation of sale if institution of suit to contest distrainer's demand have not been certified, sale may be proceeded with.

CXIII. On the expiration of the period fixed in the proclamation of sale, if the institution of a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer has not been certified to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer in the manner hereinbefore provided, he shall, unless the said demand, with costs of the distress at such rate as shall be allowed by him, be discharged in full, proceed to sell the property or such part of it as may be necessary in the manner following.

Place and manner of sale.

CXIV. The sale shall be held at the place where the distrained property is deposited, or at the nearest gunge, bazar, haut, or other place of public resort, if the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer should be of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage. The property shall be sold by public auction in one or more lots as the Officer holding the sale may think advisable, and if the demand with the costs of distress and sale be satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the distress shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

If fair price be not offered, sale may be postponed to another day, and shall be then completed at whatever price may be offered.

CXV. If on the property being put up for sale a fair price in the estimation of the Officer holding the sale be not offered for it and the owner of the property or some person authorized to act on his behalf apply to have the sale postponed until the next day, or the next market day if a market be held at the place of sale, the sale shall be postponed until such day and shall be then completed whatever price may be offered for the property.

Payment of purchase money.

CXVI. The price of every lot shall be paid for in ready money at the time of sale or as soon after as the Officer holding the sale shall think necessary; and in default of such payment the property shall forthwith be put up again and sold. When the purchase-money has been paid in full the Officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and the price paid.

Proceeds of sale.

CXVII. From the proceeds of the sale of distrained property the Officer holding the sale shall make a deduction at the rate of ten per centum on account of the costs of the sale, and shall transmit the amount to the Collector in order that it may be credited to Government. He shall then pay to the distrainer the expenses incurred by the distrainer on account of the distress and of the issue of the notice and proclamation of sale prescribed in Section CIX to such amount as, after examination of the statement of expenses furnished by the distrainer, he shall think proper to allow. The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the arrear for which the distraint was made with interest thereon up to the day of sale, and if there be any overplus it shall be delivered to the person whose property shall have been sold

Officers holding sales prohibited from purchasing.

CXVIII. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by or subordinate to such Officers, are prohibited from purchasing either directly or indirectly any property sold by such Officers.

All irregularities to be reported to the Collector.

CXIX. Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as aforesaid are required to bring to the notice of Collectors any material irregularities committed by distrainers under color of this Act; and if in any case, on proceeding to hold a sale of property the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer shall find that, through the practices of the distrainer, or from any other cause, the owner of the property has not received due notice of the distress and intended sale, he shall postpone the sale and report the case to the Collector, and the Collector shall direct the issue of another notice and proclamation of sale under Section CIX, or pass such other order as he may think proper.

Officer not to proceed to sale, if he find that defaulter has not received due notice.

Recovery of expenses if Ameen proceeds to place of sale and no sale takes place.

CXX. When a Civil Court Ameen or other Officer has proceeded to any place for the purpose of holding a sale and no sale takes place either for the reason stated in the last preceding Section, or because the demand of the distrainer has been previously satisfied, no intimation of such satisfaction having been given by the distrainer to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, the charge of ten per centum on account of expenses shall be leviable and shall be calculated on the estimated value of the distrained property. If the demand of the distrainer be not satisfied until the day fixed for the sale, the charge for expenses shall be paid by the owner of the property and may be recovered by the sale of such portion thereof as may be necessary. In every other case it shall be paid by the distrainer and may be recovered by warrant under the hand of the Collector. Provided always, that in no case shall a larger amount than ten Rupees be recoverable under this Section.

Proceedings of Civil Court Ameens, &c., subject to revision and orders of Collectors.

CXXI. All proceedings under this Act of the Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as aforesaid shall be subject to the revision and orders of the Collectors, and the Collectors, with the sanction of the Boards of Revenue, may require the submission of such periodical reports and statements of business performed by the Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as may be thought necessary.

Second proclamation of sale.

CXXII. When a suit has been instituted to contest the demand of a distrainer and the property has not been released on security, if the demand or any portion of it shall be adjudged to be due, the Collector shall issue an order to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer authorizing the sale of the property, and on the application of the distrainer, which shall be made within five days from the receipt of such order by the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, such Ameen or Officer shall publish a second proclamation in the manner prescribed in Section CIX, fixing another day for the sale of the distrained property, which shall not be less than five nor more than ten days from the date of the proclamation; and unless the amount adjudged to be due with the costs of distress be paid intermediately, shall proceed to sell the property in the manner hereinbefore provided.

Procedure after institution of suit to contest distrainer's demand.

CXXIII. In all suits instituted to contest the demand of a distrainer, the distrainer shall be required to prove the arrear in the same manner as if he had himself brought suit for the amount under the foregoing provisions of this Act. If the demand or any part thereof is found to be due, the Collector shall make a decree for the amount in favor of the distrainer, and the amount may be recovered by sale of the property as provided in the last preceding Section if the distress has not been withdrawn, and if any balance remain due after such sale by execution of the decree against the person and any other property of the defaulter, or if the property have been released on security by execution of the decree against the person and property of the defaulter and of his surety. If on the other hand the distraint is adjudged to be vexatious or groundless, the Collector, besides directing the release of the distrained property, may award such damages in favor of the plaintiff as the circumstances of the case shall seem to require.

Any person, whose property has been distrained for arrears of rent alleged to be due from another, may institute a suit against the distrainer, &c.

CXXIV. If any person shall claim as his own property which has been distrained for arrears of rent alleged to be due from any other person, such person may institute a suit against the distrainer and such other person, to try the right to the property, in the same manner, and under the same conditions as to the time of instituting the suit and to the consequent postponement of sale, as a person whose property has been distrained for an arrear of rent alleged to be due from him may institute a suit to contest the demand. When any such suit is instituted the property may be released upon security being given for the value of the same. If the claim is dismissed the Collector shall make an order for the sale of the property or the recovery of the value thereof, as the case may be, for the benefit of the distrainer. If the claim is upheld the Collector shall decree the release of the distrained property with costs, and such damages (if any) as the circumstances of the case may seem to require. Provided always that no claim to any produce of land, liable to distraint under this Act, which at the time of the distress may have been found in the possession of a defaulting cultivator, whether such claim be in respect of a previous sale, mortgage, or otherwise, shall bar the prior claim of the person entitled to the rent of the land, nor shall any attachment in execution of a judgment of any Civil Court prevail against such prior claim.

Procedure if distrainer's right to distrain be disputed.

CXXV. If in any case in which property has been distrained for an arrear of rent and a suit has been instituted to contest the demand, the right to distrain for such arrear is claimed by any person other than the distrainer as being in possession of the rent of the land, such other person shall be made a party to the suit and the question of possession shall be put in issue and the right of either party to distrain for rent shall be determined according to the fact of possession. Provided always, that the decision of the Collector shall not affect the right of either party who may have a legal title to the rent of the land, to establish his title by suit in the Civil Court if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

Persons prevented from suing in time to save their property from sale, may sue for damages.

CXXVI. If any person, whose property has been distrained for the recovery of a demand not justly due, or of a demand due or alleged to be due from some other person, is prevented by any sufficient cause from bringing suit to contest the demand or to try the right to the property as the case may be within the period allowed by Sections CIX and CXXIV and his property is in consequence brought to sale, he may nevertheless institute a suit under this Act to recover damages for the illegal distress and sale of his property.

Also persons aggrieved by any illegal act of distrainer.

CXXVII. If any person empowered to distrain property or employed for the purpose under a written authority by a person so empowered, shall distrain or sell, or cause to be sold, any property for the recovery of an arrear of rent alleged to be due, otherwise than according to the provisions of this Act, or if any distrained property shall be lost, damaged, or destroyed by reason of the distrainer not having taken proper precaution for the due keeping and preservation thereof, the owner of the property may institute a suit under this Act to recover damages for any injury which he may have thereby sustained.

Unlawful distraint.

CXXVIII. If any person not empowered to distrain property under Sections XCVII and C of this Act, nor employed for the purpose under a written authority by a person so empowered, shall distrain or sell or cause to be sold any property under color of this Act, the owner of the property may institute a suit under this Act to recover damages from such person for any injury which he may have sustained from the distraint or sale. The said person shall be held to have committed criminal trespass, and shall be subject to the penalties for that offence in addition to any damages which may be awarded against him in such suit.

Time for commencing suits for damages.

CXXIX. Provided always, that any suit which may be instituted under any of the three last preceding Sections shall be commenced within three months from the date of the occurrence of the cause of action.

Resistance of process.

CXXX. If any person shall resist a distraint of property duly made under this Act, or shall forcibly or clandestinely remove any distrained property, the Collector, upon complaint being made within fifteen days from the date of such resistance or removal, shall cause the person accused to be arrested, and if the offence be proved and the offender be the owner of the property, shall order him to be imprisoned in the Civil Jail for six months, or until the whole arrear due to the distrainer with all expenses and costs shall sooner be paid or levied by distress and sale of the property of the offender under warrant of the Collector If the person convicted of the offence be any other than the owner of the property, he shall make good to the distrainer the value of the same, and shall further be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred Rupees, or in default of payment thereof to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two months.

Service of process.

CXXXI. Every process issued by a Collector under this Act shall be under the seal and signature of the Collector, and shall be served or executed by the Nazir or by an Officer of his establishment at the cost of the party at whose instance it is issued. The amount of such cost, and, in the case of summons to a witness, any sum required for the travelling expenses of such witness, shall be deposited in Court before the process is issued. Provided that if in any case the Collector is satisfied that a party is unable to pay the cost of any necessary process, he may direct such process to be served free of charge.

Service of process to be attested.

CXXXII. Whenever, in accordance with the provisions of this Act any notice, summons, proclamation, or other process is served by affixing a copy thereof to some part of the usual place of abode of the person named in the process, such service shall be attested by the signature of not less than three persons residing in the same neighbourhood, one of whom shall, if practicable, be the village chowkeydar or local Police Officer.

Contempt of Court under Chapter X of the Penal Code.

CXXXIII. When any of the offences described in Chapter X of the Penal Code is committed in contempt of the lawful authority of a Collector or other public servant duly exercised under the provisions of this Act, it shall be competent to the Collector to punish the offender as for a contempt of Court. and to adjudge the punishment authorized by the Clause applicable thereto.

Warrant for apprehension of offender under the last preceding Section.

CXXXIV. In any such case as is referred to in the last preceding Section, if the offender be not present in Court the Collector may summon him to answer to the charge, and if after due service of the summons he fail to attend, may issue a warrant for his apprehension.

Contempt of Court under Chapter XI Clause 39 of the Penal Code.

CXXXV. Whenever any such offence as is described in Clause 39 Chapter XI of the Penal Code is committed in contempt of the lawful authority of a Collector in any stage of a judicial proceeding under this Act, it shall be competent to the Collector to punish the offender as for a contempt of Court and to adjudge the punishment authorized by the said Clause.

Collector competent to hold a Court in any part of his jurisdiction.

CXXXVI. It shall be competent to the Collector to hold a Court for hearing and determining suits under this Act in any place within the limits of his District or local jurisdiction, provided that every hearing and decision shall be in open Court, and that the parties to the suits or their authorized agents shall have had due notice to attend at such place.

Proviso.

Agents or Mookhtars.

CXXXVII. Any person may practice as an agent or mookhtar in a Court held by a Collector under this Act without any formal license from the Collector. But it shall be competent to the Collector to prohibit any person, who has been convicted by a competent Court of a Criminal offence, or who has been found guilty of fraudulent or dishonest conduct in the discharge of his duty as agent or mookhtar, to practise as an agent or mookhtar in his Court. When any charge of fraudulent or dishonest conduct in the discharge of his duty is brought against an agent or mookhtar, the Collector shall proceed in the manner prescribed in Section IV Act XVIII of 1852, and the order passed in the case shall be open to appeal to the superior Revenue authorities.

Powers of Deputy Collectors.

CXXXVIII. All the powers vested in the Collector by the preceding Sections of this Act may be exercised by any Deputy Collector in cases referred to him by a Collector, and in all cases without such reference, by any Deputy Collector having local jurisdiction in any Sub-division of a District.

Collectors and Deputy Collectors to be subject to general direction and control of the Commissioners and the Boards of Revenue.

CXXXIX. In the performance of their duties under this Act the Collectors and Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the general direction and control of the Commissioners and the Boards of Revenue; and the Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the direction and control of the Collectors to whom they are subordinate. Except as otherwise herein provided, all orders passed by a Collector under this Act shall be appealable to the Commissioner; and all orders passed by a Deputy Collector shall be appealable to the Collector; but no judgment or order of a Collector or Deputy Collector in any suit, and no order of a Collector or Deputy Collector in the execution of any decree, under this Act, shall be liable to be reversed or altered unless the same is expressly declared to be open to revision or appeal by the provisions of this Act.

No appeal from orders of Collectors and Deputy Collectors in certain cases.

Appeal from orders of Collectors and Deputy Collectors for contempt of Court.

CXL. All orders which may be passed by a Collector under Sections CXXXIII and CXXXV shall be appealable to the Commissioner; and all such orders passed by a Deputy Collector shall be appealable to the Collector. In all such cases the order which may be passed in appeal shall be final and conclusive.

No appeal from any decree for money below fifty Rupees unless the decision involve some question of right to enhance rents or some question relating to a title to land.

CXLI. In suits under Clauses 2, 4, and 7 of Section XVII and under Section XVIII of this Act, if the amount sued for or the value of the property claimed does not exceed fifty Rupees, the judgment of the Officer holding the Court shall be final, and not open to revision or appeal except as hereinafter provided, unless in any such suit a question of right to enhance or otherwise vary the rent of a cultivator or tenant, or any question relating to a title to land, or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, has been determined by the judgment, in which case the judgment shall be open to appeal in the manner provided in Sections CXLIV and CXLV of this Act.

In suits not open to appeal Collector or Deputy Collector may grant a re-hearing upon the discovery of new evidence, &c.

CXLII. In suits in which the judgment of the Officer holding the Court is final as provided in the last preceding Section, the Collector, or, if the case have been decided by a Deputy Collector, the Deputy Collector with the sanction of the Collector, may, upon the application of either party, if preferred within thirty days from the date of the decision, order the re-hearing of a suit, upon the ground of the discovery of a new evidence or matter material to the issue of the case which the applicant had no knowledge of, or could not produce at the time of trial.

In such suits when decided by a Deputy Collector the Collector on application may call for the case and set aside the judgment on the ground of substantial defect of procedure and himself pass orders.

CXLIII. When any such suit as aforesaid is decided by a Deputy Collector, the Collector, on the application of either party, if preferred within thirty days from the date of the decision, may call for the record of the case, and if there have been substantial defect in the procedure or investigation, from which there may be strong probable grounds for presuming a failure of justice, the Collector may set aside the judgment of the Deputy Collector, and make such investigation into the merits of the case and pass such decision thereon as to him may seem fit. But no judgment of a Deputy Collector in any such suit shall be reversed or altered, nor shall a re-hearing be directed, on the ground that the decision of any question of fact is contrary to or not warranted by the evidence duly taken in the case.

In suits other than those under Section CXLI appeal to lie only to Zillah Judge.

CXLIV. In all suits other than those in which the judgment of the Officer holding a Court under this Act is declared to be final by Section CXLI, an appeal from the judgment of such Officer shall be open to the Zillah Judge.

Rules regarding presentation and hearing of appeals.

CXLV. The petition of appeal shall be written on the stamp paper prescribed for appeals to the Zillah Judge from the subordinate Civil Courts with reference to the amount or value of the property involved in the appeal; and the rules in force in regard to the time within which appeals from the decisions of such Courts may be received, and to the manner in which such appeals are heard and determined, and to all proceedings which may be had in respect of such appeals, shall be applicable to appeals under this Act.

Suits to be preferred in the Revenue Office of the District or sub-division in which the greater part of the lands is situate.

CXLVI. Suits under this Act shall be preferred in the Revenue Office of the District or sub-division in which the cause of action shall have arisen. If the lands comprised in any talook, farm, or other tenure, or any lands held under one lease or engagement or at one entire rent in respect of which arrears of rent may be due, are situated in more than one District or sub-division, the District or sub-division in which the greater part of such lands is situate shall be held to be the District or sub-division in which the cause of action has arisen; and if any question shall be raised respecting the District or sub division in which the greater part of the lands is situate, the Board of Revenue, or if all the lands be situate in one District the Collector of the District shall decide the question, and such decision shall be conclusive on the point of jurisdiction.

Except as above, Collector not to exercise jurisdiction in respect to lands situate beyond his District.

CXLVII. Except as provided in the last preceding Section no Collector shall exercise any jurisdiction under this Act in respect to any lands situate beyond the limits of the District to which he is appointed, by reason of such lands forming part of an estate the Revenue of which is paid into the Treasury of the said District.

Saving of rights of proprietors in respect of Putnee Talooks, &c., under Regulation VIII of 1819.

CXLVIII. Nothing contained in this Act shall be held to affect the right vested in proprietors of land under direct engagements with Government, of bringing to sale for arrears of rent Putnee Talooks and other similar tenures under the Provisions of Regulation VIII. 1819.

Commencement of Act.

CXLIX. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the day of

Interpretation.

CL. The word "Collector" as used in this Act shall include any Deputy Collector or other Officer vested with the full powers of a Collector and placed in independent charge of a District. The words "Civil Jail" shall include the Civil Jail of the Zillah and any place appointed by the Executive Government for the confinement of prisoners by any Court constituted under this Act. The word "Nazir" shall include any Officer of a Court authorized to serve or execute its process. W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 14th November 1857.

THE following Bill, as amended by the Select Committee to whom it was referred, is hereby published for general information:—

A Bill to make further provision relating to Foreigners.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision to enable the several Governments of the British Territories in India to prevent the subjects of Foreign States from residing or sojourning therein, or from passing through or travelling in the same, without the consent of the said Governments: It is enacted as follows:—

Foreigner to report his arrival in India.

I. Every Foreigner shall, on his arrival in any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company from any Port or place not within the said Territories, or from any Port or place not subject to the provisions of this Act, forthwith report himself to the Commissioner of Police, if he shall arrive at any of the Presidency Towns; or, if he shall arrive at any other place, to the Magistrate or to such other Officer as shall be appointed to receive such reports by the Governor General in Council, or (in places within their respective jurisdictions) by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall extend to any Foreigner being the Master or Commander of a ship or vessel, or employed therein.

Proviso.

What to be stated in the report.

II. The report shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the person reporting himself, and shall specify his name or names, the nation to which he belongs, the place from which he shall have come, the place or places of his destination, the object of his pursuit, and the date of his arrival in the said Territories; and the report shall be recorded by the Officer to whom it is made.

Foreigners employed in a ship or vessel to report themselves when they cease to be so employed.

III. If any person included in the proviso to Section I shall remain in any part of the said Territories after he shall have ceased to be employed in a ship or vessel, he shall forthwith report himself in manner aforesaid.

Foreigners neglecting to report themselves to be dealt with in like manner as Foreigners travelling without a license.

IV. If any Foreigner shall neglect to report himself as required by this Act, he may be dealt with in the manner hereinafter provided in respect of Foreigners travelling without a license.

Foreigner not to travel in India without a license.

V. No Foreigner shall travel in or pass through any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company without a license.

License by whom to be granted.

VI. Licenses under this Act may be granted by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, or by the Chief Secretary to the Governments of Fort St. George and Bombay respectively, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjaub, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioner of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively, or by such other Officers as shall be specially authorized so to do by the Governor General of India in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners aforesaid.

What to be stated in license.

VII. Every such license shall state the name or names of the person to whom the license is granted, the nation to which he belongs, the district or districts through which he is authorized to pass, or the limits within which he is authorized to travel.

License may be granted subject to conditions and may be revoked.

VIII. The license may be granted subject to such conditions (if any) as the Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or (as regards their several jurisdictions) any of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners may by any general order direct, or as the Officer granting the license may deem necessary; and the license may be revoked at any time by the Governor General in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Officer granting the same.

Foreigner travelling without or contrary to the conditions of license may be apprehended.

IX. If any Foreigner travel in or attempt to pass through any part of the said Territories without such license as aforesaid, or beyond the districts or limits mentioned therein, or after such license shall have been revoked, or shall violate any of the conditions therein specified, he may be apprehended without warrant by a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or by any European Commissioned Officer in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or by a Member of a Volunteer Corps enrolled by authority of Government whilst on duty, or by any Police Officer.

Procedure upon apprehension by persons not being Magistrates or Police Officers.

X. If any person be apprehended by a person not being a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or a Police Officer, he shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police Officer, and carried before a Magistrate, who shall forthwith report the case to the Government to which he is subject, and shall cause the person brought before him to be discharged or to be conveyed to one of the Presidency Towns, or to be detained pending the orders of such Government.

Persons apprehended may be admitted to bail.

XI. All persons apprehended or detained under the above-mentioned provisions of this Act may be admitted to bail by a Magistrate, or by any of the Officers authorized to grant licenses, and shall be put to as little inconvenience as possible during their detention in custody.

Removal of persons apprehended.

XII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, may order such person to remove himself from the said Territories by sea or by such other route as the Government may direct, or the Government may cause him to be removed from the said Territories by such route and in such manner as to the Government shall seem fit.

Government may order any Foreigner to remove himself.

XIII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by writing order any Foreigner within his jurisdiction to remove himself from the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, or to remove himself therefrom by a particular route to be specified in the order.

Foreigner refusing to remove or returning without license after removal may be apprehended and detained.

XIV. If any Foreigner ordered to remove himself from the said Territories, or ordered to remove himself therefrom by any particular route, shall neglect or refuse so to do; or if any Foreigner, having removed himself from the said Territories in consequence of an order issued under any of the provisions of this Act, or having been removed from the said Territories under any of the said provisions, shall wilfully return to the said Territories without a license in writing granted by the Governor General of India in Council or by the Officer under whose order he shall have removed himself or been removed—such Foreigner may be apprehended and detained in safe custody, until he shall be discharged therefrom by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Executive Government, or of one of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act within whose jurisdiction he shall be so apprehended or detained, upon such terms and conditions as the said Governor General in Council, Executive Government, Chief Commissioner or Commissioner shall deem sufficient for the peace and security of the British Territories, and of the allies of Her Majesty and of the East India Company, and of the neighbouring Princes and States.

Government may prohibit persons, not being natural-born subjects, from travelling or passing through any part of India without a license.

XV. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act may by order prohibit any person or persons, or any class or classes of persons, not being a natural-born subject or subjects of Her Majesty, from residing or travelling in or passing through any part of the said Territories, or from passing from any part of India to another, without a license to be granted by such Officer or Officers as shall be specified in the order; and if such person shall wilfully disobey such order, he may be apprehended without warrant by any of the Officers specified in Section IX of this Act, and carried before a Magistrate and dealt with under the provisions of the said Section in the same manner as if he were a Foreigner; and the Government may order such person to be detained in safe custody, or under the surveillance of the Police, so long as it may be deemed necessary for the peace and security of the British Territories.

Police Officer may board ship to ascertain whether Foreigners are on board.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Police, or for a Magistrate or his Assistant, or for any Officer appointed to receive reports as mentioned in the first Section of this Act, or for any Police Officer under the authority of such Commissioner or Magistrate, to enter any ship or vessel in any Port or place within the Territories in the possession and under the control of the East India Company, in order to ascertain whether any Foreigner bound to report his arrival under Section I of this Act is on board of such ship or vessel; and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, to adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary for that purpose; and the Master or Commander of such ship or vessel shall also, before any of the passengers are allowed to disembark, if he shall be required so to do by such Commissioner of Police or other Officer as aforesaid, deliver to him a list in writing of the passengers on board, specifying the Ports or places at which they embarked, and the Ports or places of their disembarkation or intended disembarkation, and answer, to the best of his knowledge, all such questions touching the passengers on board the said ship or vessel, or touching those who may have disembarked in any part of India, as shall be put to him by the Commissioner of Police or other Officer as aforesaid. If any Foreigner on board such ship or vessel in any part of India shall refuse to give any account of his objects of pursuit in India, or if his account thereof shall not be satisfactory, the Officer may refuse to allow him to disembark, or he may be dealt with in the same manner as a Foreigner travelling in India without a license.

Master of ship to furnish list of passengers.

XVII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any of the powers vested in him by this Act, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or to both.

Obstructing Officers.

XVIII. If the Master or Commander of any ship or vessel shall wilfully neglect or refuse to comply with the requisitions of this Act, he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two thousand Rupees.

Penalty if Master neglects to report.

XIX. Whoever shall wilfully give a false answer to any question which by this Act he is bound to answer, or shall make any false report, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees

False answer.

XX. The word "Foreigner" in this Act shall be deemed to mean a person not being a natural-born subject of Her Majesty, or a native of a place in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company The word "Magistrate" shall include every person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, and Justice of the Peace.

Interpretation.

XXI. If a question shall arise whether any person alleged to be a Foreigner and to be subject to the provisions of this Act is a Foreigner or not, or is or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, the onus of proving that such person is not a Foreigner or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, shall lie upon such person.

Proof of being a Foreigner.

XXII. This Act shall continue in force for two years; and it shall not extend to the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the Territory of Aden, unless the same shall be specially declared applicable to such Settlement or Territory by the Governor General of India in Council.

Operation of Act.

XXIII. The foregoing provisions of this Act shall not extend to any Foreign Minister duly accredited by his Government, nor to any Consul or Vice-Consul, nor to any person under the age of fourteen years, nor to any person in the service of the British Government. The Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may exempt any person, or any class of persons, either temporarily or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Act.

Exceptions.

XXIV. Any Officer of Government or other person, who, prior to the passing of this Act, may have done any thing which would have been justified by this Act, if it had been in force at the time, is hereby indemnified for so doing; and no action or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted in respect of any thing so done.

Indemnity.

Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

THE following Bill was read a first and second time in the Legislative Council on the 14th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee, who will report thereon on the 21st November 1857:—

A Bill to amend the Articles of War for the Native Army.

WHEREAS it is expedient that, on every conviction of Mutiny or Desertion, Government should have power to order the offender to be marked; It is enacted as follows:—

I. Whenever any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army shall be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, it shall be lawful for the Governor General in Council, or for the Executive Government of the Presidency in which the offender shall have been tried, to order him to be marked on the left side two inches below the armpit with the letter M in the case of a conviction of Mutiny, and with the letter D in the case of a conviction of Desertion, together with such other mark as the Government may consider necessary for the purpose of identifying the offender at any future time, or of denoting the punishment to which he has been sentenced. The letter shall not be less than an inch long, and such letter and other mark shall be made upon the skin with some ink, gunpowder, or other preparation, so as to be visible and conspicuous and not liable to be obliterated.

Marking of Mutineers and Deserters.

II. Any sentence or order, by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may upon conviction of Mutiny or Desertion have been ordered to be marked, shall be deemed valid.

Fort William, the 14th November 1857.

No. 1434 of 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to lay down the following Rules for the disposal of Men on furlough, belonging to Regiments which have mutinied, or have been disarmed.

1. Native Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Sepoys, who were absent from their Regiment when it mutinied and became non-existent, shall, on rejoining their Station at the expiration of, their leave, or on reporting themselves at any other Station, be discharged, receiving their pay in full to the day of discharge. Their Corps is dissolved by its own act, and they must take the consequences. In the Certificate of Discharge furnished to such Men, it should be simply stated that their Regiment having mutinied, their services are no longer required.

As, however, in several Regiments that have mutinied, a few Men of a Regiment have remained true, and as even where none have remained faithful, there may be among the Men who return from leave some whose cases deserve special consideration, it will be left open to the Officers of Regiments to which such individuals belonged, and to Officers Commanding Stations at which such Men may report themselves, to bring under the consideration of Government the cases of any such persons. But it is to be observed that all such exceptional claims to consideration must be supported by clear and specific reasons, and that, in the absence of such reasons, the general Rule as above stated is to be adhered to.

2. Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Sepoys belonging to Regiments which have been disarmed, but are still doing duty, or to Regiments which still retain their arms, will be allowed to rejoin at the expiration of their leave.

Should any overstay their leave, Men so returning late are to be reported; none being allowed to resume their duties, nor to receive pay, until their cases shall have been considered by the Commander-in-Chief. All such Men will be liable to dismissal and to forfeiture of pay, unless they can give some satisfactory proof of the manner in which they have been employed during their unauthorized absence.

3. Men reporting themselves at Stations distant from those from which they took their departure, are not to be received nor allowed to remain at such distant Stations, nor is any pay to be given, nor extension of leave granted to them.

The impassability of the roads which such Men bring forward as their excuse for not returning to their proper Stations, is a difficulty occasioned by the crimes of their companions in arms, and they should suffer the consequences. It should be certified on the Certificates of Leave which such Men possess, that on a certain date they reported themselves at such a Station; but no promise of restoration to the Service, and no encouragement to hope for the recognition of the validity of the excuse they give for not having proceeded to their proper Station, is to be held out to these Men. Their having reported themselves being duly entered on their Certificates, they are to be ordered to quit the Station.

The Men alluded to under this head are those belonging to Regiments still armed or still doing duty without arms. The cases of those belonging to Corps which have mutinied are provided for under the first head.

No. 1435 of 1857.—With reference to Government General Order, No. 948, of the 29th July 1857, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to appoint Captain F. N. FORT WILLIAM ;
Office of Accountant Government of Bengal,
The 13th November 1857.

Notification.

The 19th October 1857.

WITH the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, it is hereby declared that the Port of Maulmain and the Navigable River and Channel leading to that Port, are subject to Act XXII. of 1855.

The limits of the said Port of Maulmain are as follows :—

To the North, a line drawn across the Salween River from the Great Martaban Pagoda to the Boundary Pillar, at the junction of the Attaran and Salween Rivers.

To the South, a line drawn from the Boundary Pillar at the mouth of the Kyouktan Creek to the Boundary Pillar on the Island of Beeloogyoon, immediately opposite. So much of the Martaban branch of the Salween River as lies to the East of a line drawn from the Great Martaban Pagoda to the Boundary Pillar, on the North-East corner of the Island of Beeloogyoon.

The limits of the said Port include to the East and West so much of the River Salween, and of the shores thereof, as are within fifty yards of high water-mark spring tides

The limits of the Navigable River and Channels leading to the said Port of Maulmain, made subject to the said Act, are as follows :—

To the North, the Port of Maulmain as above defined.

To the South a line drawn from Double Island to the Western shore of Beloogyoon

PORT RULES.

With the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, the following Port Rules have been made, and are hereby promulgated for general information and guidance :

RULE 1. No Vessel if above 200 Tons shall enter within the limits of the Port of Maulmain, or move from one place to another within the Port, between sun-set and sun rise, without the special permission of the Master Attendant ; and the Commanders of all Vessels arriving at the Port of Maulmain are desired to enter correctly in the columns of the Report Book of the Master Attendant, as soon as presented to them, the information therein required regarding their Vessels. They will also report in writing to the Master Attendant, forty-eight hours before their departure, the particulars noted in the form appended hereto.

RULE 2. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall be bound to take up such berth as may be appointed for them by the Master Attendant, and shall change their berths or remain when required by such authority.

RULE 3. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall, on the requisition of the Master Attendant, rig in their jib and driver booms, and shall strike their yards and masts if required so to do by that Officer.

RULE 4. Every Ship or Vessel within the Port of Maulmain shall remove any anchor or spar or other substance projecting from her side when required to do so by the Master Attendant.

RULE 5. Vessels taking in or discharging ballast or any particular kind of cargo within the Port of Maulmain shall be bound to take up such berths as the Master Attendant may direct.

RULE 6. A free Channel of 240 yards wide is to be kept for Ships moving up or down the River within the Port and also free passages to Piers, Jetties, Landing Places, Wharves, Quays, Docks and Moorings, and all Vessels shall be bound to move when required to clear such Channels or passages.

RULE 7. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall anchor, moor and unmoor when and where required by the Master Attendant.

RULE 8. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall be moored or warped from place to place as required by the Master Attendant, and no Vesse shall cast off a warp that has been made fast to her to assist a Vessel in mooring without being required so to do by the Pilot or Officer in charge of the Vessel mooring.

RULE 9. No Vessel shall use any of the Government Chain Moorings, whether fixed or swinging, without permission of the Master Attendant.

RULE 10. All Vessels occupying Government Moorings, fixed or swinging, shall be liable to pay for the same according to the following scale, but no more :—

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council on the 7th February 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who will report thereon after the 11th day of December 1857 :—

A Bill for raising Funds for making and repairing roads in the Suburbs of Calcutta and the Station of Howrah.

Preamble.

WHEREAS considerable sums are expended annually by Government for making and repairing roads in the suburbs of Calcutta and the station of Howrah; and whereas it is just and expedient that such expenses should be defrayed by the inhabitants of the said suburbs and station in the same manner as the expense of making and repairing roads in the Town of Calcutta is defrayed by the inhabitants of the said Town; and whereas a tax has been imposed upon carriages and horses kept within the said Town; and it is expedient that a similar tax should be imposed upon carriages and horses kept within the said suburbs and station: It is enacted as follows:—

Expense of making roads to be defrayed by inhabitants.

I. The sums required for making and repairing roads within the limits of the said suburbs and station, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, shall be contributed by the inhabitants of the said suburbs and station and shall be recovered in the manner hereinafter provided.

A tax to be imposed on carriages, horses, &c.

II. A tax shall be imposed upon all carriages, horses, ponies, and mules kept within the limits of the said suburbs and station as those limits are defined in Act 1857, at the rates specified in the annexed Schedule, and shall be payable quarterly by the owners or persons having charge of the same.

Exemptions.

III. Provided that the carriages and animals hereinafter mentioned shall be exempt from the tax, namely,

Gun carriages, and ordnance carts and waggons.

Cavalry horses.

Horses belonging to Officers doing regimental duty at the Presidency or in the said suburbs or station, at the rate of one horse for each Officer.

Carriages and animals kept for sale and not used for any other purpose, if kept by bonâ fide dealers in such carriages or animals.

Lieutenant-Governor may appoint Collector of tax.

IV. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may appoint such person as he shall deem fit to be Collector of the carriage and horse-tax in the said suburbs and in the said station.

What will constitute liability to the tax for a whole quarter.

V. Every person, who may have owned or had charge of any carriage or animal kept within the said suburbs or station for a period exceeding thirty days in any quarter, shall be liable to the whole tax for that quarter. If the period do not exceed thirty days, no tax shall be chargeable for that quarter. Provided that, when any person owning or having charge of any carriage or animal shall transfer the same to another person, he shall give notice thereof to the Collector within one week of the date of such transfer, or, if he fail to give such notice, shall be liable to the whole tax for the quarter, although the period during which he may have owned or had charge of such carriage or animal shall not have exceeded thirty days.

Carriages under repair.

VI. When a carriage shall have been under repair at a carriage-maker's for more than thirty days in any quarter, the Collector shall remit so much of the tax for that quarter as may be proportionate to the number of days the said carriage may have been under repair.

Collector may compound with livery stable-keepers.

VII. The Collector, at his discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with livery stable-keepers and other persons keeping carriages and horses for hire, for a certain sum to be paid for the carriages and horses so kept by such persons in lieu of the rates specified in the Schedule.

Carriages and horses let for hire to residents in the suburbs liable to the tax.

VIII. Carriages and horses, let out for hire and kept for the time being in premises situated within the said suburbs or station, although owned by livery stable-keepers or others not residing within the limits of the said suburbs or station, shall be subject to the tax, and the sums to be charged for such carriages and horses shall be recoverable from the persons in whose premises they are for the time being kept.

Registry and numbering of carriages for hire.

IX. Every carriage of the description rated in the Schedule at one Rupee and eight annas, kept within the said suburbs or station and let out for hire, shall be registered in the Office of the Collector, and shall bear, in such manner as the Collector shall direct, the number of such registration. The registration shall be made and the number assigned annually upon such day in each year as the Collector shall appoint. Any person becoming possessed, within the year, of any such carriage which has not been registered, may obtain registration on application to the Collector at his Office. When any registered carriage is transferred within the year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred. A fee of four annas shall be paid for each registration.

Penalty for not registering.

X. Whoever keeps any such carriage, required to be registered by the provisions of the last preceding Section, without being so registered, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding ten Rupees, and the Collector or any Officer duly authorized by him may seize or cause to be seized any such carriage (provided the same be not employed at the time of seizure in the conveyance of any passengers or goods) together with the horses or other animals drawing the same, and may deliver them over to the Police; and all Police Officers are hereby required, on the application of the Collector or his Officer as aforesaid, to seize and detain the same. If the carriage as aforesaid be not claimed, or if the fine be not paid within ten days, such carriage, together with the animals seized with it, may be sold by auction by order of the Magistrate, and the proceeds applied to the payment of the fine and all costs and charges incurred on account of the detention and sale, and the surplus (if any), if not claimed by the owner within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Collector.

List of persons liable to tax to be prepared.

XI. The Collector shall from time to time cause to be prepared and entered in distinct columns in a book to be kept at his Office, and to be open to the inspection of any person interested therein, a list of the persons liable to the payment of the tax, a description of the carriages and animals in respect of which they are liable, and the amount of the tax assessed thereon.

Returns may be required for purpose of making list.

XII. In order to enable the Collector to make such list, the Collector or any Officer authorized by him may send to all persons supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax, a Schedule to be filled up with such information respecting the carriages and animals kept by them as the Collector may judge necessary for the assessment of the tax. The Schedule shall be filled up in writing, and signed and dated, and returned to the Office of the Collector by every person to whom it is sent whether or not liable to the payment of the tax; and whoever refuses, neglects, or omits duly to fill up and return such Schedule within one week from the receipt thereof, or knowingly gives therein any incorrect or false return, shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Power to summon persons liable to tax.

XIII. The Magistrate on the report of the Collector may, if he thinks proper, summon any person supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax, or any servant of such person, to appear before the Collector; and the Collector may examine such person or his servant as to the number and description of the carriages and horses in respect of which such person is liable to be assessed. If the person summoned shall, without lawful excuse, fail to appear in pursuance of the summons, or shall refuse to answer any lawful question of the Collector, or knowingly give an incorrect answer, he shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Appeal against assessment may be made to Magistrate.

XIV. Any person who may dispute his liability for any assessment made under the foregoing provisions of this Act or the amount of any such assessment, may appeal to the Magistrate. Provided that such appeal shall be commenced within ten days after the receipt by such person of a bill for the sum claimed from him in respect of such assessment.

Magistrate's decision final.

XV. The decision of the Magistrate upon every such appeal shall be final and conclusive; and no person shall be entitled to contest any assessment made under the foregoing provisions of this Act, in any other manner than by appeal to the Magistrate as hereinbefore provided.

Bill to be presented.

XVI. When any sum is due on account of the said tax, the Collector shall cause to be presented to the person liable to the payment thereof a bill for the amount, which shall also contain a statement of the period and a description of the carriages and animals for which the charge is made, together with a notice of the time within which an appeal may be preferred.

Notice of demand.

XVII. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within five days from the presentation thereof, the Collector may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand in the form (A) contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect; and if such person shall not, within five days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due or show sufficient cause for non-payment of the same to the satisfaction of the Collector, and if no appeal shall have been preferred, such sum with all costs may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the defaulter under a warrant in the form (B) in the Schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Collector.

Inventory and notice of sale.

XVIII. The Officer charged with the execution of the warrant of distress shall make an inventory of the goods and chattels seized under any such warrant, and shall at the same time give a notice in writing in the form (C) contained in the Schedule annexed to this Act, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said goods and chattels will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale.

XIX. If the arrear is not paid with costs, or the warrant is not discharged or suspended by the Collector, the goods and chattels seized shall be sold under the orders of the Collector, who shall apply the proceeds or such part thereof as may be necessary in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned on demand to the person in possession of the goods and chattels at the time of the seizure. The fees payable upon distraints under this Act shall be such as are set forth in the table of fees in the said Schedule.

Fees.

Collector may sue instead or on failure of distress.

XX. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or part of any sum due in respect of the tax, the Collector may sue the person liable for the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Estimate of probable expense of making and repairing roads, to be prepared annually, and published.

XXI. Previously to the first day of May of each year an estimate shall be prepared of the amount required during the year for the purpose of making and repairing roads in the said suburbs and in the said station; and such estimate, when sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor, shall be published in the Official Gazette for general information. If the said estimate shall exceed the sum which the carriage and horse-tax is estimated to produce, with the addition of such further sums as may be assigned by Government for the said purpose out of the Ferry Fund, or any other public fund, such excess shall be added to the amount of the assessment or rate to be levied in the said suburbs and station under Act XX of 1856, and shall be made and recovered according to the provisions of that Act. Provided, however, that the limitation prescribed for an assessment or rate by Section XI of the said Act shall not be applicable to any assessment or rate made under this Act.

If estimate of expense exceed estimated produce of carriage and horse tax, excess how to be made and recovered.

Proviso.

Collections and fines to be paid to suburban roads fund.

XXII. The proceeds of any assessment or rate made as aforesaid shall be kept distinct from the proceeds of the assessment or rate made for the purposes of the said Act XX of 1856, and such proceeds, together with all sums received by the Collector of the carriage and horse-tax and all sums assigned by Government as above provided, and all fines and penalties levied under this Act, shall form a fund which shall be called in the suburbs of Calcutta "the suburban roads fund," and in the station of Howrah "the station roads fund." All expenses incurred for the purpose of this Act shall be defrayed from the said fund, and the residue shall be applied exclusively to making, repairing, and improving roads within the limits of the said suburbs and station. Provided that no payment shall be made from the said fund for the repair of such roads or parts of roads as are hereinafter described, namely, in the said suburbs

Appropriation of fund.

The Barrackpore road with the Lock-gate road.

The road from the Cossipore gun-foundry to Dum-Dum.

The Belgatchya or Dum-Dum road.

WHEREAS it is expedient to re-enact with certain modifications the provisions of the existing law relative to the rights of ryots with respect to the delivery of pottahs and the occupancy of land, to the prevention of illegal exaction and extortion in connection with demands of rent, and to other questions connected with the same ; to extend the jurisdiction of Collectors, and to prescribe rules for the trial of such questions, as well as of suits for the recovery of arrears of rent, and of suits arising out of the distraint of property for such arrears; and to amend the law relating to distraint : It is enacted as follows : —

Laws repealed

I. The following Regulations and Acts, and portions of Regulations and Acts, are hereby repealed, except in so far as they repeal any other Regulation or Act, and except as to proceedings commenced before the date of this Act coming into force, namely,

Regulation XVII. 1793.
So much of Regulation IV. 1794 as is still in force.
Regulation XXXV. 1795.
Regulation XLV. 1795.
Sections IX and X Regulation LI. 1795.
Sections I to XX of Regulation VII. 1799.
Sections I to XX of Regulation V. 1800.
Regulation XXVIII. 1803
Sections IX and X Regulation XXX 1803.
Section IV of Regulation II 1805
Section XIX of Regulation VIII 1805.
Sections V to XXIII of Regulation V 1812.
Sections XV and XVI of Regulation XIX. 1817.
Sections XVIII and XIX of Regulation VIII 1819.
Section IV of Regulation II. 1821.
Section XXII, and so much of Section XX and the following Sections of Regulation VII. 1822 as apply to suits for rent, to complaints of excessive demand or undue exaction of rent or of the non-delivery of pottahs or receipts, to suits against agents for money or accounts, or to any other suits or complaints arising out of disputes between landholders or farmers and their under-tenants respecting the rent and occupancy of land.
Regulation XIV. 1824.
Regulation VIII. 1831.
Act I of 1839.
Act X of 1846, and
Act VIII of 1848.
Sections XIV and XV Regulation IX. 1833, so far as the same are applicable to the Territories under the Government of the Deputy Governor of Bengal, are also repealed.
Such parts of Regulation VIII. 1793, and Regulation XXX 1803, as relate to the adjudication of penalties for the refusal of pottahs and receipts for rent and for the exaction of any sums as abwab or in excess of the amount specified in any engagements for the payment of rent, are declared subject to the following modifications.

Person liable to pay rent is entitled to a pottah.

II. Every ryot and cultivator of land is entitled to receive from the person to whom the rent of the land held or cultivated by him is payable a pottah specifying the annual amount of such rent, and the instalments in which it is to be paid, or, in cases in which the rent is payable in kind, the proportion of the produce to be delivered.

Pottahs of hereditary ryots and of other cultivators.

III. Hereditary ryots holding lands at fixed rates of rent are entitled to receive pottahs at those rates. All other ryots and cultivators of land are entitled to receive pottahs according to the rates of rent for the time being established in the Pergunnah in which the land is situate, for land of the same description and quality, or if there be no known and recognized Pergunnah rates, according to the customary rates payable for land of a similar description in the places adjacent. The above rules are applicable not only to the first grant of pottahs, but also to the renewal (where right of renewal exists) of pottahs which may expire or which may become cancelled in consequence of the sale of the tenure or estate in which the land is situate for arrears of rent or revenue.

Right of occupancy of resident ryot or cultivator.

IV. Every resident ryot and cultivator has a right of occupancy in the land held or cultivated by him, whether it be held under pottah or not, so long as he pays the rent payable on account of the same; but this rule does not apply to khomar neejjote or seer land belonging to the proprietor of the estate or tenure and leased for a term or year by year to a resident cultivator, nor (as respects the actual cultivator) to land sublet to a resident cultivator by a ryot having a right of occupancy.

Saving of terms of written contracts.

V. Nothing contained in either of the two last preceding Sections shall be held to affect the terms of any written contract for the payment of specific rates of rent, nor of any contract entered into between a landholder and a resident ryot or cultivator for the clearing and cultivation of waste land, or for the cultivation of land not previously in the occupation of such ryot or cultivator, when by such contract conditions of occupancy have been agreed on between the parties, or a right of re-entry has been expressly reserved to the landholder. Resident ryots cultivating land not previously in their occupancy without a pottah or other instrument in writing from the proprietor of the estate or tenure in which the land is situate, shall not acquire a right of occupancy in such land until rent shall have been paid by them for the same to the said proprietor for a period of three years.

Person granting pottah entitled to a counterpart engagement.

VI. Every person who grants a pottah is entitled to receive from the person to whom the pottah is granted a kubooliyet or counterpart engagement in conformity with the terms of the pottah. The tender of a pottah to any ryot or cultivator at the rate of rent which such ryot or cultivator is liable to pay shall be held to entitle the person to whom the rent is payable to receive a kubooliyet from such ryot or cultivator.

Exactions in excess of rent or receipt withheld.

VII. Every under-tenant, ryot or cultivator, from whom any sum is exacted in excess of the rent specified in his pottah, whether as abwab or under any other pretext, and every under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator from whom a receipt is withheld for any sum of money paid by him as rent, shall be entitled to recover from the person receiving such rent double the amount so exacted, or paid. Receipts for rent shall specify the periods on account of which the rent is acknowledged to have been paid; and any refusal to make such specification shall be held to be a withholding of a receipt.

Form of receipt

Landholder not to compel the attendance of tenant for adjustment of rent or for any other purpose.

VIII. The power heretofore vested in Zemindars and other landholders of compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rents or for any other purpose is withdrawn, and all such persons are prohibited from adopting any measures for enforcing payment of the rents due to them other than are authorized by the provisions of this Act. But nothing in this Act shall be held to restrict the right of landholders to measure any land in respect of which rent is paid to them, provided that such measurement is not at variance with the conditions under which the land is held by the persons by whom such rent is paid.

Payment of rent to be enforced under this Act.

Right to measure land reserved.

Damages for extorting payment of rent by duress.

IX. If payment of rent, whether the same be legally due or not, is extorted from any under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator, by illegal confinement or other duress, such under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator shall be entitled to recover three times the amount so extorted, in addition to any penalty to which the person practising such extortion may be subject by law.

Enhancement of rent of cultivator, &c., holding without or after expiry, &c., of written engagement.

X. No under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator who holds or cultivates land without any written engagement, or under a written engagement not specifying the period of such engagement, or whose engagement has expired, or has become cancelled in consequence of the sale for arrears of rent or revenue of the tenure or estate in which the land held or cultivated by him is situate, and has not been renewed, shall be liable to pay any higher rent for such land than the rent payable for the previous year, unless a written notice shall have been served on such under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator in or before the month of Jeyte, specifying the rent to which he will be subject for the ensuing Fusly or for the current Bengal year. Such notice shall be served by order of the Collector on the application (which may be on plain paper) of the person to whom the rent is payable, and shall, if practicable, be served personally on the under tenant, ryot, or cultivator; but if he shall abscond or conceal himself, so that it cannot be served personally upon him, it shall be affixed at his usual place of residence, or if he have no such place of residence in the District in which the land is situate. The mode of service of such notice shall be by affixing it at the Mal Cutcherry of such land or other conspicuous place thereon, or at the Village Chowree or Chowpal or some other conspicuous place in the village.

Mode of contesting enhancement of rent.

XI. Any under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator, on whom such notice as aforesaid has been served, may contest his liability to pay the enhanced rent demanded of him, either by complaint of excessive demand of rent as hereinafter provided, or in answer to any suit preferred against him for recovery of arrears of the enhanced rent. No ryot or cultivator shall, under any circumstances, be liable to any enhancement of rent in excess of the rates specified in Section III of this Act.

Relinquishment of land by ryot or cultivator after notice given.

XII. Any ryot or cultivator, who desires to relinquish the lands held or cultivated by him, shall be at liberty to do so, provided he gives notice of his intention in writing to the person entitled to the rent of the lands in or before the month of Jeyte of the Bengal year in which, or of the Fusly year preceding which, the relinquishment is to have effect. If he fail to give such notice, and the lands are not let to any other person, he shall continue liable for the rent of the lands. If the person entitled to the rent of the land refuse to receive any such notice and to sign a receipt for the same, it shall be served upon him by the Collector on application for such service being made by the ryot or cultivator within the time above-mentioned.

What to be deemed an arrear of rent under this Act.

XIII. Any instalment of rent, which is not paid on or before the day when the same is payable according to the pottah or engagement, or, if there be no written specification of the time of payment, at or before the time when such instalment is payable according to established usage, shall be held to be an arrear of rent under this Act.

Liability of ryot or cultivator to be ejected for arrear due.

XIV. When an arrear of rent remains due from any ryot or cultivator of land at the end of the Bengal or Fusly year as the case may be, such ryot or cultivator shall be liable to be ejected from the land in respect of which the arrear is due; and the person to whom the rent is payable shall be at liberty to make such new arrangement as he may judge proper for the management of the land in question.

Liability of farmer to have his lease cancelled for arrear adjudged due.

XV. When an arrear of rent shall be adjudged to be due from any farmer or other leaseholder, not being an actual cultivator, nor having a right of occupancy or a transferable interest in the land, the lease held by such farmer or leaseholder shall be liable to be cancelled.

No ryot or cultivator to be ejected, and no lease to be cancelled, unless in execution of decree under this Act.

XVI. Provided always, that no ryot or cultivator shall be ejected from the land held or cultivated by him on account of an arrear of rent remaining due at the end of the year, and no lease shall be cancelled on account of an arrear of rent, otherwise than in execution of a decree or order under the provisions of this Act.

Cognizance of suits under this Act.

XVII. 1.—All suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets, or for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered;

2.—All suits for damages on account of the illegal exaction of rent, or of any unauthorized cess or impost, or on account of the refusal of receipts for rent paid, or on account of the extortion of rent by confinement or other duress;

3.—All complaints of excessive demand of rent, and all claims to remission of rent on account of diluvion or other cause;

4.—All suits for arrears of rent due, whether on account of land either kherajee or lakheraj, or of any rights of pasturage, forest-rights, fisheries, or the like;

5.—All suits to eject any ryot or cultivator, or to cancel any lease on account of the non-payment of arrears of rent, or on account of a breach of the conditions of any contract by which a ryot or cultivator may be liable to ejectment or a lease may be liable to cancelled;

6.—All suits to recover the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, from which a ryot or cultivator, farmer or tenant, has been illegally ejected by the person entitled to receive rent for the same;

7.—All suits arising out of the exercise of the power of distraint conferred on Zemindars and others by Sections XCVII and C of this Act, or out of any acts done under color of the exercise of the said power, as hereinafter particularly provided;

shall be cognizable by the Collectors of land revenue, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act, and shall not be cognizable in any other Court, or by any other Officer, or in any other manner.

Suits by Zemindars against their agents for money or accounts.

XVIII. Suits by Zemindars and others in receipt of the rent of land, against any agents employed by them in the management of land or collection of rents, for money received or accounts kept by such agents, or for papers in their possession, shall be cognizable by the Collectors, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act.

Ejectment of cultivators, farmers, &c., by Zemindars.

XIX. If any Zemindar or other person in receipt of the rent of land requires assistance to eject any cultivator not having a right of occupancy, or to eject any farmer or other tenant holding only for a limited period after the determination of his lease or tenancy, or any agent after the determination of his agency, or to enforce any attachment or ejectment expressly authorized by any Regulation or Act, he shall make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall proceed thereupon to enquire into the case and pass orders in the manner provided for suits under this Act. Provided that no such application for the ejectment of a farmer on the determination of a lease shall be received if the lease be of the kind denominated ticca zur-i-peshgee or the like, in which an advance has been made by the leaseholder, and the proprietor's right of re-entry at the end of the term is contingent on the re-payment of such advance either in money or by the usufruct of the land. In all such cases the parties must proceed by suit in the Civil Court.

Measurement of lands.

XX. If the proprietor of an estate or tenure intending to measure any lands which he has a right to measure is opposed in making such measurement by the occupant of the land, or if any ryot or cultivator, having received notice of the intended measurement of land held or cultivated by him which is liable to such measurement, refuses to attend and point out such land, the proprietor of the estate or tenure may make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and shall pass an order either allowing or disallowing the measurement, and if the case so require, enjoining or excusing the attendance of any such ryot or cultivator.

Applications to dispossess grantees of land exempt from revenue.

XXI. So much of Section X Regulation XIX. 1793, as authorizes and requires proprietors and farmers of estates and dependent talooks, in cases in which grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue have been made subsequent to the 1st December 1790, of their own authority to dispossess the grantees of the proprietary right in such land, and to re-annex it to the estate or talook in which it may be situate, is repealed; and any proprietor or farmer who may desire to dispossess any such grantee shall make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall proceed thereupon to enquire into the case and pass orders in the manner provided for suits under this Act. But nothing contained in this Act relative to the limitation of suits shall be held applicable to such applications.

Time for commencement of suits generally.

XXII. Except as otherwise herein provided, all suits instituted under this Act shall be commenced within the period of one year from the date of the accruing of the cause of action.

Time for commencement of suits for grant of pottahs, &c.

XXIII. Suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets and for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered, may be instituted at any time during the tenancy. But no ryot or cultivator shall be entitled to claim an abatement of the rent previously paid by him, although such rent may be in excess of the rate to which he would be liable under Section III of this Act, if he have paid such rent for three years previous to the institution of the suit.

Time for the commencement of suits for arrears of rent.

XXIV. Suits for the recovery of arrears of rent shall be instituted within three years from the last day of the Bengal or Fusly year in which the arrear claimed shall have become due. For arrears of rent due at the passing of this Act, suit shall be brought within three years after the passing of this Act; but nothing in this Section shall be held to enlarge the period now allowed by law for the institution of any such suit.

Time for the commencement of suits against agents for money, papers, or accounts.

XXV. Suits for the recovery of money in the hands of an agent or for the delivery of accounts or papers by an agent, may be brought at any time during the agency, or within one year after the determination of the agency of such agent, or in the case of claims now existing within one year after the passing of this Act; but nothing in this Section shall be held to enlarge the period now allowed by law for the institution of any such suit.

Mode of instituting suits. Form of plaint or statement of claim.

XXVI. Suits under this Act shall be instituted by presenting to the Collector a plaint or statement of claim which shall contain the name, description, and place of abode of the plaintiff; the name, description, and place of abode of the defendant, so far as they can be ascertained; the substance of the claim, and the date of the cause of action.

Statement of claim to be written on stamped paper, except when plaintiff is unable to pay for a stamp.

XXVII. The statement of claim shall be written on paper bearing a stamp of the value of eight annas; but if the Collector be satisfied of the inability of the plaintiff to pay for a stamp, he may receive such statement on plain paper.

No other stamp duty to be required in suits under this Act.

No stamp shall be required in respect of any petition or other proceeding connected with the suit or with the execution of any order or judgment passed thereon, or for copies of any papers.

Documentary evidence to be produced by plaintiff.

XXVIII. If the plaintiff rely in support of his claim on any document in his possession, he shall deliver the same to the Collector at the time of presenting his statement of claim. Unless such document be delivered in, or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Collector see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

Form of plaint in suits for arrears of rent.

XXIX. If the suit be for the recovery of an arrear of rent, the statement shall specify the name of the village, and of the Pergunnah or other local division, in which the land is situate, the yearly rent of the land, the amount (if any) received on account of the year for which the claim is made, the amount in arrear, and the time in respect of which it is alleged to be due.

Documentary evidence to be produced by plaintiff in such cases.

If the suit be for an arrear alleged to be due from any ryot or cultivator, the plaintiff, in addition to any other documents upon which he may rely in support of his claim, shall produce the jumma-wasil-bakee account of the village or tenure, for the year preceding that for which the arrear is claimed if the same be not already filed in the Collector's Office; but this last rule shall not be held applicable to the case of an auction-purchaser or other person who, by reason of his having recently acquired possession of the village or tenure, or for any other cause, may, in the judgment of the Collector, be unable to produce the said account.

Form of plaint in suits for ejectment of ryot, &c., or for recovery of occupancy or possession of land, &c.

XXX. If the suit be for the ejectment of any ryot or cultivator, farmer or tenant, from any land, farm, or tenure, or for the recovery of the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, the statement shall describe (as circumstances may require) the extent, situation, and designation of the same; and if necessary for the identification of the land, shall set forth the boundaries of such land

Warrant of arrest in what cases to be issued.

XXXI. When in any suit against an under-tenant or cultivator for the recovery of an arrear of rent, or against an agent for the recovery of any money, papers, or accounts, the plaintiff desires a warrant of arrest to be issued against the defendant, he shall present with his statement of claim an application for the issue of such warrant. When such application is presented, the Collector shall examine the plaintiff or his agent, and inspect the documents adduced by him in support of his claim, and if there be primâ facie grounds for believing the claim to be well-founded, and that if a summons be issued the defendant will abscond instead of appearing to answer the claim, provided also the defendant be resident in the District in which the suit is instituted, the Collector may issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant. The warrant shall be in the form A contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect, and shall be accompanied by a notice addressed to the defendant, enjoining him, if he contest the claim, to bring with him any document upon which he may intend to rely in support of his defence. But no such warrant shall be issued in a suit for arrears of rent due in respect of a dependent talook or other transferable tenure, which, as hereinafter provided, is liable to sale in execution of any decree which may be passed in the case.

Procedure after arrest of defendant.

XXXII. If a defendant be arrested under the warrant of arrest, he shall be brought with all convenient speed before the Collector, unless he forthwith deposit with the Officer entrusted with the execution of the warrant such sum as may be specified therein.

Procedure when defendant is brought before the Collector under warrant.

XXXIII. When a defendant is brought before the Collector under warrant, the Collector shall, with all convenient speed, proceed to try the case in the manner hereinafter provided when a defendant appears on summons; and if the suit cannot be at once adjudicated, the Collector may, if he think fit, take security from the defendant for his appearance whenever the same may be required at any time whilst the suit is depending or before the final decree which may be passed thereon shall be fully executed, and may commit the defendant to the Civil jail, to be there detained until he shall furnish such security or deposit such sum as the Collector shall order.

Procedure if warrant of arrest cannot be served upon the defendant.

XXXIV. If the warrant of arrest cannot be served upon the defendant, the Collector, on the application of the plaintiff, shall either postpone the case for such period as he may think proper, in order that the plaintiff may apply within the said period for another warrant to be issued for the arrest of the defendant, or shall forthwith issue a proclamation to be affixed in his own Office and at the residence of the defendant fixing a day for the hearing of the case, which shall not be less than ten days from the date of the publication of notice at the residence of the defendant. If the defendant shall appear in pursuance of the proclamation, he shall be dealt with as provided in the last preceding Section.

In all other cases, summons to issue and personal attendance of defendant may be required.

XXXV. In all other cases, the Collector shall direct the issue of a summons to the defendant, and if the plaintiff require the personal attendance of the defendant, and satisfy the Collector that such personal attendance is necessary, or the Collector of his own accord require such personal attendance, the summons shall contain an order for the defendant to appear personally on a day to be specified in the summons, otherwise the summons shall order the defendant to appear personally or by an agent duly authorized on his behalf who has personal knowledge of the subject, or who shall be accompanied by a witness who has such personal knowledge.

The day to be specified in the summons how to be fixed. Defendant to be ordered to produce necessary documents and to bring witnesses willing to attend without process.

XXXVI. The day to be specified in the summons shall be fixed with reference to the state of the file and the distance that the defendant may be, or be supposed to be, at the time, from the place where the Court is held, and the summons shall order the defendant to produce any document which he may have in his possession, of which the plaintiff demands inspection, or upon which the defendant may intend to rely in support of his defence. It shall also enjoin him to bring with him his witnesses if they are willing to attend without issue of process; and shall be in the form C contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect.

A copy of the plaint to be sent with the summons. Summons how to be served.

XXXVII. A copy of the statement of claim shall be sent with the summons, and the summons shall be served by delivering a copy of the summons and of the statement to the defendant personally when practicable; or if the summons cannot be served on the defendant personally, by affixing a copy of the summons and a copy of the statement to some conspicuous part of his usual place of abode and also by affixing copies of the same in the Collector's Office.

Endorsement by Nazir if summons has been personally served or not.

XXXVIII. If the summons be served personally, the Nazir shall endorse on the summons the fact of such service. If personal service be not effected, the Nazir shall endorse on the summons the reason of not serving it personally and how it has been served.

Execution of process in another District.

XXXIX. If the usual place of abode of the defendant be in another District, the summons, together with the cost of the service thereof, shall be sent by dâk to the Collector of such District, who shall issue the summons, and return the same, after service, with the prescribed endorsement, to the Officer by whom it was transmitted to him.

XL. The amount of the cost of serving the summons, or if a warrant be applied for of serving the warrant, shall in all cases be deposited in Court upon the same day or the day next following that on which the plaint or statement of claim is presented to the Collector, and if the said amount be not so deposited (except in cases in which the Collector may allow the issue of summons free of cost under the discretion reserved to him in Section CXXXI) the case shall not be brought on the file of suits; but the plaintiff may present another plaint at any time within the period allowed by the rules for the limitation of actions.

Cost of serving summons or warrant to be deposited in Court.

XLI. Upon the appearance of the parties on the day named in the summons, or upon any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned, for sufficient reason to be recorded by the Collector, the Collector shall call upon the defendant or his agent to make his defence. The defence shall be made either in writing in the official language of the District or verbally, and if made verbally shall be reduced into writing in the presence and under the personal superintendence of the Collector; after which the Collector shall proceed to examine such of the parties as may be present, and either party or his agent may cross-examine the other. If either of the parties be not bound to attend personally, any agent by whom he shall appear, or any witness who shall accompany such agent, shall be examined and cross-examined in like manner as the party himself would have been if he had attended personally.

On appearance of parties, defence to be made, after which the parties may be examined by the Collector or cross-examine each other.

XLII. If either of the parties shall bring forward a witness on such day, the Collector shall take the evidence of such witness.

Witnesses to be examined.

XLIII. If the defendant rely on any document in support of his defence, he shall deliver the same into Court at the time of making his defence; and unless such document be so delivered in, or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Collector see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

Documentary evidence to be produced by defendant.

XLIV. If after the examination required by Section XLI, and also the examination of any witness who may attend to give evidence on behalf of either of the parties, and after a consideration of the documentary evidence adduced, a decree can be properly made without further evidence, the Collector shall make his decree accordingly.

After examination, Collector may make his decree if no further evidence is required.

XLV. If on such examination as aforesaid, the agent of either party be unable to answer any material question relating to the case which the Collector is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Collector may postpone the hearing of the case to a future day, and direct that the party whose agent may have been unable to answer as aforesaid shall attend in person on such day; and if the party so directed to attend shall fail to appear in person on the day appointed, the Collector may pass judgment as in case of default, or make such other order as he may deem proper in the circumstances of the case.

Consequence of inability of agent to answer.

XLVI. If on such examination as aforesaid it appear that the parties are at issue on any question of fact upon which it is necessary to hear further evidence, the Collector shall declare and record such issue, and shall fix a convenient day for the examination of witnesses and the trial of the suit, and the trial shall take place on that day, unless there be sufficient reason for adjourning it, which reason shall be recorded by the Collector.

Collector to record issue and to fix a day for hearing further evidence.

XLVII. The parties shall bring foward their witnesses on the day of trial, and if either party require assistance to procure the attendance of a witness on such day, either to give evidence or to produce a document, he shall apply to the Collector in sufficient time before the day fixed for the trial, to enable the witness to be summoned to attend on that day; and the Collector shall issue a summons requiring such witness to attend.

Parties shall produce their witnesses on the day of trial; or Collector, on application of either party, shall issue summons for the attendance of a witness.

XLVIII. The provisions of the Regulations and Acts, and all other rules for the time being in force relating to the evidence of witnesses, for procuring the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and for the examination, remuneration, and punishment of witnesses, whether parties to the case or not, in cases before the Civil Courts of the Presidency of Bengal, shall, except so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, apply to and be of equal force and effect in suits under this Act.

Rules regarding attendance, examination, &c., of witnesses.

XLIX. Any party to a suit may employ an authorized agent to conduct the case on his behalf, but the appointment of such agent shall not excuse the personal attendance of the plaintiff or defendant in cases where his personal attendance is required by the summons or any order of the Court, and no fee for any agent shall be charged as part of the costs of suit in any case under this Act.

Employment of authorized agents.

L. If a defendant, summoned to attend personally, shall not attend in person in pursuance of the summons, he shall not be heard by an agent, unless the Collector be satisfied that there is a reasonable excuse for his non-attendance. A defendant who has evaded a warrant of arrest and has not afterwards attended in person within the term of the proclamation prescribed in Section XXXIV, shall not be heard by an agent.

In what cases defendant shall not be heard by an agent.

LI. The Collector may in any case grant time to the plaintiff or defendant to proceed in the prosecution or defence of a suit, and may also from time to time, in order to the production of further proof or for other sufficient reason to be recorded by the Collector, adjourn the hearing or further hearing of any case in such manner as to him may seem fit.

Collector may grant time or adjourn hearing.

Collector may cause local enquiry to be made.

LII. The Collector may at any stage of a case cause a local enquiry and report respecting the matter in dispute to be made by any Officer subordinate to him, or by any other Officer of Government with the consent of the authority to whom such Officer is subordinate, or may himself proceed to the spot and make such local enquiry in person. The provisions of the laws in force relative to local enquiries by Ameens or Commissioners under orders of the Civil Courts shall apply to any local enquiry made by any Officer under this Section, and, so far as they are applicable, to enquiries made by the Collector in person. In the latter case the Collector, after completing the enquiry, shall record on the proceedings such observations as appear to him appropriate, and the observation so recorded shall be received as evidence in the suit.

Consequence of neither party appearing on the day of trial.

LIII. If on the day fixed by the summons or proclamation for the appearance of the defendant, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned prior to the recording of an issue for trial under Section XLVI, neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off, with liberty to the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit unless precluded by the rules for the limitation of actions.

If defendant only appear to dispute the demand, Collector shall dismiss the case; but if defendant admit the claim, Collector shall decree upon such admission.

LIV. If on any such day the defendant only appear, the Collector shall dismiss the case with costs, unless the defendant admit the cause of action, or any part of it; in which case the Collector shall proceed to give judgment for the plaintiff upon such admission without costs. Provided that such judgment, if there be several defendants, shall be only against the defendant who makes the admission.

Prov so.

If plaintiff only appear, Collector may proceed ex parte.

LV. If on any such day the plaintiff only appear, the Collector, upon proof that the summons or proclamation has been duly served according to the provisions of this Act, shall proceed to examine the plaintiff or his agent, and after considering the allegations of the plaintiff and any documentary or oral evidence adduced by him, may either dismiss the case or postpone the hearing of it to a future day for the attendance of any witness the plaintiff may wish to call, or may make an ex parte decree against the defendant.

If defendant appear on a day to which the case is postponed, Collector may allow him to be heard in answer to the suit.

LVI. If the defendant shall appear on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the suit may be postponed under the last preceding Section, the Collector may, upon such conditions, if any, as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, allow the defendant to be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his attendance.

Consequence of neither party appearing on the day fixed for the trial of any issue.

LVII. If on the day fixed for the trial of any issue under Section XLVI, neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off under the conditions provided in Section LIII. If on any such day one only of the parties appear, the issue shall be tried and determined ex parte.

Revival, reversal, and alteration of ex parte decrees under certain rules and conditions.

LVIII. If a decree be made ex parte, and the party against whom such decree shall have been made appear, either in person or by agent, if a plaintiff within fifteen days from the date of the Collector's order, and if a defendant within such time as the Collector shall deem reasonable under all the circumstances of the case, but before the decree shall have been finally executed, and shall show good and sufficient cause for his previous non-appearance, and shall satisfy the Collector that there has been a failure of justice, the Collector may, upon such terms and conditions as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, revive the suit and alter or rescind the decree, according to the justice of the case. But no decree shall be reversed or altered without previously summoning the adverse party to appear and be heard in support of it.

Defendant may pay money into Court in satisfaction of the demand.

LIX. The defendant in any action under this Act may pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think a full satisfaction for the demand of the plaintiff, together with the costs incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall be paid to the plaintiff. If the defendant deposit less than the sum claimed and the plaintiff elect to proceed in the case, and ultimately recover no further sum than shall have been paid into Court, the plaintiff shall be charged with any costs incurred by the defendant in the suit after such payment.

If plaintiff elect to proceed and ultimately recover no further sum than that paid into Court, he shall be liable to the subsequent costs.

No interest on deposits.

LX. No interest shall be allowed to a plaintiff on any sum paid by the defendant into Court from the date of such payment, whether such sum be in full of the plaintiff's claim or fall short thereof.

If on trial of suit for delivery of pottah parties do not agree as to the time for which the pottah is granted, Collector to fix the time.

LXI. If on the trial of a suit for the delivery of a pottah instituted by a ryot or cultivator having a right of occupancy on payment of rent at pergunnah-rates as explained in Section III, the parties do not agree as to the term for which the pottah is to be granted, the Collector shall fix such term as under the circumstances of the case he may think just and proper. Provided that in permanently settled estates the term shall not be longer than ten years, and in estates not permanently settled shall not extend beyond the period for which the proprietor of the estate has engaged with Government. Provided also, that if the defendant be a farmer or other person having only a temporary interest in the land, the term of the pottah shall not extend beyond the period of the continuance of such interest. For cultivators not having a right of occupancy, the term of pottah shall be exclusively in the discretion of the person entitled to the rent of the land.

If in actions for arrears of rent, a third claimant appear, he is to be made a party to the suit.

LXII. If in an action for the recovery of arrears of rent the right to receive the rent of the land or tenure involved in the action is claimed by any third person as being in actual possession of the same, such third person shall be made a party to the suit and the question of possession shall be put in issue, and the right of the plaintiff or of such third person to recover the rent of the land or tenure shall be determined according to the fact of possession. Provided always, that the decision of the Collector shall not affect the right of either party, who may have a legal title to the rent of such land or tenure, to establish his title by suit in the Civil Court if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

Proviso.

Suits for ejectment or cancelment of lease.

LXIII. Any person desiring to eject a ryot or cultivator or to cancel a lease on account of non-payment of arrears of rent, may sue for such ejectment or cancelment and for recovery of the arrear in the same action, or may adduce any unexecuted decree for arrears of rent as evidence of the existence of such arrear in a suit for such ejectment or cancelment. In all cases of suits for the ejectment of a ryot or cultivator or the cancelment of a lease the decree shall specify the amount of the arrear, and the ryot or cultivator or the leaseholder may, at any time before the execution of the decree, stay the execution by paying such amount into Court, together with costs of suit.

Judgment how to be pronounced.

LXIV. The Collector shall pronounce judgment in open Court, and the provisions of Act XXXIII of 1854 shall be applicable thereto.

If person required by the decree refuse to grant pottah, Collector may do so.

LXV. When a decree is given for the delivery of a pottah, if the person required by the decree to grant such pottah refuse or delay to grant the same, the Collector may grant a pottah in conformity with the terms of the decree under his own hand and seal, and such pottah shall be of the same force and effect as if granted by the person aforesaid.

Refusal of person to execute kubooliyet as required by the decree.

LXVI. When a decree is given for the delivery of a kubooliyet, if the person required by the decree to execute such kubooliyet shall refuse to execute the same, the decree shall be evidence of the amount of rent claimable from such person, and a copy of the decree under the hand and seal of the Collector shall be of the same force and effect as a kubooliyet executed by the said person.

Mode of executing decree for ejectment or re-instatement of ryot or cultivator.

LXVII. If the decree be for the ejectment of any ryot or cultivator from land occupied by him, or for the re-instatement of any ryot or cultivator in the occupancy of land from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by an order issued to the Nazir to give the possession or occupancy of the land to the person entitled by the decree to such possession or occupancy; and if any opposition is made to the execution of such order, the Magistrate, on the application of the Collector, shall give effect to the same.

Punishment for obstructing execution.

Mode of executing decree for cancelment of a lease or for ejectment or re-instatement of a farmer or tenant.

LXVIII. If the decree be for the cancelment of any lease or the ejectment of any farmer or other person (not being an actual cultivator) or for the re-instatement of such farmer or person in the possession of a farm or tenure from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by erecting a pole upon some place within or adjacent to the farm or tenure, and proclaiming to the cultivators or other occupants at some convenient place or places the substance of the decree in regard to the farm or tenure.

Decree to contain order for immediate execution

In what case a judgment-debtor may be detained or imprisoned without issue of process of execution.

LXIX. Every decree for the payment of money or costs shall contain an order for immediate execution; and if the decree be for arrears of rent or for money, papers, or accounts, and the defendant have been committed to jail or appear pursuant to the conditions of the security given under Section XXXIII, he may, without the issue of any process of execution, be detained in or committed to the Civil Jail, unless he immediately pay into Court the amount of the decree with costs, or otherwise comply with the terms of the decree.

Liability of surety on failure to deliver judgment-debtor into custody.

LXX. If the judgment-debtor have given security for his appearance and be not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety shall fail to deliver him into custody when required so to do, process of execution may be taken out against the surety in the same manner as if a decree for the amount due by the debtor had been passed against the surety.

Issue of process of execution.

LXXI. Process of execution may be issued against either the person or the property of a judgment-debtor; but process shall not be issued simultaneously against both person and property. Process of execution against the person or moveable property of a debtor shall be in the form D or E contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect.

Application for execution against moveable property.

LXXII. Any moveable property required to be seized under an execution shall, if practicable, be described in a list to be furnished by the judgment-creditor, but if the creditor is unable to furnish such list he may apply for a general attachment of the debtor's effects to the amount of the judgment and costs. In either case the property to be seized shall be pointed out by the creditor or his agent.

How long warrant shall continue in force.

LXXIII. Process of execution shall bear date on the day on which it is signed by the Court, and no warrant shall continue in force for a longer period than sixty days calculated from such date.

Second and successive warrants.

LXXIV. Second and successive warrants of execution may be issued by order of the Collector on the application of the judgment-creditor after the expiration of the period above fixed for the continuance in force of a previous warrant. No such warrant shall continue in force for a longer period than sixty days.

Time for issue of warrant.

LXXV. Process of execution shall not be issued upon any judgment without previous notice to the party against whom execution is applied for, if when application for the issue of the process is made a period of more than one year shall have elapsed from the date of the judgment or from the date of the last previous application for execution.

Execution not to issue against heir or representative of a deceased party without notice.

LXXVI. Execution on a judgment shall not issue against the heir or other representative of a deceased party without notice to such heir or other representative to appear and be heard.

No process of execution to be issued three years after date of judgment.

LXXVII. No process of execution of any description whatsoever, shall be issued on a judgment under this Act after the elapse of three years from the date of such judgment.

Warrant against the person.

LXXVIII. If a warrant issue for taking in execution the body of any person, the Nazir of the Court shall cause him to be seized, and unless such person shall immediately deposit with the Officer entrusted with the service of the warrant the full amount specified therein the Nazir shall bring him before the Collector. If such person shall not then deposit in Court the full amount specified in the warrant, or make such arrangement for the payment of the same as shall be satisfactory to the judgment creditor, the Collector shall send him to the Civil Jail there to remain for such time as shall be directed by the warrant unless he shall in the mean time pay the full amount specified therein. Provided that the time for which a debtor may be confined in execution of a decree under this Act shall not exceed three calendar months when the amount decreed exclusive of costs does not exceed fifty Rupees, or six calendar months in any other case.

No person to be imprisoned a second time under same judgment, but his property to be liable to attachment.

LXXIX. Any person once discharged from jail shall not be imprisoned a second time under the same judgment, but such discharge shall not extinguish the liability of such person under the decree, or exempt any property belonging to such person from attachment in execution of the same.

Diet-money to be deposited at the time of issue of warrant.

LXXX. Any person applying for a warrant of arrest under Section XXXI or suing out process of execution against the body of any person shall deposit with the Nazir of the Court, at the time of the issue of the warrant, diet-money for one month of thirty days at such rate as the Collector may direct, not exceeding two annas per diem, unless the Collector for any special reason direct that deposit be made at a higher rate, which shall not exceed four annas per diem.

Payment of diet money in advance during imprisonment.

LXXXI. Payment of diet-money at the same rate shall be made previous to the commencement of each succeeding month of the imprisonment, in failure of which the party confined shall be discharged.

Diet-money to be costs in suit.

LXXXII. All diet-money spent in providing subsistence for any prisoner shall be added to the costs in the suit, and any diet-money not so spent shall be returned to the person who deposited the same.

List of property to be prepared by the Nazir, and proclamation of sale to be published, &c.

LXXXIII. In executing a writ of execution against the moveable property of a debtor liable under this Act, the Nazir shall prepare a list of the property pointed out by the judgment-creditor, and shall publish a proclamation specifying the day upon which the sale is intended to be held together with a copy of the said list at the intended place of sale and at the residence of the debtor. A copy of the said proclamation and list shall be transmitted to the Collector and shall be affixed in his Office.

Custody and sale of moveable property taken in execution.

LXXXIV. No sale of any moveable property taken in execution shall be made until after the end of ten days next following the day on which such property may have been so taken. Until such sale the property shall be deposited by the Nazir in some fit place or it may remain in custody of some fit person approved by the Nazir. The provisions of Sections CXIV to CXVIII, so far as the same are applicable, shall be applied to sales under this Section.

Collector to stay sale of moveable property seized if a third party claim any interest therein.

LXXXV. If before the day fixed for the sale a third party appear before the Collector and by petition supported by his oath or affirmation claim a right or interest in any of the moveable property taken in execution, the Collector may stay the sale of such property.

Collector to adjudicate such claims.

LXXXVI. The Collector shall adjudicate upon such claim and make such order between the claimant and the plaintiff and defendant in the original suit as shall seem fit. In trying such claim the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in this Act so far as they may be applicable.

Claimant failing to establish his right, liable to pay compensation to judgment creditor.

LXXXVII. If the claimant shall fail to establish his right to the property taken in execution, the Collector at the time of disposing of the case may award to the judgment-creditor against such claimant as part of the costs such sum as he may consider sufficient to cover any loss of interest or damage which the judgment-creditor may have sustained by reason of the postponement of the sale of the property.

No appeal from order of Collector under the two last preceding Sections.

LXXXVIII. No appeal shall lie from any order passed by the Collector under the two last preceding Sections. But the party against whom the same may be given shall be at liberty to bring a suit in the Civil Court to establish his right at any time within one year from the date of the order; provided that, if the order be for the sale of the property, the suit shall be for damages against the judgment-creditor by whom the property was brought to sale.

Proviso.

Sale not vitiated by irregularity in publishing or conducting the same.

LXXXIX. No irregularity in publishing or conducting a sale of moveable property under an execution shall vitiate such sale; but this rule shall not be held to deprive any person who may sustain damage by reason of such irregularity from recovering such damage by action in the Civil Court; Provided such action be brought within one year from the date of sale.

Proviso.

Sale of transferable tenures in execution of decrees for arrears of rent.

XC. If the decree be for an arrear of rent due in respect of an under-tenure which by the title-deeds or the custom of the country is transferable by sale, the judgment-creditor may make application for the sale of the tenure, and the tenure may thereupon be brought to sale in execution of the decree, according to the rules for the sale of under-tenures for the recovery of arrears of rent due in respect thereof contained in Act of . But no such application shall be received when a warrant of execution has been previously issued against the person or moveable property of the judgment-debtor, so long as such warrant remains in force. If after sale of an under-tenure any portion of the amount decreed remains due, process may be applied for against any other property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to the debtor.

If third party claim to be the proprietor and lawful possessor of such under-tenure, Collector to stay the sale and to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

XCI. If before the day fixed for the sale of any such under-tenure as aforesaid in execution of a decree for arrears of rent due in respect of such under-tenure, a third party appear before the Collector and on oath or affirmation allege that such third party and not the person against whom the decree has been obtained is the proprietor of such under-tenure and was in lawful possession of the same at the time when such decree was obtained, and shall deposit in Court the amount of the decree or give sufficient security for the same, the Collector shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

Mode of adjudicating such claims.

XCII. In trying such claim the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in this Act, so far as the same may be applicable, and the judgment passed by the Collector on such claim shall be subject to the same rules in respect of appeal as a judgment in a suit instituted under this Act.

Execution of decrees given in favor of sharers in undivided estates or tenures.

XCIII. If a decree is given in favor of a sharer in a joint undivided estate, dependent talook, or other similar tenure for money due to him on account of his share of the rent of an under-tenure situate in such undivided estate or talook or tenure, application for the sale of such under-tenure shall not be received unless execution shall have been first taken out against any moveable property which the judgment debtor may possess within the District in which the suit was instituted and the sale of such property, if any, shall have proved insufficient to satisfy the judgment. In such case such under-tenure, if of the nature described in Section XC, may be brought to sale in execution of the decree in the same manner as any other immoveable property may be sold in execution of a decree for money under the provisions of the two next following Sections.

In all cases of decrees for money, if judgment cannot be satisfied by sale of debtor's moveable property, execution may be had against his immoveable property.

XCIV. In the execution of any decree for the payment of money under this Act not being money due as arrears of rent of a saleable under-tenure, if satisfaction of the judgment cannot be obtained by execution against the person or moveable property of the debtor within the District in which the suit was instituted, the judgment creditor may apply for execution against any immoveable property belonging to such debtor.

Mode of executing process if immoveable property be a house, shop, or other building.

XCV. If the immoveable property against which execution is applied for, be a house, shop, or other building, process shall be issued in the same manner as for the attachment and sale of moveable property, and the provisions of Section LXXXIV shall be applicable to the execution of such process. If the property be a saleable under-tenure it shall be sold under the provisions of Act of applicable to the sale of such under-tenures for demands other than those of arrears of rent due in respect thereof. If the property be an estate or a share of an estate, it shall be sold under the rules in force for the sale of such property for the recovery of demands recoverable by the same process as arrears of land revenue.

If it be a saleable under-tenure.

If it be an estate or a share of an estate.

Consequence of objection being offered before the sale of any immoveable property.

XCVI. If before the day fixed for the sale of any immoveable property as aforesaid, objection shall be offered to the sale on the ground of such property not belonging to the judgment-debtor, and consequently not being liable to be sold in execution of a decree against him, the Collector, if satisfied that there is sufficient ground for so doing, shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the objection, in the same manner, and subject to the same right of appeal as is provided in Section XCII.

Produce of the land to be held hypothecated for the rent.

XCVII. The produce of the land is held to be hypothecated for the rent payable in respect thereof; and when an arrear of rent, as defined in Section XIII of this Act, is due from any cultivator of land, the zemindar, lakherajdar, farmer, dependent talookdar, under-farmer, or other person entitled to receive rent immediately from such cultivator, instead of bringing suit for the arrear as hereinbefore provided, may recover the same by distraint and sale of the produce of the land on account of which the arrear is due under the following rules.

Arrears of rent may be recovered by distraint under the following rules.

XCVIII. Provided always, that when a cultivator has given security for the payment of his rent, the produce of the land occupied by such cultivator shall not be liable to distraint for any arrear of rent that may accrue due in respect of such land.

Cultivators who have given security to be exempt from distraint.

XCIX. After the lapse of one year from the time when this Act comes into operation, distraint shall be lawful only when a kabooliyet has been executed or a decree obtained under Section LXVI in respect of the rent for the recovery of which distraint is made. Distraint shall not be made for any arrear which has been due for a longer period than one year.

No distraint in certain cases.

C. The power of distraint vested by Section XCVII in zemindars and other persons entitled to receive rent from cultivators of land, may be exercised by managers under the Court of Wards, surburakars of estates held under khass management, and other persons lawfully entrusted with the charge of landed property; and also by the naibs, gomashtahs, and other agents employed by any such persons as aforesaid in the collection of rent if expressly authorized by power of attorney in that behalf. Provided that, if any illegal act is committed by any such naib, gomashtah, or other agent in the exercise of said power, the person employing such agent shall be liable, as well as the agent, for any damages accruing by reason of such act.

Power of distraint to be exercised by managers under the Court of Wards, &c.

Proviso.

CI. When standing crops and other ungathered products of the earth are distrained, the distress shall be made at or about the time when such crops or products are ready to be reaped or gathered, and such crops and products may, notwithstanding the distress, be reaped and gathered by the cultivator, and may be stored in such granaries or other places as are commonly used by him for the purpose. If the cultivator neglect to do so, the distrainer may cause the said crops or products to be reaped or gathered, and in such case shall store the same either in such granaries or other places as aforesaid, or in some other convenient place in the neighbourhood. No crops or products other than the produce of the land in respect of which an arrear of rent is due and no other property whatsoever shall be liable to distraint under this Act.

Standing crops, &c., when attached, to be reaped and stored by the cultivator, or, if he neglect to do so, by the distrainer.

CII. Before or at the time when distraint is made under this Act the distrainer shall cause the defaulter to be served with a written demand for the amount of the arrear, together with an account exhibiting the grounds on which the demand is made. The demand and account shall, if practicable, be served personally on the defaulter, or if he abscond or conceal himself so that they cannot be so served, shall be affixed at his usual place of residence in the presence of witnesses, who shall sign a certificate of the notice and account having been so affixed.

Defaulter to be served with a written demand, &c., before or at the time of distraint.

CIII. Unless the amount of the demand is immediately paid or tendered, the distrainer may distrain property as aforesaid of value proportionate to the amount of the arrear with costs of the distress; and shall prepare a list or description of the said property, and deliver a copy of the same to the owner, or if he be absent affix it, to his usual place of residence in the manner provided in the last preceding Section. Except so far as may be necessary for the due preservation of the distrained property the same shall not be removed from the place where the distress is made, but shall there remain in the charge of some person appointed by the distrainer for the purpose.

Distress to be proportionate to the arrear if not paid or tendered.

List of property to be distrained, to be served on owner.

Charge of distrained property.

CIV. Distress shall be made between sun-rise and sun-set; and distrainers are authorized to force open any golah, granary, or other building, and to enter any dwelling-house the door of which may be open, for the purpose of attaching any property as aforesaid which may be lodged therein. If a distrainer shall be opposed, or shall apprehend resistance, or shall desire to force open the door of a dwelling-house for the purpose of attaching property as aforesaid, he shall make application to the Police Darogah, and thereupon the Darogah shall proceed as directed in Section XXVII Regulation XX. 1817.

Time for making distress.

Power of entry.

Distrainer may apply for aid of the Police upon occasion of resistance made or apprehended.

CV. When any person, empowered to distrain property under Section XCVII or Section C, shall employ a servant or other person to make the distress, he shall give to such servant or person a written authority (which may be on plain paper) for the same, and the distress shall be made in the name and on the responsibility of the person giving such authority.

Persons empowered to distrain may give written authority to their servants to do so.

CVI. If at any time after property has been distrained and prior to the day fixed for its being put up to sale as hereinafter provided, the owner of the property shall tender payment of the arrear demanded of him and of the expenses of the distress, the distrainer shall receive the same, and shall forthwith withdraw the distress.

Distress to be withdrawn if defaulter tender payment of arrear and expenses of attachment prior to the day of sale.

CVII. Within five days from the time of making the distress, or if the property distrained consist of standing crops or ungathered products within five days from the storing thereof, the distrainer shall apply for sale of the same to the Civil Court Ameen, or other Officer authorized to sell property in satisfaction of decrees of the Civil Court within the circle in which the distrained property is situate, or to such other public Officer as the Application for sale.

Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, or the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, shall appoint for the purpose.

Form of application.

CVIII. The application shall be in writing and shall contain an inventory or description of the property distrained, the name of the defaulter and his place of residence, the amount due, and the date of the distress, and the place in which the distrained property is deposited. Together with the application the distrainer shall deliver to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer the amount necessary for the service of a notice upon the defaulter as hereinafter provided.

Cost of notice upon defaulter to be deposited by distrainer.

Procedure by Civil Court Ameen, &c., on receipt of application.

CIX. Immediately on receipt of the application the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer shall transmit a copy of it to the Collector; and shall serve a notice (which shall be in the form F contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect) on the person whose property has been distrained, requiring him either to pay the amount demanded, or to institute a suit to contest the demand before the Collector within the period of fifteen days from the receipt of the notice. He shall at the same time put up in the cutcherry of the Moonsiff, or other Court or Office to which he may be attached, and if in the North-Western Provinces in the cutcherry of the Tuhseeldar, a proclamation fixing a day for the sale of the distrained property, which shall not be less than twenty days from the date of the application; and shall deliver a copy of the proclamation to the peon charged with the service of the notice, to be put up by him in the place where the distrained property is deposited. The proclamation shall contain a description of the property, the demand for which it is to be sold, and the place where the sale is to be held.

Ameen to suspend sale on receipt of Collector's certificate of the institution of a suit.

CX. If a suit shall be instituted before the Collector in pursuance of the aforesaid notice, the Collector shall transmit to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, or if so requested shall deliver to the owner of the distrained property, a certificate of the institution of such suit; and on such certificate being received by or presented to the Ameen or other Officer, he shall suspend proceedings in regard to the sale of the distrained property.

Suit to contest distrainer's demand before issue of notice of sale.

CXI. A person whose property has been distrained in the manner hereinbefore provided may institute a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer immediately after the distraint of his property and before the issue of notice of sale. When such suit is instituted the Collector shall proceed in the manner prescribed in the last preceding Section. If thereafter application for the sale of the property is made to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, he shall transmit a copy of the application to the Collector, and suspend further proceedings pending the decision of the case.

Distress to be withdrawn on receipt of Collector's certificate that the owner has executed a bond with security to pay amount of decree with interest and costs.

CXII. The person whose property has been distrained may, at the time of instituting any such suit as aforesaid, or at any subsequent period, execute a bond with security binding himself to pay whatever sum may be adjudged to be due from him with interest and costs of suit, and when such bond is executed the Collector shall give to the owner of the property a certificate to that effect, or if so requested shall serve the distrainer with notice of the same; and the distrainer, upon such certificate being presented to him by the owner of the property or served on him by order of the Collector, shall immediately withdraw the distress.

On expiration of period fixed in the proclamation of sale if institution of suit to contest distrainer's demand have not been certified, sale may be proceeded with.

CXIII. On the expiration of the period fixed in the proclamation of sale, if the institution of a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer has not been certified to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer in the manner hereinbefore provided, he shall, unless the said demand, with costs of the distress at such rate as shall be allowed by him, be discharged in full, proceed to sell the property or such part of it as may be necessary in the manner following.

Place and manner of sale.

CXIV. The sale shall be held at the place where the distrained property is deposited, or at the nearest gunge, bazar, haut, or other place of public resort, if the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer should be of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage. The property shall be sold by public auction in one or more lots as the Officer holding the sale may think advisable, and if the demand with the costs of distress and sale be satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the distress shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

If fair price be not offered, sale may be postponed to another day, and shall be then completed at whatever price may be offered.

CXV. If on the property being put up for sale a fair price in the estimation of the Officer holding the sale be not offered for it and the owner of the property or some person authorized to act on his behalf apply to have the sale postponed until the next day, or the next market day if a market be held at the place of sale, the sale shall be postponed until such day and shall be then completed whatever price may be offered for the property.

Payment of purchase money.

CXVI. The price of every lot shall be paid for in ready money at the time of sale or as soon after as the Officer holding the sale shall think necessary; and in default of such payment the property shall forthwith be put up again and sold. When the purchase-money has been paid in full the Officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and the price paid.

Proceeds of sale.

CXVII. From the proceeds of the sale of distrained property the Officer holding the sale shall make a deduction at the rate of ten per centum on account of the costs of the sale, and shall transmit the amount to the Collector in order that it may be credited to Government. He shall then pay to the distrainer the expenses incurred by the distrainer on account of the distress and of the issue of the notice and proclamation of sale prescribed in Section CIX to such amount as, after examination of the statement of expenses furnished by the distrainer, he shall think proper to allow. The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the arrear for which the distraint was made with interest thereon up to the day of sale, and if there be any overplus it shall be delivered to the person whose property shall have been sold.

Officers holding sales prohibited from purchasing.

CXVIII. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by or subordinate to such Officers, are prohibited from purchasing either directly or indirectly any property sold by such Officers.

All irregularities to be reported to the Collector.

CXIX. Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as aforesaid are required to bring to the notice of Collectors any material irregularities committed by distrainers under color of this Act; and if in any case, on proceeding to hold a sale of property the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer shall find that, through the practices of the distrainer, or from any other cause, the owner of the property has not received due notice of the distress and intended sale, he shall postpone the sale and report the case to the Collector, and the Collector shall direct the issue of another notice and proclamation of sale under Section CIX, or pass such other order as he may think proper.

Officer not to proceed to sale, if he find that defaulter has not received due notice.

Recovery of expenses if Ameen proceeds to place of sale and no sale takes place.

CXX. When a Civil Court Ameen or other Officer has proceeded to any place for the purpose of holding a sale and no sale takes place either for the reason stated in the last preceding Section, or because the demand of the distrainer has been previously satisfied, no intimation of such satisfaction having been given by the distrainer to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, the charge of ten per centum on account of expenses shall be leviable and shall be calculated on the estimated value of the distrained property. If the demand of the distrainer be not satisfied until the day fixed for the sale, the charge for expenses shall be paid by the owner of the property and may be recovered by the sale of such portion thereof as may be necessary. In every other case it shall be paid by the distrainer and may be recovered by warrant under the hand of the Collector. Provided always, that in no case shall a larger amount than ten Rupees be recoverable under this Section.

Proceedings of Civil Court Ameens, &c., subject to revision and orders of Collectors.

CXXI. All proceedings under this Act of the Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as aforesaid shall be subject to the revision and orders of the Collectors, and the Collectors, with the sanction of the Boards of Revenue, may require the submission of such periodical reports and statements of business performed by the Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as may be thought necessary.

Second proclamation of sale.

CXXII. When a suit has been instituted to contest the demand of a distrainer and the property has not been released on security, if the demand or any portion of it shall be adjudged to be due, the Collector shall issue an order to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer authorizing the sale of the property, and on the application of the distrainer, which shall be made within five days from the receipt of such order by the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, such Ameen or Officer shall publish a second proclamation in the manner prescribed in Section CIX, fixing another day for the sale of the distrained property, which shall not be less than five nor more than ten days from the date of the proclamation; and unless the amount adjudged to be due with the costs of distress be paid intermediately, shall proceed to sell the property in the manner hereinbefore provided.

Procedure after institution of suit to contest distrainer's demand.

CXXIII. In all suits instituted to contest the demand of a distrainer, the distrainer shall be required to prove the arrear in the same manner as if he had himself brought suit for the amount under the foregoing provisions of this Act. If the demand or any part thereof is found to be due, the Collector shall make a decree for the amount in favor of the distrainer, and the amount may be recovered by sale of the property as provided in the last preceding Section if the distress has not been withdrawn, and if any balance remain due after such sale by execution of the decree against the person and any other property of the defaulter, or if the property have been released on security by execution of the decree against the person and property of the defaulter and of his surety. If on the other hand the distraint is adjudged to be vexatious or groundless, the Collector, besides directing the release of the distrained property, may award such damages in favor of the plaintiff as the circumstances of the case shall seem to require.

Any person, whose property has been distrained for arrears of rent alleged to be due from another, may institute a suit against the distrainer, &c.

CXXIV. If any person shall claim as his own property which has been distrained for arrears of rent alleged to be due from any other person, such person may institute a suit against the distrainer and such other person, to try the right to the property, in the same manner, and under the same conditions as to the time of instituting the suit and to the consequent postponement of sale, as a person whose property has been distrained for an arrear of rent alleged to be due from him may institute a suit to contest the demand. When any such suit is instituted the property may be released upon security being given for the value of the same. If the claim is dismissed the Collector shall make an order for the sale of the property or the recovery of the value thereof, as the case may be, for the benefit of the distrainer. If the claim is upheld the Collector shall decree the release of the distrained property with costs, and such damages (if any) as the circumstances of the case may seem to require. Provided always that no claim to any produce of land, liable to distraint under this Act, which at the time of the distress may have been found in the possession of a defaulting cultivator, whether such claim be in respect of a previous sale, mortgage, or otherwise, shall bar the prior claim of the person entitled to the rent of the land, nor shall any attachment in execution of a judgment of any Civil Court prevail against such prior claim.

Procedure if distrainer's right to distrain be disputed.

CXXV. If in any case in which property has been distrained for an arrear of rent and a suit has been instituted to contest the demand, the right to distrain for such arrear is claimed by any person other than the distrainer as being in possession of the rent of the land, such other person shall be made a party to the suit and the question of possession shall be put in issue and the right of either party to distrain for rent shall be determined according to the fact of possession. Provided always, that the decision of the Collector shall not affect the right of either party who may have a legal title to the rent of the land, to establish his title by suit in the Civil Court if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

Persons prevented from suing in time to save their property from sale, may sue for damages.

CXXVI. If any person, whose property has been distrained for the recovery of a demand not justly due, or of a demand due or alleged to be due from some other person, is prevented by any sufficient cause from bringing suit to contest the demand or to try the right to the property as the case may be within the period allowed by Sections CIX and CXXIV and his property is in consequence brought to sale, he may nevertheless institute a suit under this Act to recover damages for the illegal distress and sale of his property.

Also persons aggrieved by any illegal act of distrainer.

CXXVII. If any person empowered to distrain property or employed for the purpose under a written authority by a person so empowered, shall distrain or sell, or cause to be sold, any property for the recovery of an arrear of rent alleged to be due, otherwise than according to the provisions of this Act, or if any distrained property shall be lost, damaged, or destroyed by reason of the distrainer not having taken proper precaution for the due keeping and preservation thereof, the owner of the property may institute a suit under this Act to recover damages for any injury which he may have thereby sustained.

Unlawful distraint.

CXXVIII. If any person not empowered to distrain property under Sections XCVII and C of this Act, nor employed for the purpose under a written authority by a person so empowered, shall distrain or sell or cause to be sold any property under color of this Act, the owner of the property may institute a suit under this Act to recover damages from such person for any injury which he may have sustained from the distraint or sale. The said person shall be held to have committed criminal trespass, and shall be subject to the penalties for that offence in addition to any damages which may be awarded against him in such suit.

Time for commencing suits for damages.

CXXIX. Provided always, that any suit which may be instituted under any of the three last preceding Sections shall be commenced within three months from the date of the occurrence of the cause of action.

Resistance of process.

CXXX. If any person shall resist a distraint of property duly made under this Act, or shall forcibly or clandestinely remove any distrained property, the Collector, upon complaint being made within fifteen days from the date of such resistance or removal, shall cause the person accused to be arrested, and if the offence be proved and the offender be the owner of the property, shall order him to be imprisoned in the Civil Jail for six months, or until the whole arrear due to the distrainer with all expenses and costs shall sooner be paid or levied by distress and sale of the property of the offender under warrant of the Collector. If the person convicted of the offence be any other than the owner of the property, he shall make good to the distrainer the value of the same, and shall further be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred Rupees, or in default of payment thereof to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two months.

Service of process.

CXXXI. Every process issued by a Collector under this Act shall be under the seal and signature of the Collector, and shall be served or executed by the Nazir or by an Officer of his establishment at the cost of the party at whose instance it is issued. The amount of such cost, and, in the case of summons to a witness, any sum required for the travelling expenses of such witness, shall be deposited in Court before the process is issued. Provided that if in any case the Collector is satisfied that a party is unable to pay the cost of any necessary process, he may direct such process to be served free of charge.

Service of process to be attested.

CXXXII. Whenever, in accordance with the provisions of this Act any notice, summons, proclamation, or other process is served by affixing a copy thereof to some part of the usual place of abode of the person named in the process, such service shall be attested by the signature of not less than three persons residing in the same neighbourhood, one of whom shall, if practicable, be the village chowkeydar or local Police Officer.

Contempt of Court under Chapter X of the Penal Code.

CXXXIII. When any of the offences described in Chapter X of the Penal Code is committed in contempt of the lawful authority of a Collector or other public servant duly exercised under the provisions of this Act, it shall be competent to the Collector to punish the offender as for a contempt of Court, and to adjudge the punishment authorized by the Clause applicable thereto.

Warrant for apprehension of offender under the last preceding Section.

CXXXIV. In any such case as is referred to in the last preceding Section, if the offender be not present in Court the Collector may summon him to answer to the charge, and if after due service of the summons he fail to attend, may issue a warrant for his apprehension.

Contempt of Court under Chapter XI Clause 39 of the Penal Code.

CXXXV. Whenever any such offence as is described in Clause 39 Chapter XI of the Penal Code is committed in contempt of the lawful authority of a Collector in any stage of a judicial proceeding under this Act, it shall be competent to the Collector to punish the offender as for a contempt of Court and to adjudge the punishment authorized by the said Clause.

Collector competent to hold a Court in any part of his jurisdiction.

Proviso.

CXXXVI. It shall be competent to the Collector to hold a Court for hearing and determining suits under this Act in any place within the limits of his District or local jurisdiction, provided that every hearing and decision shall be in open Court, and that the parties to the suits or their authorized agents shall have had due notice to attend at such place.

Agents or Mookhtars.

CXXXVII. Any person may practice as an agent or mookhtar in a Court held by a Collector under this Act without any formal license from the Collector. But it shall be competent to the Collector to prohibit any person, who has been convicted by a competent Court of a Criminal offence, or who has been found guilty of fraudulent or dishonest conduct in the discharge of his duty as agent or mookhtar, to practise as an agent or mookhtar in his Court. When any charge of fraudulent or dishonest conduct in the discharge of his duty is brought against an agent or mookhtar, the Collector shall proceed in the manner prescribed in Section IV Act XVIII of 1852, and the order passed in the case shall be open to appeal to the superior Revenue authorities.

Powers of Deputy Collectors.

CXXXVIII. All the powers vested in the Collector by the preceding Sections of this Act may be exercised by any Deputy Collector in cases referred to him by a Collector, and in all cases without such reference, by any Deputy Collector having local jurisdiction in any Sub-division of a District.

Collectors and Deputy Collectors to be subject to general direction and control of the Commissioners and the Boards of Revenue.

CXXXIX. In the performance of their duties under this Act the Collectors and Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the general direction and control of the Commissioners and the Boards of Revenue; and the Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the direction and control of the Collectors to whom they are subordinate. Except as otherwise herein provided, all orders passed by a Collector under this Act shall be appealable to the Commissioner; and all orders passed by a Deputy Collector shall be appealable to the Collector; but no judgment or order of a Collector or Deputy Collector in any suit, and no order of a Collector or Deputy Collector in the execution of any decree, under this Act, shall be liable to be reversed or altered unless the same is expressly declared to be open to revision or appeal by the provisions of this Act.

No appeal from orders of Collectors and Deputy Collectors in certain cases.

Appeal from orders of Collectors and Deputy Collectors for contempt of Court

CXL. All orders which may be passed by a Collector under Sections CXXXIII and CXXXV shall be appealable to the Commissioner; and all such orders passed by a Deputy Collector shall be appealable to the Collector. In all such cases the order which may be passed in appeal shall be final and conclusive.

No appeal from any decree for money below fifty Rupees unless the decision involve some question of right to enhance rents or some question relating to a title to land.

CXLI. In suits under Clauses 2, 4, and 7 of Section XVII and under Section XVIII of this Act, if the amount sued for or the value of the property claimed does not exceed fifty Rupees, the judgment of the Officer holding the Court shall be final, and not open to revision or appeal except as hereinafter provided, unless in any such suit a question of right to enhance or otherwise vary the rent of a cultivator or tenant, or any question relating to a title to land, or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, has been determined by the judgment, in which case the judgment shall be open to appeal in the manner provided in Sections CXLIV and CXLV of this Act.

In suits not open to appeal Collector or Deputy Collector may grant a re-hearing upon the discovery of new evidence, &c.

CXLII. In suits in which the judgment of the Officer holding the Court is final as provided in the last preceding Section, the Collector, or, if the case have been decided by a Deputy Collector, the Deputy Collector with the sanction of the Collector, may, upon the application of either party, if preferred within thirty days from the date of the decision, order the re-hearing of a suit, upon the ground of the discovery of a new evidence or matter material to the issue of the case which the applicant had no knowledge of, or could not produce at the time of trial.

In such suits when decided by a Deputy Collector the Collector on application may call for the case and set aside the judgment on the ground of substantial defect of procedure and himself pass orders.

CXLIII. When any such suit as aforesaid is decided by a Deputy Collector, the Collector, on the application of either party, if preferred within thirty days from the date of the decision, may call for the record of the case, and if there have been substantial defect in the procedure or investigation, from which there may be strong probable grounds for presuming a failure of justice, the Collector may set aside the judgment of the Deputy Collector, and make such investigation into the merits of the case and pass such decision thereon as to him may seem fit. But no judgment of a Deputy Collector in any such suit shall be reversed or altered, nor shall a re-hearing be directed, on the ground that the decision of any question of fact is contrary to or not warranted by the evidence duly taken in the case.

In suits other than those under Section CXLI appeal to lie only to Zillah Judge.

CXLIV. In all suits other than those in which the judgment of the Officer holding a Court under this Act is declared to be final by Section CXLI, an appeal from the judgment of such Officer shall be open to the Zillah Judge.

Rules regarding presentation and hearing of appeals.

CXLV. The petition of appeal shall be written on the stamp paper prescribed for appeals to the Zillah Judge from the subordinate Civil Courts with reference to the amount or value of the property involved in the appeal; and the rules in force in regard to the time within which appeals from the decisions of such Courts may be received, and to the manner in which such appeals are heard and determined, and to all proceedings which may be had in respect of such appeals, shall be applicable to appeals under this Act.

Suits to be preferred in the Revenue Office of the District or sub-division in which the greater part of the lands is situate.

CXLVI. Suits under this Act shall be preferred in the Revenue Office of the District or sub-division in which the cause of action shall have arisen. If the lands comprised in any talook, farm or other tenure, or any lands held under one lease or engagement or at one entire rent in respect of which arrears of rent may be due, are situated in more than one District or sub-division, the District or sub-division in which the greater part of such lands is situate shall be held to be the District or sub-division in which the cause of action has arisen; and if any question shall be raised respecting the District or sub division in which the greater part of the lands is situate, the Board of Revenue, or if all the lands be situate in one District the Collector of the District shall decide the question, and such decision shall be conclusive on the point of jurisdiction.

Except as above, Collector not to exercise jurisdiction in respect to lands situate beyond his District.

CXLVII. Except as provided in the last preceding Section no Collector shall exercise any jurisdiction under this Act in respect to any lands situate beyond the limits of the District to which he is appointed, by reason of such lands forming part of an estate the Revenue of which is paid into the Treasury of the said District.

Saving of rights of proprietors in respect of Putnee Talooks, &c. under Regulation VIII of 1819.

CXLVIII. Nothing contained in this Act shall be held to affect the right vested in proprietors of land under direct engagements with Government, of bringing to sale for arrears of rent Putnee Talooks and other similar tenures under the Provisions of Regulation VIII. 1819.

Commencement of Act.

CXLIX. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the day of

Interpretation.

CL. The word "Collector" as used in this Act shall include any Deputy Collector or other Officer vested with the full powers of a Collector and placed in independent charge of a District. The words "Civil Jail" shall include the Civil Jail of the Zillah and any place appointed by the Executive Government for the confinement of prisoners by any Court constituted under this Act. W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 14th November 1857.

THE following Bill, as amended by the Select Committee to whom it was referred, is hereby published for general information :—

A Bill to make further provision relating to Foreigners.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision to enable the several Governments of the British Territories in India to prevent the subjects of Foreign States from residing or sojourning therein, or from passing through or travelling in the same, without the consent of the said Governments; It is enacted as follows :—

Foreigner to report his arrival in India

I. Every Foreigner shall, on his arrival in any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company from any Port or place not within the said Territories, or from any Port or place not subject to the provisions of this Act, forthwith report himself to the Commissioner of Police, if he shall arrive at any of the Presidency Towns; or, if he shall arrive at any other place, to the Magistrate or to such other Officer as shall be appointed to receive such reports by the Governor General in Council, or (in places within their respective jurisdictions) by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall extend to any Foreigner being the Master or Commander of a ship or vessel, or employed therein.

Proviso.

What to be stated in the report.

II. The report shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the person reporting himself, and shall specify his name or names, the nation to which he belongs, the place from which he shall have come, the place or places of his destination, the object of his pursuit, and the date of his arrival in the said Territories; and the report shall be recorded by the Officer to whom it is made.

Foreigners employed in a ship or vessel to report themselves when they cease to be so employed.

III. If any person included in the proviso to Section I shall remain in any part of the said Territories after he shall have ceased to be employed in a ship or vessel, he shall forthwith report himself in manner aforesaid.

Foreigners neglecting to report themselves to be dealt with in like manner as Foreigners travelling without a license.

IV. If any Foreigner shall neglect to report himself as required by this Act, he may be dealt with in the manner hereinafter provided in respect of Foreigners travelling without a license.

Foreigner not to travel in India without a license.

V. No Foreigner shall travel in or pass through any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company without a license.

License by whom to be granted.

VI. Licenses under this Act may be granted by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, or by the Chief Secretary to the Governments of Fort St. George and Bombay respectively, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjaub, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioner of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively, or by such other Officers as shall be specially authorized so to do by the Governor General of India in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners aforesaid.

What to be stated in license.

VII. Every such license shall state the name or names of the person to whom the license is granted, the nation to which he belongs, the district or districts through which he is authorized to pass, or the limits within which he is authorized to travel.

License may be granted subject to conditions and may be revoked.

VIII. The license may be granted subject to such conditions (if any) as the Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or (as regards their several jurisdictions) any of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners may by any general order direct, or as the Officer granting the license may deem necessary; and the license may be revoked at any time by the Governor General in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Officer granting the same.

Foreigner travelling without or contrary to the conditions of license may be apprehended.

IX. If any Foreigner travel in or attempt to pass through any part of the said Territories without such license as aforesaid, or beyond the districts or limits mentioned therein, or after such license shall have been revoked, or shall violate any of the conditions therein specified, he may be apprehended without warrant by a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or by any European Commissioned Officer in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or by a Member of a Volunteer Corps enrolled by authority of Government whilst on duty, or by any Police Officer.

Procedure upon apprehension by persons not being Magistrates or Police Officers.

X. If any person be apprehended by a person not being a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or a Police Officer, he shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police Officer, and carried before a Magistrate, who shall forthwith report the case to the Government to which he is subject, and shall cause the person brought before him to be discharged or to be conveyed to one of the Presidency Towns, or to be detained pending the orders of such Government.

Persons apprehended may be admitted to bail.

XI. All persons apprehended or detained under the above-mentioned provisions of this Act, may be admitted to bail by a Magistrate, or by any of the Officers authorized to grant licenses, and shall be put to as little inconvenience as possible during their detention in custody.

Removal of persons apprehended.

XII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, may order such person to remove himself from the said Territories by sea or by such other route as the Government may direct, or the Government may cause him to be removed from the said Territories by such route and in such manner as to the Government shall seem fit.

Government may order any Foreigner to remove himself.

XIII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by writing order any Foreigner within his jurisdiction to remove himself from the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, or to remove himself therefrom by a particular route to be specified in the order.

Foreigner refusing to remove or returning without license after removal may be apprehended and detained.

XIV. If any Foreigner ordered to remove himself from the said Territories, or ordered to remove himself therefrom by any particular route, shall neglect or refuse so to do; or if any Foreigner, having removed himself from the said Territories in consequence of an order issued under any of the provisions of this Act, or having been removed from the said Territories under any of the said provisions, shall wilfully return to the said Territories without a license in writing granted by the Governor General of India in Council or by the Officer under whose order he shall have removed himself or been removed—such Foreigner may be apprehended and detained in safe custody, until he shall be discharged therefrom by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Executive Government, or of one of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act within whose jurisdiction he shall be so apprehended or detained, upon such terms and conditions as the said Governor General in Council, Executive Government, Chief Commissioner or Commissioner shall deem sufficient for the peace and security of the British Territories, and of the allies of Her Majesty and of the East India Company, and of the neighbouring Princes and States.

Government may prohibit persons, not being natural-born subjects, from travelling or passing through any part of India without a license.

XV. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act may by order prohibit any person or persons, or any class or classes of persons, not being a natural-born subject or subjects of Her Majesty, from residing or travelling in or passing through any part of the said Territories, or from passing from any part of India to another, without a license to be granted by such Officer or Officers as shall be specified in the order; and if such person shall wilfully disobey such order, he may be apprehended without warrant by any of the Officers specified in Section IX of this Act, and carried before a Magistrate and dealt with under the provisions of the said Section in the same manner as if he were a Foreigner; and the Government may order such person to be detained in safe custody, or under the surveillance of the Police, so long as it may be deemed necessary for the peace and security of the British Territories.

Police Officer may board ship to ascertain whether Foreigners are on board.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Police, or for a Magistrate or his Assistant, or for any Officer appointed to receive reports as mentioned in the first Section of this Act, or for any Police Officer under the authority of such Commissioner or Magistrate, to enter any ship or vessel in any Port or place within the Territories in the possession and under the control of the East India Company, in order to ascertain whether any Foreigner bound to report his arrival under Section I of this Act is on board of such ship or vessel; and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, to adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary for that purpose; and the Master or Commander of such ship or vessel shall also, before any of the passengers are allowed to disembark, if he shall be required so to do by such Commissioner of Police or other Officer as aforesaid, deliver to him a list in writing of the passengers on board, specifying the Ports or places at which they embarked, and the Ports or places of their disembarkation or intended disembarkation, and answer, to the best of his knowledge, all such questions touching the passengers on board the said ship or vessel, or touching those who may have disembarked in any part of India, as shall be put to him by the Commissioner of Police or other Officer as aforesaid. If any Foreigner on board such ship or vessel in any part of India shall refuse to give any account of his objects of pursuit in India, or if his account thereof shall not be satisfactory, the Officer may refuse to allow him to disembark, or he may be dealt with in the same manner as a Foreigner travelling in India without a license.

Master of ship to furnish list of passengers.

XVII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any of the powers vested in him by this Act, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or to both.

Obstructing Officers.

XVIII. If the Master or Commander of any ship or vessel shall wilfully neglect or refuse to comply with the requisitions of this Act, he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two thousand Rupees.

Penalty if Master neglects to report.

XIX. Whoever shall wilfully give a false answer to any question which by this Act he is bound to answer, or shall make any false report, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees.

False answer.

XX. The word "Foreigner" in this Act shall be deemed to mean a person not being a natural-born subject of Her Majesty, or a native of a place in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company. The word "Magistrate" shall include every person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, and Justice of the Peace.

Interpretation.

XXI. If a question shall arise whether any person alleged to be a Foreigner and to be subject to the provisions of this Act is a Foreigner or not, or is or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, the onus of proving that such person is not a Foreigner or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, shall lie upon such person.

Proof of being a Foreigner.

XXII. This Act shall continue in force for two years; and it shall not extend to the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the Territory of Aden, unless the same shall be specially declared applicable to such Settlement or Territory by the Governor General of India in Council.

Operation of Act.

XXIII. The foregoing provisions of this Act shall not extend to any Foreign Minister duly accredited by his Government, nor to any Consul or Vice-Consul, nor to any person under the age of fourteen years, nor to any person in the service of the British Government. The Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may exempt any person, or any class of persons, either temporarily or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Act.

Exceptions.

XXIV. Any Officer of Government or other person, who, prior to the passing of this Act, may have done any thing which would have been justified by this Act, if it had been in force at the time, is hereby indemnified for so doing; and no action or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted in respect of any thing so done.

Indemnity.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

THE following Bill was read a first and second time in the Legislative Council on the 14th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee, who will report thereon on the 21st November 1857:—

A Bill to amend the Articles of War for the Native Army.

WHEREAS it is expedient that, on every conviction of Mutiny or Desertion, Government should have power to order the offenders to be marked; It is enacted as follows:—

I. Whenever any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army shall be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, it shall be lawful for the Governor General in Council, or for the Executive Government of the Presidency in which the offender shall have been tried, to order him to be marked on the left side two inches below the armpit with the letter M in the case of a conviction of Mutiny, and with the letter D in the case of a conviction of Desertion, together with such other mark as the Government may consider necessary for the purpose of identifying the offender at any future time, or of denoting the punishment to which he has been sentenced. The letter shall not be less than an inch long, and such letter and other mark shall be made upon the skin with some ink, gunpowder, or other preparation, so as to be visible and conspicuous and not liable to be obliterated.

Marking of Mutineers and Deserters.

II. Any sentence or order, by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may upon conviction of Mutiny or Desertion have been ordered to be marked, shall be deemed valid.

Past sentences and orders to be deemed valid.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Notifications, Appointments, &c.

Fort William, Home Department,

The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to promote Mr. H. Brooking to the Grade of First Class Deputy Superintendent of Electric Telegraph.

The 18th November 1857.

Messrs. F. J. Alexander and J. S. Drummond, appointed by the Hon'ble the Court of Directors Members of the Civil Service on the Bengal Establishment, reported their arrival at the Presidency, on the 11th instant, by the Steam-ship Nubia.

Captain H. Yule, of the Engineers, Officiating Secretary to the Government of India in the Public Works Department, is appointed to be a Member of the Senate of the University of Calcutta.

The 19th November 1857.

The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to re-attach to the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and Oude, Mr. R. H. Davies, of the Civil Service, who reported his return from Furlough on the 16th instant.

The 20th November 1857.

The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following Extract from the proceedings in the Financial Department, dated the 13th November 1857, for general information :—

"Read an Extract from the Proceedings of this Government in the Home Department, No. 2321, dated the 9th instant, forwarding for consideration copy of a Despatch from the Hon'ble Court, together with a Memorandum by the Secretary in that Department, on the subject of granting assistance to sufferers in consequence of the Mutinies.

"Resolution.—The Hon'ble Court, in their Public Despatch, No. 118 of 1857, dated the 26th August, having expressed an anxious desire, that every measure of succour within the power of the Government should be promptly afforded to the survivors of those who have suffered from the loss of relations and property during the recent disturbances, especially to the widows and orphans of Civil and Military Officers who have fallen victims to the outbreak, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council considers that the different ways in which aid may be suitably afforded by the Government are as follows :—

"1*st.*—By grants of money to European and Native Civil and Military Officers of the Government, who have lost the whole or a large portion of their property by the Mutinies.

"2*ndly.*—By Pensions to the families of Uncovenanted Officers of the Government, who have been killed in the Mutinies, and have not left means either in property, or in claims on any Insurance or Charitable Fund.

"3*rdly.*—By the grant of relief to the Bengal Military Fund, to enable it to meet the liabilities thrown upon it in consequence of the Mutinies

"4*thly.*—By grants of money to Europeans and others not in the Service of the Government.

"5*thly.*—By Pensions to the destitute families of Europeans killed in the Mutinies.

"6*thly.*—By free passages on board Government Steamers.

"2. With regard to grants of money to European and Native Officers of Government, His Lordship in Council is of opinion that the following principle should be observed :—

"1*st.*—That grants of Military Officers should be adjusted according to the scale allowed under the Pay and Audit Regulations to Officers of Artillery and Infantry, as compensation for the loss of Baggage and Camp Equipage when on duty in the Field, viz. :

"To a Colonel	Rs.	3,980	0	0
„ Major	„	2,813	0	0
„ Subaltern	„	1,450	0	0
„ Deputy and Assistant Commissary	„	1,450	0	0
„ Conductors, Apothecaries, and Stewards...	„	920	15	0
„ Assistant Apothecaries and Stewards ...	„	606	14	1

"To Native Officers, one month's pay and full batta.

"2*nd.*—That grants to Covenanted Civil Officers should be regulated in the same scale according to their relative rank.

"3*rd.*—That grants to Uncovenanted Civil Officers should be awarded according to the under-mentioned scale :

	Rs.
If on Salaries of Rs. 500 a month or upwards ..	2,000
If on Salaries of Rs. 250 a month or upwards ..	1,000
If on Salaries of Rs. 100 a month or upwards ..	500
If on Salaries of Rs. 50 a month or upwards ..	200
If on Salaries of Rs. 25 a month or upwards ..	100
If on Salaries in excess of 10 Rs. a month ..	50

"It being understood in every case, whatever the amount of the Officer's Salary, that no donation or pension shall be sanctioned, until it be ascertained that the applicant (whether European, East Indian or Native) has in no way been concerned in the Mutinies.

"3. In every case also, a declaration on honor should be required from the Officer concerned, to the effect that he has lost property to the full value of the sum awardable to him.

"4. Claims to grants under this head should be preferred by Civil Officers and Military Officers in Civil employ to the Authority of the District in which the loss occurred, and submitted by him, after such enquiry, and with such remarks, as he may think necessary, to the Commissioner of the Division, who should be authorized to admit or reject the claim, subject, in the case of rejection, to an appeal to the Local Government, whose decision should be final.

"5. Claims to grants under this head by Military Officers on Regimental or Staff duty should be made to their Commanding Officer, or the Head of their Department, who, after such enquiry as he may think necessary, may admit or reject the claim, subject, in the case of rejection, to an appeal to this Government.

"6. No grant under this head will be made to the estate or family of a deceased Officer, the object being to enable Officers to supply themselves with necessary equipment without incurring debt, and no grant will be made to any Officer whose loss may seem to have occurred through any fault or neglect of his own.

"7. With respect to the Pensions to be granted to the destitute widows and children of Uncovenanted Officers who have lost their lives in consequence of the Mutinies, His Lordship in Council observes, that no fixed Rule exists for the determination of the amount of Pensions provided for their families by the Subscribers to the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund; but that the Subscriptions to the Fund appear to be for the most part in proportion to the Salaries of the several Members, and His Lordship in Council is of opinion, that it will be equitable, in granting Pensions in the cases under consideration, to divide the applicants into classes with reference to the Salaries drawn by the deceased Officers, in somewhat the same manner as is proposed for the regulation of donations to Officers who have lost property, and to award Pensions equal to the average amount of Pensions subscribed for by Members of the Fund of each Class.

"8. The Classes will be as follows:—

"1.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing Salaries of 500 Rupees a month and upwards.

"2.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing Salaries of 300 Rupees a month and less than 500 Rupees.

"3.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing 200 Rupees a month and less than 300 Rupees.

"4.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing 100 Rupees a month and less than 200 Rupees.

"5.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing 50 Rupees a month and less than 100 Rupees.

"9. Cases in which the deceased men were drawing less than 50 Rupees a month, will be decided with reference to the peculiar circumstances of each, on the understanding that, as a general rule, Pensions to widows shall not be granted in excess of one-fifth of the pay of the deceased Officers, or to children, in excess of one-fourth of the Pensions of the widows.

"10. In all cases, the Pensions of widows shall cease on re-marriage; those of sons on their attaining the age of 18 years, and those of daughters on marriage.

"11. In exceptional cases, Pensions will be allowed to other female relatives.

"12. All applications for such Pensions must be submitted in the usual manner through the local Civil Authorities.

"13. As regards the grant of relief to the Military Fund, the Governor General in Council considers that it will be more advisable to undertake the annual payment of the Pensions of those who have become entitled to them, than to make over to the Fund a sum equal to the present value of those Pensions.

"14. With reference to grants of money to Europeans not in the Service of the Government, His Lordship in Council considers that such grants should be given on the same principle as those allowed to the European and Native Officers of the Government; that is to say, to those who have lost all, or nearly all, their property in consequence of the Mutinies, and who have not the means of setting themselves up again either in business or otherwise.

"15. Similar grants will be made to those persons, not being Europeans, who may be certified, by any Officer authorized by Government to give the Certificate, to have sustained damage in consequence of, or whilst rendering active assistance to the Government.

"16. In no case should a grant under this head exceed Rupees 2,000, the maximum allowed to Uncovenanted Officers, and the amount should be regulated according to the circumstances of each case.

"17. Applications for grants under this head should be made to the local Civil Officers, and submitted by them to the Commissioners of Divisions, after such enquiry, and with such remarks, as may be deemed necessary. The Commissioners will submit a general statement of such claims for the final decision of the Local Government.

"18. Pensions to the destitute families of Europeans not in the Service of Government killed in the Mutinies will be granted on the same terms as to the families of Uncovenanted Civil Servants of the Government, regard being had to the circumstances of life in each case, and special consideration being shown for the families of those who may have died in the temporary service of the State.

"19. Free passages in Government and private Steamers have been granted already to all women and children proceeding from the Stations up the country to Bengal. A similar indulgence will be allowed to such persons returning to their homes, when the prohibition against residence in the disturbed Districts is removed.

"20. This indulgence, however, will be restricted to passages on board Government Steamers, or in private Steamers taken up by the Government for the conveyance of Stores, on the understanding that it will not be allowed to interfere with the conveyance of Troops or of persons proceeding up the country on the Public Service."

The 17th November 1857.

Notification.

The 19th October 1857.

With the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, it is hereby declared that the Port of Maulmain and the Navigable River and Channel leading to that Port, are subject to Act XXII. of 1855.

The limits of the said Port of Maulmain are as follows :—

To the North, a line drawn across the Salween River from the Great Martaban Pagoda to the Boundary Pillar, at the junction of the Attaran and Salween Rivers.

To the South, a line drawn from the Boundary Pillar at the mouth of the Kyouktan Creek to the Boundary Pillar on the Island of Beeloogyoon, immediately opposite. So much of the Martaban branch of the Salween River as lies to the East of a line drawn from the Great Martaban Pagoda to the Boundary Pillar, on the North-East corner of the Island of Beeloogyoon.

The limits of the said Port include to the East and West so much of the River Salween, and of the shores thereof, as are within fifty yards of high water-mark spring tides

The limits of the Navigable River and Channels leading to the said Port of Maulmain, made subject to the said Act, are as follows :—

To the North, the Port of Maulmain as above defined.

To the South, a line drawn from Double Island to the Western shore of Beloogyoon

Port Rules.

With the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, the following Port Rules have been made, and are hereby promulgated for general information and guidance : –

Rule 1. No Vessel if above 200 Tons shall enter within the limits of the Port of Maulmain, or move from one place to another within the Port, between sun-set and sun-rise, without the special permission of the Master Attendant ; and the Commanders of all Vessels arriving at the Port of Maulmain are desired to enter correctly in the columns of the Report Book of the Master Attendant, as soon as presented to them, the information therein required regarding their Vessels. They will also report in writing to the Master Attendant, forty-eight hours before their departure, the particulars noted in the form appended hereto.

Rule 2. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall be bound to take up such berth as may be appointed for them by the Master Attendant, and shall change their berths or remain when required by such authority.

Rule 3. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall, on the requisition of the Master Attendant, rig in their jib and driver booms, and shall strike their yards and masts if required so to do by that Officer.

RULE 4. Every Ship or Vessel within the Port of Maulmain shall remove any anchor or spar or other substance projecting from her side when required to do so by the Master Attendant.

RULE 5. Vessels taking in or discharging ballast or any particular kind of cargo within the Port of Maulmain shall be bound to take up such berths as the Master Attendant may direct.

RULE 6. A free Channel of 240 yards wide is to be kept for Ships moving up or down the River within the Port and also free passages to Piers, Jetties, Landing Places, Wharves, Quays, Docks and Moorings, and all Vessels shall be bound to move when required to clear such Channels or passages.

RULE 7. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall anchor, moor and unmoor when and where required by the Master Attendant.

RULE 8. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall be moored or warped from place to place as required by the Master Attendant, and no Vessel shall cast off a warp that has been made fast to her to assist a Vessel in mooring without being required so to do by the Pilot or Officer in charge of the Vessel mooring.

RULE 9. No Vessel shall use any of the Government Chain Moorings, whether fixed or swinging, without permission of the Master Attendant.

RULE 10. All Vessels occupying Government Moorings, fixed or swinging, shall be liable to pay for the same according to the following scale, but no more :—

On the Bhaugiruttee River,
The 14th November 1857.

* Least depth measured over the shoal, but in the centre channel not less than 25 feet; shoal at Bampore, but very strong current running.

Shoals at Futtaypore and Giriah; in the latter place the channel is continually shifting, and there is a strong current running; all the rest of the water to Jungypore very good. Shoals at Rajarampore and Pangaparrah; rest good. At Ahmanoegunge, just above Berhampore, there is a very bad shoal, but now getting better. Below Berhampore there are shoals—Khoderpore, Mowlah, Modoohaldar Nugur, Beloopaurrah, and Belpookurroah—rest all good.

† Closed.

‡ The Matabangah is closing up. The stream at the entrance is weak, and the water does not come in freely. Below the Pangassy, the River is very bad, as three-fourths of the stream flows down the Pangassy. There are numerous shoals to Kishengunge; below that the river is better, being somewhat affected by the tides.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 14th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 31st October 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 18th of January next :—

A Bill to amend the Law relating to the recovery of Rent in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to re-enact with certain modifications the provisions of the existing law relative to the rights of ryots with respect to the delivery of pottahs and the occupancy of land, to the prevention of illegal exaction and extortion in connection with demands of rent, and to other questions connected with the same; to extend the jurisdiction of Collectors, and to prescribe rules for the trial of such questions, as well as of suits for the recovery of arrears of rent, and of suits arising out of the distraint of property for such arrears; and to amend the law relating to distraint: It is enacted as follows :—

Laws repealed.

I. The following Regulations and Acts, and portions of Regulations and Acts, are hereby repealed, except in so far as they repeal any other Regulation or Act, and except as to proceedings commenced before the date of this Act coming into force, namely,

Regulation XVII. 1793.

So much of Regulation IV 1794 as is still in force.

Regulation XXXV. 1793.

Regulation XLV. 1793.

Sections IX and X Regulation LI. 1795.

Sections I to XX of Regulation VII. 1799.

Sections I to XX of Regulation V. 1800.

Regulation XXVIII. 1803.

Sections IX and X Regulation XXX. 1803.

Section IV of Regulation II. 1805.

Section XIX of Regulation VIII. 1805.

Sections V to XXIII of Regulation V. 1812.

Sections XV and XVI of Regulation XIX. 1817.

Sections XVIII and XIX of Regulation VIII 1819.

Section IV of Regulation II. 1821.

Section XXII, and so much of Section XX and the following Sections of Regulation VII. 1822 as apply to suits for rent, to complaints of excessive demand or undue exaction of rent or of the non-delivery of pottahs or receipts, to suits against agents for money or accounts, or to any other suits or complaints arising out of disputes between landholders or farmers and their under-tenants respecting the rent and occupancy of land.

Regulation XIV. 1824

Regulation VIII. 1831.

Act I of 1839.

Act X of 1846, and

Act VIII of 1848.

Sections XIV and XV Regulation IX. 1833, so far as the same are applicable to the Territories under the Government of the Deputy Governor of Bengal, are also repealed.

Such parts of Regulation VIII. 1793, and Regulation XXX 1805, as relate to the adjudication of penalties for the refusal of pottahs and receipts for rent and for the exaction of any sums as abwab or in excess of the amount specified in any engagements for the payment of rent, are declared subject to the following modifications.

Person liable to pay rent is entitled to a pottah.

II. Every ryot and cultivator of land is entitled to receive from the person to whom the rent of the land held or cultivated by him is payable a pottah specifying the annual amount of such rent, and the instalments in which it is to be paid, or, in cases in which the rent is payable in kind, the proportion of the produce to be delivered.

Pottahs of hereditary ryots and of other cultivators.

III. Hereditary ryots holding lands at fixed rates of rent are entitled to receive pottahs at those rates. All other ryots and cultivators of land are entitled to receive pottahs according to the rates of rent for the time being established in the Pergunnah in which the land is situate, for land of the same description and quality, or if there be no known and recognized Pergunnah rates, according to the customary rates payable for land of a similar description in the places adjacent. The above rules are applicable not only to the first grant of pottahs, but also to the renewal (where right of renewal exists) of pottahs which may expire or which may become cancelled in consequence of the sale of the tenure or estate in which the land is situate for arrears of rent or revenue

Right of occupancy of resident ryot or cultivator.

IV. Every resident ryot and cultivator has a right of occupancy in the land held or cultivated by him, whether it be held under pottah or not, so long as he pays the rent payable on account of the same; but this rule does not apply to khomar neejote or seer land belonging to the proprietor of the estate or tenure and leased for a term or year by year to a resident cultivator, nor (as respects the actual cultivator) to land sublet to a resident cultivator by a ryot having a right of occupancy.

Saving of terms of written contracts.

V. Nothing contained in either of the two last preceding Sections shall be held to affect the terms of any written contract for the payment of specific rates of rent, nor of any contract entered into between a landholder and a resident ryot or cultivator for the clearing and cultivation of waste land, or for the cultivation of land not previously in the occupation of such ryot or cultivator, when by such contract conditions of occupancy have been agreed on between the parties, or right of re-entry has been expressly reserved to the landholder. Resident ryots cultivating land not previously in their occupancy without a pottah or other instrument in writing from the proprietor of the estate or tenure in which the land is situate, shall not acquire a right of occupancy in such land until rent shall have been paid by them for the same to the said proprietor for a period of three years.

Person granting pottah entitled to a counterpart engagement.

VI. Every person who grants a pottah is entitled to receive from the person to whom the pottah is granted a kubooliyet or counterpart engagement in conformity with the terms of the pottah. The tender of a pottah to any ryot or cultivator at the rate of rent which such ryot or cultivator is liable to pay shall be held to entitle the person to whom the rent is payable to receive a kubooliyet from such ryot or cultivator.

Exactions in excess of rent or receipt withheld.

VII. Every under-tenant, ryot or cultivator, from whom any sum is exacted in excess of the rent specified in his pottah, whether as abwab or under any other pretext, and every under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator from whom a receipt is withheld for any sum of money paid by him as rent, shall be entitled to recover from the person receiving such rent double the amount so exacted, or paid. Receipts for rent shall specify the periods on account of which the rent is acknowledged to have been paid; and any refusal to make such specification shall be held to be a withholding of a receipt.

Form of receipt

Landholder not to compel the attendance of tenant for adjustment of rent or for any other purpose.

VIII. The power heretofore vested in Zemindars and other landholders of compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rents or for any other purpose is withdrawn, and all such persons are prohibited from adopting any measures for enforcing payment of the rents due to them other than are authorized by the provisions of this Act. But nothing in this Act shall be held to restrict the right of landholders to measure any land in respect of which rent is paid to them, provided that such measurement is not at variance with the conditions under which the land is held by the persons by whom such rent is paid.

Payment of rent to be enforced under this Act.

Right to measure land reserved.

Damages for extorting payment of rent by duress.

IX. If payment of rent, whether the same be legally due or not, is extorted from any under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator, by illegal confinement or other duress, such under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator shall be entitled to recover three times the amount so extorted, in addition to any penalty to which the person practising such extortion may be subject by law.

Enhancement of rent of cultivator, &c., holding without or after expiry, &c., of written engagement.

X. No under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator who holds or cultivates land without any written engagement, or under a written engagement not specifying the period of such engagement, or whose engagement has expired, or has become cancelled in consequence of the sale for arrears of rent or revenue of the tenure or estate in which the land held or cultivated by him is situate, and has not been renewed, shall be liable to pay any higher rent for such land than the rent payable for the previous year, unless a written notice shall have been served on such under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator in or before the month of Jeyte, specifying the rent to which he will be subject for the ensuing Fuslee or for the current Bengal year. Such notice shall be served by order of the Collector on the application (which may be on plain paper) of the person to whom the rent is payable, and shall, if practicable, be served personally on the under tenant, ryot, or cultivator; but if he shall abscond or conceal himself, so that it cannot be served personally upon him, it shall be affixed at his usual place of residence, or if he have no such place of residence in the District in which the land is situate. The mode of service of such notice shall be by affixing it at the Mal Cutcherry of such land or other conspicuous place thereon, or at the Village Chowree or Chowpal or some other conspicuous place in the village.

Mode of contesting enhancement of rent.

XI. Any under-tenant, ryot, or cultivator, on whom such notice as aforesaid has been served, may contest his liability to pay the enhanced rent demanded of him, either by complaint of excessive demand of rent as hereinafter provided, or in answer to any suit preferred against him for recovery of arrears of the enhanced rent. No ryot or cultivator shall, under any circumstances, be liable to any enhancement of rent in excess of the rates specified in Section III of this Act.

Relinquishment of land by ryot or cultivator after notice given.

XII. Any ryot or cultivator, who desires to relinquish the lands held or cultivated by him, shall be at liberty to do so, provided he gives notice of his intention in writing to the person entitled to the rent of the lands in or before the month of Jeyte of the Bengal year in which, or of the Fusly year preceding which, the relinquishment is to have effect. If he fail to give such notice, and the lands are not let to any other person, he shall continue liable for the rent of the lands. If the person entitled to the rent of the land refuse to receive any such notice and to sign a receipt for the same, it shall be served upon him by the Collector on application for such service being made by the ryot or cultivator within the time above-mentioned.

What to be deemed an arrear of rent under this Act.

XIII. Any instalment of rent, which is not paid on or before the day when the same is payable according to the pottah or engagement, or, if there be no written specification of the time of payment, at or before the time when such instalment is payable according to established usage, shall be held to be an arrear of rent under this Act.

Liability of ryot or cultivator to be ejected for arrear due.

XIV. When an arrear of rent remains due from any ryot or cultivator of land at the end of the Bengal or Fusly year as the case may be, such ryot or cultivator shall be liable to be ejected from the land in respect of which the arrear is due; and the person to whom the rent is payable shall be at liberty to make such new arrangement as he may judge proper for the management of the land in question.

Liability of farmer to have his lease cancelled for arrear adjudged due.

XV. When an arrear of rent shall be adjudged to be due from any farmer or other leaseholder, not being an actual cultivator, nor having a right of occupancy or a transferable interest in the land, the lease held by such farmer or leaseholder shall be liable to be cancelled.

No ryot or cultivator to be ejected, and no lease to be cancelled, unless in execution of decree under this Act.

XVI. Provided always, that no ryot or cultivator shall be ejected from the land held or cultivated by him on account of an arrear of rent remaining due at the end of the year, and no lease shall be cancelled on account of an arrear of rent, otherwise than in execution of a decree or order under the provisions of this Act.

Cognizance of suits under this Act.

XVII. 1.—All suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets, or for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered;

2.—All suits for damages on account of the illegal exaction of rent, or of any unauthorized cess or impost, or on account of the refusal of receipts for rent paid, or on account of the extortion of rent by confinement or other duress;

3.—All complaints of excessive demand of rent, and all claims to remission of rent on account of diluvion or other cause;

4.—All suits for arrears of rent due, whether on account of land either kherajee or lakheraj, or of any rights of pasturage, forest-rights, fisheries, or the like;

5.—All suits to eject any ryot or cultivator, or to cancel any lease on account of the non-payment of arrears of rent, or on account of a breach of the conditions of any contract by which a ryot or cultivator may be liable to ejectment or a lease may be liable to cancelled;

6.—All suits to recover the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, from which a ryot or cultivator, farmer or tenant, has been illegally ejected by the person entitled to receive rent for the same;

7.—All suits arising out of the exercise of the power of distraint conferred on Zemindars and others by Sections XCVII and C of this Act, or out of any acts done under color of the exercise of the said power, as hereinafter particularly provided;

shall be cognizable by the Collectors of land revenue, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act, and shall not be cognizable in any other Court, or by any other Officer, or in any other manner.

Suits by Zemindars against their agents for money or accounts.

XVIII. Suits by Zemindars and others in receipt of the rent of land, against any agents employed by them in the management of land or collection of rents, for money received or accounts kept by such agents, or for papers in their possession, shall be cognizable by the Collectors, and shall be instituted and tried under the provisions of this Act.

Ejectment of cultivators, farmers, &c., by Zemindars.

XIX. If any Zemindar or other person in receipt of the rent of land requires assistance to eject any cultivator not having a right of occupancy, or to eject any farmer or other tenant holding only for a limited period after the determination of his lease or tenancy, or any agent after the determination of his agency, or to enforce any attachment or ejectment expressly authorized by any Regulation or Act, he shall make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall proceed thereupon to enquire into the case and pass orders in the manner provided for suits under this Act. Provided that no such application for the ejectment of a farmer on the determination of a lease shall be received if the lease be of the kind denominated ticca zur-i-peshgee or the like, in which an advance has been made by the leaseholder, and the proprietor's right of re-entry at the end of the term is contingent on the re-payment of such advance either in money or by the usufruct of the land. In all such cases the parties must proceed by suit in the Civil Court

Measurement of lands.

XX. If the proprietor of an estate or tenure intending to measure any lands which he has a right to measure is opposed in making such measurement by the occupant of the land, or if any ryot or cultivator, having received notice of the intended measurement of land held or cultivated by him which is liable to such measurement, refuses to attend and point out such land, the proprietor of the estate or tenure may make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall thereupon proceed to enquire into the case in the manner provided for suits under this Act, and shall pass an order either allowing or disallowing the measurement, and if the case so require, enjoining or excusing the attendance of any such ryot or cultivator.

Applications to dispossess grantees of land exempt from revenue.

XXI. So much of Section X Regulation XIX. 1793, as authorizes and requires proprietors and farmers of estates and dependent talooks, in cases in which grants for holding land exempt from the payment of revenue have been made subsequent to the 1st December 1790, of their own authority to dispossess the grantees of the proprietary right in such land, and to re-annex it to the estate or talook in which it may be situate, is repealed; and any proprietor or farmer who may desire to dispossess any such grantee shall make application to the Collector, and the Collector shall proceed thereupon to enquire into the case and pass orders in the manner provided for suits under this Act. But nothing contained in this Act relative to the limitation of suits shall be held applicable to such applications.

Time for commencement of suits generally.

XXII. Except as otherwise herein provided, all suits instituted under this Act shall be commenced within the period of one year from the date of the accruing of the cause of action.

Time for commencement of suits for grant of pottahs, &c.

XXIII. Suits for the delivery of pottahs or kubooliyets and for the determination of the rates of rent at which such pottahs or kubooliyets are to be delivered, may be instituted at any time during the tenancy. But no ryot or cultivator shall be entitled to claim an abatement of the rent previously paid by him, although such rent may be in excess of the rate to which he would be liable under Section III of this Act, if he have paid such rent for three years previous to the institution of the suit.

Time for the commencement of suits for arrears of rent.

XXIV. Suits for the recovery of arrears of rent shall be instituted within three years from the last day of the Bengal or Fusly year in which the arrear claimed shall have become due. For arrears of rent due at the passing of this Act, suit shall be brought within three years after the passing of this Act; but nothing in this Section shall be held to enlarge the period now allowed by law for the institution of any such suit.

Time for the commencement of suits against agents for money, papers, or accounts.

XXV. Suits for the recovery of money in the hands of an agent or for the delivery of accounts or papers by an agent, may be brought at any time during the agency, or within one year after the determination of the agency of such agent, or in the case of claims now existing within one year after the passing of this Act; but nothing in this Section shall be held to enlarge the period now allowed by law for the institution of any such suit.

Mode of instituting suits. Form of plaint or statement of claim.

XXVI. Suits under this Act shall be instituted by presenting to the Collector a plaint or statement of claim which shall contain the name, description, and place of abode of the plaintiff; the name, description, and place of abode of the defendant, so far as they can be ascertained, the substance of the claim, and the date of the cause of action.

Statement of claim to be written on stamped paper except when plaintiff is unable to pay for a stamp.

XXVII. The statement of claim shall be written on paper bearing a stamp of the value of eight annas; but if the Collector be satisfied of the inability of the plaintiff to pay for a stamp, he may receive such statement on plain paper.

No other stamp duty to be required in suits under this Act.

No stamp shall be required in respect of any petition or other proceeding connected with the suit or with the execution of any order or judgment passed thereon, or for copies of any papers.

Documentary evidence to be produced by plaintiff.

XXVIII. If the plaintiff rely in support of his claim on any document in his possession, he shall deliver the same to the Collector at the time of presenting his statement of claim. Unless such document be delivered in, or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Collector see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

Form of plaint in suits for arrears of rent.

XXIX. If the suit be for the recovery of an arrear of rent, the statement shall specify the name of the village, and of the Pergunnah or other local division, in which the land is situate, the yearly rent of the land, the amount (if any) received on account of the year for which the claim is made, the amount in arrear, and the time in respect of which it is alleged to be due.

Documentary evidence to be produced by plaintiff in such cases.

If the suit be for an arrear alleged to be due from any ryot or cultivator, the plaintiff, in addition to any other documents upon which he may rely in support of his claim, shall produce the jumma-wasil-bakee account of the village or tenure, for the year preceding that for which the arrear is claimed if the same be not already filed in the Collector's Office; but this last rule shall not be held applicable to the case of an auction-purchaser or other person who, by reason of his having recently acquired possession of the village or tenure, or for any other cause, may, in the judgment of the Collector, be unable to produce the said account.

Form of plaint in suits for ejectment of ryot, &c., or for recovery of occupancy or possession of land, &c.

XXX. If the suit be for the ejectment of any ryot or cultivator, farmer or tenant, from any land, farm, or tenure, or for the recovery of the occupancy or possession of any land, farm, or tenure, the statement shall describe (as circumstances may require) the extent, situation, and designation of the same; and if necessary for the identification of the land, shall set forth the boundaries of such land

Warrant of arrest in what cases to be issued.

XXXI. When in any suit against an undertenant or cultivator for the recovery of an arrear of rent, or against an agent for the recovery of any money, papers, or accounts, the plaintiff desires a warrant of arrest to be issued against the defendant, he shall present with his statement of claim an application for the issue of such warrant. When such application is presented, the Collector shall examine the plaintiff or his agent, and inspect the documents adduced by him in support of his claim, and if there be primâ facie grounds for believing the claim to be well-founded, and that if a summons be issued the defendant will abscond instead of appearing to answer the claim, provided also the defendant be resident in the District in which the suit is instituted, the Collector may issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant. The warrant shall be in the form A contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect, and shall be accompanied by a notice addressed to the defendant, enjoining him, if he contest the claim, to bring with him any document upon which he may intend to rely in support of his defence. But no such warrant shall be issued in a suit for arrears of rent due in respect of a dependent talook or other transferable tenure, which, as hereinafter provided, is liable to sale in execution of any decree which may be passed in the case.

Procedure after arrest of defendant.

XXXII. If a defendant be arrested under the warrant of arrest, he shall be brought with all convenient speed before the Collector, unless he forthwith deposit with the Officer entrusted with the execution of the warrant such sum as may be specified therein.

Procedure when defendant is brought before the Collector under warrant.

XXXIII. When a defendant is brought before the Collector under warrant, the Collector shall, with all convenient speed, proceed to try the case in the manner hereinafter provided when a defendant appears on summons; and if the suit cannot be at once adjudicated, the Collector may, if he think fit, take security from the defendant for his appearance whenever the same may be required at any time whilst the suit is depending or before the final decree which may be passed thereon shall be fully executed, and may commit the defendant to the Civil jail, to be there detained until he shall furnish such security or deposit such sum as the Collector shall order.

Procedure if warrant of arrest cannot be served upon the defendant.

XXXIV. If the warrant of arrest cannot be served upon the defendant, the Collector, on the application of the plaintiff, shall either postpone the case for such period as he may think proper, in order that the plaintiff may apply within the said period for another warrant to be issued for the arrest of the defendant, or shall forthwith issue a proclamation to be affixed in his own Office and at the residence of the defendant fixing a day for the hearing of the case, which shall not be less than ten days from the date of the publication of notice at the residence of the defendant. If the defendant shall appear in pursuance of the proclamation, he shall be dealt with as provided in the last preceding Section.

In all other cases, summons to issue and personal attendance of defendant may be required.

XXXV. In all other cases, the Collector shall direct the issue of a summons to the defendant, and if the plaintiff require the personal attendance of the defendant, and satisfy the Collector that such personal attendance is necessary, or the Collector of his own accord require such personal attendance, the summons shall contain an order for the defendant to appear personally on a day to be specified in the summons, otherwise the summons shall order the defendant to appear personally or by an agent duly authorized on his behalf who has personal knowledge of the subject, or who shall be accompanied by a witness who has such personal knowledge.

The day to be specified in the summons how to be fixed. Defendant to be ordered to produce necessary documents and to bring witnesses willing to attend without process.

XXXVI. The day to be specified in the summons shall be fixed with reference to the state of the file and the distance that the defendant may be, or be supposed to be, at the time, from the place where the Court is held, and the summons shall order the defendant to produce any document which he may have in his possession, of which the plaintiff demands inspection, or upon which the defendant may intend to rely in support of his defence. It shall also enjoin him to bring with him his witnesses if they are willing to attend without issue of process; and shall be in the form C contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect.

A copy of the plaint to be sent with the summons. Summons how to be served.

XXXVII. A copy of the statement of claim shall be sent with the summons, and the summons shall be served by delivering a copy of the summons and of the statement to the defendant, personally when practicable; or if the summons cannot be served on the defendant personally, by affixing a copy of the summons and a copy of the statement to some conspicuous part of his usual place of abode and also by affixing copies of the same in the Collector's Office.

Endorsement by Nazir if summons has been personally served or not.

XXXVIII. If the summons be served personally, the Nazir shall endorse on the summons the fact of such service. If personal service be not effected, the Nazir shall endorse on the summons the reason of not serving it personally and how it has been served.

Execution of process in another District.

XXXIX. If the usual place of abode of the defendant be in another District, the summons, together with the cost of the service thereof, shall be sent by dâk to the Collector of such District, who shall issue the summons, and return the same, after service, with the prescribed endorsement, to the Officer by whom it was transmitted to him.

Cost of serving summons or warrant to be deposited in Court.

XL. The amount of the cost of serving the summons, or if a warrant be applied for of serving the warrant, shall in all cases be deposited in Court upon the same day or the day next following that on which the plaint or statement of claim is presented to the Collector, and if the said amount be not so deposited (except in cases in which the Collector may allow the issue of summons free of cost under the discretion reserved to him in Section CXXXI) the case shall not be brought on the file of suits; but the plaintiff may present another plaint at any time within the period allowed by the rules for the limitation of actions.

On appearance of parties, defence to be made, after which the parties may be examined by the Collector or cross-examine each other.

XLI. Upon the appearance of the parties on the day named in the summons, or upon any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned, for sufficient reason to be recorded by the Collector, the Collector shall call upon the defendant or his agent to make his defence. The defence shall be made either in writing in the official language of the District or verbally, and if made verbally shall be reduced into writing in the presence and under the personal superintendence of the Collector; after which the Collector shall proceed to examine such of the parties as may be present, and either party or his agent may cross-examine the other. If either of the parties be not bound to attend personally, any agent by whom he shall appear, or any witness who shall accompany such agent, shall be examined and cross-examined in like manner as the party himself would have been if he had attended personally.

Witnesses to be examined.

XLII. If either of the parties shall bring forward a witness on such day, the Collector shall take the evidence of such witness.

Documentary evidence to be produced by defendant.

XLIII. If the defendant rely on any document in support of his defence, he shall deliver the same into Court at the time of making his defence; and unless such document be so delivered in, or its non-production be sufficiently excused, or unless the Collector see fit to extend the time for producing the same, it shall not afterwards be admitted.

After examination, Collector may make his decree if no further evidence is required.

XLIV. If after the examination required by Section XLI, and also the examination of any witness who may attend to give evidence on behalf of either of the parties, and after a consideration of the documentary evidence adduced, a decree can be properly made without further evidence, the Collector shall make his decree accordingly.

Consequence of inability of agent to answer.

XLV. If on such examination as aforesaid, the agent of either party be unable to answer any material question relating to the case which the Collector is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Collector may postpone the hearing of the case to a future day, and direct that the party whose agent may have been unable to answer as aforesaid shall attend in person on such day; and if the party so directed to attend shall fail to appear in person on the day appointed, the Collector may pass judgment as in case of default, or make such other order as he may deem proper in the circumstances of the case.

Collector to record issue and to fix a day for hearing further evidence.

XLVI. If on such examination as aforesaid it appear that the parties are at issue on any question of fact upon which it is necessary to hear further evidence, the Collector shall declare and record such issue, and shall fix a convenient day for the examination of witnesses and the trial of the suit, and the trial shall take place on that day, unless there be sufficient reason for adjourning it, which reason shall be recorded by the Collector.

Parties shall produce their witnesses on the day of trial; or Collector, on application of either party, shall issue summons for the attendance of a witness.

XLVII. The parties shall bring foward their witnesses on the day of trial, and if either party require assistance to procure the attendance of a witness on such day, either to give evidence or to produce a document, he shall apply to the Collector in sufficient time before the day fixed for the trial, to enable the witness to be summoned to attend on that day; and the Collector shall issue a summons requiring such witness to attend.

Rules regarding attendance, examination, &c., of witnesses.

XLVIII. The provisions of the Regulations and Acts, and all other rules for the time being in force relating to the evidence of witnesses, for procuring the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and for the examination, remuneration, and punishment of witnesses, whether parties to the case or not, in cases before the Civil Courts of the Presidency of Bengal, shall, except so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, apply to and be of equal force and effect in suits under this Act.

Employment of authorized agents.

XLIX. Any party to a suit may employ an authorized agent to conduct the case on his behalf, but the appointment of such agent shall not excuse the personal attendance of the plaintiff or defendant in cases where his personal attendance is required by the summons or any order of the Court, and no fee for any agent shall be charged as part of the costs of suit in any case under this Act.

In what cases defendant shall not be heard by an agent.

L. If a defendant, summoned to attend personally, shall not attend in person in pursuance of the summons, he shall not be heard by an agent, unless the Collector be satisfied that there is a reasonable excuse for his non-attendance. A defendant who has evaded a warrant of arrest and has not afterwards attended in person within the term of the proclamation prescribed in Section XXXIV, shall not be heard by an agent.

Collector may grant time or adjourn hearing.

LI. The Collector may in any case grant time to the plaintiff or defendant to proceed in the prosecution or defence of a suit, and may also from time to time, in order to the production of further proof or for other sufficient reason to be recorded by the Collector, adjourn the hearing or further hearing of any case in such manner as to him may seem fit.

Collector may cause local enquiry to be made.

LII. The Collector may at any stage of a case cause a local enquiry and report respecting the matter in dispute to be made by any Officer subordinate to him, or by any other Officer of Government with the consent of the authority to whom such Officer is subordinate, or may himself proceed to the spot and make such local enquiry in person. The provisions of the laws in force relative to local enquiries by Ameens or Commissioners under orders of the Civil Courts shall apply to any local enquiry made by any Officer under this Section, and, so far as they are applicable, to enquiries made by the Collector in person. In the latter case the Collector, after completing the enquiry, shall record on the proceedings such observations as appear to him appropriate, and the observation so recorded shall be received as evidence in the suit.

Consequence of neither party appearing on the day of trial.

LIII. If on the day fixed by the summons or proclamation for the appearance of the defendant, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the case may be adjourned prior to the recording of an issue for trial under Section XLVI, neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off, with liberty to the plaintiff to bring a fresh suit unless precluded by the rules for the limitation of actions.

If defendant only appear to dispute the demand, Collector shall dismiss the case; but if defendant admit the claim, Collector shall decree upon such admission.

LIV. If on any such day the defendant only appear, the Collector shall dismiss the case with costs, unless the defendant admit the cause of action, or any part of it; in which case the Collector shall proceed to give judgment for the plaintiff upon such admission without costs. Provided that such judgment, if there be several defendants, shall be only against the defendant who makes the admission.

Proviso.

If plaintiff only appear, Collector may proceed ex parte.

LV. If on any such day the plaintiff only appear, the Collector, upon proof that the summons or proclamation has been duly served according to the provisions of this Act, shall proceed to examine the plaintiff or his agent, and after considering the allegations of the plaintiff and any documentary or oral evidence adduced by him, may either dismiss the case or postpone the hearing of it to a future day for the attendance of any witness the plaintiff may wish to call, or may make an ex parte decree against the defendant.

If defendant appear on a day to which the case is postponed, Collector may allow him to be heard in answer to the suit.

LVI. If the defendant shall appear on any subsequent day to which the hearing of the suit may be postponed under the last preceding Section, the Collector may, upon such conditions, if any, as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, allow the defendant to be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his attendance.

Consequence of neither party appearing on the day fixed for the trial of any issue.

LVII. If on the day fixed for the trial of any issue under Section XLVI, neither of the parties appear, the case shall be struck off under the conditions provided in Section LIII. If on any such day one only of the parties appear, the issue shall be tried and determined ex parte.

Revival, reversal, and alteration of ex parte decrees under certain rules and conditions.

LVIII. If a decree be made ex parte, and the party against whom such decree shall have been made appear, either in person or by agent, if a plaintiff within fifteen days from the date of the Collector's order, and if a defendant within such time as the Collector shall deem reasonable under all the circumstances of the case, but before the decree shall have been finally executed, and shall show good and sufficient cause for his previous non-appearance, and shall satisfy the Collector that there has been a failure of justice, the Collector may, upon such terms and conditions as to costs or otherwise as he may think proper, revive the suit and alter or rescind the decree, according to the justice of the case. But no decree shall be reversed or altered without previously summoning the adverse party to appear and be heard in support of it.

Defendant may pay money into Court in satisfaction of the demand.

LIX. The defendant in any action under this Act may pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think a full satisfaction for the demand of the plaintiff, together with the costs incurred by the plaintiff up to the time of such payment, and such sum shall be paid to the plaintiff. If the defendant deposit less than the sum claimed and the plaintiff elect to proceed in the case, and ultimately recover no further sum than shall have been paid into Court, the plaintiff shall be charged with any costs incurred by the defendant in the suit after such payment.

If plaintiff elect to proceed and ultimately recover no further sum than that paid into Court, he shall be liable to the subsequent costs.

No interest on deposits.

LX. No interest shall be allowed to a plaintiff on any sum paid by the defendant into Court from the date of such payment, whether such sum be in full of the plaintiff's claim or fall short thereof.

If on trial of suit for delivery of pottah parties do not agree as to the time for which the pottah is granted, Collector to fix the time.

LXI. If on the trial of a suit for the delivery of a pottah instituted by a ryot or cultivator having a right of occupancy on payment of rent at pergunnah-rates as explained in Section III, the parties do not agree as to the term for which the pottah is to be granted, the Collector shall fix such term as under the circumstances of the case he may think just and proper. Provided that in permanently settled estates the term shall not be longer than ten years, and in estates not permanently settled shall not extend beyond the period for which the proprietor of the estate has engaged with Government. Provided also, that if the defendant be a farmer or other person having only a temporary interest in the land, the term of the pottah shall not extend beyond the period of the continuance of such interest. For cultivators not having a right of occupancy, the term of pottah shall be exclusively in the discretion of the person entitled to the rent of the land.

Proviso.

If in actions for arrears of rent, a third claimant appear, he is to be made a party to the suit.

LXII. If in an action for the recovery of arrears of rent the right to receive the rent of the land or tenure involved in the action is claimed by any third person as being in actual possession of the same, such third person shall be made a party to the suit and the question of possession shall be put in issue, and the right of the plaintiff or of such third person to recover the rent of the land or tenure shall be determined according to the fact of possession. Provided always, that the decision of the Collector shall not affect the right of either party, who may have a legal title to the rent of such land or tenure, to establish his title by suit in the Civil Court if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

Proviso

Suits for ejectment or cancelment of lease.

LXIII Any person desiring to eject a ryot or cultivator or to cancel a lease on account of non-payment of arrears of rent, may sue for such ejectment or cancelment and for recovery of the arrear in the same action, or may adduce any unexecuted decree for arrears of rent as evidence of the existence of such arrear in a suit for such ejectment or cancelment. In all cases of suits for the ejectment of a ryot or cultivator or the cancelment of a lease the decree shall specify the amount of the arrear, and the ryot or cultivator or the leaseholder may, at any time before the execution of the decree, stay the execution by paying such amount into Court, together with costs of suit.

Judgment how to be pronounced.

LXIV. The Collector shall pronounce judgment in open Court, and the provisions of Act XXXIII of 1854 shall be applicable thereto.

If person required by the decree refuse to grant pottah, Collector may do so.

LXV. When a decree is given for the delivery of a pottah, if the person required by the decree to grant such pottah refuse or delay to grant the same, the Collector may grant a pottah in conformity with the terms of the decree under his own hand and seal, and such pottah shall be of the same force and effect as if granted by the person aforesaid.

Refusal of person to execute kubooliyat as required by the decree.

LXVI. When a decree is given for the delivery of a kubooliyet, if the person required by the decree to execute such kubooliyet shall refuse to execute the same, the decree shall be evidence of the amount of rent claimable from such person, and a copy of the decree under the hand and seal of the Collector shall be of the same force and effect as a kubooliyet executed by the said person.

Mode of executing decree for ejectment or re-instatement of ryot or cultivator.

LXVII. If the decree be for the ejectment of any ryot or cultivator from land occupied by him, or for the re-instatement of any ryot or cultivator in the occupancy of land from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by an order issued to the Nazir to give the possession or occupancy of the land to the person entitled by the decree to such possession or occupancy; and if any opposition is made to the execution of such order, the Magistrate, on the application of the Collector, shall give effect to the same.

Punishment for obstructing execution.

Mode of executing decree for cancelment of a lease or for ejectment or re-instatement of a farmer or tenant.

LXVIII. If the decree be for the cancelment of any lease or the ejectment of any farmer or other person (not being an actual cultivator) or for the re-instatement of such farmer or person in the possession of a farm or tenure from which he has been ejected, the decree shall be executed by erecting a pole upon some place within or adjacent to the farm or tenure, and proclaiming to the cultivators or other occupants at some convenient place or places the substance of the decree in regard to the farm or tenure.

Decree to contain order for immediate execution

In what case a judgment-debtor may be detained or imprisoned without issue of process of execution.

LXIX. Every decree for the payment of money or costs shall contain an order for immediate execution; and if the decree be for arrears of rent or for money, papers, or accounts, and the defendant have been committed to jail or appear pursuant to the conditions of the security given under Section XXXIII, he may, without the issue of any process of execution, be detained in or committed to the Civil Jail, unless he immediately pay into Court the amount of the decree with costs, or otherwise comply with the terms of the decree.

Liability of surety on failure to deliver judgment-debtor into custody.

LXX. If the judgment-debtor have given security for his appearance and be not present when judgment is pronounced, and the surety shall fail to deliver him into custody when required so to do, process of execution may be taken out against the surety in the same manner as if a decree for the amount due by the debtor had been passed against the surety.

Issue of process of execution.

LXXI. Process of execution may be issued against either the person or the property of a judgment-debtor; but process shall not be issued simultaneously against both person and property. Process of execution against the person or moveable property of a debtor shall be in the form D or E contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect.

Application for execution against moveable property.

LXXII Any moveable property required to be seized under an execution shall, if practicable, be described in a list to be furnished by the judgment-creditor, but if the creditor is unable to furnish such list he may apply for a general attachment of the debtor's effects to the amount of the judgment and costs. In either case the property to be seized shall be pointed out by the creditor or his agent.

How long warrant shall continue in force.

LXXIII. Process of execution shall bear date on the day on which it is signed by the Court, and no warrant shall continue in force for a longer period than sixty days calculated from such date.

LXXIV. Second and successive warrants of execution may be issued by order of the Collector on the application of the judgment-creditor after the expiration of the period above fixed for the continuance in force of a previous warrant. No such warrant shall continue in force for a longer period than sixty days.

Second and successive warrants.

LXXV. Process of execution shall not be issued upon any judgment without previous notice to the party against whom execution is applied for, if when application for the issue of the process is made a period of more than one year shall have elapsed from the date of the judgment or from the date of the last previous application for execution.

Time for issue of warrant.

LXXVI. Execution on a judgment shall not issue against the heir or other representative of a deceased party without notice to such heir or other representative to appear and be heard.

Execution not to issue against heir or representative of a deceased party without notice.

LXXVII. No process of execution of any description whatsoever, shall be issued on a judgment under this Act after the elapse of three years from the date of such judgment.

No process of execution to be issued three years after date of judgment.

LXXVIII. If a warrant issue for taking in execution the body of any person, the Nazir of the Court shall cause him to be seized, and unless such person shall immediately deposit with the Officer entrusted with the service of the warrant the full amount specified therein the Nazir shall bring him before the Collector. If such person shall not then deposit in Court the full amount specified in the warrant, or make such arrangement for the payment of the same as shall be satisfactory to the judgment creditor, the Collector shall send him to the Civil Jail there to remain for such time as shall be directed by the warrant unless he shall in the mean time pay the full amount specified therein. Provided that the time for which a debtor may be confined in execution of a decree under this Act shall not exceed three calendar months when the amount decreed exclusive of costs does not exceed fifty Rupees, or six calendar months in any other case.

Warrant against the person.

LXXIX. Any person once discharged from jail shall not be imprisoned a second time under the same judgment, but such discharge shall not extinguish the liability of such person under the decree or exempt any property belonging to such person from attachment in execution of the same.

No person to be imprisoned a second time under same judgment, but his property to be liable to attachment.

LXXX. Any person applying for a warrant of arrest under Section XXXI or suing out process of execution against the body of any person shall deposit with the Nazir of the Court, at the time of the issue of the warrant, diet-money for one month of thirty days at such rate as the Collector may direct, not exceeding two annas per diem, unless the Collector for any special reason direct that deposit be made at a higher rate, which shall not exceed four annas per diem.

Diet-money to be deposited at the time of issue of warrant.

LXXXI. Payment of diet-money at the same rate shall be made previous to the commencement of each succeeding month of the imprisonment, in failure of which the party confined shall be discharged.

Payment of diet money in advance during imprisonment.

LXXXII. All diet-money spent in providing subsistence for any prisoner shall be added to the costs in the suit, and any diet-money not so spent shall be returned to the person who deposited the same.

Diet-money to be costs in suit.

LXXXIII. In executing a writ of execution against the moveable property of a debtor liable under this Act, the Nazir shall prepare a list of the property pointed out by the judgment creditor, and shall publish a proclamation specifying the day upon which the sale is intended to be held together with a copy of the said list at the intended place of sale and at the residence of the debtor. A copy of the said proclamation and list shall be transmitted to the Collector and shall be affixed in his Office.

List of property to be prepared by the Nazir, and proclamation of sale to be published, &c.

LXXXIV. No sale of any moveable property taken in execution shall be made until after the end of ten days next following the day on which such property may have been so taken. Until such sale the property shall be deposited by the Nazir in some fit place or it may remain in custody of some fit person approved by the Nazir. The provisions of Sections CXIV to CXVIII, so far as the same are applicable, shall be applied to sales under this Section

Custody and sale of moveable property taken in execution.

LXXXV. If before the day fixed for the sale a third party appear before the Collector and by petition supported by his oath or affirmation claim a right or interest in any of the moveable property taken in execution, the Collector may stay the sale of such property.

Collector to stay sale of moveable property seized if a third party claim any interest therein.

LXXXVI. The Collector shall adjudicate upon such claim and make such order between the claimant and the plaintiff and defendant in the original suit as shall seem fit. In trying such claim the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in this Act so far as they may be applicable.

Collector to adjudicate such claims.

LXXXVII. If the claimant shall fail to establish his right to the property taken in execution, the Collector at the time of disposing of the case may award to the judgment-creditor against such claimant as part of the costs such sum as he may consider sufficient to cover any loss of interest or damage which the judgment-creditor may have sustained by reason of the postponement of the sale of the property.

Claimant failing to establish his right, liable to pay compensation to judgment creditor.

LXXXVIII. No appeal shall lie from any order passed by the Collector under the two last preceding Sections. But the party against whom the same may be given shall be at liberty to bring a suit in the Civil Court to establish his right at any time within one year from the date of the order; provided that, if the order be for the sale of the property, the suit shall be for damages against the judgment-creditor by whom the property was brought to sale.

No appeal from order of Collector under the two last preceding Sections.

Proviso.

LXXXIX. No irregularity in publishing or conducting a sale of moveable property under an execution shall vitiate such sale; but this rule shall not be held to deprive any person who may sustain damage by reason of such irregularity from recovering such damage by action in the Civil Court; Provided such action be brought within one year from the date of sale.

Sale not vitiated by irregularity in publishing or conducting the same.

Proviso.

XC. If the decree be for an arrear of rent due in respect of an under-tenure which by the title-deeds or the custom of the country is transferable by sale, the judgment-creditor may make application for the sale of the tenure, and the tenure may thereupon be brought to sale in execution of the decree, according to the rules for the sale of under-tenures for the recovery of arrears of rent due in respect thereof contained in Act of . But no such application shall be received when a warrant of execution has been previously issued against the person or moveable property of the judgment-debtor, so long as such warrant remains in force. If after sale of an under-tenure any portion of the amount decreed remains due, process may be applied for against any other property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to the debtor.

Sale of transferable tenures in execution of decrees for arrears of rent.

XCI. If before the day fixed for the sale of any such under-tenure as aforesaid in execution of a decree for arrears of rent due in respect of such under-tenure, a third party appear before the Collector and on oath or affirmation allege that such third party and not the person against whom the decree has been obtained is the proprietor of such under-tenure and was in lawful possession of the same at the time when such decree was obtained, and shall deposit in Court the amount of the decree or give sufficient security for the same, the Collector shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

If third party claim to be the proprietor and lawful possessor of such under-tenure, Collector to stay the sale and to enquire into and adjudicate upon the claim.

XCII. In trying such claim the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in this Act, so far as the same may be applicable, and the judgment passed by the Collector on such claim shall be subject to the same rules in respect of appeal as a judgment in a suit instituted under this Act.

Mode of adjudicating such claims.

XCIII. If a decree is given in favor of a sharer in a joint undivided estate, dependent talook, or other similar tenure for money due to him on account of his share of the rent of an under-tenure situate in such undivided estate or talook or tenure, application for the sale of such under-tenure shall not be received unless execution shall have been first taken out against any moveable property which the judgment debtor may possess within the District in which the suit was instituted and the sale of such property, if any, shall have proved insufficient to satisfy the judgment. In such case such under-tenure, if of the nature described in Section XC, may be brought to sale in execution of the decree in the same manner as any other immoveable property may be sold in execution of a decree for money under the provisions of the two next following Sections.

Execution of decrees given in favor of sharers in undivided estates or tenures.

XCIV. In the execution of any decree for the payment of money under this Act not being money due as arrears of rent of a saleable under-tenure, if satisfaction of the judgment cannot be obtained by execution against the person or moveable property of the debtor within the District in which the suit was instituted, the judgment creditor may apply for execution against any immoveable property belonging to such debtor.

In all cases of decrees for money, if judgment cannot be satisfied by sale of debtor's moveable property, execution may be had against his immoveable property.

XCV. If the immoveable property against which execution is applied for, be a house, shop, or other building, process shall be issued in the same manner as for the attachment and sale of moveable property, and the provisions of Section LXXXIV shall be applicable to the execution of such process. If the property be a saleable under-tenure it shall be sold under the provisions of Act of applicable to the sale of such under-tenures for demands other than those of arrears of rent due in respect thereof. If the property be an estate or a share of an estate, it shall be sold under the rules in force for the sale of such property for the recovery of demands recoverable by the same process as arrears of land revenue.

Mode of executing process if immoveable property be a house, shop, or other building.

If it be a saleable under-tenure.

If it be an estate or a share of an estate.

XCVI. If before the day fixed for the sale of any immoveable property as aforesaid, objection shall be offered to the sale on the ground of such property not belonging to the judgment-debtor, and consequently not being liable to be sold in execution of a decree against him, the Collector, if satisfied that there is sufficient ground for so doing, shall stay the sale and proceed to enquire into and adjudicate upon the objection, in the same manner, and subject to the same right of appeal as is provided in Section XCII.

Consequence of objection being offered before the sale of any immoveable property.

XCVII. The produce of the land is held to be hypothecated for the rent payable in respect thereof; and when an arrear of rent, as defined in Section XIII of this Act, is due from any cultivator of land, the zemindar, lakherajdar, farmer, dependent talookdar, under-farmer, or other person entitled to receive rent immediately from such cultivator, instead of bringing suit for the arrear as hereinbefore provided, may recover the same by distraint and sale of the produce of the land on account of which the arrear is due under the following rules.

Produce of the land to be held hypothecated for the rent.

Arrears of rent may be recovered by distraint under the following rules.

XCVIII. Provided always, that when a cultivator has given security for the payment of his rent, the produce of the land occupied by such cultivator shall not be liable to distraint for any arrear of rent that may accrue due in respect of such land.

Cultivators who have given security to be exempt from distraint.

XCIX. After the lapse of one year from the time when this Act comes into operation, distraint shall be lawful only when a kabooliyet has been executed or a decree obtained under Section LXVI in respect of the rent for the recovery of which distraint is made. Distraint shall not be made for any arrear which has been due for a longer period than one year.

No distraint in certain cases.

C. The power of distraint vested by Section XCVII in zemindars and other persons entitled to receive rent from cultivators of land, may be exercised by managers under the Court of Wards, surburakars of estates held under khass management, and other persons lawfully entrusted with the charge of landed property; and also by the naibs, gomashtahs, and other agents employed by any such persons as aforesaid in the collection of rent if expressly authorized by power of attorney in that behalf. Provided that, if any illegal act is committed by any such naib, gomashtah, or other agent in the exercise of said power, the person employing such agent shall be liable, as well as the agent, for any damages accruing by reason of such act.

Power of distraint to be exercised by managers under the Court of Wards, &c.

Proviso.

CI. When standing crops and other ungathered products of the earth are distrained, the distress shall be made at or about the time when such crops or products are ready to be reaped or gathered, and such crops and products may, notwithstanding the distress, be reaped and gathered by the cultivator, and may be stored in such granaries or other places as are commonly used by him for the purpose. If the cultivator neglect to do so, the distrainer may cause the said crops or products to be reaped or gathered, and in such case shall store the same either in such granaries or other places as aforesaid, or in some other convenient place in the neighbourhood. No crops or products other than the produce of the land in respect of which an arrear of rent is due and no other property whatsoever shall be liable to distraint under this Act.

Standing crops, &c., when attached, to be reaped and stored by the cultivator, or, if he neglect to do so, by the distrainer.

CII. Before or at the time when distraint is made under this Act the distrainer shall cause the defaulter to be served with a written demand for the amount of the arrear, together with an account exhibiting the grounds on which the demand is made. The demand and account shall, if practicable, be served personally on the defaulter, or if he abscond or conceal himself so that they cannot be so served, shall be affixed at his usual place of residence in the presence of witnesses, who shall sign a certificate of the notice and account having been so affixed.

Defaulter to be served with a written demand, &c., before or at the time of distraint.

CIII. Unless the amount of the demand is immediately paid or tendered, the distrainer may distrain property as aforesaid of value proportionate to the amount of the arrear with costs of the distress; and shall prepare a list or description of the said property, and deliver a copy of the same to the owner, or if he be absent affix it to his usual place of residence in the manner provided in the last preceding Section. Except so far as may be necessary for the due preservation of the distrained property the same shall not be removed from the place where the distress is made, but shall there remain in the charge of some person appointed by the distrainer for the purpose.

Distress to be proportionate to the arrear if not paid or tendered.

List of property to be distrained, to be served on owner.

Charge of distrained property.

CIV. Distress shall be made between sun rise and sun-set; and distrainers are authorized to force open any golah, granary, or other building, and to enter any dwelling-house the door of which may be open, for the purpose of attaching any property as aforesaid which may be lodged therein. If a distrainer shall be opposed, or shall apprehend resistance, or shall desire to force open the door of a dwelling-house for the purpose of attaching property as aforesaid, he shall make application to the Police Darogah, and thereupon the Darogah shall proceed as directed in Section XXVII Regulation XX. 1817.

Time for making distress.

Power of entry.

Distrainer may apply for aid of the Police upon occasion of resistance made or apprehended.

CV. When any person, empowered to distrain property under Section XCVII or Section C, shall employ a servant or other person to make the distress, he shall give to such servant or person a written authority (which may be on plain paper) for the same, and the distress shall be made in the name and on the responsibility of the person giving such authority.

Persons empowered to distrain may give written authority to their servants to do so.

CVI. If at any time after property has been distrained and prior to the day fixed for its being put up to sale as hereinafter provided, the owner of the property shall tender payment of the arrear demanded of him and of the expenses of the distress, the distrainer shall receive the same, and shall forthwith withdraw the distress.

Distress to be withdrawn if defaulter tender payment of arrear and expenses of attachment prior to the day of sale.

CVII. Within five days from the time of making the distress, or if the property distrained consist of standing crops or ungathered products within five days from the storing thereof, the distrainer shall apply for sale of the same to the Civil Court Ameen, or other Officer authorized to sell property in satisfaction of decrees of the Civil Court within the circle in which the distrained property is situate, or to such other public Officer as the Application for sale.

Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, or the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, shall appoint for the purpose.

Form of application.

CVIII. The application shall be in writing and shall contain an inventory or description of the property distrained, the name of the defaulter and his place of residence, the amount due, and the date of the distress, and the place in which the distrained property is deposited. Together with the application the distrainer shall deliver to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer the amount necessary for the service of a notice upon the defaulter as hereinafter provided.

Cost of notice upon defaulter to be deposited by distrainer.

Procedure by Civil Court Ameen, &c., on receipt of application.

CIX. Immediately on receipt of the application the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer shall transmit a copy of it to the Collector; and shall serve a notice (which shall be in the form F contained in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect) on the person whose property has been distrained, requiring him either to pay the amount demanded, or to institute a suit to contest the demand before the Collector within the period of fifteen days from the receipt of the notice. He shall at the same time put up in the cutcherry of the Moonsiff, or other Court or Office to which he may be attached, and if in the North-Western Provinces in the cutcherry of the Tuhseeldar, a proclamation fixing a day for the sale of the distrained property, which shall not be less than twenty days from the date of the application; and shall deliver a copy of the proclamation to the peon charged with the service of the notice, to be put up by him in the place where the distrained property is deposited. The proclamation shall contain a description of the property, the demand for which it is to be sold, and the place where the sale is to be held.

Ameen to suspend sale on receipt of Collector's certificate of the institution of a suit.

CX. If a suit shall be instituted before the Collector in pursuance of the aforesaid notice, the Collector shall transmit to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, or if so requested shall deliver to the owner of the distrained property, a certificate of the institution of such suit; and on such certificate being received by or presented to the Ameen or other Officer, he shall suspend proceedings in regard to the sale of the distrained property.

Suits to contest distrainer's demand before issue of notice of sale.

CXI. A person whose property has been distrained in the manner hereinbefore provided may institute a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer immediately after the distraint of his property and before the issue of notice of sale. When such suit is instituted the Collector shall proceed in the manner prescribed in the last preceding Section. If thereafter application for the sale of the property is made to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, he shall transmit a copy of the application to the Collector, and suspend further proceedings pending the decision of the case.

Distress to be withdrawn on receipt of Collector's certificate that the owner has executed a bond with security to pay amount of decree with interest and costs.

CXII. The person whose property has been distrained may, at the time of instituting any such suit as aforesaid, or at any subsequent period, execute a bond with security binding himself to pay whatever sum may be adjudged to be due from him with interest and costs of suit, and when such bond is executed the Collector shall give to the owner of the property a certificate to that effect, or if so requested shall serve the distrainer with notice of the same; and the distrainer, upon such certificate being presented to him by the owner of the property or served on him by order of the Collector, shall immediately withdraw the distress.

On expiration of period fixed in the proclamation of sale if institution of suit to contest distrainer's demand have not been certified, sale may be proceeded with.

CXIII. On the expiration of the period fixed in the proclamation of sale, if the institution of a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer has not been certified to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer in the manner hereinbefore provided, he shall, unless the said demand, with costs of the distress at such rate as shall be allowed by him, be discharged in full, proceed to sell the property or such part of it as may be necessary in the manner following.

Place and manner of sale.

CXIV. The sale shall be held at the place where the distrained property is deposited, or at the nearest gunge, bazar, haut, or other place of public resort, if the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer should be of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage. The property shall be sold by public auction in one or more lots as the Officer holding the sale may think advisable, and if the demand with the costs of distress and sale be satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the distress shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

If fair price be not offered, sale may be postponed to another day, and shall be then completed at whatever price may be offered.

CXV. If on the property being put up for sale a fair price in the estimation of the Officer holding the sale be not offered for it and the owner of the property or some person authorized to act on his behalf apply to have the sale postponed until the next day, or the next market day if a market be held at the place of sale, the sale shall be postponed until such day and shall be then completed whatever price may be offered for the property.

Payment of purchase money.

CXVI. The price of every lot shall be paid for in ready money at the time of sale or as soon after as the Officer holding the sale shall think necessary; and in default of such payment the property shall forthwith be put up again and sold. When the purchase-money has been paid in full the Officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and the price paid.

Proceeds of sale.

CXVII. From the proceeds of the sale of distrained property the Officer holding the sale shall make a deduction at the rate of ten per centum on account of the costs of the sale, and shall transmit the amount to the Collector in order that it may be credited to Government. He shall then pay to the distrainer the expenses incurred by the distrainer on account of the distress and of the issue of the notice and proclamation of sale prescribed in Section CIX to such amount as, after examination of the statement of expenses furnished by the distrainer, he shall think proper to allow. The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the arrear for which the distraint was made with interest thereon up to the day of sale, and if there be any overplus it shall be delivered to the person whose property shall have been sold.

Officers holding sales prohibited from purchasing.

CXVIII. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by or subordinate to such Officers, are prohibited from purchasing either directly or indirectly any property sold by such Officers.

All irregularities to be reported to the Collector.

CXIX. Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as aforesaid are required to bring to the notice of Collectors any material irregularities committed by distrainers under color of this Act; and if in any case, on proceeding to hold a sale of property the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer shall find that, through the practices of the distrainer, or from any other cause, the owner of the property has not received due notice of the distress and intended sale, he shall postpone the sale and report the case to the Collector, and the Collector shall direct the issue of another notice and proclamation of sale under Section CIX, or pass such other order as he may think proper.

Officer not to proceed to sale, if he find that defaulter has not received due notice.

Recovery of expenses if Ameen proceeds to place of sale and no sale takes place.

CXX When a Civil Court Ameen or other Officer has proceeded to any place for the purpose of holding a sale and no sale takes place either for the reason stated in the last preceding Section, or because the demand of the distrainer has been previously satisfied, no intimation of such satisfaction having been given by the distrainer to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, the charge of ten per centum on account of expenses shall be leviable and shall be calculated on the estimated value of the distrained property. If the demand of the distrainer be not satisfied until the day fixed for the sale, the charge for expenses shall be paid by the owner of the property and may be recovered by the sale of such portion thereof as may be necessary. In every other case it shall be paid by the distrainer and may be recovered by warrant under the hand of the Collector. Provided always, that in no case shall a larger amount than ten Rupees be recoverable under this Section.

Proceedings of Civil Court Ameens, &c., subject to revision and orders of Collectors.

CXXI. All proceedings under this Act of the Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as aforesaid shall be subject to the revision and orders of the Collectors, and the Collectors, with the sanction of the Boards of Revenue, may require the submission of such periodical reports and statements of business performed by the Civil Court Ameens and other Officers as may be thought necessary.

Second proclamation of sale.

CXXII. When a suit has been instituted to contest the demand of a distrainer and the property has not been released on security, if the demand or any portion of it shall be adjudged to be due, the Collector shall issue an order to the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer authorizing the sale of the property, and on the application of the distrainer, which shall be made within five days from the receipt of such order by the Civil Court Ameen or other Officer, such Ameen or Officer shall publish a second proclamation in the manner prescribed in Section CIX, fixing another day for the sale of the distrained property, which shall not be less than five nor more than ten days from the date of the proclamation; and unless the amount adjudged to be due with the costs of distress be paid intermediately, shall proceed to sell the property in the manner hereinbefore provided.

Procedure after institution of suit to contest distrainer's demand.

CXXIII. In all suits instituted to contest the demand of a distrainer, the distrainer shall be required to prove the arrear in the same manner as if he had himself brought suit for the amount under the foregoing provisions of this Act. If the demand or any part thereof is found to be due, the Collector shall make a decree for the amount in favor of the distrainer, and the amount may be recovered by sale of the property as provided in the last preceding Section, if the distress has not been withdrawn, and if any balance remain due after such sale by execution of the decree against the person and any other property of the defaulter, or if the property have been released on security by execution of the decree against the person and property of the defaulter and of his surety. If on the other hand the distraint is adjudged to be vexatious or groundless, the Collector, besides directing the release of the distrained property, may award such damages in favor of the plaintiff as the circumstances of the case shall seem to require.

Any person, whose property has been distrained for arrears of rent alleged to be due from another, may institute a suit against the distrainer, &c.

CXXIV. If any person shall claim as his own property which has been distrained for arrears of rent alleged to be due from any other person, such person may institute a suit against the distrainer and such other person, to try the right to the property, in the same manner, and under the same conditions as to the time of instituting the suit and to the consequent postponement of sale, as a person whose property has been distrained for an arrear of rent alleged to be due from him may institute a suit to contest the demand. When any such suit is instituted the property may be released upon security being given for the value of the same. If the claim is dismissed the Collector shall make an order for the sale of the property or the recovery of the value thereof, as the case may be, for the benefit of the distrainer. If the claim is upheld the Collector shall decree the release of the distrained property with costs, and such damages (if any) as the circumstances of the case may seem to require. Provided always that no claim to any produce of land, liable to distraint under this Act, which at the time of the distress may have been found in the possession of a defaulting cultivator, whether such claim be in respect of a previous sale, mortgage, or otherwise, shall bar the prior claim of the person entitled to the rent of the land, nor shall any attachment in execution of a judgment of any Civil Court prevail against such prior claim.

Procedure if distrainer's right to distrain be disputed.

CXXV. If in any case in which property has been distrained for an arrear of rent and a suit has been instituted to contest the demand, the right to distrain for such arrear is claimed by any person other than the distrainer as being in possession of the rent of the land, such other person shall be made a party to the suit and the question of possession shall be put in issue and the right of either party to distrain for rent shall be determined according to the fact of possession. Provided always, that the decision of the Collector shall not affect the right of either party who may have a legal title to the rent of the land, to establish his title by suit in the Civil Court if instituted within one year from the date of the decision.

Persons prevented from suing in time to save their property from sale, may sue for damages.

CXXVI. If any person, whose property has been distrained for the recovery of a demand not justly due, or of a demand due or alleged to be due from some other person, is prevented by any sufficient cause from bringing suit to contest the demand or to try the right to the property as the case may be within the period allowed by Sections CIX and CXXIV and his property is in consequence brought to sale, he may nevertheless institute a suit under this Act to recover damages for the illegal distress and sale of his property.

Also persons aggrieved by any illegal act of distrainer.

CXXVII. If any person empowered to distrain property or employed for the purpose under a written authority by a person so empowered, shall distrain or sell, or cause to be sold, any property for the recovery of an arrear of rent alleged to be due, otherwise than according to the provisions of this Act, or if any distrained property shall be lost, damaged, or destroyed by reason of the distrainer not having taken proper precaution for the due keeping and preservation thereof, the owner of the property may institute a suit under this Act to recover damages for any injury which he may have thereby sustained.

Unlawful distraint.

CXXVIII. If any person not empowered to distrain property under Sections XCVII and C of this Act, nor employed for the purpose under a written authority by a person so empowered, shall distrain or sell or cause to be sold any property under color of this Act, the owner of the property may institute a suit under this Act to recover damages from such person for any injury which he may have sustained from the distraint or sale. The said person shall be held to have committed criminal trespass, and shall be subject to the penalties for that offence in addition to any damages which may be awarded against him in such suit.

Time for commencing suits for damages.

CXXIX. Provided always, that any suit which may be instituted under any of the three last preceding Sections shall be commenced within three months from the date of the occurrence of the cause of action.

Resistance of process.

CXXX. If any person shall resist a distraint of property duly made under this Act, or shall forcibly or clandestinely remove any distrained property, the Collector, upon complaint being made within fifteen days from the date of such resistance or removal, shall cause the person accused to be arrested, and if the offence be proved and the offender be the owner of the property, shall order him to be imprisoned in the Civil Jail for six months, or until the whole arrear due to the distrainer with all expenses and costs shall sooner be paid or levied by distress and sale of the property of the offender under warrant of the Collector. If the person convicted of the offence be any other than the owner of the property, he shall make good to the distrainer the value of the same, and shall further be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred Rupees, or in default of payment thereof to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two months.

Service of process.

CXXXI. Every process issued by a Collector under this Act shall be under the seal and signature of the Collector, and shall be served or executed by the Nazir or by an Officer of his establishment at the cost of the party at whose instance it is issued. The amount of such cost, and, in the case of summons to a witness, any sum required for the travelling expenses of such witness, shall be deposited in Court before the process is issued. Provided that if in any case the Collector is satisfied that a party is unable to pay the cost of any necessary process, he may direct such process to be served free of charge.

Service of process to be attested.

CXXXII. Whenever, in accordance with the provisions of this Act any notice, summons, proclamation, or other process is served by affixing a copy thereof to some part of the usual place of abode of the person named in the process, such service shall be attested by the signature of not less than three persons residing in the same neighbourhood, one of whom shall, if practicable, be the village chowkeydar or local Police Officer.

Contempt of Court under Chapter X of the Penal Code.

CXXXIII. When any of the offences described in Chapter X of the Penal Code is committed in contempt of the lawful authority of a Collector or other public servant duly exercised under the provisions of this Act, it shall be competent to the Collector to punish the offender as for a contempt of Court, and to adjudge the punishment authorized by the Clause applicable thereto.

Warrant for apprehension of offender under the last preceding Section.

CXXXIV. In any such case as is referred to in the last preceding Section, if the offender be not present in Court the Collector may summon him to answer to the charge, and if after due service of the summons he fail to attend, may issue a warrant for his apprehension.

Contempt of Court under Chapter XI Clause 39 of the Penal Code.

CXXXV. Whenever any such offence as is described in Clause 39 Chapter XI of the Penal Code is committed in contempt of the lawful authority of a Collector in any stage of a judicial proceeding under this Act, it shall be competent to the Collector to punish the offender as for a contempt of Court and to adjudge the punishment authorized by the said Clause.

Collector competent to hold a Court in any part of his jurisdiction

CXXXVI. It shall be competent to the Collector to hold a Court for hearing and determining suits under this Act in any place within the limits of his District or local jurisdiction, provided that every hearing and decision shall be in open Court, and that the parties to the suits or their authorized agents shall have had due notice to attend at such place.

Proviso.

Agents or Mookhtars.

CXXXVII. Any person may practice as an agent or mookhtar in a Court held by a Collector under this Act without any formal license from the Collector. But it shall be competent to the Collector to prohibit any person, who has been convicted by a competent Court of a Criminal offence, or who has been found guilty of fraudulent or dishonest conduct in the discharge of his duty as agent or mookhtar, to practise as an agent or mookhtar in his Court. When any charge of fraudulent or dishonest conduct in the discharge of his duty is brought against an agent or mookhtar, the Collector shall proceed in the manner prescribed in Section IV Act XVIII of 1852, and the order passed in the case shall be open to appeal to the superior Revenue authorities.

Powers of Deputy Collectors.

CXXXVIII. All the powers vested in the Collector by the preceding Sections of this Act may be exercised by any Deputy Collector in cases referred to him by a Collector, and in all cases without such reference, by any Deputy Collector having local jurisdiction in any Sub-division of a District.

Collectors and Deputy Collectors to be subject to general direction and control of the Commissioners and the Boards of Revenue.

CXXXIX. In the performance of their duties under this Act the Collectors and Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the general direction and control of the Commissioners and the Boards of Revenue; and the Deputy Collectors shall be subject to the direction and control of the Collectors to whom they are subordinate. Except as otherwise herein provided, all orders passed by a Collector under this Act shall be appealable to the Commissioner; and all orders passed by a Deputy Collector shall be appealable to the Collector; but no judgment or order of a Collector or Deputy Collector in any suit, and no order of a Collector or Deputy Collector in the execution of any decree, under this Act, shall be liable to be reversed or altered unless the same is expressly declared to be open to revision or appeal by the provisions of this Act.

No appeal from orders of Collectors and Deputy Collectors in certain cases.

Appeal from orders of Collectors and Deputy Collectors for contempt of Court.

CXL. All orders which may be passed by a Collector under Sections CXXXIII and CXXXV shall be appealable to the Commissioner; and all such orders passed by a Deputy Collector shall be appealable to the Collector. In all such cases the order which may be passed in appeal shall be final and conclusive.

No appeal from any decree for money below fifty Rupees unless the decision involve some question of right to enhance rents or some question relating to a title to land.

CXLI. In suits under Clauses 2, 4, and 7 of Section XVII and under Section XVIII of this Act, if the amount sued for or the value of the property claimed does not exceed fifty Rupees, the judgment of the Officer holding the Court shall be final, and not open to revision or appeal except as hereinafter provided, unless in any such suit a question of right to enhance or otherwise vary the rent of a cultivator or tenant, or any question relating to a title to land, or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, has been determined by the judgment, in which case the judgment shall be open to appeal in the manner provided in Sections CXLIV and CXLV of this Act.

In suits not open to appeal Collector or Deputy Collector may grant a re-hearing upon the discovery of new evidence, &c.

CXLII. In suits in which the judgment of the Officer holding the Court is final as provided in the last preceding Section, the Collector, or, if the case have been decided by a Deputy Collector, the Deputy Collector with the sanction of the Collector, may, upon the application of either party, if preferred within thirty days from the date of the decision, order the re-hearing of a suit, upon the ground of the discovery of a new evidence or matter material to the issue of the case which the applicant had no knowledge of, or could not produce at the time of trial.

In such suits when decided by a Deputy Collector the Collector on application may call for the case and set aside the judgment on the ground of substantial defect of procedure and himself pass orders.

CXLIII. When any such suit as aforesaid is decided by a Deputy Collector, the Collector, on the application of either party, if preferred within thirty days from the date of the decision, may call for the record of the case, and if there have been substantial defect in the procedure or investigation, from which there may be strong probable grounds for presuming a failure of justice, the Collector may set aside the judgment of the Deputy Collector, and make such investigation into the merits of the case and pass such decision thereon as to him may seem fit. But no judgment of a Deputy Collector in any such suit shall be reversed or altered, nor shall a re-hearing be directed, on the ground that the decision of any question of fact is contrary to or not warranted by the evidence duly taken in the case.

In suits other than those under Section CXLI appeal to lie only to Zillah Judge.

CXLIV. In all suits other than those in which the judgment of the Officer holding a Court under this Act is declared to be final by Section CXLI, an appeal from the judgment of such Officer shall be open to the Zillah Judge.

Rules regarding presentation and hearing of appeals.

CXLV. The petition of appeal shall be written on the stamp paper prescribed for appeals to the Zillah Judge from the subordinate Civil Courts with reference to the amount or value of the property involved in the appeal; and the rules in force in regard to the time within which appeals from the decisions of such Courts may be received, and to the manner in which such appeals are heard and determined, and to all proceedings which may be had in respect of such appeals, shall be applicable to appeals under this Act.

Suits to be preferred in the Revenue Office of the District or sub-division in which the greater part of the lands is situate.

CXLVI. Suits under this Act shall be preferred in the Revenue Office of the District or sub-division in which the cause of action shall have arisen. If the lands comprised in any talook, farm, or other tenure, or any lands held under one lease or engagement or at one entire rent in respect of which arrears of rent may be due, are situated in more than one District or sub-division, the District or sub-division in which the greater part of such lands is situate shall be held to be the District or sub division in which the cause of action has arisen; and if any question shall be raised respecting the District or sub division in which the greater part of the lands is situate, the Board of Revenue, or if all the lands be situate in one District the Collector of the District shall decide the question, and such decision shall be conclusive on the point of jurisdiction.

Except as above, Collector not to exercise jurisdiction in respect to lands situate beyond his District.

CXLVII. Except as provided in the last preceding Section no Collector shall exercise any jurisdiction under this Act in respect to any lands situate beyond the limits of the District to which he is appointed, by reason of such lands forming part of an estate the Revenue of which is paid into the Treasury of the said District.

Saving of rights of proprietors in respect of Putnee Talooks, &c. under Regulation VIII of 1819.

CXLVIII. Nothing contained in this Act shall be held to affect the right vested in proprietors of land under direct engagements with Government, of bringing to sale for arrears of rent Putnee Talooks and other similar tenures under the Provisions of Regulation VIII. 1819.

Commencement of Act.

CXLIX. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the day of

Interpretation.

CL. The word "Collector" as used in this Act shall include any Deputy Collector or other Officer vested with the full powers of a Collector and placed in independent charge of a District. The words "Civil Jail" shall include the Civil Jail of the Zillah and any place appointed by the Executive Government for the confinement of prisoners by any Court constituted under this Act. W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India

The 14th November 1857.

THE following Bill, as amended by the Select Committee to whom it was referred, is hereby published for general information:—

A Bill to make further provision relating to Foreigners.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision to enable the several Governments of the British Territories in India to prevent the subjects of Foreign States from residing or sojourning therein, or from passing through or travelling in the same, without the consent of the said Governments: It is enacted as follows:—

Foreigner to report his arrival in India.

I. Every Foreigner shall, on his arrival in any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company from any Port or place not within the said Territories, or from any Port or place not subject to the provisions of this Act, forthwith report himself to the Commissioner of Police, if he shall arrive at any of the Presidency Towns; or, if he shall arrive at any other place, to the Magistrate or to such other Officer as shall be appointed to receive such reports by the Governor General in Council, or (in places within their respective jurisdictions) by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall extend to any Foreigner being the Master or Commander of a ship or vessel, or employed therein.

Proviso.

What to be stated in the report

II. The report shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the person reporting himself, and shall specify his name or names, the nation to which he belongs, the place from which he shall have come, the place or places of his destination, the object of his pursuit, and the date of his arrival in the said Territories; and the report shall be recorded by the Officer to whom it is made.

Foreigners employed in a ship or vessel to report themselves when they cease to be so employed.

III. If any person included in the proviso to Section I shall remain in any part of the said Territories after he shall have ceased to be employed in a ship or vessel, he shall forthwith report himself in manner aforesaid.

Foreigners neglecting to report themselves to be dealt with in like manner as Foreigners travelling without a license.

IV. If any Foreigner shall neglect to report himself as required by this Act, he may be dealt with in the manner hereinafter provided in respect of Foreigners travelling without a license.

Foreigner not to travel in India without a license.

V. No Foreigner shall travel in or pass through any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company without a license.

License by whom to be granted.

VI. Licenses under this Act may be granted by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, or by the Chief Secretary to the Governments of Fort St. George and Bombay respectively, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjaub, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioner of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively, or by such other Officers as shall be specially authorized so to do by the Governor General of India in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners afore said.

What to be stated in licenses.

VII. Every such license shall state the name or names of the person to whom the license is granted, the nation to which he belongs, the district or districts through which he is authorized to pass, or the limits within which he is authorized to travel.

License may be granted subject to conditions and may be revoked.

VIII. The license may be granted subject to such conditions (if any) as the Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or (as regards their several jurisdictions) any of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners may by any general order direct, or as the Officer granting the license may deem necessary; and the license may be revoked at any time by the Governor General in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Officer granting the same.

Foreigner travelling without or contrary to the conditions of license may be apprehended.

IX. If any Foreigner travel in or attempt to pass through any part of the said Territories without such license as aforesaid, or beyond the districts or limits mentioned therein, or after such license shall have been revoked, or shall violate any of the conditions therein specified, he may be apprehended without warrant by a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or by any European Commissioned Officer in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or by a Member of a Volunteer Corps enrolled by authority of Government whilst on duty, or by any Police Officer.

Procedure upon apprehension by persons not being Magistrates or Police Officers.

X. If any person be apprehended by a person not being a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or a Police Officer, he shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police Officer, and carried before a Magistrate, who shall forthwith report the case to the Government to which he is subject, and shall cause the person brought before him to be discharged or to be conveyed to one of the Presidency Towns, or to be detained pending the orders of such Government.

Persons apprehended may be admitted to bail.

XI. All persons apprehended or detained under the above-mentioned provisions of this Act, may be admitted to bail by a Magistrate, or by any of the Officers authorized to grant licenses, and shall be put to as little inconvenience as possible during their detention in custody.

Removal of persons apprehended.

XII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, may order such person to remove himself from the said Territories by sea or by such other route as the Government may direct, or the Government may cause him to be removed from the said Territories by such route and in such manner, as to the Government shall seem fit.

Government may order any Foreigner to remove himself.

XIII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by writing order any Foreigner within his jurisdiction to remove himself from the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, or to remove himself therefrom by a particular route to be specified in the order.

Foreigner refusing to remove or returning without license after removal may be apprehended and detained.

XIV. If any Foreigner ordered to remove himself from the said Territories, or ordered to remove himself therefrom by any particular route, shall neglect or refuse so to do; or if any Foreigner, having removed himself from the said Territories in consequence of an order issued under any of the provisions of this Act, or having been removed from the said Territories under any of the said provisions, shall wilfully return to the said Territories without a license in writing granted by the Governor General of India in Council or by the Officer under whose order he shall have removed himself or been removed—such Foreigner may be apprehended and detained in safe custody, until he shall be discharged therefrom by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Executive Government, or of one of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act within whose jurisdiction he shall be so apprehended or detained, upon such terms and conditions as the said Governor General in Council, Executive Government, Chief Commissioner or Commissioner shall deem sufficient for the peace and security of the British Territories, and of the allies of Her Majesty and of the East India Company, and of the neighbouring Princes and States.

Government may prohibit persons, not being natural-born subjects, from travelling or passing through any part of India without a license.

XV. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act may by order prohibit any person or persons, or any class or classes of persons, not being a natural-born subject or subjects of Her Majesty, from residing or travelling in or passing through any part of the said Territories, or from passing from any part of India to another, without a license to be granted by such Officer or Officers as shall be specified in the order; and if such person shall wilfully disobey such order, he may be apprehended without warrant by any of the Officers specified in Section IX of this Act, and carried before a Magistrate and dealt with under the provisions of the said Section in the same manner as if he were a Foreigner; and the Government may order such person to be detained in safe custody, or under the surveillance of the Police, so long as it may be deemed necessary for the peace and security of the British Territories.

Police Officer may board ship to ascertain whether Foreigners are on board.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Police, or for a Magistrate or his Assistant, or for any Officer appointed to receive reports as mentioned in the first Section of this Act, or for any Police Officer under the authority of such Commissioner or Magistrate, to enter any ship or vessel in any Port or place within the Territories in the possession and under the control of the East India Company, in order to ascertain whether any Foreigner bound to report his arrival under Section I of this Act is on board of such ship or vessel; and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, to adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary for that purpose; and the Master or Commander of such ship or vessel shall also, before any of the passengers are allowed to disembark, if he shall be required so to do by such Commissioner of Police or other Officer as aforesaid, deliver to him a list in writing of the passengers on board, specifying the Ports or places at which they embarked, and the Ports or places of their disembarkation or intended disembarkation, and answer, to the best of his knowledge, all such questions touching the passengers on board the said ship or vessel, or touching those who may have disembarked in any part of India, as shall be put to him by the Commissioner of Police or other Officer as aforesaid. If any Foreigner on board such ship or vessel in any part of India shall refuse to give any account of his objects of pursuit in India, or if his account thereof shall not be satisfactory, the Officer may refuse to allow him to disembark, or he may be dealt with in the same manner as a Foreigner travelling in India without a license.

Master of ship to furnish list of passengers.

XVII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any of the powers vested in him by this Act, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or to both.

Obstructing Officers.

XVIII. If the Master or Commander of any ship or vessel shall wilfully neglect or refuse to comply with the requisitions of this Act, he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two thousand Rupees.

Penalty if Master neglects to report

XIX. Whoever shall wilfully give a false answer to any question which by this Act he is bound to answer, or shall make any false report, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees.

False answer.

XX. The word "Foreigner" in this Act shall be deemed to mean a person not being a natural-born subject of Her Majesty, or a native of a place in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company. The word "Magistrate" shall include every person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, and Justice of the Peace.

Interpretation.

XXI. If a question shall arise whether any person alleged to be a Foreigner and to be subject to the provisions of this Act is a Foreigner or not, or is or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, the onus of proving that such person is not a Foreigner or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, shall lie upon such person.

Proof of being a Foreigner.

XXII. This Act shall continue in force for two years; and it shall not extend to the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the Territory of Aden, unless the same shall be specially declared applicable to such Settlement or Territory by the Governor General of India in Council.

Operation of Act.

XXIII. The foregoing provisions of this Act shall not extend to any Foreign Minister duly accredited by his Government, nor to any Consul or Vice-Consul, nor to any person under the age of fourteen years, nor to any person in the service of the British Government. The Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may exempt any person, or any class of persons, either temporarily or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Act.

Exceptions.

XXIV. Any Officer of Government or other person, who, prior to the passing of this Act, may have done any thing which would have been justified by this Act, if it had been in force at the time, is hereby indemnified for so doing; and no action or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted in respect of any thing so done.

Indemnity.

Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

THE following Bill was read a first and second time in the Legislative Council on the 14th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee, who will report thereon on the 21st November 1857:—

A Bill to amend the Articles of War for the Native Army.

WHEREAS it is expedient that, on every conviction of Mutiny or Desertion, Government should have power to order the offender to be marked; It is enacted as follows:—

I. Whenever any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army shall be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, it shall be lawful for the Governor General in Council, or for the Executive Government of the Presidency in which the offender shall have been tried, to order him to be marked on the left side two inches below the armpit with the letter M in the case of a conviction of Mutiny, and with the letter D in the case of a conviction of Desertion, together with such other mark as the Government may consider necessary for the purpose of identifying the offender at any future time, or of denoting the punishment to which he has been sentenced. The letter shall not be less than an inch long, and such letter and other mark shall be made upon the skin with some ink, gunpowder, or other preparation, so as to be visible and conspicuous and not liable to be obliterated.

Marking of Mutineers and Deserters.

II. Any sentence or order, by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may upon conviction of Mutiny or Desertion have been ordered to be marked, shall be deemed valid.

Past sentences and orders to be deemed valid.

No. 1479 of 1857.—The following Notification, from the Home Department, is published in General Orders :—

The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following Extract from the proceedings in the Financial Department, dated the 13th November 1857, for general information :—

"Read an Extract from the Proceedings of this Government in the Home Department, No. 2321, dated the 9th instant, forwarding for consideration copy of a Despatch from the Hon'ble Court, together with a Memorandum by the Secretary in that Department, on the subject of granting assistance to sufferers in consequence of the Mutinies.

"Resolution.—The Hon'ble Court, in their Public Despatch, No. 118 of 1857, dated the 26th August, having expressed an anxious desire, that every measure of succour within the power of the Government should be promptly afforded to the survivors of those who have suffered from the loss of relations and property during the recent disturbances, especially to the widows and orphans of Civil and Military Officers who have fallen victims to the outbreak, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council considers that the different ways in which aid may be suitably afforded by the Government are as follows :—

"1*st.*—By grants of money to European and Native Civil and Military Officers of the Government, who have lost the whole or a large portion of their property by the Mutinies.

"2*ndly.*—By Pensions to the families of Uncovenanted Officers of the Government, who have been killed in the Mutinies, and have not left means either in property, or in claims on any Insurance or Charitable Fund.

"3*rdly.*—By the grant of relief to the Bengal Military Fund, to enable it to meet the liabilities thrown upon it in consequence of the Mutinies.

"4*thly.*—By grants of money to Europeans and others not in the Service of the Government.

"5*thly.*—By Pensions to the destitute families of Europeans killed in the Mutinies.

"6*thly.*—By free passages on board Government Steamers.

"2. With regard to grants of money to European and Native Officers of Government, His Lordship in Council is of opinion that the following principle should be observed :—

"1*st.*—That grants of Military Officers should be adjusted according to the scale allowed under the Pay and Audit Regulations to Officers of Artillery and Infantry, as compensation for the loss of Baggage and Camp Equipage when on duty in the Field, viz. :

„ Major	„	2,813	0	0
„ Deputy and Assistant Commissary	„	1,450	0	0

To Conductors, Apothecaries, and Stewards...	„	920	15	0
„ Assistant Apothecaries and Stewards ...	„	606	14	1

"To Native Officers, one month's pay and full batta.

"2nd.—That grants to Covenanted Civil Officers should be regulated in the same scale according to their relative rank.

"3rd.—That grants to Uncovenanted Civil Officers should be awarded according to the under-mentioned scale:

	Rs
If on Salaries of Rs. 500 a month or upwards ..	2,000
If on Salaries of Rs. 250 a month or upwards .	1,000
If on Salaries of Rs. 100 a month or upwards .	500
If on Salaries of Rs. 50 a month or upwards .	200
If on Salaries of Rs. 25 a month or upwards ..	100
If on Salaries in excess of 10 Rs. a month ..	50

"It being understood in every case, whatever the amount of the Officer's Salary, that no donation or pension shall be sanctioned, until it be ascertained that the applicant (whether European, East Indian or Native) has in no way been concerned in the Mutinies.

"3. In every case also, a declaration on honor should be required from the Officer concerned, to the effect that he has lost property to the full value of the sum awardable to him.

"4. Claims to grants under this head should be preferred by Civil Officers and Military Officers in Civil employ to the Authority of the District in which the loss occurred, and submitted by him, after such enquiry, and with such remarks, as he may think necessary, to the Commissioner of the Division, who should be authorized to admit or reject the claim, subject, in the case of rejection, to an appeal to the Local Government, whose decision should be final.

"5. Claims to grants under this head by Military Officers on Regimental or Staff duty should be made to their Commanding Officer, or the Head of their Department, who, after such enquiry as he may think necessary, may admit or reject the claim, subject, in the case of rejection, to an appeal to this Government.

"6. No grant under this head will be made to the estate or family of a deceased Officer, the object being to enable Officers to supply themselves with necessary equipment without incurring debt, and no grant will be made to any Officer whose loss may seem to have occurred through any fault or neglect of his own.

"7. With respect to the Pensions to be granted to the destitute widows and children of Uncovenanted Officers who have lost their lives in consequence of the Mutinies, His Lordship in Council observes, that no fixed Rule exists for the determination of the amount of Pensions provided for their families by the Subscribers to the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund; but that the Subscriptions to the Fund appear to be for the most part in proportion to the Salaries of the several Members, and His Lordship in Council is of opinion, that it will be equitable, in granting Pensions in the cases under consideration, to divide the applicants into classes with reference to the Salaries drawn by the deceased Officers, in somewhat the same manner as is proposed for the regulation of donations to Officers who have lost property, and to award Pensions equal to the average amount of Pensions subscribed for by Members of the Fund of each Class.

"8 The Classes will be as follows:—

"1.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing Salaries of 500 Rupees a month and upwards.

"2.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing Salaries of 300 Rupees a month and less than 500 Rupees.

"3.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing 200 Rupees a month and less than 300 Rupees.

"4.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing 100 Rupees a month and less than 200 Rupees.

"5.—Cases in which the deceased men were drawing 50 Rupees a month and less than 100 Rupees.

"9. Cases in which the deceased men were drawing less than 50 Rupees a month, will be decided with reference to the peculiar circumstances of each, on the understanding that, as a general rule, Pensions to widows shall not be granted in excess of one-fifth of the pay of the deceased Officers, or to children, in excess of one-fourth of the Pensions of the widows.

"10. In all cases, the Pensions of widows shall cease on re-marriage; those of sons on their attaining the age of 18 years, and those of daughters on marriage.

"11. In exceptional cases, Pensions will be allowed to other female relatives.

"12. All applications for such Pensions must be submitted in the usual manner through the local Civil Authorities.

"13 As regards the grant of relief to the Military Fund, the Governor General in Council considers that it will be more advisable to undertake the annual payment of the Pensions of those who have become entitled to them, than to make over to the Fund a sum equal to the present value of those Pensions.

"14. With reference to grants of money to Europeans not in the Service of the Government, His Lordship in Council considers that such grants should be given on the same principle as those allowed to the European and Native Officers of the Government; that is to say, to those who have lost all, or nearly all, their property in consequence of the Mutinies, and who have not the means of setting themselves up again either in business or otherwise.

"15. Similar grants will be made to those persons, not being Europeans, who may be certified, by any Officer authorized by Government to give the Certificate, to have sustained damage in consequence of, or whilst rendering active assistance to the Government.

"16. In no case should a grant under this head exceed Rupees 2,000, the maximum allowed to Uncovenanted Officers, and the amount should be regulated according to the circumstances of each case.

"17. Applications for grants under this head should be made to the local Civil Officers, and submitted by them to the Commissioners of Divisions, after such enquiry, and with such remarks, as may be deemed necessary. The Commissioners will submit a general statement of such claims for the final decision of the Local Government.

"18. Pensions to the destitute families of Europeans not in the Service of Government killed in the Mutinies will be granted on the same terms as to the families of Uncovenanted Civil Servants of the Government, regard being had to the circumstances of life in each case, and special consideration being shown for the families of those who may have died in the temporary service of the State.

"19. Free passages in Government and private Steamers have been granted already to all women and children proceeding from the Stations up the country to Bengal. A similar indulgence will be allowed to such persons returning to their homes, when the prohibition against residence in the disturbed Districts is removed.

"20. This indulgence, however, will be restricted to passages on board Government Steamers, or in private Steamers taken up by the Government for the conveyance of Stores, on the understanding that it will not be allowed to interfere with the conveyance of Troops or of persons proceeding up the country on the Public Service."

No. 1480 of 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council has much gratification in publishing for general information the following Military letter from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors to the Government of India, No. 184, of the 6th October 1857 :—

To

J. I. Harvey, Esquire,

Secretary to the Govt. Savings Bank,

Fort William.

Financial Department.

Sir,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 347, dated the 29th ultimo, forwarding for orders copy of a letter from the Secretary to the Government Savings Bank at Bombay, enquiring whether the Notification from this Department of the 11th September last, cited in the margin,* extends to Soldiers' Treasury Notes formerly bearing interest at 3½ per cent. per annum.

2. In reply, I am desired to inform you, that as Soldiers' Treasury Notes are payable on demand, and are therefore easily convertible into cash, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council approves of your suggestion, and authorizes their conversion of the Notes in question into Soldiers' Treasury Notes, bearing interest at the rate of ½ per cent per annum, with effect from the 1st of September last.

* "The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct, that subject to the orders of the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, the present rates of Interest allowed to Depositors in the several Government Savings Banks, viz. 3 per cent. per annum to Civil and 3½ per cent. to Military Depositors, be raised to 4 per cent per annum on sums lodged by all classes of Depositors.

"The alteration of rate to take effect retrospectively from the 1st instant."

I have the honor to be, &c.,

Opium Notification.

Notice is hereby given, that the Twelfth Sale of Opium—the Provision of 1855-56—will be held at the Exchange Hall on Friday, the 4th of December 1857, at 11 A. M., and will comprise 3,698 Chests, viz.:—

	Chests.
Behar Opium	2,558
Benares Ditto	1,140
Total Chests ...	3,698

2. The General Conditions of the Sale now advertised will be the same as usual. They may be ascertained by reference to the Notification issued on the 27th of November 1856, and published in the Calcutta and Exchange Gazettes, or on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

3. The latest dates for Deposit and Clearance will be the 9th and 19th of December 1857, respectively, that is to say, no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, Company's Paper, or other Public Securities, that may be tendered for deposit in redemption of Promissory Notes given by Purchasers at the Sale, will be received after 4 P. M. of Wednesday, the 9th of December 1857, and no Treasury Receipts in full payment of Lots will be accepted after 4 P. M. of Saturday, the 19th of December 1857.

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. Grey,

Offg. Junior Secretary.

Fort William, }
The 23rd November 1857. }

Notice.

It is hereby notified, that Seventy-five Lots of Behar Opium, of the Sale held on the 4th Ultimo, for which the Promissory Notes deposited were not redeemed within the period prescribed in the 5th Clause of the Sale Conditions, will be re-sold at the risk of the former Purchasers.

Opium.

2. The Opium in question, divided into three equal portions of Twenty-five Lots, or One hundred and Twenty-five Chests, will be re-sold at the Exchange Hall immediately after the conclusion of the Chests advertised for Sale at the next three Sales of the year, on or about the 9th October, 12th November, and 4th December, respectively, one-third portion for public convenience being re-sold on each occasion.

3. The Conditions of Re-sale will be the same as those of the General Sales referred to.

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. Grey,

Offg. Junior Secretary.

Fort William, }
The 1st October 1857. }

Notification.

Fort William, the 20th November 1857.

Notice is hereby given, that on Monday, the 11th January 1858, at the hour of Eleven o'Clock in the fore-noon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the under-mentioned quantity of Opium, the provision of 1856-57, subject to the following Conditions, viz.:—

Produce of Behar Agency ...	Chests	1,815
Ditto of Benares ditto ...	„	890
Total Chests ...		2,705

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P. M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on, until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the quantity of 2,705 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertsied, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4. Each lot to contain five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupees 1,000, at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book; and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th January, or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times, and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last-mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 16th January, will be placed in the hands of the Attorney to the Hon'ble Company for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities, on account of Opium, upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 16th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertised for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M. of Tuesday, the 26th January 1858, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit of 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such Lots or Chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government, at such time and in such manner, as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or Orders for the delivery of Opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or Order, and it is to be clearly understood, that the Certificates or Orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or Orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of Lots or Chests, whether more or less, than the number of Lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or Order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of Public Securities, under the Fifth of the present Conditions, will be received in this Office, except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book, or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per cent. even money of the amount bid or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified, that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing, in immediate succession, at the same price, and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency Opium, to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and all and every plea and pleas to the jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue:—

No. 1.—Certificate of the Opium now advertised for Sale.

No. 2.—Report of the Examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed, that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1856-57, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the Cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each Cake.

An account of the weight of the drug when packed, and a statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches, on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season, will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertised for Sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The total quantity of Behar Opium of 1856-57, advertised in the Notice of 19th September last, was 22,302 Chests. Of this quantity, 500 Chests will be withdrawn for Abkaree purposes, leaving available only 21,802 Chests for the Sales of 1858. The Board purpose disposing of the 10,000 Chests of this Provision, which have been re-packed in Calcutta, in the first Sales of the year, and the remainder in the after sales.

19. The public are hereby informed, that in addition to the quantity above mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium, of 1856-57, will be brought to Sale in the year 1858, on or about the dates specified below; the Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates, should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

20. It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that, out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December 1858, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 32,468 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for Sale at each or any of the twelve Sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a Sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

"Article 6th.—With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties, that at each of the periodical Sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of Chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed Three hundred Chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical Sale, it being understood that, if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agent of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the Three hundred Chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta, within thirty days after Notice of the intended Sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. GREY,
Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 21st November 1857.

Notification.

The 19th October 1857.

WITH the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, it is hereby declared that the Port of Maulmain and the Navigable River and Channel leading to that Port, are subject to Act XXII. of 1855.

The limits of the said Port of Maulmain are as follows:—

The following Extract (Paragraphs 1 and 2) from a Despatch, No. 13 of 1857, dated the 16th September, from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, in the Ecclesiastical Department, is published for general information:—

"1.—The state of disorganization in nearly all the Districts of the N. W. Provinces, and in other parts of the Territories under your Government, having rendered the despatch of a large additional force of European Troops necessary, we have directed all Chaplains and Assistant Chaplains who are at Home on Furlough or leave on Private Affairs, to return forthwith to their duties, and as regards Absentees on Sick Certificate, we have ordered that those who have been absent for twelve months and upwards shall likewise return immediately, unless they shall produce a sufficient Medical Certificate of the necessity of their continued residence in this Country.

"2. It is not our intention that Chaplains or Assistant Chaplains who have been obliged, under the operation of this Order, to return to India before the expiration of the Furloughs to which their services had entitled them, should, in respect to the remaining portions of the Furloughs now relinquished, be subject to the restrictions prescribed by the printed Rules as to the periods which must ordinarily elapse before leave can again be given. It will be at your discretion to permit them to take the remainder of their Furloughs whenever their services may not be required in India."

No. 4692.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, in the Financial Department, under date the 29th October 1857.

READ an Endorsement, No. 2026, dated the 3rd Instant, from the Home Department, forwarding, for consideration and orders, a Letter No. 2363, dated the 17th Ultimo, from the Secretary to the Government of Bombay, requesting to be informed of the terms on which Privilege Leave may be taken by Medical Officers employed as Civil Assistant Surgeons, or in other Civil duties.

READ a Report from the Civil Auditor, Fort William, No. 2087, dated the 8th Instant, on the above subject.

RESOLUTION.—The Government of Bombay enquires as to the terms on which Privilege Leave may be taken by Medical Officers employed as Civil Assistant Surgeons, or in other Civil duties.

On this enquiry, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council remarks, that as Military Officers in Civil Employ are on the same footing, in respect to Leave of Absence, as Military Officers performing Military duties, and as Medical Officers in Civil Employ have already been placed on the same footing as Military Officers in Civil Employ, there can be no reason why they should not be allowed to remain on the same footing in respect to Privilege Leave. His Lordship in Council is accordingly pleased to decide that the indulgence granted to Military Officers under a General Order issued from the Military Department, No. 466, dated 27th March 1857, of a temporary leave without pecuniary loss for sixty days consecutively in the course of each year, or thirty days consecutively in each half year, may be extended to Medical Officers in Civil Employ, when no inconvenience or extra expense is entailed on the Government.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a Copy of the foregoing Resolution be sent to the Home Department, for communication to the Government of Bombay, and that the original paper received therefrom be returned, a Copy being kept for record in this Department.

Ordered further, that a transcript of the above Resolution be sent to the Departments,* the Governments,† and the Officers,‡ noted in the margin, for their respective information and guidance.

No. 1498 of 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to admit Subadar Major Jallum Sing, of the 4th Battalion Bombay Artillery, to the First Class of the Order of British India, with the title of "Sirdar Bahadoor," from the 8th September 1857, for long, faithful and honorable service and exemplary loyalty to the State in frustrating an attempted mutiny of the Native Artillery at Hyderabad (Scinde).

No. 1499 of 1857.—Notification.—It being understood that Prize Agents have been appointed at Delhi for the collection of Booty captured by the British Troops from the Mutineers and other Persons in rebellion against the Government, it is hereby notified, for the information and guidance of all Parties concerned, that a clear distinction exists, in cases of re-capture, between property of the State originally captured by an Enemy in time of War, and similar property seized by Rebels or Mutineers during an Insurrection.

In the former case, the property re-captured is in general properly treated as property of the hostile State, and becomes subject to the Laws of Prize.

But in an Insurrection such as the present one, the Troops of the State whose property has been pillaged by its own Subjects, or by Foreigners aiding such Subjects in their treason, when they re-take such property from the Plunderers, merely re-take it on behalf of the Government, and acquire no legal right of prize or of property, although they have strong claims on the liberality of the Government.

These principles apply also to the property of Private Individuals plundered by the Insurgents and re-taken by the Troops of the State. Such Private Property can in no case be deemed lawful Prize when clearly identified and claimed by the original Owner.

In accordance with these principles, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that Officers in Command of bodies of Troops employed in quelling the present Insurrection, shall appoint Committees of Officers for the purpose of taking an account of all Treasure and other Public Property, Cattle, Munitions of War, Stores, &c., re-captured from the Insurgents and Mutineers, in order to the delivery of the property so recovered into the nearest Treasury, or into the custody of the proper Civil or Military Officers; and that copies of such accounts shall be transmitted to the Secretary in the Military Department for the information of Government.

Separate accounts will also be taken by the Committees of all Private Property captured or re-captured, and copies of these accounts will be transmitted to the Military Department, with statements of claims, if any, made by the Owners.

In all cases of clear identification of property restitution may be made to the Owners on the spot; provided that in the case of Natives they shall prove, to the satisfaction of the Committee, that they have not been guilty of any offence for which their property would be liable to forfeiture, and have, to the best of their ability, rendered active assistance to the British Government; and when claims are not clearly established, or the property belongs to any Person deceased, the orders of Government are to be awaited before delivery.

The claims of the Troops composing the Field Force by which Delhi has been nobly wrested from the hands of the Mutineers and Rebels, and by whose gallantry signal punishment has been inflicted on the Insurgents there, are fully appreciated by the Governor General in Council, and in recognition of their services His Lordship in Council is pleased to grant a donation of six months' Batta to be forthwith distributed to all the Troops engaged in the operations against Delhi.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 21st November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next :—

A Bill for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the law for the registry of Seamen and the grant of Register Tickets has been found to be ineffective for the purposes intended; and whereas, by Section CCLXXXVIII of an Act of the Imperial Parliament called "the Merchant Shipping Act 1854," it is enacted that, "if the Governor General of India in Council, or the respective Legislative authorities in any British possession abroad, by any Acts, Ordinances, or other appropriate legal means, apply or adapt any of the provisions in the third part of this Act contained to any British ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within their respective jurisdictions, and to the owners, masters, mates, and crews thereof, such provisions when so applied and adapted as aforesaid, and as long as they remain in force, shall, in respect of the ships and persons to which the same are applied, be enforced, and penalties and punishments for the breach thereof shall be recovered and inflicted throughout Her Majesty's dominions, in the same manner as if such provisions had been hereby so adapted and applied, and such penalties and punishments had been hereby expressly imposed." And whereas it is expedient to discontinue the practice of registry and the grant of Register Tickets, and to apply to ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, certain provisions of the third part of the said Act with such adaptations and modifications as are required by the circumstances of the said Territories, and for the purposes aforesaid to repeal the laws now in force in the said Territories relating to Merchant Seamen: It is enacted as follows :—

Acts repealed.

I. Act XXVII of 1850, entitled "An Act for the registry of Merchant Seamen," and Act XXVIII of 1850, entitled "An Act for the encouragement of Merchant Seamen," are hereby repealed, except as to acts done and agreements made before the passing of this Act.

Shipping Offices.

Shipping Offices.

II. A Shipping Office shall be established at each of the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay and at such other Ports as the Governor General of India in Council shall hereafter deem necessary. For every such Office there shall be a Superintendent, to be called a "Shipping Master," with such necessary Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, at such salaries and subject to such regulations as the local Government shall from time to time, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, direct and appoint. Every act done by or before any Deputy duly appointed shall have the same effect as if done by or before a Shipping Master.

Business of Shipping Masters.

III. It shall be the general business of Shipping Masters appointed under this Act, to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen in manner hereinafter mentioned, and to perform such other duties relating to Merchant Seamen and merchant ships as are hereby, or under the said Merchant Shipping

Act 1854, or as may hereafter under the powers herein contained, be committed to them. It shall also be the duty of Shipping Masters to give to all persons desirous of apprenticing boys to the sea-service, and duly authorized so to do by Act XIX of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices), and also to masters and owners of ships requiring apprentices, such assistance as may be in their power for facilitating the making of such apprenticeships.

Fees to be paid upon engagements and discharges.

IV. Such fees, not exceeding the sums specified in the Table marked (A) in the Schedule to this Act, as are from time to time fixed by the local Government, shall be payable upon all engagements and discharges effected before Shipping Masters as hereinafter mentioned. Scales of the fees payable for the time being shall be conspicuously placed in the Shipping Offices; and all Shipping Masters, their Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, may refuse to proceed with any engagement unless the fees payable thereon are first paid.

Fees by whom to be paid, &c.

V. Every owner or master of a ship engaging or discharging any seaman in a Shipping Office or before a Shipping Master shall pay to the Shipping Master the whole of the fees hereby made payable in respect of such engagement or discharge, and may, for the purpose of in part reimbursing himself, deduct in respect of each such engagement or discharge from the wages of all persons (except apprentices) so engaged or discharged, and retain any sums not exceeding the sums specified in that behalf in the Table marked [redacted] in the Schedule hereto: Provided that, if in any cases the sums which the owner is so entitled to deduct, exceed the amount of the fee payable by him, such excess shall be paid by him to the Shipping Master in addition to such fee.

Penalty on Shipping Master taking other remuneration.

VI. Any Shipping Master, Deputy Shipping Master, or any Clerk or Servant in any Shipping Office, who demands or receives any remuneration whatever, either directly or indirectly, for hiring or supplying any seaman for any merchant ship, excepting the lawful fees payable under this Act, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, and shall also be dismissed from his office.

Business of Shipping Office may be transacted at Custom House or elsewhere.

VII. The local Government may direct that, at any place at which no separate Shipping Office is established, the whole or any part of the business of the Shipping Office shall be conducted at the Custom House, or at the Office of the Master Attendant or Harbour Master, or at such other Office as the Government shall direct, and thereupon the same shall be there conducted accordingly; and in respect of such business such Custom House or Office as aforesaid shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Office, and the Officer of Customs or other Officer there, to whom such business is committed, shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Master within the meaning of this Act.

Examinations and Certificates of Masters and Mates

Examinations.

VIII. Examinations shall be instituted for persons who intend to become masters or mates of Foreign-going ships or of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, or who wish to procure certificates of competency hereinafter mentioned.

Local Government to appoint examiners.

IX. The local Government or any Board or Officer duly authorized by the local Government in that behalf shall from time to time nominate two or more competent persons for the purpose of examining the qualifications of the applicants for examination. The local Government may, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, make rules for the conduct of such examinations and as to the qualifications to be required; and such rules shall be strictly adhered to by all examiners.

Rules for conduct of examination.

Fees.

Fees at the following rates shall be paid by all applicants for examination.

For a certificate as Master... ...	10 Rupees
Ditto ditto as Mate	5 „

Certificates of competency.

X. The local Government or such Board or Officer as aforesaid shall deliver to every applicant who is reported by the examiners to have passed the examination satisfactorily, and to have given satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience, ability, and general good conduct on boardship, a certificate (hereinafter called a "certificate of competency") to the effect that he is competent to act as master or [redacted] of a Foreign-going ship or of a Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, as the case may be.

Certificates of service.

XI. Certificates of service differing in form from certificates of competency shall be granted as follows, (that is to say)—

1.—Every person who before the day of served as master in the British merchant service or as master of any Foreign-going ship registered under Act X of 1841, or who has attained or attains the rank of Lieutenant, Master, passed Mate, or second Mate, or any higher rank, in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master for Foreign-going ships.

2.—Every person who before the said day served as mate in the British merchant service or as mate of any such ship as aforesaid shall be entitled to a certificate of service as mate for Foreign-going ships.

3.—Every person who before the day of served as master or mate of a Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master or mate (according to such previous service) for such Home-trade ships.

And each of such certificates of service shall contain particulars of the name and of the length and nature of the previous service of the person to whom it is delivered; and the local Government or such other authority as aforesaid shall deliver such certificates of service to the various persons so respectively entitled thereto upon their proving themselves to have attained such rank or to have served as aforesaid and upon their giving a full and satisfactory account of the particulars aforesaid.

No Foreign-going ship and no Home-trade ship above 300 tons to go to sea without certificate of master, &c.

XII. No Foreign-going ship or Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons shall go to sea from any Port in the said Territories unless the master and one officer besides the master have obtained and possess valid and appropriate certificates either of competency or service under this Act or under the Merchant Shipping Act 1854; and whoever having been engaged to serve as master or mate, goes to sea as aforesaid as such master or mate without being at the time entitled to and possessed of such a certificate as hereinbefore required, and whoever employs any person as such master or mate without ascertaining that he is at the time entitled to and possessed of such certificate, shall for each such offence be liable to a penalty of five hundred Rupees.

Certificates for Foreign-going ships available for Home-trade ships.

XIII. Every certificate of competency for a Foreign-going ship shall be deemed to be of a higher grade than the corresponding certificate for a Home-trade ship, and shall entitle the lawful holder thereof to go to sea in the corresponding grade in such last-mentioned ship; but no certificate for a Home-trade ship shall entitle the holder to go to sea as master or mate of a Foreign-going ship.

Records of grants; cancellations &c. of certificates.

XIV. All certificates, whether of competency or service, shall be made in duplicate; and one part shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded as the local Government shall direct. A note of all orders made for cancelling, suspending, altering, or otherwise affecting any certificate in pursuance of the powers herein contained, shall be entered in the record of certificates.

Loss of certificate.

XV. Whenever any master or mate proves to the satisfaction of the local Government or such other authority as aforesaid that he has, without fault on his part, lost or been deprived of any certificate already granted to him, a copy of the certificate to which by the record so kept as aforesaid he appears to be entitled, shall be delivered to him, and shall have all the effect of the original.

Foregoing provisions not to apply to ships registered under Act X of 1841, navigated by Asiatic seamen and trading between Indian and Arabian Ports.

XVI. The foregoing Sections shall not apply to ships registered under Act X of 1841, and trading between Ports in the said Territories and the Coast of Arabia when such ships are navigated and manned exclusively by Arabs, lascars, or other Asiatic masters and seamen.

Local Government may make rules for granting certificates to the masters of such ships.

The local Government may frame such rules as it shall deem proper, for examining and granting certificates to the masters and officers of such vessels.

Engagement of Seamen.

Licenses to procure seamen.

XVII. The local Government, or any Board or Officer duly authorized by the local Government in that behalf, may grant to such persons as may be deemed fit, licenses to engage or supply seamen for merchant ships, to continue for such periods, to be upon such terms, and to be revocable upon such conditions as the Government thinks proper.

Penalties.

XVIII. The following offences shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned; (that is to say)—

For supplying seamen without license.

(1.) If any person not licensed as aforesaid, other than the owner or master or mate of the ship, or some person who is bonâ fide the servant and in the constant employ of the owner, or a Shipping Master duly appointed as aforesaid, engages or supplies any seaman to be entered on board any ship, he shall for each seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

For employing unlicensed persons.

(2.) If any person employs any unlicensed person, other than persons so excepted as aforesaid, for the purpose of engaging or supplying any seaman to be entered on board any ship, he shall for each seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees, and if licensed, shall in addition forfeit his license.

For receiving seamen illegally supplied.

(3.) If any person knowingly receives or accepts to be entered on board any ship any seaman who has been engaged or supplied contrary to the provisions of this Act, he shall for every seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for receiving remuneration from seamen for shipping them.

XIX. If any person demands or receives, either directly or indirectly, from any seaman, or from any person seeking employment as a seaman, or from any person on his behalf, any remuneration whatever, other than the fees hereby authorized, for providing him with employment, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Agreements with seamen.

XX. The master of every ship except ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons, employed only in the Home-trade, shall enter into an agreement with every seaman whom he carries to sea from any Port in the said Territories as one of his crew in the manner hereinafter mentioned; and every such agreement shall be in a form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, and shall be dated at the time of the first signature thereof, and shall be signed by the master before any seaman signs the same, and shall contain the following particulars as terms thereof; (that is to say)—

1.—The nature, and as far as practicable, the duration of the intended voyage or engagement.

2.—The number and description of the crew, specifying how many are engaged as sailors.

3.—The time at which each seaman is to be on board or to begin work.

4.—The capacity in which each seaman is to serve.

5.—The amount of wages which each seaman is to receive.

6.—A scale of the provisions which are to be furnished to each seaman.

7.—Any regulations as to conduct on board, and as to fines, short allowance of provisions, or other lawful punishments for misconduct, which have been sanctioned by the Government as regulations proper to be adopted and which the parties agree to adopt.

And every such agreement shall be so framed as to admit of stipulations, to be adopted at the will of the master and seaman in each case, (not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Act,) as to advance and allotment of wages, and may contain any other stipulations which are not contrary to law.

Proviso as to forms for British or Colonial ships.

Provided that, if the master of any ship belonging to the United Kingdom or any British possession has an agreement with his crew made in due form according to the law of the place to which such ship belongs or in which her crew were engaged, and engages single seamen in any Port within the said Territories, such seamen may sign the agreement so made, and it shall not be necessary for them to sign an agreement under this Act.

Proviso where lascars are shipped.

Provided also that, in the case of lascars or other native seamen, when it shall be agreed that the service of any such seaman shall end at any Port not in the said Territories, the agreement shall contain stipulations for providing for such seaman fit employment on board some other vessel bound to the Port at which he was shipped, or such other Port as may be agreed on, or for providing for him a passage to some such Port as aforesaid free of charge, or on such other terms as may be agreed on; and every such stipulation shall be signed by the owner of the vessel or by the master on his behalf, and also by the consignee or agent (if any), and shall be binding upon the said owner, and upon the consignee or agent.

For Foreign-going ships such agreements, except in special cases, to be made before and attested by a Shipping Master.

XXI. In the case of all Foreign-going ships, in whatever part of Her Majesty's Dominions the same are registered, the following rules shall be observed with respect to agreements; (that is to say—)

Agreement to be signed by seaman.

1.—Every agreement made in any Port within the said Territories (except in such cases of agreements with substitutes as are hereinafter specially provided for) shall be signed by each seaman in the presence of a Shipping Master.

Shipping Master to cause agreement to be explained to seamen.

2.—Such Shipping Master shall cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, in a language understood by him, or shall otherwise ascertain that each seaman understands the same before he signs it, and shall attest each signature.

To be in duplicate.

3.—When the crew is first engaged the agreement shall be signed in duplicate, and one part shall be retained by the Shipping Master, and the other part shall contain a special place or form for the descriptions and signatures of substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship, and shall be delivered to the master.

Provision for substitutes.

4.—In the case of substitutes engaged in the place of seamen who have duly signed the agreement, and whose services are lost within twenty-four hours of the ship's putting to sea by death, desertion, or other unforeseen cause, the engagement shall, when practicable, be made before some Shipping Master duly appointed in the manner hereinbefore specified; and whenever such last-mentioned engagement cannot be so made, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to the seamen; and the seamen shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest their signatures.

Foreign-going ships making short voyages may have running agreements.

XXII. In the case of Foreign-going ships making voyages averaging less than six months in duration, running agreements with the crew may be made to extend over two or more voyages, so that no such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship at her Port of destination within the said Territories after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival; and every person entering into such agreement, whether engaged upon the first commencement thereof or otherwise, shall enter into and sign the same in the manner hereby required for other Foreign-going ships; and every person engaged thereunder, if discharged in any Port within the said Territories, shall be discharged in the manner hereby required for the discharge of seamen belonging to other Foreign-going ships.

Engagement and discharge of seamen in the meantime.

XXIII. The master of every Foreign-going ship for which such a running agreement as aforesaid is made shall, upon every return to any Port within the said Territories before the final termination of the agreement, discharge or engage before the Shipping Master at such Port any seaman whom he is required by law so to discharge or engage, and shall upon every such return endorse on the agreement a statement (as the case may be) either that no such discharges or engagements have been made or are intended to be made before the ship again leaves Port, or that all such discharges or engagements have been duly made as hereinbefore required; and shall deliver the agreement so endorsed to the Shipping Master; and any master who wilfully makes a false statement in such endorsement shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and the Shipping Master shall also sign an endorsement on the agreement to the effect that the provisions of this Act relating to such agreement have been complied with, and shall re-deliver the agreement so endorsed to the master.

Fees to be paid on such running agreement.

XXIV. For the purpose of determining the fees to be paid upon the engagement and discharge of seamen belonging to Foreign-going ships which have running agreements as aforesaid, the crew shall be considered to be engaged when the agreement is first signed, and to be discharged when the agreement finally terminates; and all intermediate engagements and discharges shall be considered to be engagements and discharges of single seamen.

In Home-trade ships agreement to be entered into before a Shipping Master or other witness.

XXV. In the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, crews or single seamen may, if the master thinks fit, be engaged before a Shipping Master in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to Foreign-going ships; and in every case in which the engagement is not so made, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not, as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, and the seaman shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest his signature.

Special agreements for Home-trade ships belonging to same owner.

XXVI. In cases where several Home-trade ships belong to the same owner, the agreement with the seamen may, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be made by the owner instead of by the master, and the seamen may be engaged to serve in any two or more of such ships, provided that the names of the ships and the nature of the service are specified in the agreement; but with the foregoing exception, all provisions herein contained which relate to ordinary agreements for Home-trade ships shall be applicable to agreements made in pursuance of this Section.

Penalty for shipping seamen without agreement duly executed.

XXVII. If in any case a master carries any seaman to sea without entering into an agreement with him in the form and manner and at the place and time hereby in such case required, the master shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Changes in crew to be reported.

XXVIII. The master of every Foreign-going ship, of which the crew has been engaged before a Shipping Master, shall before finally leaving the said Territories, sign and send to the nearest Shipping Master a full and accurate statement, in a form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, of every change which takes place in his crew before finally leaving the said Territories; and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees; and such statement shall be admissible in evidence subject to all just exceptions.

Foregoing provisions applicable to Foreign ships shipping British seamen or lascars.

XXIX. The foregoing provisions relative to the engagement of and agreements with seamen shall be applicable also in respect of all ships belonging to the subjects of any Foreign State upon which any British seamen, or any seamen natives of the said Territories, may be shipped at any Port within the said Territories.

To prevent infraction of Act, Shipping Master may board vessels and muster seamen.

XXX. For the purpose of preventing any seamen from being shipped at any Port in the said Territories contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Shipping Master by himself or his Deputy may enter at any time on board any ship upon which he shall have reason to believe that seamen have been shipped, and may muster and examine the several seamen employed therein; and any person who shall obstruct the said Shipping Master or Deputy in such duty shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees

Production of agreements and certificates.

XXXI. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for Foreign-going ships; (that is to say)—

1. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, on signing the agreement with his crew, produce to the Shipping Master before whom the same is signed the certificates of competency or service which the said master and his mate are hereby required to possess; and upon such production being duly made, and the agreement being duly executed as hereby required, the Shipping Master shall sign and give to the master a certificate to that effect.

2. In the case of running agreements for Foreign-going ships, the Shipping Master shall, before the second and every subsequent voyage made after the first commencement of the agreement, sign and give to the master, on his complying with the provisions herein contained with respect to such agreements, and producing to the Shipping Master the certificate of competency or service of any mate then first engaged by him, a certificate to that effect.

3. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, before proceeding to sea, produce the certificate so to be given to him by the Shipping Master as aforesaid to the Collector of Customs, and no Officer of Customs shall clear any such ship outwards without such production; and if any such ship attempts to go to sea without a clearance, any such Officer may detain her until such certificate as aforesaid is produced.

4. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final Port of destination within the said Territories, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver such agreement to a Shipping Master at the place; and such Shipping Master shall thereupon give to the master a certificate of such delivery; and no Officer of Customs shall clear any Foreign-going ship inwards without the production of such certificate.

And if the master of any Foreign-going ship fails to deliver the agreement to a Shipping Master at the time and in the manner hereby directed, he shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Rules as to production of agreements and certificates for Home-trade ships.

XXXII. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, (that is to say)—

1. No such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship at her final Port of destination in the said Territories after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival.

2. The master or owner of every such ship shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Shipping Master in the said Territories every agreement made within the six calendar months next preceding such days respectively, and shall also produce to the Shipping Master the certificates of competency or service which the said master and his mate are hereby required to possess.

3. The Shipping Master shall thereupon give to the master or owner a certificate of such delivery and production; and no Officer of Customs shall grant a clearance for any such ship without the production of such certificate; and if any such ship attempts to go to sea without such clearance, any such Officer may detain her until the said certificate is produced.

And if the agreement for any Home-trade ship is not delivered or transmitted by the master or owner to a Shipping Master at the time and in the manner hereby directed, such master or owner shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Alterations to be void unless attested to have been made with the consent of all parties.

XXXIII. Every erasure, interlineation, or alteration in any such agreement with seamen as is required by this Act (except additions so made as hereinbefore directed for shipping substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship) shall be wholly inoperative, unless proved to have been made with the consent of all the persons interested in such erasure, interlineation, or alteration by the written attestation (if made in Her Majesty's dominions) of some Shipping Master, Justice, Officer of Customs, or other public functionary, or (if made out of Her Majesty's Dominions) of a British Consular Officer, or where there is no such Officer, of two respectable British Merchants.

Copy of agreement to be made accessible to crew.

XXXIV. The master shall, at the commencement of every voyage or engagement, cause a legible copy of the agreement, and if necessary a translation thereof in a language understood by the majority of the crew (omitting the signatures), to be placed or posted up in such part of the ship as to be accessible to the crew, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Seamen discharged before voyage to have compensation.

XXXV. Any seaman who has signed an agreement, and is afterwards discharged before the commencement of the voyage or before one month's wages are earned, without fault on his part justifying such discharge and without his consent, shall be entitled to receive from the master or owner, in addition to any wages he may have earned, due compensation for the damage thereby caused to him, not exceeding one month's wages, and may, on adducing such evidence as the Court hearing the case deems satisfactory, of his having been so improperly discharged as aforesaid, recover such compensation as if it were wages duly earned.

Regulation of Advances.

Regulation of advances and advance-notes.

XXXVI. No advance of wages shall be made or advance-note given to any person but the seaman himself; and no advance of wages shall be made or advance note given for any greater sum than the amount of one month's wages, nor unless the agreement contains a stipulation for the same and an accurate statement of the amount thereof; and no advance-note shall be given to any seaman who signs the agreement before a Shipping Master, unless in the presence of such Shipping Master.

Advance irregularly or improperly made not to be a discharge of wages.

XXXVII. If any advance of wages is made or any advance-note given to any seaman in any such manner as to constitute a breach of any of the above provisions, the wages of such seaman shall be recoverable by him as if no such advance had been made or advance-note given; and in the case of any advance-note so given, no person shall be sued thereon under the provisions hereinafter contained unless he was in person or by his agent a party to the irregular or improper manner of giving the same.

Allotment of Wages.

Regulations as to allotment-notes.

XXXVIII. All stipulations for the allotment of any part of the wages of a seaman during his absence which are made at the commencement of the voyage shall be inserted in the agreement, and shall state the amounts and times of the payments to be made. All allotment-notes shall be in forms sanctioned by the local Government, and shall be made payable only to a relative of the seaman or to some member of his family.

Allotment-notes may be sued on summarily by certain persons and under certain conditions.

XXXIX. The person in whose favor an allotment-note of part of the wages of such seaman is made may, unless the seaman is shown in manner hereinafter mentioned to have forfeited or ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid, sue for and recover the sums allotted by the note when and as the same are made payable, with costs, from the owner or any agent who has authorized the drawing of the note; and in any such proceeding it shall be sufficient for the claimant to prove that he is the person mentioned in the note and that the note was given by the owner or by the master or some other authorized agent; and the seaman shall be presumed to be duly earning his wages, unless the contrary is shown to the satisfaction of the Court either by the official statement of the change in the crew caused by his absence made and signed by the master, as by this Act is required, or by a duly certified copy of some entry in the official log-book to the effect that he has left the ship, or by a credible letter from the master of the ship to the same effect, or by such other evidence, of whatever description, as the Court in its absolute discretion considers sufficient to show satisfactorily that the seaman has ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid.

Discharge and payment of Wages.

Discharge from Foreign-going ships to be made before Shipping Master.

XL. All seamen discharged from any Foreign-going ship at any Port within the said Territories, in whatever part of Her Majesty's Dominions the ship is registered, shall be discharged and receive their wages in the presence of a Shipping Master duly appointed under this Act, except in cases where some competent Court otherwise directs; and any master or owner of any such ship who discharges any seaman belonging thereto, or except as aforesaid pays his wages in any other manner, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and in the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, seamen may, if the owner or master so desires, be discharged and receive their wages in like manner.

Master to deliver account of wages.

XLI. Every master shall, not less than twenty-four hours before paying off or discharging any seaman, deliver to him, or, if he is to be discharged before a Shipping Master, to such Shipping Master, a full and true account, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, of his wages and of all deductions to be made therefrom on any account whatever, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees; and no deduction from the wages of any seaman (except in respect of any matter happening after such delivery) shall be allowed unless it is included in the account so delivered; and the master shall during the voyage enter the various matters in respect of which such deductions are made, with the amounts of the respective deductions as they occur, in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall, if required, produce such book at the time of the payment of wages and also upon the hearing before any competent authority of any complaint or question relating to such payments.

On discharge, masters to give seamen certificates of discharge, and return certificates of competency or service to mates.

XLII. Upon the discharge of any seaman or upon payment of his wages, the master shall sign and give him a certificate of his discharge, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, specifying the period of his service and the time and place of his discharge; and if any master fails to sign and give to any such seamen such certificate of discharge, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and the master shall also, upon the discharge of every certificated mate whose certificate of competency or service has been delivered to and retained by him, return such certificate, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Shipping Master may decide questions which parties refer to him.

XLIII. Every Shipping Master shall hear and decide any question whatever between a master or owner and any of his crew which both parties agree in writing to submit to him; and every award so made by him shall be binding on both parties, and shall in any legal proceeding which may be taken in the matter before any Court of Justice be deemed to be conclusive as to the rights of the parties; and any document purporting to be such submission or award shall be primâ facie evidence thereof.

Master and others to produce ship's papers to Shipping Masters, and give evidence.

XLIV. In any proceeding relating to the wages, claims, or discharge of any seaman carried on before any Shipping Master under the provisions of this Act, such Shipping Master may call upon the owner or his agent, or upon the master or any mate or other member of the crew, to produce any log-books, papers, or other documents in their respective possession or power relating to any matter in question in such proceeding, and may call before him and examine any of such persons being then at or near the place on any such matter; and every owner, agent, master, mate, or other member of the crew who, when called upon by the Shipping Master, does not produce any such paper or document as aforesaid if in his possession or power, or does not appear, and give evidence, shall, unless he shows some reasonable excuse for such default, for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Settlement of wages.

XLV. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the settlement of wages (that is to say)—

Release to be signed before and attested by the Shipping Master.

1.—Upon the completion before a Shipping Master of any discharge and settlement, the master or owner and each seaman shall respectively, in the presence of the Shipping Master, sign, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, a mutual release of all claims in respect of the past voyage or engagement, and the Shipping Master shall also sign and attest the release and shall retain the same.

To be a discharge.

2.—Such release so signed and attested shall operate as a mutual discharge and settlement of all demands between the parties thereto in respect of the past voyage or engagement.

And to be evidence.

3.—A copy of such release, certified under the hand of such Shipping Master to be a true copy, shall be given by him to any party thereto requiring the same, and such copy shall be receivable in evidence upon any future question touching such claims as aforesaid, and shall have all the effect of the original of which it purports to be a copy.

No other receipt to be a discharge.

4.—In cases in which discharge and settlement before a Shipping Master are hereby required, no payment, receipt, settlement, or discharge otherwise made shall operate or be admitted as evidence of the release or satisfaction of any claim.

Voucher to be given to master and to be evidence.

5.—Upon any payment being made by a master before a Shipping Master, the Shipping Master shall, if required, sign and give to such master a statement of the whole amount so paid, and such statement shall, as between the master and his employer, be received as evidence that he has made the payments therein mentioned.

Legal rights to wages.

Right to wages and provisions when to begin.

XLVI. A seaman's right to wages and provisions shall be taken to commence either at the time at which he commences work or at the time specified in the agreement for his commencement of work or presence on board, whichever first happens.

Seamen not to give up certain rights.

XLVII. No seamen shall by any agreement forfeit his lien upon the ship or be deprived of any remedy for the recovery of his wages to which he would otherwise have been entitled; and every stipulation in any agreement inconsistent with any provision of this Act, and every stipulation by which any seaman consents to abandon his right to wages in the case of the loss of the ship or to abandon any right which he may have or obtain in the nature of salvage, shall be wholly inoperative.

Wages not to be dependent on the earning of freight.

XLVIII. No right to wages shall be dependent on the earning of freight; and every seaman and apprentice who would be entitled to demand and recover any wages if the ship in which he has served had earned freight, shall, subject to all other rules of law and conditions applicable to the case, be entitled to claim and recover the same notwithstanding that freight has not been earned; but in all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, proof that he has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo, and stores, shall bar his claim.

In case of death, such wages to be paid as after mentioned.

XLIX. If any seaman or apprentice to whom wages are due under the last preceding enactment dies before the same are paid, they shall be paid and applied in the manner hereinafter specified with regard to the wages of seamen who die during a voyage.

Rights to wages in case of termination of service by wreck or illness.

L. In cases where the service of any seaman terminates before the period contemplated in the agreement by reason of the wreck or loss of the ship, and also in cases where such service terminates before such period as aforesaid by reason of his being left on shore at any place abroad under a certificate of his unfitness or inability to proceed on the voyage, granted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854, such seaman shall be entitled to wages for the time of service prior to such termination as aforesaid but not for any further period.

Wages not to accrue during refusal to work or imprisonment.

LI. No seaman or apprentice shall be entitled to wages for any period during which he unlawfully refuses or neglects to work when required, whether before or after the time fixed by the agreement for his beginning work; nor, unless the Court hearing the case otherwise directs, for any period during which he is lawfully imprisoned for any offence committed by him.

Period within which wages are to be paid.

LII. The master or owner of every ship shall pay to every seaman his wages within three days after the cargo has been delivered or within five days after the seaman's discharge, whichever first happens; and the seaman shall at the time of his discharge be entitled to be paid on account a sum equal to one-fourth part of the balance due to him; and every master or owner who neglects or refuses to make payment in manner aforesaid without sufficient cause, shall pay to the seaman a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay for each of the days, not exceeding ten days, during which payment is delayed beyond the respective periods aforesaid; and such sum shall be recoverable as wages.

Mode of recovering Wages.

Seaman may sue for wages in a summary manner.

LIII. Any seaman or apprentice, or any person duly authorized on his behalf, may sue in the Court of Small Causes established for the place at which the service has terminated, or at which the seaman has been discharged, or at which any person upon whom the claim is made is or resides, or if there be no such Court, before the Magistrate, for any amount of wages due to such seaman or apprentice not exceeding five hundred Rupees; and every order made by such Court or Magistrate in the matter shall be final.

Master to have same remedies for wages as seaman.

LIV. Every master of a ship shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens, and remedies for the recovery of his wages which by this Act or by any law or custom any seaman, not being a master, has for the recovery of his wages; and if, in any proceeding in any Court of Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty touching the claim of a master to wages, any right of set-off or counter-claim is set up, it shall be lawful for such Court to enter into and adjudicate upon all questions, and to settle all accounts then arising or outstanding and unsettled between the parties to the proceeding, and to direct payment of any balance which is found to be due.

Wages and effects of deceased Seamen.

Master to take charge of effects of deceased seamen.

LV. Whenever a seaman or apprentice, on a voyage which is to terminate at any Port within the said Territories, dies during such voyage, the master shall take charge of all money, clothes, and effects which he leaves on board, and shall enter in the official log-book a statement of the amount of money and a description of the effects left by the deceased, and in case of a sale of such effects, the sum received for each article sold.

Effects and wages to be paid to Shipping Master with full accounts.

LVI. The master shall, within forty-eight hours after his arrival at his Port of destination in the said Territories, deliver any such effects as aforesaid, and pay any money which he has taken charge of or received, and also the wages due to deceased, to the Shipping Master at such Port, and shall give to such Shipping Master an account of the effects, money, and wages so to be delivered and paid; and no deductions claimed in such account shall be allowed unless verified, if there is an official log-book, by the entry therein hereinbefore required, and also by such other vouchers (if any) as may be reasonably required by the Shipping Master to whom the account is rendered.

Penalties for not taking charge of or accounting for such monies and effects.

LVII. If the master fails to take such charge of the money or other effects of a seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage, or to make such entries in respect thereof, or to make such payment or delivery, or to give such account as hereinbefore respectively directed, he shall be accountable for the money, wages, and effects of the seaman or apprentice to the Shipping Master as aforesaid, and shall pay and deliver the same accordingly: and such master shall in addition incur a penalty not exceeding treble the value of the money or effects, or if such value is not ascertained, not exceeding five hundred Rupees. All money, wages, and effects of any seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage shall be recoverable in the same Courts and by the same modes of proceeding by which seamen are hereby enabled to recover wages due to them.

Wages and property of deceased seamen may be paid without probate.

LVIII. When money or effects left by, or due to any deceased seaman or apprentice, are paid or delivered to a Shipping Master, then, subject to such deductions for expenses incurred in respect of the seaman or apprentice or of his said money and effects as the Shipping Master thinks proper to allow, the Shipping Master may pay and deliver the said money and effects to any claimants who can prove themselves to the satisfaction of the said Shipping Master to be entitled thereto, and the said Shipping Master shall be thereby discharged from all further liability in respect of the money and effects so paid and delivered; or if he think fit so to do, the Shipping Master may require probate or letters of administration or a certificate under Act XX of 1841 to be taken out, and thereupon pay and deliver the said money and effects to the legal representative of the deceased.

Unclaimed wages.

LIX. In cases of wages or effects of deceased seamen or apprentices received by any Shipping Master as aforesaid, to which no claim is substantiated within one year from the receipt thereof by such Shipping Master, it shall be in the discretion of the Shipping Master, subject to the orders of the local Government, if any subsequent claim is made, either to allow or refuse the same. And every Shipping Master shall pay into the Treasury of the East India Company all monies arising from the unclaimed wages and effects of deceased seamen to which no claim has been preferred within the period aforesaid after having given notice of such unclaimed monies being in his possession by advertizement in some public paper at least twice during such period.

Provisions, Health, and Accommodation.

Survey of provisions and water on complaint made.

LX. Any three or more of the crew of any British Ship registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place within the said Territories, may complain to any Shipping Master or other Officer duly appointed in this behalf by the local Government that the provisions or water for the use of the crew are at any time of bad quality, unfit for use, or deficient in quantity; and such Officer may thereupon examine the said provisions or water or cause them to be examined; and if, on examination, such provisions or water are found to be of bad quality, and unfit for use, or to be deficient in quantity, the person making such examination shall signify the same in writing to the master of the ship; and if such master does not thereupon provide other proper provisions or water in lieu of any so signified to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, or does not procure the requisite quantity of any so signified to be insufficient in quantity, or uses any provisions or water which have been so signified as aforesaid to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, he shall in every such case incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and upon every such examination as aforesaid, the Officers making or directing the same shall enter a statement of the result of the examination in the official log, and shall send a report thereof to the Shipping Master, and such report, if produced out of the custody of such Shipping Master, shall be received in evidence in any legal proceeding.

Forfeiture for frivolous complaint.

LXI. If the Officer to whom any such complaint as last aforesaid is made certifies in such statement as aforesaid that there was no reasonable ground for such complaint, each of the parties so complaining shall be liable to forfeit to the owner out of his wages a sum not exceeding one week's wages.

Allowance for short or bad provisions.

LXII. In the following cases, (that is to say)—

1. If during a voyage the allowance of any of the provisions which any seaman has by his agreement stipulated for is reduced (except in accordance with any regulations for reduction by way of punishment contained in the agreement, and also except for any time during which such seaman wilfully and without sufficient cause refuses or neglects to perform his duty or is lawfully under confinement for misconduct, either on board or on shore);

2. If it is shown that any of such provisions are or have during the voyage been bad in quality and unfit for use;

The seaman shall receive by way of compensation for such reduction or bad quality, according to the time of its continuance, the following sums, to be paid to him in addition to and to be recoverable as wages, (that is to say)—

1. If his allowance is reduced by any quantity not exceeding one-third of the quantity specified in the agreement, a sum not exceeding three annas in the case of a European seaman, or one anna in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

2. If his allowance is reduced by more than one-third of such quantity, six annas in the case of a European seaman, or two annas in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

3. In respect of such bad quality as aforesaid, a sum not exceeding eight annas in the case of a European seaman, or three annas in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

But if it is shown, to the satisfaction of the Court before which the case is tried, that any provisions, the allowance of which has been reduced, could not be procured or supplied in proper quantities, and that proper and equivalent substitutes were supplied in lieu thereof, the Court shall take such circumstances into consideration and shall modify or refuse compensation as the justice of the case may require.

Medicines, &c., to be provided and kept on board certain ships.

LXIII. All British ships, except ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons and employed only on Coasting voyages or between any Port on the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon, shall have always on board a sufficient supply of medicines and appliances, suitable for diseases and accidents likely to happen on sea voyages, according to such scale as shall be from time to time issued by the Commander-in-Chief of the Indian Navy, with the approval of the Governor General of India in Council, and published in the Government Gazettes at Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay; and in default thereof, the owner or master of every such ship shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees. Provided, however, that this Section shall not apply to ships navigating from the United Kingdom and coming within the provisions of Section CCXXIV of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854.

Masters to keep weights and measures on board.

LXIV. Every master shall keep on board proper weights and measures for the purpose of determining the quantities of the several provisions and articles served out, and shall allow the same to be used at the time of serving out such provisions and articles in the presence of a witness whenever any dispute arises about such quantities, and in default shall for every offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Expense of medical attendance and subsistence in case of illness how to be defrayed.

LXV. Whenever the master or any seaman of any ship registered at any place within the said Territories shall receive any hurt or injury in the service of the vessel, the expense of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance with medicines, and of his subsistence, until he shall be cured or shall be brought back to the Port from which he was shipped or other Port agreed upon, shall be defrayed, with the cost of his conveyance to such Port, by the owner of the vessel without any deduction on that account from the wages of such master, officer, or seaman; and if paid by himself, may be recovered as part of his wages, and if paid or allowed out of any monies belonging to the East India Company, may be recovered with full costs of suit as a debt due to the East India Company.

Place appropriated to seamen to have a certain space for each man and to be properly constructed and kept clear.

LXVI. A place of shelter shall be provided below a well-caulked and substantial deck for the men engaged under this Act large enough to allow nine superficial feet for every man, if the place be not less than six feet in height from deck to deck, or fifty-four cubic feet for every man. Every such place shall be kept free from stores or goods of any kind, not being the personal property of the crew in use during the voyage, and if any such place in any ship is not in the whole sufficiently large to give such space for each seaman and apprentice as hereinbefore required, or is not properly caulked and in all other respects securely and properly constructed and well ventilated, the owner shall for every such failure to comply with the provisions of this Section incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and if any such space as aforesaid is not kept free from goods and stores as aforesaid, the master shall for every such failure to comply with the provisions of this Section incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Shipping Master, &c., may enter on board any ship and inspect provisions, &c

LXVII. The Shipping Master at any Port in the said Territories, by himself or his Deputy, may enter at any time on board of any ship upon which seamen have been shipped at such Port, and inspect the provisions and water provided for the use of the crew, and the medicines and appliances and the accommodation for seamen prescribed by this Act or by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854. If on inspection the provisions or water are found to be of bad quality and unfit for use or to be deficient in quantity, the Shipping Master shall proceed as provided in Section LX of this Act, and the penalty prescribed in the said Section shall be incurred by any default of the master of the ship in respect of such provisions or water.

Procedure if provisions &c. are found to be of a bad quality.

Power of making Complaints.

Seamen to be allowed to go ashore to make complaint to a Justice.

LXVIII. If any seaman or apprentice whilst on board any ship states to the master that he desires to make complaint to a Magistrate against the master or any of the crew, the said master shall, if the ship is then at a place where there is a Magistrate, so soon as the service of the ship will permit, and if the ship is not then at such a place, so soon after her first arrival at such a place as the service of the ship will permit, allow such seaman to go ashore, or send him ashore in proper custody, so that he may be enabled to make such complaint, and shall, in default, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Protection of Seamen from imposition.

Sale of and charge upon wages to be invalid.

LXIX. No wages due or accruing to any seaman or apprentice shall be subject to attachment from any Court; and every payment of wages to a seaman shall be valid in law, notwithstanding any previous sale or assignment of such wages or of any incumbrance thereon; and no assignment or sale of such wages, or of salvage made prior to the accruing thereof, shall bind the party making the same; and no power of attorney or authority for the receipt of any such wages or salvage shall be irrevocable.

No debt exceeding three Rupees recoverable till end of voyage.

LXX. No debt exceeding in amount three Rupees incurred by any seaman after he has engaged to serve, shall be recoverable until the service agreed for is concluded.

Penalty for overcharges by lodging-house-keepers.

LXXI. If any person demands or receives from any seaman or apprentice payment in respect of his board or lodging in the house of such person for a longer period than such seaman or apprentice has actually resided or boarded therein, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for detaining seamen's effects.

LXXII. If any person receives or takes into his possession or under his control any monies, documents, or effects of any seaman or apprentice and does not return the same or pay the value thereof when required by such seaman or apprentice, subject to such deduction as may be justly due to him from such seaman or apprentice in respect of board or lodging or otherwise, or absconds therewith, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and any Magistrate may, besides inflicting such penalty by summary order, direct the amount or value of such monies, documents, or effects, subject to such deduction as aforesaid, to be forthwith paid to such seaman or apprentice.

Persons not to go on board before the final arrival of ship without permission.

LXXIII. Every person who, not being in the service of her Majesty or the East India Company and not being duly authorized by law for the purpose, goes on board any ship about to arrive at the place of her destination, before her actual arrival at the place of her discharge, without the permission of the master, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and the master or person in charge of such ship may take any such person so going on board as aforesaid into custody, and deliver him up forthwith to any Police Officer, to be by him taken before a Magistrate to be dealt with according to the provisions of this Act.

Penalties for solicitations by lodging-house-keepers.

LXXIV. If within twenty four hours after the arrival of any ship at any Port in the said Territories, any person then being on board such ship solicits any seaman to become a lodger at the house of any person letting lodgings for hire, or takes out of such ship any effects of any seaman, except under his personal direction and with the permission of the master, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Discipline.

Penalty for misconduct endangering ship or life or limb.

LXXV. Any master of, or any seaman or apprentice belonging to, any British ship registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place within the said Territories, who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness, does any act tending to the immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage of such ship, or tending immediately to endanger the life or limb of any person belonging to or on board of such ship, or who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness refuses or omits to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving such ship from immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage, or for preserving any person belonging to or on board of such ship from immediate danger to life or limb, shall for every such offence be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding two years.

Power to investigate cases of alleged incompetency and misconduct.

LXXVI. If the local Government, on the information of any Shipping Master or on any other ground, has reason to believe that any master or mate who has obtained a certificate of competency or service from such Government is from incompetency or misconduct unfit to discharge his duties, it may direct any Board or Officer at or near to the place to which it may be convenient for the parties and witnesses to attend, to institute an investigation; and thereupon such Board or Officer shall conduct the investigation, and may summon the master or mate to appear, and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence either in person or otherwise, and shall, for the purpose of such investigation, have all the powers vested in Magistrates of summoning and examining witnesses, and may make such order with respect to the costs of such investigation as they may deem just, and shall on the conclusion of the investigation make a report upon the case to the local Government.

Local Government may cancel or suspend certificates in certain cases.

LXXVII. The local Government may suspend or cancel the certificate (whether of competency or service) granted under this Act to any master or mate in the following cases; (that is to say)—

1. If upon any investigation made in pursuance of the last preceding Section, he is reported to be incompetent, or to have been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny.

2. If upon any investigation conducted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854, or otherwise, it appears to the local Government that the loss or abandonment of, or serious damage to any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default; or that he has been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny.

3. If he is superseded by the order of any Admiralty Court or of any Naval Court constituted as is provided by the said Act or any other law for the time being in force.

4. If he is shown to have been convicted of any offence.

And every master or mate whose certificate is cancelled or suspended shall deliver it to the Shipping Master or to such other person as the local Government shall direct, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding five hundred Rupees; and the local Government may at any subsequent time grant to any person whose certificate has been cancelled, a new certificate of the same or of any lower grade.

Offences of seamen and apprentices and their punishments.

LXXVIII. Whenever any seaman who has been lawfully engaged, or any apprentice to the sea-service, commits any of the following offences, he shall be liable to be punished summarily as follows; (that is to say)—

Desertion.

1. For desertion he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and also to forfeit all or any part of the clothes and effects he leaves on board, and all or any part of the wages or emoluments which he has then earned, and also, if such desertion takes place at any Port or place not within the said Territories, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit all or any part of the wages or emoluments he may earn in any other ship in which he may be employed until his next return to any Port or place within the said Territories, and to satisfy any excess of wages paid by the master or owner of the ship from which he deserts to any substitute engaged in his place at a higher rate of wages than the rate stipulated to be paid to him.

Neglecting or refusing to join, or to proceed to sea, absence within twenty-four hours before sailing, and absence without leave.

2. For neglecting or refusing, without reasonable cause, to join his ship, or to proceed to sea in his ship, or for absence without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the ship's sailing from any Port either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, or for absence at any time without leave and without sufficient reason from his ship or from his duty not amounting to desertion or not treated as such by the master, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding ten weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay, and in addition for every twenty-four hours of absence either a sum not exceeding six days' pay, or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute.

Quitting without leave before ship is secured.

3. For quitting the ship without leave after her arrival at her Port of delivery and before she is placed in security, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding one month's pay.

Act of disobedience.

4. For wilful disobedience to any lawful command he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding four weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding two days' pay.

Continued disobedience.

5. For continued wilful disobedience to lawful commands, or continued wilful neglect of duty, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit for every twenty-four hours' continuance of such disobedience or neglect, either a sum not exceeding six days' pay, or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute.

Assault on officers

6 For assaulting any master or mate he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor.

Combining to disobey.

7 For combining with any other or others of the crew to disobey lawful commands, or to neglect duty, or to impede the navigation of the ship or the progress of the voyage, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor.

Wilful damage and embezzlement.

8. For wilfully damaging the ship, or embezzling or wilfully damaging any of her stores or cargo, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum equal in amount to the loss thereby sustained, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor.

Act of smuggling, causing loss to owner.

9. For any act of smuggling of which he is convicted, and whereby loss or damage is occasioned to the master or owner, he shall be liable to pay to such master or owner such a sum as is sufficient to reimburse the master or owner for such loss or damage; and the whole or a proportionate part of his wages may be retained in satisfaction or on account of such liability, without prejudice to any further remedy.

Entry of offences to be made in official log, and to be read over or a copy given to the offender, and his reply, if any, to be also entered.

LXXIX. Upon the commission of any of the offences enumerated in the last preceding Section, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and shall be signed by the master and also by the mate or one of the crew; and the offender, if still in the ship, shall, before the next subsequent arrival of the ship at any Port, or if she is at the time in Port before her departure therefrom, either be furnished with a copy of such entry or have the same read over distinctly and audibly to him, and may thereupon make such reply thereto as he thinks fit; and a statement that a copy of the said entry has been so furnished, or that the same has been so read over as aforesaid, and the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall likewise be entered and signed in manner aforesaid; and in any subsequent legal proceeding, the entries hereinbefore required shall, if practicable, be produced or proved, and in default of such production or proof the Court hearing the case may, at its discretion, refuse to receive evidence of the offence.

Seamen whom masters of ships are compelled to convey, and persons going in ships without leave, to be subject to penalties for breach of discipline.

LXXX. Every seafaring person whom the master of any ship is, under the authority of this Act or any law, compelled to take on board and convey, and every person who goes to sea in any ship without the consent of the master or owner or other person entitled to give such consent, shall, so long as he remains in such ship, be subject to the same laws and regulations for preserving discipline, and to the same penalties and punishments for offences constituting or tending to a breach of discipline, to which he would be subject if he were a member of the crew and had signed the agreement.

Master or owner may apprehend deserters without warrant.

LXXXI. Whenever, either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, any seaman or apprentice neglects or refuses to join, or deserts from, or refuses to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is duly engaged to serve, or is found otherwise absenting himself therefrom without leave, the master or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband, or consignee, may, with or without the assistance of Police Officers, who are hereby directed to give the same if required, apprehend him without first procuring a warrant; and may thereupon in any case, and shall, in case he so requires and it is practicable, convey him before some Court capable of taking cognizance of the matter, to be dealt with according to law; and may for the purpose of conveying him before such Court, detain him in custody for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours or such shorter time as may be necessary, or may, if he does not so require, or if there is no such Court at or near the place, at once convey him on board; and if any such apprehension appears to the Court before which the case is brought, to have been made on improper or on insufficient grounds, the master, mate, owner, ship's husband, or consignee who makes the same or causes the same to be made, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; but such penalty, if inflicted, shall be a bar to any action for false imprisonment in respect of such apprehension.

Deserters may be sent on board in lieu of being imprisoned.

LXXXII. Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, such Court may, if the master or the owner or his agent so requires, instead of committing the offender to prison, cause him to be conveyed on board for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, and may in such case order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner by reason of the offence, to be paid by the offender, and if necessary to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which by virtue of his then existing engagement he may afterwards earn.

Seaman imprisoned for desertion or breach of discipline may be sent on board before termination of sentence.

LXXXIII. If any seaman or apprentice is imprisoned on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, or of his having committed any other breach of discipline, and if during such imprisonment and before his engagement is at an end his services are required on board his ship, any Magistrate may, at the request of the master or of the owner or his agent, cause such seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board his said ship for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage or to be delivered to the master or any mate of the ship or to the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, notwithstanding that the termination of the period for which he was sentenced to imprisonment has not arrived.

Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent home, and admitted in evidence.

LXXXIV. In all cases of desertion from any ship registered at a Port or place within the said Territories while such ship is at any place out of the said Territories, the master shall produce the entry of such desertion in the official log-book to the person or persons required by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854 to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion; and such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and also a copy of the said certificate of desertion; the master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the Shipping Master at the Port where such seaman was engaged, who shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding; and such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be received as evidence of the entries therein appearing.

Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages.

LXXXV. Whenever a question arises whether the wages of any seaman or apprentice are forfeited for desertion, it shall be sufficient for the party insisting on the forfeiture to show that such seaman or apprentice was duly engaged in or that he belonged to the ship from which he is alleged to have deserted, and that he quitted such ship before the completion of the voyage or engagement, or if such voyage was to terminate at any Port or place within the said Territories, and the ship has not returned, that he is absent from her, and that an entry of the desertion has been duly made in the official log-book; and thereupon the desertion shall, so far as relates to any forfeiture of wages or emoluments under the provisions hereinbefore contained, be deemed to be proved, unless the seaman or apprentice can produce a proper certificate of discharge or can otherwise show to the satisfaction of the Court that he had sufficient reasons for leaving his ship.

Costs of procuring imprisonment may, to the extent of thirty Rupees, be deducted from wages.

LXXXVI. Whenever in any proceeding relating to seamen's wages it is shown that any seaman or apprentice has in the course of the voyage been convicted of any offence by any competent tribunal and rightfully punished therefor by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct a part of the wages due to such seaman, not exceeding thirty Rupees, to be applied in reimbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring such conviction and punishment.

Amount of forfeiture how to be ascertained when seamen contract for the voyage.

LXXXVII. Whenever any seaman contracts for wages by the voyage or by the run or by the share, and not by the month or other stated period of time, the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage; and if the whole time spent in the voyage does not exceed the period for which the pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Application of forfeitures.

LXXXVIII. All clothes, effects, wages, and emoluments which under the provisions hereinbefore contained are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the reimbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master or by the owner or his agent in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages, the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and, subject to such reimbursement, the same shall be paid into the Treasury of the East India Company and carried to the account of Government; and in all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

Questions of forfeitures may be decided in suits for wages.

LXXXIX. Any question concerning the forfeiture of, or deductions from the wages of any seaman or apprentice, may be determined in any proceeding lawfully instituted with respect to such wages, notwithstanding that the offence in respect of which such question arises, though hereby made punishable by imprisonment as well as forfeiture, has not been made the subject of any criminal proceeding.

Penalty for false statement as to last ship or name.

XC. If any seaman, on or before being engaged, wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of the name of his last ship or last alleged ship, or wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of his own name, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees, and such penalty may be deducted from any wages he may earn by virtue of such engagement as aforesaid, and shall, subject to reimbursement of the loss and expenses (if any) occasioned by any previous desertion, be paid and applied in the same manner as other penalties payable under this Act.

Fines to be deducted from wages, and paid to Shipping Master.

XCI. Whenever any seaman commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine and which it is intended to punish by enforcing such fine, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and a copy of such entry shall be furnished or the same shall be read over to the offender, and an entry of such reading over, and of the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall be made, in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore specified with respect to the offences against discipline specified in and punishable under this Act; and such fine shall be deducted and paid over as follows (that is to say); if the offender is discharged at any Port or place within the said Territories, and the offence, and such entries in respect thereof as aforesaid, are proved, in the case of a Foreign-going ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master before whom the offender is discharged, and in the case of a Home-trade ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged, the master or owner shall deduct such fine from the wages of the offender and pay the same over to such Shipping Master; and if before the final discharge of the crew within the said Territories, any such offender as aforesaid enters into any of Her Majesty's ships or is discharged at any place not in the said Territories, and the offence and such entries as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the Officer in command of the ship into which he so enters or of the Consular Officer, Officer of Customs, or other person by whose sanction he is so discharged, the fine shall thereupon be deducted as aforesaid, and an entry of such deduction shall then be made in the official log-book (if any) and signed by such officer or other person; and on the return of the ship within the said Territories, the master or owner shall pay over such fine, in the case of Foreign-going ships to the Shipping

Master before whom the crew is discharged, and in the case of Home-trade ships to the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged; and if any master or owner neglects or refuses to pay over any such fine in manner aforesaid, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding six times the amount of the fine retained by him: provided that no act of misconduct for which any such fine as aforesaid has been inflicted and paid shall be otherwise punished under the provisions of this Act.

Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.

XCII. Every person who by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade any seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or to proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship; or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, shall for each such offence in respect of each such seaman or apprentice incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship or who has wilfully neglected or refused to join or has deserted from his ship, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to have so done, shall for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for obtaining passage surreptitiously.

XCIII. Any person who secretes himself and goes to sea in any ship without the consent of either the owner, consignee, or master, or of a mate, or of any person in charge of such ship, or of any other person entitled to give such consent, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding four weeks.

On change of masters, documents hereby required to be handed over to successor.

XCIV. If during the progress of a voyage the master of any ship registered at any Port or place within the said Territories is superseded or for any other reason quits the ship and is succeeded in the command by some other person, he shall deliver to his successor the various documents relating to the navigation of the ship and to the crew thereof which are in his custody, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand Rupees; and such successor shall, immediately on assuming the command of the ship, enter in the official log a list of the documents so delivered to him.

Official Logs.

Official logs to be kept in forms sanctioned by local Government.

XCV. An official log-book of every ship registered at any Port or place within the said Territories, not being a ship employed only in Coasting voyages or between any Port of the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon, shall be kept in a form sanctioned by the local Government; and such official log may, at the discretion of the master or owner, either be kept distinct from the ordinary ship's log or united therewith, so that in all cases all the blanks in the official log be duly filled up.

Entries to be made duly time.

XCVI. Every entry in every official log shall be made as soon as possible after the occurrence to which it relates, and if not made on the same day as the occurrence to which it relates, shall be made and dated so as to show the date of the occurrence, and of the entry respecting it; and in no case shall any entry therein in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final Port of discharge be made more than twenty-four hours after such arrival.

Entries required in official log.

XCVII. Every master of a ship for which an official log-book is hereby required, shall make or cause to be made therein entries of the following matters, (that is to say)—

Convictions.

1. Every legal conviction of any member of his crew and the punishment inflicted.

Offences.

2. Every offence committed by any member of his crew for which it is intended to prosecute, or to enforce a forfeiture, or to exact a fine, together with such statement concerning the reading over such entry and concerning the reply (if any) made to the charge, as hereinbefore required.

Punishments.

3. Every offence for which punishment is inflicted on board, and the punishment inflicted.

Conduct &c. of crew.

4. A statement of the conduct, character, and qualifications of each of his crew, or a statement that he declines to give an opinion on such particulars.

Illness and injuries.

5. Every case of illness or injury happening to any member of the crew, with the nature thereof, and the medical treatment adopted, (that is to say)—

Deaths.

6. Every case of death happening on board and of the cause thereof.

Births.

7. Every birth happening on board with the sex of the infant and the names of the parents.

Marriages.

8. Every marriage taking place on board with the names and ages of the parties.

Quitting ship.

9. The name of every seaman or apprentice who ceases to be a member of the crew otherwise than by death, with the place, time, manner, and cause thereof.

Wages of men entering Navy.

10. The amount of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service during the voyage.

Wages of deceased seamen.

11. The wages due to any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, and the gross amount of all deductions to be made therefrom.

Sale of deceased men's effects.

12. The sale of the effects of any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, including a statement of each article sold and of the sum received for it.

Collisions.

13. Every collision with any other ship and the circumstances under which the same occurred.

Entries how to be signed.

XCVIII. The entries hereby required to be made in official log-books shall be signed as follows, (that is to say), every such entry shall be signed by the master and by the mate or some other of the crew, and every entry of illness, injury, or death shall be also signed by the surgeon or medical practitioner on board (if any); and every entry of wages due to, or of the sale of the effects of, any seaman or apprentice who dies shall be signed by the master and by the mate and some other member of the crew, and every entry of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service, shall be signed by the master and by the seaman or by the officer authorized to receive the seaman into such service.

Penalties in respect of official logs.

XCIX. The following offences in respect of official log-books shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned, (that is to say) —

1. If in any case an official log-book is not kept in the manner hereby required, or if any entry hereby directed to be made in any such log-book is not made at the time and in the manner hereby directed, the master shall for each such offence incur the specific penalty herein mentioned in respect thereof, or where there is no such specific penalty, a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

2. Every person who makes or procures to be made or assists in making any entry in an official log-book, in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final Port of discharge within the said Territories, more than twenty-four hours after such arrival, shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding three hundred Rupees.

3. Every person who wilfully destroys or mutilates or renders illegible any entry in any official log-book, or who wilfully makes or procures to be made or assists in making any false or fraudulent entry or omission in any such log-book, shall for each such offence be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding one year.

Entries in official logs to be received in evidence.

C. All entries made in any official log-book as hereinbefore directed shall be received in evidence in any proceeding in any Court of Justice, subject to all just exceptions.

Official logs to be delivered to Shipping Master.

CI. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final Port of destination in the said Territories, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver to the Shipping Master before whom the crew is discharged the official log-book of the voyage ; and the master or owner of every Home-trade ship not conclusively employed in coasting voyages or between any Port of the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Shipping Master in the said Territories, the official log-book for the preceding half-year ; and every master or owner who refuses or neglects to deliver his official log-book, as hereby required, shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Official logs to be sent home in case of transfer of ship and in case of loss.

CII. If any ship ceases, by reason of transfer of ownership or change of employment, to fall within the operation of Section XCV of this Act, the master or owner thereof shall, if such ship is then in any Port within the said Territories, within one month, and if she is elsewhere, within six months, deliver or transmit to the Shipping Master at the Port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book duly made out to the time at which she ceased to be within such operation, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees ; and if any ship is lost or abandoned, the master or owner thereof shall, if practicable, and as soon as possible, deliver or transmit to the Shipping Master at the Port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book (if any) duly made-out to the time of such loss or abandonment, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Depositions to be received in evidence when witnesses cannot be produced.

CIII. Whenever, in the course of any legal proceedings instituted at any Port or place within the said Territories before any Judge or Magistrate or before any person authorized by law or by consent of parties to receive evidence, the testimony of any witness is required in relation to the subject matter of such proceeding, then upon due proof that such witness cannot be found at, or that he has departed from such Port or place, any deposition that such witness may have previously made on oath in relation to the same subject matter before any Justice or Magistrate in Her Majesty's Dominions (including the said Territories), or any British Consular Officer elsewhere, shall, if authenticated by the signature of the Justice, Magistrate, or Consular Officer, be admissible in evidence. Provided that, if the proceeding is criminal, such deposition shall not be admissible unless it was made in the presence of the person accused and the fact that it was so made is certified by the Justice, Magistrate, or Consular Officer. It shall not be necessary in any case to prove the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed any such deposition ; and in any criminal proceeding, such certificate as aforesaid shall, unless the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence of the accused having been present in manner thereby certified.

Adjudication of offences and recovery of penalties.

CIV. All offences under this Act, made punishable by any penalty, may be prosecuted summarily before a Magistrate or any person exercising the powers of a Magistrate. The provisions of Act XIII of 1856, relating to the adjudication of fines and penalties and the enforcing payment thereof, shall apply to penalties imposed under this Act in the Towns of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca.

Act not to extend to Ships of War.

CV. Nothing in this Act shall extend to any ship belonging to or in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or to any Ship of War belonging to any Foreign Prince or State.

Interpretation.

CVI. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, (that is to say) ; the expression "local Government" shall mean the person or persons for the time being immediately administering the Executive Government of any portion of the said Territories. The expression "Home-tradeship" shall include every ship employed in trading between any Ports of the said Territories ; or between any Port of the said Territories and any Port or place on the Continent of India or in the Island of Ceylon. The expression "Foreign-going ship" shall include every ship employed in trading between any Port of the said Territories and any Port or place not in the said Territories nor on the Continent of India nor in the Island of Ceylon. The word "master" shall include every person (except a Pilot) having command or charge of any Ship. The word "seaman" shall include every person (except masters, pilots, and apprentices) employed or engaged in any capacity on board any ship.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular number. Words importing the masculine gender shall include females.

The word "person" shall include a corporation.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill relating to Lunatic Asylums.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the reception and detention of Lunatics in Asylums established for that purpose; It is enacted as follows:—

Lunatic Asylums may be established by Government or may be licensed.

I. The Executive Government of any Presidency or place, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, may establish Asylums for the reception and detention of Lunatics at such places as may be deemed proper; or if it think fit, may grant licenses to any private persons for the establishment of such Asylums.

Superintendence by visitors.

II. Every Lunatic Asylum shall be under the superintendence of not less than three visitors appointed by the Executive Government, of whom one at least shall be a Medical Officer. The Inspector of Jails (where such office exists) shall be a visitor ex-officio of all the Asylums within the circle of his inspection.

Rules for the management of Asylums by whom to be made.

III. The management of every Lunatic Asylum and the care and custody of its inmates shall be regulated according to rules framed for the purpose. If the Executive Government so direct, the visitors of each Asylum may from time to time make rules for the regulation of the Asylum of which they are visitors, and such rules shall be subject to the approval and revision of the Executive Government. The Executive Government, if it think fit, may from time to time frame rules, either general or special, for the regulation of all or any of the Asylums of the Presidency or place subject to such Government.

Monthly inspection by visitors.

IV. Two or more of the visitors, one of whom shall be a Medical Officer, shall once at the least in every month, together inspect every part of the Asylum of which they are visitors; and see and examine, as far as circumstances will permit, every Lunatic therein, and the order and certificate for the admission of every Lunatic admitted since the last visitation of the visitors; and shall enter in a book to be kept for that purpose any remarks which they may deem proper in regard to the management and condition of such Asylum and the Lunatics therein.

Wandering Lunatics to be sent to the Magistrate unless their friends engage to take charge of them.

V. It shall be the duty of every Darogah or District Police Officer to apprehend and send to the Magistrate all persons found wandering at large within his District, who are deemed to be Lunatics, and all persons believed to be dangerous by reason of Lunacy, unless the friends of such persons as last aforesaid shall engage in writing to adopt such precautions as shall prevent them from doing mischief. Whenever any such person as aforesaid is brought before a Magistrate, the Magistrate, with the assistance of the Civil Surgeon, shall examine such person, and if the Civil Surgeon shall sign a certificate in the form A in the Schedule to this Act, and the Magistrate shall be satisfied on personal examination or other proof that such person is a Lunatic and a proper person to be detained under care and treatment he shall make an order for such person to be received into the Asylum established for the Division in which the Magistrate's jurisdiction is situate; or if such person is not a native of the country, and the circumstances of the case so require, into a Lunatic Asylum at the Presidency.

Certificate and order for reception in Asylum.

In case of neglect or cruel treatment of a Lunatic, Magistrate may order relative, &c., to maintain him.

VI. If it shall appear to the Magistrate, on the report of a Police Officer or the information of any other person, that any person within the limits of his jurisdiction deemed to be a Lunatic is not under proper care and control, or is cruelly treated or neglected by any relative or other person having the charge of him, the Magistrate may send for the supposed Lunatic, and summon such relative or other person as has or ought to have the charge of him; and if such relative or other person be legally bound to maintain the supposed Lunatic, the Magistrate may make an order for such Lunatic being properly cared for and treated, and require security for the fulfilment of the same, and if security is not given may commit such relative or other person to jail for a period not exceeding one month. If there be no person legally bound to maintain the supposed Lunatic, or if the Magistrate think fit so to do, he may proceed as prescribed in the last preceding Section, and upon being satisfied in manner aforesaid that the person deemed to be a Lunatic is a Lunatic and a proper person to be detained under care and treatment, may make an order for his reception into such Asylum as aforesaid.

If no person bound to maintain him, Magistrate may make an order for his reception in Asylum.

It shall be the duty of every Darogah or District Police Officer to report to the Magistrate every such case of neglect or cruel treatment as aforesaid which may come to his knowledge.

Darogah to report neglect.

VII. All acts which the Magistrate and the Civil Surgeon respectively are authorized or required to do by the two last preceding Sections, may be done in the Presidency Towns and the Stations of the Straits Settlement by the Commissioner of Police and any Medical Officer appointed by Government in that behalf respectively: and all duties which a Darogah or District Police Officer is authorized or required to perform, may be performed in any of the said Towns and Stations by an Officer of the Police Force not below the rank of Inspector.

Commissioner of Police &c. to act in the Presidency Towns.

VIII. Except as otherwise hereinbefore provided, no person shall be received into a Lunatic Asylum in any Presidency Town or in any Station of the Straits Settlement without an order under the hand of some person in the Form B in the Schedule to this Act together with such statement of particulars as is contained in the said Form B, nor without the medical certificate, containing the particulars in Form A in the Schedule to this Act, of two persons each of whom shall be a Physician, Surgeon, or Apothecary, and one of whom shall be a Presidency Surgeon, or a Surgeon in the employment of the Government. When such order and certificate are presented, the visitors or manager of the Asylum, before admitting the Lunatic into the Asylum, may require the friends of the said Lunatic to engage to pay the expenses which may be incurred for the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of the Lunatic, unless it shall appear to the said visitors that they have not sufficient means of doing so.

Order and certificate in Presidency Towns.

IX. Clause 1.—In places other than those specified in the last preceding Section, when a Lunatic is possessed of property and a guardian for such Lunatic has been appointed by order of the Court of Wards or of the Civil Court, if such guardian shall desire that the Lunatic be admitted into a Lunatic Asylum he shall make application to the Civil Court, and the Judge with the assistance of the Civil Surgeon shall examine such Lunatic, and if the Civil Surgeon shall sign a certificate in the Form A in the Schedule to this Act, and the Judge shall be satisfied that the Lunatic is a proper person to be detained under care and treatment in a Lunatic Asylum, he shall make an order for such person to be received into the Asylum established for the Division in which his jurisdiction is situate.

Application to Judge by the guardian of Lunatic for an order for his reception in an Asylum.

Clause 2.—If application is made to the Judge for the issue of an order for the reception into a Lunatic Asylum of any person for whom a guardian has not been appointed by order of the Court of Wards or of the Civil Court, the Judge, if he see sufficient reason for so doing, shall enquire into the fact of Lunacy in the same manner as if an application had been made to the Civil Court under the provisions of Section III of Act of 185 , and if the Lunacy be established, the Judge may then proceed in the manner prescribed in the first Clause of this Section.

Application where no guardian has been appointed.

Clause 3.—Whenever the Judge shall make an order for the reception of any person into a Lunatic Asylum he shall, at the same time, make an order for the payment of the expenses to be incurred for the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such person, and such expenses shall be recovered by the Judge on the application of the visitors or manager of such Asylum. Provided, however, that, if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Judge that the Lunatic has not sufficient property, and his friends have not sufficient means for the payment of such expenses, he shall certify the same in the order for the reception of the Lunatic into the Asylum, instead of making such order for the payment of expenses as aforesaid.

Order for payment of expenses.

X. It shall be lawful for three of the visitors of any Asylum, of whom one shall be a Medical Officer, by writing under their hands, to order the discharge of any person detained in such Asylum. When such order is given, if the person is detained under the order of any public Officer, notice of the order of discharge shall be immediately communicated to such Officer.

Order of discharge from Asylum.

XI. When any relative or friend of a Lunatic detained in any Asylum under the provisions of Section V, Section VI, or Section VII of this Act, is desirous that such Lunatic should be delivered over to his care and custody, he shall make application to the Magistrate or Commissioner of Police under whose order the Lunatic is detained, and the Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, if he think fit, after communication with the visitors or with one of them being a Medical Officer, and upon the undertaking in writing of such relative or friend to the satisfaction of the said Magistrate or Commissioner that such Lunatic shall be properly taken care of, and shall be prevented from doing injury to himself or others, shall make an order for the discharge of such Lunatic, and such Lunatic shall thereupon be discharged.

Order of discharge on undertaking of relative for due treatment of the Lunatic.

XII. The Inspector of Jails may direct the removal of any Lunatic from any Asylum to any other Asylum within the circle of his inspection, and such order shall be a sufficient authority for the removal of such Lunatic and also for his reception into the Asylum to which he is ordered to be removed.

Inspector of Jails may make order of removal from one Asylum to another.

Amendment of order or certificate.

XIII. If, after the reception of any Lunatic into any Asylum, it appear that the order or the medical certificate or certificates upon which he was received is or are defective or incorrect, the same may at any time afterwards be amended by the person or persons signing the same with the sanction of two or more of the visitors of the said Asylum one of whom shall be a Medical Officer.

Certificate and order to justify detention and re-capture after escape.

XIV. Every person received into a Lunatic Asylum under such order as is required by this Act accompanied by the requisite medical certificate, may be detained therein until he be removed or discharged as authorized by this Act, and in case of escape may by virtue of such order be re-taken by the manager of such Asylum, or any Officer or servant belonging thereto, or any other person authorized in that behalf by the said manager, or any Police Officer, and conveyed to and received and detained in such Asylum.

In what cases Government to pay for the maintenance of Lunatic.

XV. When any Lunatic is sent to a licensed Asylum by order of a Magistrate or Commissioner of Police under Section V, VI, or VII of this Act, and when a Lunatic is admitted into such Asylum under Section VIII, or an order for the reception of a Lunatic is made under Section IX, and no engagement has been taken from the friends of the Lunatic or order made by the Judge for the payment of expenses, under the said Section VIII or IX respectively, the expense of the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such Lunatic shall be paid by the Government to the manager of such Asylum.

Civil Court, on application of Magistrate, may make order for the payment of cost of maintenance out of the Lunatic's estate.

XVI. The Magistrate or Commissioner of Police by whom any Lunatic has been sent to a Lunatic Asylum, if it appear to such Magistrate or Commissioner that such Lunatic has an estate applicable to his maintenance, and more than sufficient to maintain his family, or that any person is legally bound to maintain and has the means of maintaining such Lunatic, may apply to the Chief Court of Civil Judicature within the jurisdiction of which the said Asylum may be, and such Court shall enquire into the matter in a summary way, and on being satisfied that such Lunatic has an estate applicable to his maintenance, or that any person is legally bound to maintain and has the means of maintaining such Lunatic, shall make an order for the recovery of the charges of the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such Lunatic out of such estate or from such person. Such order shall be enforced in the same manner and shall be of the same force and effect as any judgment or order made by the said Court in a regular suit in respect of the property or person therein mentioned. Any personal property which may be in the possession of a Lunatic found wandering at large may be sold by the Magistrate, and the proceeds thereof (or such part of the same as may be necessary) applied towards the payment of the charges of the lodging and maintenance of the Lunatic, and of any other expenses incurred on his behalf.

Saving of liability of relatives to maintain Lunatic.

XVII. The liability of any relative or person to maintain any Lunatic shall not be taken away or affected by any provision contained in this Act.

Saving of Act IV of 1849.

XVIII. Nothing contained in this Act shall affect the provisions of Act IV of 1849 entitled "An Act for the safe custody of Criminal Lunatics."

Interpretation.

XIX. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include every person of unsound mind, and every person being an idiot.

The word "Magistrate" shall include a person exercising the powers of a Magistrate.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee, who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next :—

A Bill to regulate proceedings in Lunacy in Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the several Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charters within the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company are authorized and empowered by their respective Charters to appoint guardians and keepers of the persons and estates of Lunatics, and to enquire into, hear, and determine questions of alleged Lunacy by inspection of the person or by such other ways and means by which the truth may best be discovered and known; and whereas, according to the practice of the said Courts, questions of alleged Lunacy are determined by inquisition taken before a jury, and it is expedient to lessen the cost and to alter the mode of enquiry into such questions, and also to empower the said Courts to make provision for the due management of the estates of Lunatics; It is enacted as follows :—

Court may order enquiry before a Judge or Master as to persons alleged to be insane.

I. It shall be lawful for any of the said Courts of Judicature, on such application for enquiry as is hereinafter mentioned, to make an order directing any Judge of the Court, or the Master, to enquire whether any person (subject to the jurisdiction of the Court) who is alleged to be Lunatic, is or is not of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself and his affairs, or (where the alleged Lunatic is more than one hundred and fifty miles from a Presidency Town) to issue a Commission directed to one or more persons to make the said enquiry. The Judge, or Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners executing the enquiry shall, while so employed, have the like powers and authority as are or may be vested by law in a Judge or Master of the said Court for the investigation of matters referred to them by the Court.

Application by whom to be made.

Notice to be given.

II. Application for such enquiry may be made by any relative or creditor of the alleged Lunatic, or by the Advocate General. Where the alleged Lunatic is within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, he shall have sufficient notice of the application before an order is made for such enquiry.

Order for enquiry what to contain.

III. The order for enquiry may, in addition to the matters of enquiry hereinbefore specified, contain directions for other enquiries concerning the nature of the property belonging to the alleged Lunatic, the persons who are his relatives or next of kin, the time during which he has been of unsound mind, or such other matters as to the Court shall seem proper. The Court shall have power, either at the request of the alleged Lunatic (if it appear that he is mentally competent to form and express a wish on the subject,) or at its own discretion, and at any stage of the enquiry, to appoint any two or more persons to act as assessors to the Judge, or Master, or to the Commissioner or Commissioners in the said enquiry.

Appointment of assessors.

Report to be made.

IV. The Judge, or Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners shall report to the Court the result of the enquiry. The assessors shall either signify their concurrence in the report by signing the same, or, if they or any of them dissent therefrom, shall signify such dissent and the reasons for such dissent to the Court.

Proceedings after report.

V. If no assessors have been appointed, or if the assessors appointed concur in the report, it shall be deemed to be of the same force and effect, and be proceeded on in the same manner in regard to the appointment of Committees of the person and estate of the Lunatic as the inquisition now according to practice taken upon the oath of a jury. If the assessors or any of them dissent from the report, the Court may, at its discretion, either pass an order confirming the report (in which case it shall be of force and effect, and be proceeded on in manner aforesaid) or direct a farther enquiry, and proceed thereupon, as provided in the case of the original enquiry. If the said report shall appear to the Court to be defective or insufficient, it shall be lawful for the Court either to amend the same or to refer it back to the Judge, Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners, to be amended as the Court shall think fit.

Lunatic out of the jurisdiction

VI. When the alleged Lunatic is not within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court in making the order for enquiry shall nominate assessors, and it shall not be necessary to give the alleged Lunatic notice of the enquiry unless the Court shall so direct.

Court may give certain powers for management of Lunatic's estate.

VII. It shall be lawful for the Court, on the appointment of Committees of the person and estate of a Lunatic, to direct by the order of appointment, or by any subsequent order, that the person to whom the charge of the estate is committed, shall have such powers for the management thereof as to the Court shall seem necessary and proper, reference being had to the nature of the property, whether moveable or immoveable, of which the estate may consist. But such powers shall not extend to the sale or charge, by way of mortgage, of the estate or any part thereof, or to the letting of any immoveable property unless for a term not exceeding three years.

Master to receive proposals concerning management, sale, &c., of estate.

VIII. The Master of the Court shall be at liberty, without an order of reference, to receive any proposal and conduct any enquiry respecting the management of the estate of a Lunatic, if such proposal relate to any matter which the Committee of the estate has not been empowered by an order under the last preceding Section to dispose of. The Master may likewise, without reference, receive and enquire into any proposal relating to the sale, or charge by way of mortgage of the estate or of any part thereof, or to the letting of any immoveable property for a term exceeding three years.

Court to make order upon the report of the Master.

IX. The Master shall report to the Court on the proposal, and the Court shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, make such order upon the report and respecting the costs, as shall, under the circumstances, seem just.

Master to determine what persons to attend at any enquiry, at the cost of the estate.

X. The Court or the Master shall once in the matter of each Lunacy, and may afterwards, from time to time, determine whether any one or more, and if any, how many and which of the relatives or next of kin shall attend before the Master, at the cost of the estate, in any proceeding connected with the management thereof.

Application to Court in the first instance.

XI. The Court may, on application made to it by petition concerning any matter whatsoever connected with the Lunacy, make such order, subject to the provisions of this Act, respecting the application and the costs thereof, and of the consequent proceedings, as shall, under the circumstances, seem just.

Lunatic's property may be sold for debts, maintenance, &c.

XII. The Court may, if it appears to be just, or for the Lunatic's benefit, order that any property moveable or immoveable of the Lunatic, and whether in possession, reversion, remainder, contingency, or expectancy, be sold, or charged by way of mortgage or otherwise disposed of, as may seem most expedient for the purpose of raising money to be applied for any of the following purposes :—

1. The payment of the Lunatic's debts, including any debt incurred for his maintenance or otherwise for his benefit.

2. The discharge of any incumbrance on his estates.

3. The payment of, or provision for the expenses of his future maintenance, including the expenses of his removal to Europe, when he shall be so removed, and all expenses incidental thereto.

4. The payment of the costs of any enquiry under this Act, and of any costs incurred by order, or under the authority of the Court.

Committee to make Conveyances.

XIII. The Committee of the Lunatic's estate shall, in the name and on behalf of the Lunatic, execute all such conveyances and instruments of transfer relative to any sale, mortgage, or other disposition of his estate as the Court shall order. In like manner such Committee shall, under the order of the Court, exercise all powers whatsoever vested in a Lunatic whether the same are vested in him for his own benefit, or in the character of trustee or guardian.

And to execute powers.

Court may order performance of contract.

XIV. Where a person having contracted to sell or otherwise dispose of his estate or any part thereof, afterwards becomes Lunatic, the Court may, if the contract is such as the Court thinks ought to be performed, direct the Committee of the estate to execute such conveyances and to do such other acts in fulfilment of the contract as it shall think proper.

Member of partnership becoming Lunatic.

XV. If a member of a partnership firm becomes Lunatic, the Court may, on the application of the other partners, or of any person who appears to the Court to be entitled to require the same, dissolve the partnership ; and thereupon, or upon a dissolution by decree of Court or otherwise by due course of law, the Committee of the estate may, in the name and on behalf of the Lunatic, join with the other partners in disposing of the partnership property upon such terms, and shall do all such acts for carrying into effect the dissolution of the partnership, as the Court shall think proper.

Disposal of business premises.

XVI. Where a Lunatic has been engaged in business, the Court may, if it appear to be for the Lunatic's benefit that the business premises should be disposed of, order the Committee of the estate to sell and dispose of the same ; and the monies arising from such sale shall be applied in such manner as the Court shall direct.

Committee may dispose of undesirable lease.

XVII. Where a Lunatic is entitled to a lease or under-lease, and it appears to be for the benefit of his estate that it should be disposed of, the Committee of the estate may, by order of the Court, surrender, assign, or otherwise dispose of the same to such person for such valuable or nominal consideration, and upon such terms as the Court shall think fit.

Stock belonging to Lunatic may be ordered to be transferred.

XVIII. Where any Stock or Government Securities or any Share in a Company is standing in the name of or is vested in a Lunatic, beneficially entitled thereto, or in a Committee of the estate of a Lunatic, or in a trustee for him, and the Committee dies intestate, or himself becomes Lunatic, or is out of the jurisdiction of the Court, or it is uncertain whether the Committee be living or dead, or he neglects or refuses to transfer the Stock, Securities, or Shares, or to receive and pay the dividends to a new Committee, or as he directs, within fourteen days after being required by him to do so, then the Court may order some fit person to make such transfer, or to transfer the same, and to receive and pay over the dividends in such manner as the Court may direct.

Stock and Government Securities &c. of Lunatic, out of India, may be ordered to be transferred.

XIX. Where any Stock or Government Securities or any Share in a Company is standing in the name of, or vested in any person residing out of the said Territories, the Court, upon being satisfied that such person has been declared of unsound mind, and that his personal estate has been vested in a curator or manager, according to the laws of the place where he is residing, may order some fit person to make such transfer of the Stock, Securities, or Shares, or of any part thereof, to such curator or manager or otherwise, and also to receive and pay over the dividends and proceeds, as the Court may think fit.

Court may apply in certain cases property for Lunatic's maintenance without appointing Committee.

XX. If it appears to the Court, having regard to the situation and condition in life of the Lunatic and his family and the other circumstances of the case, to be expedient that his property should be made available for his or their maintenance in a direct and inexpensive manner, it may, instead of appointing a Committee of the estate, order that the property, or such part of it as shall not consist of money, be realized and be paid to such person as the Court may think fit, to be applied for the purpose aforesaid.

Like power in case of temporary Lunacy.

XXI. If it appears to the Court that the unsoundness of mind of a Lunatic is in its nature temporary, and that it is expedient to make temporary provision for his maintenance, or for the maintenance of his family, the Court may, in like manner as under the last preceding Section, direct his property or a sufficient part of it to be applied for the purpose aforesaid.

Application to set aside report may be made within six months.

XXII. When a person has been found of unsound mind, it shall be lawful for such person, or for any other person aggrieved by such finding, to apply to the Court, within six months after the date of the report, for an order to set aside such report. In such case the Court may order a farther enquiry, and may, by the order, direct what persons shall have the conduct of such enquiry and by whom the costs thereof shall be paid, and whether any and what security for the due payment thereof shall be given.

No application to be received afterwards, except under special circumstances.

XXIII. Except as is hereinafter provided, no application to set aside a report shall be received unless the same is made within the said period of six months from the date of the report, or unless the Court shall, under the special circumstances of any particular case, think fit to allow such application after the period so limited; in which case the Court may make the order upon such terms and conditions as shall seem just.

Superseding proceedings in Lunacy.

XXIV. When any person has been found of unsound mind, and it shall be shown to the Court, either on the application of such person or of any other person acting on his behalf, or having or claiming any interest in respect of his estate, or on the information of any other person, that there is reason to believe that such unsoundness of mind has ceased, the Court may make an order for enquiry whether such person is or is not still of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself and his affairs. The enquiry shall be conducted in like manner as is hereinbefore prescribed; and if it be found that the unsoundness of mind has ceased, the Court shall order all proceedings in the matter of the Lunacy to cease or to be set aside on such terms and conditions as under the circumstances of the case shall appear proper.

Power to Court to make general orders.

XXV. The Court may, from time to time, make such orders as shall seem meet for carrying into effect the purposes of this Act, and for regulating the mode of proceeding before any Judge of the Court, or before the Master, or before any Commissioner or Commissioners, in matters of Lunacy.

Interpretation.

XXVI. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include any person found, by due course of law, to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill to make better provision for the care of the estates of Lunatics not subject to the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the care of the estates of Lunatics not subject to the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature; and to prescribe general rules by which the state of mind of persons not subject to such jurisdiction, who are alleged to be Lunatic, may be enquired into and ascertained; It is enacted as follows:—

Regulations repealed.

I. So much of Section V Regulation X. 1793, of Section IX Regulation LII. 1803, of Regulation I. 1800, and of Section XXIX Regulation VIII. 1805 (extended to Benares by Section II Regulation VI. 1822), of the Bengal Code; and so much of Sections VI and VII Regulation V. 1804, and of Sections XX and XXI of the said Regulation (as modified by Section III Regulation X. 1831), of the Madras Code, as relate to Lunatics or idiots—are hereby repealed.

Civil Court on application may institute enquiry as to alleged Lunatics possessed of property.

II. Whenever any person possessed of property is alleged to be a Lunatic, the Civil Court, upon such application as is hereinafter mentioned, may institute an enquiry for the purpose of ascertaining whether such person is or is not of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

Application by whom to be made.

III. Application for such enquiry may be made by any relative or creditor of the alleged Lunatic or by any public Curator appointed under Act XX of 1841, or any public Officer legally empowered to take charge of the estates of persons disqualified by minority, lunacy, or other cause for managing the same. If the property be of such a description as to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, the application may be made by the Collector on behalf of the Court of Wards.

Appointment of jury.

IV. When the Civil Court is about to institute any such enquiry as aforesaid, the Court shall appoint a jury consisting of the Civil Surgeon and two respectable inhabitants of the District; and the enquiry shall be conducted by the Court in the presence and with the assistance of the jury so appointed.

On completion of enquiry order to be made.

V. On the completion of the enquiry, if the jury be unanimous or if the Civil Surgeon and another juror concur in the finding, the Judge shall make an order in accordance with the finding of the jury. If the Civil Surgeon dissent from the other jurors, the Judge, at his discretion, may either institute another enquiry (which shall be conducted in the same manner as the first) or may make such order in the case as he shall think proper The order of the Judge under this Section shall be final

Management of Lunatic's estate.

VI. When a person has been adjudged to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, if the estate of such person consist of property which the Court of Wards is by law empowered to take charge of, the Judge shall make an order authorizing the Court of Wards to take charge of the same. In all other cases, except as otherwise hereinafter provided, the Judge shall appoint a manager of the estate. If any near relative of the Lunatic be willing to undertake the charge of the estate and the Judge shall consider him a fit person to be entrusted therewith, such relative shall be appointed manager. If there be no such relative, the Judge may appoint the public Curator or any public Officer legally empowered as aforesaid, or (if there be no such Curator or Officer) any other suitable person, to be manager of the estate.

Guardianship of Lunatic's person.

VII. When a manager of the estate of a Lunatic is appointed in manner aforesaid, the manager, unless he be such Curator or Officer as aforesaid, or unless the Judge direct otherwise, shall be also the guardian of the Lunatic's person. The Judge may, whenever he thinks proper, appoint any fit person, other than the manager, to the office of guardian.

Remuneration of managers and guardians.

VIII. If the person appointed by the Judge of a Civil Court to be manager of the estate of a Lunatic, or the person so appointed to be guardian of a Lunatic's person, shall be unwilling to discharge the trust gratuitously, the Judge may fix such allowance or allowances to be paid out of the Lunatic's estate as, under the circumstances of the case, he may think suitable.

Powers of managers.

IX. Every manager of the estate of a Lunatic appointed as aforesaid may exercise the same powers in the management of the estate as might have been exercised by the proprietor if not a Lunatic. But no such manager shall have power to sell or mortgage the estate or any part thereof, or to grant a lease of any immoveable property for any period exceeding five years, without an order of the Civil Court previously obtained.

Managers to furnish inventory and annual accounts.

X. Every person appointed by the Judge of a Civil Court to be manager of the estate of a Lunatic shall, within six months from the date of his appointment, exhibit and deliver in open Court an inventory of the landed property and of all such sums of money, goods, and effects, as he shall have received on account of the estate, together with a statement of all debts due by or to the same. And every such manager shall furnish to the Court annually, within three months of the close of the year of the era current in the District, an account of the property in his charge, exhibiting the sums received and disbursed on account of the estate and the balance remaining in his hands. If any relative or creditor of the Lunatic, or any public Officer, by petition to the Court, shall impugn the accuracy of the said inventory and statement, or of any annual account, the Court may summon the manager, and enquire summarily into the matter and make such order thereon as it shall think proper. Any such petition may be referred by the Judge to any Civil Court subordinate to him.

Penalty for manager refusing to furnish accounts &c.

XI. The Judge may impose a fine not exceeding five hundred Rupees on any manager of the estate of a Lunatic who wilfully neglects or refuses to deliver his accounts, or any property in his hands, within the prescribed time, or a time fixed by the Court, and may realize such fine by attachment and sale of his property under the rules in force for the execution of decrees of Court, and may also commit the recusant to close custody until he shall deliver such accounts or property.

Removal of managers.

XII. The Judge, upon proof of incompetency or delinquency, or for any other sufficient cause, may remove any manager appointed under this Act not being a public Curator or a public Officer legally empowered as aforesaid, and may appoint such Curator or Officer, or any other fit person in his room, and may compel the person so removed to make over the property in his hands to his successor, and to account to such successor for all monies received or disbursed by him.

Judge may in certain cases apply property for Lunatic's maintenance without appointing any manager.

XIII. If it appears to the Judge, having regard to the situation and condition in life of the Lunatic and his family, and the amount and description of his property, to be unnecessary to appoint a manager of the estate as hereinbefore provided, the Judge may, instead of appointing such manager, order that the property, or such part of it as shall not consist of money, be realized and be paid to such person as the Judge may think fit, to be applied for the maintenance of the Lunatic and his family.

Procedure for delivery of estate to Lunatic on recovery.

XIV. When any person has been adjudged to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, if such person or any other person acting on his behalf, or having or claiming any interest in respect of his estate, shall represent by petition to the Civil Court, or if the Court shall be informed in any other manner, that the unsoundness of mind of such person has ceased, the Court may institute an enquiry for the purpose of ascertaining whether such person is or is not still of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs. The enquiry shall be conducted in the manner provided in Sections IV and V of this Act, and if it be adjudged that such person has ceased to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, the Judge shall make an order for his estate to be delivered over to him, and such order shall be final.

Orders to be open to appeal.

XV. Except as otherwise herein provided, all orders made by a Judge or by any subordinate Court under this Act, shall be open to appeal under the rules in force for appeals, in miscellaneous cases, from the orders of the Judge and the subordinate Courts.

Interpretation.

XVI. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include every person found by due course of law to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 7th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next :—

A Bill for the levy of Port-dues in the Port of Aden.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Port of Aden in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows :—

Port-due chargeable on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering the Port.

I. A Port-due, at a rate not exceeding the rate of one anna for every ton of burden, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards (except fishing boats) which shall enter the said Port.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter the Port.

II. Provided that no such due shall be chargeable in respect of any vessel which, having left the Port is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage.

No vessel to pay Port-due oftener than once a month.

III. The Port-due chargeable under this Act shall not be chargeable oftener than once in the same calendar month in respect of the same vessel.

Vessels entering the Port in ballast.

IV. Vessels entering the port in ballast shall be charged with three-fourths of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

Provisions of Section XLVI Act XXII of 1855 not applicable to Steamers entering the Port.

V. The provisions of Section XLVI Act XXII of 1855 shall not be applicable to Steamers entering the Port.

Commencement of Act.

VI. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after ; and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Bombay Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in the said Port subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act ; and from and after the said date no Port-due or fee shall be levied at the said Port except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rate of Port-dues and fees to be published.

No other Port-dues or fees to be levied.

Act to be read as part of Act XXII of 1855.

VII. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of Act XXII of 1855.

No. 1513 of 1857.—With reference to Government General Order, No 1366, dated the 29th October 1857, all reports of the Dinapore Division of the Army are to be made to Brigadier J. Christie, till further orders.

No. 1514 of 1857.—On the 10th of July last the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council was pleased to proclaim that every Pensioner of the Government who conceals or harbors any person whom he knows or has reason to believe to have been guilty of Mutiny or Desertion or of waging War against the Government, or of seducing or attempting to seduce any Officer or Soldier from his allegiance or duty, or who fails to do his utmost to secure the apprehension and conviction of such offender, or who neglects to give immediate notice to the Civil or Military Authorities of any Mutinous or Rebellious designs of which he may become cognizant, shall, in addition to the punishment to which he is liable by Law, forfeit his Pension.

The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council now further proclaims that all Male Pensioners who shall fail to present themselves at the Offices where they have heretofore been paid within the prescribed periods of payment,* or who, coming in, shall fail to establish a reasonable ground for believing that they have not only not joined in the Rebellion, but that they have, according to their opportunities, taken part with the Government, will forfeit their Pensions.

*Rule 147, Section XXI. Code of 1849.

Upon the arrival of any Pensioner at the Station where payment is customarily made, a Committee of Officers will be appointed, under the orders of the Officer Commanding, to institute a rigid enquiry, and to record its opinion, whether or not the conduct of such Pensioner has been such as to call for a forfeiture of his Pension.

At Stations where Committees cannot be convened, the Pension Pay-Master or the Civil Authorities will institute such strict investigation into the cases of Pensioners as may be practicable, recording the facts of the case as well as their opinion upon it.

The Proceedings of all Committees held under this Order are to be transmitted to the Military Department for the consideration of Government.

The following Classes of Pensioners are exempted from forfeiture except under the ordinary Pension Regulations:—

Cripples, and those who are infirm from great age or the effects of disease, whether Native Officers and Soldiers, or their Heirs, and who from these causes have not been accustomed heretofore to attend in person to receive their Pensions.

Insane Pensioners.

Women and Children and Widows of Members of the "Order of Merit."

No. 1515 of 1857.—The appointment of Lieutenant R. W. Chambers, of the 11th Native Infantry, to officiate as a Sub-Assistant Commissary General, announced in Government General Order, No. 1289, of the 13th October 1857, is cancelled in consequence of his having obtained Sick Leave; and the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to appoint Lieutenant W A. Battine, of the 43rd Native Infantry, Adjutant of the 16th Irregular Cavalry, an Officiating Sub-Assistant Commissary General.

Opium Notification.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Twelfth Sale of Opium—the Provision of 1855-56—will be held at the Exchange Hall on Friday, the 4th of December 1857, at 11 A. M., and will comprise 3,698 Chests, viz.:—

	Chests.
Behar Opium	2,558
Benares Ditto	1,140
Total Chests ...	3,698

2. The General Conditions of the Sale now advertised will be the same as usual. They may be ascertained by reference to the Notification issued on the 27th of November 1856, and published in the Calcutta and Exchange Gazettes, or on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

3. The latest dates for Deposit and Clearance will be the 9th and 19th of December 1857, respectively, that is to say, no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, Company's Paper, or other Public Securities, that may be tendered for deposit in redemption of Promissory Notes given by Purchasers at the Sale, will be received after 4 P. M. of Wednesday, the 9th of December 1857, and no Treasury Receipts in full payment of Lots will be accepted after 4 P. M. of Saturday, the 19th of December 1857.

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. GREY,
Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 23rd November 1857.

Notice.

IT is hereby notified, that Seventy-five Lots of Behar Opium, of the Sale held on the 4th Ultimo, for which the Promissory Notes deposited were not redeemed within the period prescribed in the 5th Clause of the Sale Conditions, will be re-sold at the risk of the former Purchasers.

Opium.

2. The Opium in question, divided into three equal portions of Twenty-five Lots, or One-hundred and Twenty-five Chests, will be re-sold at the Exchange Hall immediately after the conclusion of the Chests advertised for Sale at the next three Sales of the year, on or about the 9th October, 12th November, and 4th December, respectively, one-third portion for public convenience being re-sold on each occasion.

3. The Conditions of Re-sale will be the same as those of the General Sales referred to.

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. GREY,
Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 1st October 1857.

Notification.

Fort William, the 20th November 1857.

NOTICE is hereby given, that on Monday, the 11th January 1858, at the hour of Eleven o'Clock in the forenoon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the undermentioned quantity of Opium, the provision of 1856-57, subject to the following Conditions, viz.:—

Produce of Behar Agency ...	Chests	1,815
Ditto of Benares ditto ...	„	890
Total Chests ...		2,705

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P. M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on, until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the quantity of 2,705 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertsied, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4. Each lot to contain five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupees 1,000, at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book; and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th January, or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times, and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last-mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 16th January, will be placed in the hands of the Attorney to the Hon'ble Company for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities, on account of Opium, upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 16th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertised for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M. of Tuesday, the 26th January 1858, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit of 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such Lots or Chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government, at such time and in such manner, as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or Orders for the delivery of Opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or Order, and it is to be clearly understood, that the Certificates or Orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or Orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of Lots or Chests, whether more or less, than the number of Lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or Order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of Public Securities, under the Fifth of the present Conditions, will be received in this Office, except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book, or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per cent even money of the amount bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified, that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing, in immediate succession, at the same price, and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency Opium, to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and all and every plea and pleas to the jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15 The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue:—

No. 1 —Certificate of the Opium now advertised for Sale.

No. 2.—Report of the Examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed, that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1856-57, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the Cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each Cake.

An account of the weight of the drug when packed, and a statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches, on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season, will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertised for Sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The total quantity of Behar Opium of 1856-57, advertised in the Notice of 19th September last, was 22,302 Chests. Of this quantity, 500 Chests will be withdrawn for Abkaree purposes, leaving available only 21,802 Chests for the Sales of 1858. The Board purpose disposing of the 10,000 Chests of this Provision, which have been re-packed in Calcutta, in the first Sales of the year, and the remainder in the after sales.

19. The public are hereby informed, that in addition to the quantity above mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium, of 1856-57, will be brought to Sale in the year 1858, on or about the dates specified below; the Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates, should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

20. It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that, out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December 1858, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 32,468 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for Sale at each or any of the twelve Sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a Sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

"Article 6th.—With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties, that at each of the periodical Sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of Chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed Three hundred Chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical Sale, it being understood that, if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agent of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the Three hundred Chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta, within thirty days after Notice of the intended Sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. GREY,
Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 21st November 1857.

Notification.

The 19th October 1857.

WITH the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, it is hereby declared that the Port of Maulmain and the Navigable River and Channel leading to that Port, are subject to Act XXII. of 1855.

The limits of the said Port of Maulmain are as follows:—

To the North, a line drawn across the Salween River from the Great Martaban Pagoda to the Boundary Pillar, at the junction of the Attaran and Salween Rivers.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 21st November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen.

WHEREAS the law for the registry of Seamen and the grant of Register Tickets has been found to be ineffective for the purposes intended; and whereas, by Section CCLXXXVIII of an Act of the Imperial Parliament called "the Merchant Shipping Act 185[illegible]" it is enacted that, "if the Governor General of India in Council, or the respective Legislative authorities in any British possession abroad, by any Acts, Ordinances, or other appropriate legal means, apply or adapt any of the provisions in the third part of this Act contained to any British ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within their respective jurisdictions, and to the owners, masters, mates, and crews thereof, such provisions when so applied and adapted as aforesaid, and as long as they remain in force, shall, in respect of the ships and persons to which the same are applied, be enforced, and penalties and punishments for the breach thereof shall be recovered and inflicted throughout Her Majesty's dominions, in the same manner as if such provisions had been hereby so adapted and applied, and such penalties and punishments had been hereby expressly imposed." And whereas it is expedient to discontinue the practice of registry and the grant of Register Tickets, and to apply to ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, certain provisions of the third part of the said Act with such adaptations and modifications as are required by the circumstances of the said Territories, and for the purposes aforesaid to repeal the laws now in force in the said Territories relating to Merchant Seamen: It is enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

I. Act XXVII of 1850, entitled "An Act for the registry of Merchant Seamen," and Act XXVIII of 1850, entitled "An Act for the encouragement of Merchant Seamen," are hereby repealed, except as to acts done and agreements made before the passing of this Act.

Acts repealed.

Shipping Offices.

II. A Shipping Office shall be established at each of the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and at such other Ports as the Governor General of India in Council shall hereafter deem necessary. For every such Office there shall be a Superintendent, to be called a "Shipping Master," with such necessary Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, at such salaries and subject to such regulations as the local Government shall from time to time, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, direct and appoint. Every act done by or before any Deputy duly appointed shall have the same effect as if done by or before a Shipping Master.

Shipping Offices.

III. It shall be the general business of Shipping Masters appointed under this Act, to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen in manner hereinafter mentioned, and to perform such other duties relating to Merchant Seamen and merchant ships as are hereby, or under the said Merchant Shipping

Business of Shipping Masters.

Act 1854, or as may hereafter under the powers herein contained, be committed to them. It shall also be the duty of Shipping Masters to give to all persons desirous of apprenticing boys to the sea-service, and duly authorized so to do by Act XIX of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices), and also to masters and owners of ships requiring apprentices, such assistance as may be in their power for facilitating the making of such apprenticeships.

Fees to be paid upon engagements and discharges.

IV. Such fees, not exceeding the sums specified in the Table marked (A) in the Schedule to this Act, as are from time to time fixed by the local Government, shall be payable upon all engagements and discharges effected before Shipping Masters as hereinafter mentioned. Scales of the fees payable for the time being shall be conspicuously placed in the Shipping Offices; and all Shipping Masters, their Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, may refuse to proceed with any engagement unless the fees payable thereon are first paid.

Fees by whom to be paid, &c.

V. Every owner or master of a ship engaging or discharging any seaman in a Shipping Office or before a Shipping Master shall pay to the Shipping Master the whole of the fees hereby made payable in respect of such engagement or discharge, and may, for the purpose of in part reimbursing himself, deduct in respect of each such engagement or discharge from the wages of all persons (except apprentices) so engaged or discharged, and retain any sums not exceeding the sums specified in that behalf in the Table marked (B) in the Schedule hereto. Provided that, if in any cases the sums which the owner is so entitled to deduct, exceed the amount of the fee payable by him, such excess shall be paid by him to the Shipping Master in addition to such fee.

Penalty on Shipping Master taking other remuneration.

VI. Any Shipping Master, Deputy Shipping Master, or any Clerk or Servant in any Shipping Office, who demands or receives any remuneration whatever, either directly or indirectly, for hiring or supplying any seaman for any merchant ship, excepting the lawful fees payable under this Act, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, and shall also be dismissed from his office.

Business of Shipping Office may be transacted at Custom House or elsewhere.

VII. The local Government may direct that, at any place at which no separate Shipping Office is established, the whole or any part of the business of the Shipping Office shall be conducted at the Custom House, or at the Office of the Master Attendant or Harbour Master, or at such other Office as the Government shall direct, and thereupon the same shall be there conducted accordingly; and in respect of such business such Custom House or Office as aforesaid shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Office, and the Officer of Customs or other Officer there, to whom such business is committed, shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Master within the meaning of this Act.

Examinations and Certificates of Masters and Mates.

Examinations.

VIII. Examinations shall be instituted for persons who intend to become masters or mates of Foreign-going ships or of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, or who wish to procure certificates of competency hereinafter mentioned.

Local Government to appoint examiners.

IX. The local Government or any Board or Officer duly authorized by the local Government in that behalf shall from time to time nominate two or more competent persons for the purpose of examining the qualifications of the applicants for examination. The local Government may, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, make rules for the conduct of such examinations and as to the qualifications to be required; and such rules shall be strictly adhered to by all examiners.

Rules for conduct of examination.

Fees.

Fees at the following rates shall be paid by all applicants for examination.

For a certificate as Master... ... 10 Rupees
Ditto ditto as Mate ... ... 5 „

Certificates of competency.

X. The local Government or such Board or Officer as aforesaid shall deliver to every applicant who is reported by the examiners to have passed the examination satisfactorily, and to have given satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience, ability, and general good conduct on boardship, a certificate (hereinafter called a "certificate of competency") to the effect that he is competent to act as master or mate of a Foreign-going ship or of a Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, as the case may be.

Certificates of service.

XI. Certificates of service differing in form from certificates of competency shall be granted as follows, (that is to say)—

1.—Every person who before the day of served as master in the British merchant service or as master of any Foreign-going ship registered under Act X of 1841, or who has attained or attains the rank of Lieutenant, Master, passed Mate, or second Mate, or any higher rank, in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master for Foreign-going ships.

2.—Every person who before the said day served as mate in the British merchant service or as mate of any such ship as aforesaid shall be entitled to a certificate of service as mate for Foreign-going ships.

3.—Every person who before the day of served as master or mate of a Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master or mate (according to such previous service) for such Home-trade ships.

And each of such certificates of service shall contain particulars of the name and of the length and nature of the previous service of the person to whom it is delivered; and the local Government or such other authority as aforesaid shall deliver such certificates of service to the various persons so respectively entitled thereto upon their proving themselves to have attained such rank or to have served as aforesaid and upon their giving a full and satisfactory account of the particulars aforesaid.

No Foreign-going ship and no Home-trade ship above 300 tons to go to sea without certificate of master, &c.

XII. No Foreign-going ship or Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons shall go to sea from any Port in the said Territories unless the master and one officer besides the master have obtained and possess valid and appropriate certificates either of competency or service under this Act or under the Merchant Shipping Act 1854; and whoever having been engaged to serve as master or mate, goes to sea as aforesaid as such master or mate without being at the time entitled to and possessed of such a certificate as hereinbefore required, and whoever employs any person as such master or mate without ascertaining that he is at the time entitled to and possessed of such certificate, shall for each such offence be liable to a penalty of five hundred Rupees.

Certificates for Foreign-going ships available for Home-trade ships.

XIII. Every certificate of competency for a Foreign-going ship shall be deemed to be of a higher grade than the corresponding certificate for a Home-trade ship, and shall entitle the lawful holder thereof to go to sea in the corresponding grade in such last-mentioned ship; but no certificate for a Home-trade ship shall entitle the holder to go to sea as master or mate of a Foreign-going ship.

Records of grants; cancellations &c. of certificates.

XIV. All certificates, whether of competency or service, shall be made in duplicate; and one part shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded as the local Government shall direct. A note of all orders made for cancelling, suspending, altering, or otherwise affecting any certificate in pursuance of the powers herein contained, shall be entered in the record of certificates.

Loss of certificate.

XV. Whenever any master or mate proves to the satisfaction of the local Government or such other authority as aforesaid that he has, without fault on his part, lost or been deprived of any certificate already granted to him, a copy of the certificate to which by the record so kept as aforesaid he appears to be entitled, shall be delivered to him, and shall have all the effect of the original.

Foregoing provisions not to apply to ships registered under Act X of 1841, navigated by Asiatic seamen and trading between Indian and Arabian Ports.

XVI. The foregoing Sections shall not apply to ships registered under Act X of 1841, and trading between Ports in the said Territories and the Coast of Arabia when such ships are navigated and manned exclusively by Arabs, lascars, or other Asiatic masters and seamen. The local Government may frame such rules as it shall deem proper, for examining and granting certificates to the masters and officers of such vessels.

Local Government may make rules for granting certificates to the masters of such ships.

Engagement of Seamen.

Licenses to procure seamen.

XVII. The local Government, or any Board or Officer duly authorized by the local Government in that behalf, may grant to such persons as may be deemed fit, licenses to engage or supply seamen for merchant ships, to continue for such periods, to be upon such terms, and to be revocable upon such conditions as the Government thinks proper.

Penalties.

XVIII. The following offences shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned; (that is to say)—

For supplying seamen without license.

(1.) If any person not licensed as aforesaid, other than the owner or master or mate of the ship, or some person who is bonâ fide the servant and in the constant employ of the owner, or a Shipping Master duly appointed as aforesaid, engages or supplies any seaman to be entered on board any ship, he shall for each seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

For employing unlicensed persons.

(2.) If any person employs any unlicensed person, other than persons so excepted as aforesaid, for the purpose of engaging or supplying any seaman to be entered on board any ship, he shall for each seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees, and if licensed, shall in addition forfeit his license.

For receiving seamen illegally supplied.

(3.) If any person knowingly receives or accepts to be entered on board any ship any seaman who has been engaged or supplied contrary to the provisions of this Act, he shall for every seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for receiving remuneration from seamen for shipping them.

XIX. If any person demands or receives, either directly or indirectly, from any seaman, or from any person seeking employment as a seaman, or from any person on his behalf, any remuneration whatever, other than the fees hereby authorized, for providing him with employment, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Agreements with seamen.

XX. The master of every ship except ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons, employed only in the Home-trade, shall enter into an agreement with every seaman whom he carries to sea from any Port in the said Territories as one of his crew in the manner hereinafter mentioned; and every such agreement shall be in a form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, and shall be dated at the time of the first signature thereof, and shall be signed by the master before any seaman signs the same, and shall contain the following particulars as terms thereof; that is to say,—

1.—The nature, and as far as practicable, the duration of the intended voyage or engagement.

2.—The number and description of the crew, specifying how many are engaged as sailors.

3.—The time at which each seaman is to be on board or to begin work.

4.—The capacity in which each seaman is to serve.

5.—The amount of wages which each seaman is to receive.

6.—A scale of the provisions which are to be furnished to each seaman.

7.—Any regulations as to conduct on board, and as to fines, short allowance of provisions, or other lawful punishments for misconduct, which have been sanctioned by the Government as regulations proper to be adopted and which the parties agree to adopt.

And every such agreement shall be so framed as to admit of stipulations, to be adopted at the will of the master and seaman in each case, (not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Act,) as to advance and allotment of wages, and may contain any other stipulations which are not contrary to law. Provided that, if the master of any ship belonging to the United Kingdom or any British possession has an agreement with his crew made in due form according to the law of the place to which such ship belongs or in which her crew were engaged, and engages single seamen in any Port within the said Territories, such seamen may sign the agreement so made, and it shall not be necessary for them to sign an agreement under this Act.

Proviso as to forms for British or Colonial ships.

Provided also that, in the case of lascars or other native seamen, when it shall be agreed that the service of any such seaman shall end at any Port not in the said Territories, the agreement shall contain stipulations for providing for such seaman fit employment on board some other vessel bound to the Port at which he was shipped, or such other Port as may be agreed on, or for providing for him a passage to some such Port as aforesaid free of charge, or on such other terms as may be agreed on; and every such stipulation shall be signed by the owner of the vessel or by the master on his behalf, and also by the consignee or agent (if any), and shall be binding upon the said owner, and upon the consignee or agent.

Proviso where lascars are shipped.

XXI. In the case of all Foreign-going ships, in whatever part of Her Majesty's Dominions the same are registered, the following rules shall be observed with respect to agreements; (that is to say—)

For Foreign-going ships such agreements, except in special cases, to be made before and attested by a Shipping Master.

1.—Every agreement made in any Port within the said Territories (except in such cases of agreements with substitutes as are hereinafter specially provided for) shall be signed by each seaman in the presence of a Shipping Master.

Agreement to be signed by seaman.

2.—Such Shipping Master shall cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, in a language understood by him, or shall otherwise ascertain that each seaman understands the same before he signs it, and shall attest each signature.

Shipping Master to cause agreement to be explained to seaman.

3.—When the crew is first engaged the agreement shall be signed in duplicate, and one part shall be retained by the Shipping Master, and the other part shall contain a special place or form for the descriptions and signatures of substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship, and shall be delivered to the master.

To be in duplicate.

4.—In the case of substitutes engaged in the place of seamen who have duly signed the agreement, and whose services are lost within twenty-four hours of the ship's putting to sea by death, desertion, or other unforeseen cause, the engagement shall, when practicable, be made before some Shipping Master duly appointed in the manner hereinbefore specified; and whenever such last-mentioned engagement cannot be so made, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to the seamen; and the seamen shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest their signatures.

Provision for substitutes.

XXII. In the case of Foreign-going ships making voyages averaging less than six months in duration, running agreements with the crew may be made to extend over two or more voyages, so that no such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship at her Port of destination within the said Territories after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival; and every person entering into such agreement, whether engaged upon the first commencement thereof or otherwise, shall enter into and sign the same in the manner hereby required for other Foreign-going ships; and every person engaged thereunder, if discharged in any Port within the said Territories, shall be discharged in the manner hereby required for the discharge of seamen belonging to other Foreign-going ships.

Foreign-going ships making short voyages may have running agreements.

XXIII. The master of every Foreign-going ship for which such a running agreement as aforesaid is made shall, upon every return to any Port within the said Territories before the final termination of the agreement, discharge or engage before the Shipping Master at such Port any seaman whom he is required by law so to discharge or engage; and shall upon every such return endorse on the agreement a statement (as the case may be) either that no such discharges or engagements have been made or are intended to be made before the ship again leaves Port, or that all such discharges or engagements have been duly made as hereinbefore required; and shall deliver the agreement so endorsed to the Shipping Master: and any master who wilfully makes a false statement in such endorsement shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and the Shipping Master shall also sign an endorsement on the agreement to the effect that the provisions of this Act relating to such agreement have been complied with, and shall re-deliver the agreement so endorsed to the master.

Engagement and discharge of seamen in the meantime.

XXIV. For the purpose of determining the fees to be paid upon the engagement and discharge of seamen belonging to Foreign-going ships which have running agreements as aforesaid, the crew shall be considered to be engaged when the agreement is first signed, and to be discharged when the agreement finally terminates; and all intermediate engagements and discharges shall be considered to be engagements and discharges of single seamen.

Fees to be paid on such running agreement, &c.

XXV. In the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, crews or single seamen may, if the master thinks fit, be engaged before a Shipping Master in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to Foreign-going ships; and in every case in which the engagement is not so made, the master shall,

In Home-trade ships agreement to be entered into before a Shipping Master or other witness.

before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not, as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, and the seaman shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest his signature.

Special agreements for Home trade ships belonging to same owner.

XXVI. In cases where several Home trade ships belong to the same owner, the agreement with the seamen may, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be made by the owner instead of by the master, and the seamen may be engaged to serve in any two or more of such ships, provided that the names of the ships and the nature of the service are specified in the agreement; but with the foregoing exception, all provisions herein contained which relate to ordinary agreements for Home-trade ships shall be applicable to agreements made in pursuance of this Section.

Penalty for shipping seamen without agreement duly executed

XXVII. If in any case a master carries any seaman to sea without entering into an agreement with him in the form and manner and at the place and time hereby in such case required, the master shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Changes in crew to be reported.

XXVIII. The master of every Foreign-going ship, of which the crew has been engaged before a Shipping Master, shall before finally leaving the said Territories, sign and send to the nearest Shipping Master a full and accurate statement, in a form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, of every change which takes place in his crew before finally leaving the said Territories; and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees; and such statement shall be admissible in evidence subject to all just exceptions.

Foregoing provisio supplicable to Foreign ships shipping British seamen or lascars.

XXIX. The foregoing provisions relative to the engagement of and agreements with seamen shall be applicable also in respect of all ships belonging to the subjects of any Foreign State upon which any British seamen, or any seamen natives of the said Territories, may be shipped at any Port within the said Territories.

To prevent infraction of Act, shipping Master may board vessels and muster seamen.

XXX. For the purpose of preventing any seamen from being shipped at any Port in the said Territories contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Shipping Master by himself or his Deputy may enter at any time on board any ship upon which he shall have reason to believe that seamen have been shipped, and may muster and examine the several seamen employed therein; and any person who shall obstruct the said Shipping Master or Deputy in such duty shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees

Production of agreements and certificates.

XXXI. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for Foreign going ships; (that is to say)—

1. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, on signing the agreement with his crew, produce to the Shipping Master before whom the same is signed the certificates of competency or service which the said master and his mate are hereby required to possess; and upon such production being duly made, and the agreement being duly executed as hereby required the Shipping Master shall sign and give to the master a certificate to that effect.

2. In the case of running agreements for Foreign going ships, the Shipping Master shall, before the second and every subsequent voyage made after the first commencement of the agreement, sign and give to the master, on his complying with the provisions herein contained with respect to such agreements, and producing to the Shipping Master the certificate of competency or service of any mate then first engaged by him, a certificate to that effect.

3. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, before proceeding to sea, produce the certificate so to be given to him by the Shipping Master as aforesaid to the Collector of Customs, and no Officer of Customs shall clear any such ship outwards without such production; and if any such ship attempts to go to sea without a clearance, any such Officer may detain her until such certificate as aforesaid is produced.

4. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, within forty eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final Port of destination within the said Territories, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver such agreement to a Shipping Master at the place; and such Shipping Master shall thereupon give to the master a certificate of such delivery; and no Officer of Customs shall clear any Foreign-going ship inwards without the production of such certificate.

And if the master of any Foreign-going ship fails to deliver the agreement to a Shipping Master at the time and in the manner hereby directed, he shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Rules as to production of agreements and certificates for Home-trade ships.

XXXII. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, (that is to say)—

1. No such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship at her final Port of destination in the said Territories after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival.

2. The master or owner of every such ship shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Shipping Master in the said Territories every agreement made within the six calendar months next preceding such days respectively, and shall also produce to the Shipping Master the certificates of competency or service which the said master and his mate are hereby required to possess.

3. The Shipping Master shall thereupon give to the master or owner a certificate of such delivery and production; and no Officer of Customs shall grant a clearance for any such ship without the production of such certificate; and if any such ship attempts to go to sea without such clearance, any such Officer may detain her until the said certificate is produced

And if the agreement for any Home-trade ship is not delivered or transmitted by the master or owner to a Shipping Master at the time and in the manner hereby directed, such master or owner shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Alterations to be void unless attested to have been made with the consent of all parties.

XXXIII Every erasure, interlineation, or alteration in any such agreement with seamen as is required by this Act (except additions so made as hereinbefore directed for shipping substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship) shall be wholly inoperative, unless proved to have been made with the consent of all the persons interested in such erasure, interlineation, or alteration by the written attestation (if made in Her Majesty's dominions) of some Shipping Master, Justice, Officer of Customs, or other public functionary, or (if made out of Her Majesty's Dominions) of a British Consular Officer, or where there is no such Officer, of two respectable British Merchants.

Copy of agreement to be made accessible to crew.

XXXIV. The master shall, at the commencement of every voyage or engagement, cause a legible copy of the agreement, and if necessary a translation thereof in a language understood by the majority of the crew (omitting the signatures), to be placed or posted up in such part of the ship as to be accessible to the crew, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Seamen discharged before voyage to have compensation.

XXXV. Any seaman who has signed an agreement, and is afterwards discharged before the commencement of the voyage or before one month's wages are earned, without fault on his part justifying such discharge and without his consent, shall be entitled to receive from the master or owner, in addition to any wages he may have earned, due compensation for the damage thereby caused to him, not exceeding one month's wages, and may, on adducing such evidence as the Court hearing the case deems satisfactory, of his having been so improperly discharged as aforesaid, recover such compensation as if it were wages duly earned.

Regulation of Advances.

Regulation of advances and advance-notes.

XXXVI. No advance of wages shall be made or advance-note given to any person but the seaman himself; and no advance of wages shall be made or advance note given for any greater sum than the amount of one month's wages, nor unless the agreement contains a stipulation for the same and an accurate statement of the amount thereof; and no advance-note shall be given to any seaman who signs the agreement before a Shipping Master, unless in the presence of such Shipping Master.

Advances irregularly or in part made not to be a discharge of wages.

XXXVII. If any advance of wages is made or any advance-note given to any seaman in any such manner as to constitute a breach of any of the above provisions, the wages of such seaman shall be recoverable by him as if no such advance had been made or advance-note given; and in the case of any advance-note so given, no person shall be sued thereon under the provisions hereinafter contained unless he was in person or by his agent a party to the irregular or improper manner of giving the same.

Allotment of Wages.

Regulations as to allotment-notes.

XXXVIII. All stipulations for the allotment of any part of the wages of a seaman during his absence which are made at the commencement of the voyage shall be inserted in the agreement, and shall state the amounts and times of the payments to be made. All allotment-notes shall be in forms sanctioned by the local Government, and shall be made payable only to a relative of the seaman or to some member of his family.

Allotment-notes may be sued on summarily by certain persons and under certain conditions.

XXXIX. The person in whose favor an allotment note of part of the wages of such seaman is made may, unless the seaman is shown in manner hereinafter mentioned to have forfeited or ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid, sue for and recover the sums allotted by the note when and as the same are made payable, with costs, from the owner or any agent who has authorized the drawing of the note; and in any such proceeding it shall be sufficient for the claimant to prove that he is the person mentioned in the note and that the note was given by the owner or by the master or some other authorized agent; and the seaman shall be presumed to be duly earning his wages, unless the contrary is shown to the satisfaction of the Court either by the official statement of the change in the crew caused by his absence made and signed by the master, as by this Act is required, or by a duly certified copy of some entry in the official log-book to the effect that he has left the ship, or by a credible letter from the master of the ship to the same effect, or by such other evidence, of whatever description, as the Court in its absolute discretion considers sufficient to show satisfactorily that the seaman has ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid.

Discharge and payment of Wages.

Discharge from Foreign-going ships to be made before Shipping Master.

XL. All seamen discharged from any Foreign-going ship at any Port within the said Territories, in whatever part of Her Majesty's Dominions the ship is registered, shall be discharged and receive their wages in the presence of a Shipping Master duly appointed under this Act, except in cases where some competent Court otherwise directs; and any master or owner of any such ship who discharges any seaman belonging thereto, or except as aforesaid pays his wages in any other manner, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and in the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, seamen may, if the owner or master so desires, be discharged and receive their wages in like manner.

Master to deliver account of wages.

XLI. Every master shall, not less than twenty-four hours before paying off or discharging any seaman, deliver to him, or, if he is to be discharged before a Shipping Master, to such Shipping Master, a full and true account, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, of his wages and of all deductions to be made therefrom on any account whatever, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees; and no deduction from the wages of any seaman (except in respect of any matter happening after such delivery) shall be allowed unless it is included in the account so delivered; and the master shall during the voyage enter the various matters in respect of which such deductions are made, with the amounts of the respective deductions as they occur, in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall, if required, produce such book at the time of the payment of wages and also upon the hearing before any competent authority of any complaint or question relating to such payments.

On discharge masters to give seamen certificates of discharge, and return certificates of competency or service to mates.

XLII. Upon the discharge of any seaman or upon payment of his wages, the master shall sign and give him a certificate of his discharge, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, specifying the period of his service and the time and place of his discharge; and if any master fails to sign and give to any such seamen such certificate of discharge, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and the master shall also, upon the discharge of every certificated mate whose certificate of competency or service has been delivered to and retained by him, return such certificate, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Shipping Master may decide questions which parties refer to him.

XLIII. Every Shipping Master shall hear and decide any question whatever between a master or owner and any of his crew which both parties agree in writing to submit to him; and every award so made by him shall be binding on both parties, and shall in any legal proceeding which may be taken in the matter before any Court of Justice be deemed to be conclusive as to the rights of the parties; and any document purporting to be such submission or award shall be primâ facie evidence thereof.

Master and others to produce ship's papers to Shipping Masters, and give evidence.

XLIV. In any proceeding relating to the wages, claims, or discharge of any seaman carried on before any Shipping Master under the provisions of this Act, such Shipping Master may call upon the owner or his agent, or upon the master or any mate or other member of the crew, to produce any log-books, papers, or other documents in their respective possession or power relating to any matter in question in such proceeding, and may call before him and examine any of such persons being then at or near the place on any such matter; and every owner, agent, master, mate, or other member of the crew who, when called upon by the Shipping Master, does not produce any such paper or document as aforesaid if in his possession or power, or does not appear, and give evidence, shall, unless he shows some reasonable excuse for such default, for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Settlement of wages.

XLV. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the settlement of wages (that is to say)—

Release to be signed before and attested by the Shipping Master.

1.—Upon the completion before a Shipping Master of any discharge and settlement, the master or owner and each seaman shall respectively, in the presence of the Shipping Master, sign, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, a mutual release of all claims in respect of the past voyage or engagement, and the Shipping Master shall also sign and attest the release and shall retain the same.

To be a discharge.

2.—Such release so signed and attested shall operate as a mutual discharge and settlement of all demands between the parties thereto in respect of the past voyage or engagement.

And to be evidence.

3.—A copy of such release, certified under the hand of such Shipping Master to be a true copy, shall be given by him to any party thereto requiring the same, and such copy shall be receivable in evidence upon any future question touching such claims as aforesaid, and shall have all the effect of the original of which it purports to be a copy.

No other receipt to be a discharge.

4.—In cases in which discharge and settlement before a Shipping Master are hereby required, no payment, receipt, settlement, or discharge otherwise made shall operate or be admitted as evidence of the release or satisfaction of any claim.

Voucher to be given to master and to be evidence.

5.—Upon any payment being made by a master before a Shipping Master, the Shipping Master shall, if required, sign and give to such master a statement of the whole amount so paid, and such statement shall, as between the master and his employer, be received as evidence that he has made the payments therein mentioned.

Legal rights to wages.

Right to wages and provisions when to begin.

XLVI. A seaman's right to wages and provisions shall be taken to commence either at the time at which he commences work or at the time specified in the agreement for his commencement of work or presence on board, whichever first happens.

Seamen not to give up certain rights.

XLVII. No seamen shall by any agreement forfeit his lien upon the ship or be deprived of any remedy for the recovery of his wages to which he would otherwise have been entitled; and every stipulation in any agreement inconsistent with any provision of this Act, and every stipulation by which any seaman consents to abandon his right to wages in the case of the loss of the ship or to abandon any right which he may have or obtain in the nature of salvage, shall be wholly inoperative.

Wages not to be dependent on the earning of freight.

XLVIII. No right to wages shall be dependent on the earning of freight; and every seaman and apprentice who would be entitled to demand and recover any wages if the ship in which he has served had earned freight, shall, subject to all other rules of law and conditions applicable to the case, be entitled to claim and recover the same notwithstanding that freight has not been earned; but in all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, proof that he has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo, and stores, shall bar his claim.

In case of death, such wages to be paid as after mentioned.

XLIX. If any seaman or apprentice to whom wages are due under the last preceding enactment dies before the same are paid, they shall be paid and applied in the manner hereinafter specified with regard to the wages of seamen who die during a voyage.

Rights to wages in case of termination of service by wreck or illness.

L. In cases where the service of any seaman terminates before the period contemplated in the agreement by reason of the wreck or loss of the ship, and also in cases where such service terminates before such period as aforesaid by reason of his being left on shore at any place abroad under a certificate of his unfitness or inability to proceed on the voyage, granted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854, such seaman shall be entitled to wages for the time of service prior to such termination as aforesaid but not for any further period.

Wages not to accrue during refusal to work or imprisonment.

LI. No seaman or apprentice shall be entitled to wages for any period during which he unlawfully refuses or neglects to work when required, whether before or after the time fixed by the agreement for his beginning work; nor, unless the Court hearing the case otherwise directs, for any period during which he is lawfully imprisoned for any offence committed by him.

Period within which wages are to be paid.

LII. The master or owner of every ship shall pay to every seaman his wages within three days after the cargo has been delivered or within five days after the seaman's discharge, whichever first happens; and the seaman shall at the time of his discharge be entitled to be paid on account a sum equal to one-fourth part of the balance due to him; and every master or owner who neglects or refuses to make payment in manner aforesaid without sufficient cause, shall pay to the seaman a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay for each of the days, not exceeding ten days, during which payment is delayed beyond the respective periods aforesaid; and such sum shall be recoverable as wages.

Mode of recovering Wages.

Seaman may sue for wages in a summary manner.

LIII. Any seaman or apprentice, or any person duly authorized on his behalf, may sue in the Court of Small Causes established for the place at which the service has terminated, or at which the seaman has been discharged, or at which any person upon whom the claim is made is or resides, or if there be no such Court, before the Magistrate, for any amount of wages due to such seaman or apprentice not exceeding five hundred Rupees; and every order made by such Court or Magistrate in the matter shall be final.

Master to have same remedies for wages as seaman.

LIV. Every master of a ship shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens, and remedies for the recovery of his wages which by this Act or by any law or custom any seaman, not being a master, has for the recovery of his wages; and if, in any proceeding in any Court of Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty touching the claim of a master to wages, any right of set-off or counter-claim is set up it shall be lawful for such Court to enter into and adjudicate upon all questions, and to settle all accounts then arising or outstanding and unsettled between the parties to the proceeding, and to direct payment of any balance which is found to be due.

Wages and effects of deceased Seamen.

Master to take charge of effects of deceased seamen.

LV. Whenever a seaman or apprentice, on a voyage which is to terminate at any Port within the said Territories, dies during such voyage, the master shall take charge of all money, clothes, and effects which he leaves on board, and shall enter in the official log-book a statement of the amount of money and a description of the effects left by the deceased, and in case of a sale of such effects, the sum received for each article sold.

Effects and wages to be paid to Shipping Master with full accounts.

LVI. The master shall, within forty eight hours after his arrival at his Port of destination in the said Territories, deliver any such effects as aforesaid, and pay any money which he has taken charge of or received, and also the wages due to deceased, to the Shipping Master at such Port, and shall give to such Shipping Master an account of the effects, money, and wages so to be delivered and paid; and no deductions claimed in such account shall be allowed unless verified, if there is an official log-book, by the entry therein hereinbefore required, and also by such other vouchers if any) as may be reasonably required by the Shipping Master to whom the account is rendered.

Penalties for not taking charge of or accounting for such monies and effects.

LVII. If the master fails to take such charge of the money or other effects of a seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage, or to make such entries in respect thereof, or to make such payment or delivery, or to give such account as hereinbefore respectively directed, he shall be accountable for the money, wages, and effects of the seaman or apprentice to the Shipping Master as aforesaid, and shall pay and deliver the same accordingly; and such master shall in addition incur a penalty not exceeding treble the value of the money or effects, or if such value is not ascertained, not exceeding five hundred Rupees. All money, wages, and effects of any seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage shall be recoverable in the same Courts and by the same modes of proceeding by which seamen are hereby enabled to recover wages due to them.

Wages and property of deceased seamen may be paid without probate.

LVIII. When money or effects left by, or due to any deceased seaman or apprentice, are paid or delivered to a Shipping Master, then, subject to such deductions for expenses incurred in respect of the seaman or apprentice or of his said money and effects as the Shipping Master thinks proper to allow, the Shipping Master may pay and deliver the said money and effects to any claimants who can prove themselves to the satisfaction of the said Shipping Master to be entitled thereto, and the said Shipping Master shall be thereby discharged from all further liability in respect of the money and effects so paid and delivered; or if he think fit so to do, the Shipping Master may require probate or letters of administration or a certificate under Act XX of 1841 to be taken out, and thereupon pay and deliver the said money and effects to the legal representative of the deceased.

Unclaimed wages.

LIX. In cases of wages or effects of deceased seamen or apprentices received by any Shipping Master as aforesaid, to which no claim is substantiated within one year from the receipt thereof by such Shipping Master, it shall be in the discretion of the Shipping Master, subject to the orders of the local Government, if any subsequent claim is made, either to allow or refuse the same And every Shipping Master shall pay into the Treasury of the East India Company all monies arising from the unclaimed wages and effects of deceased seamen to which no claim has been preferred within the period aforesaid after having given notice of such unclaimed monies being in his possession by advertizement in some public paper at least twice during such period.

Provisions, Health, and Accommodation.

Survey of provisions and water on complaint made.

LX. Any three or more of the crew of any British Ship registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place within the said Territories, may complain to any Shipping Master or other Officer duly appointed in this behalf by the local Government that the provisions or water for the use of the crew are at any time of bad quality, unfit for use, or deficient in quantity; and such Officer may thereupon examine the said provisions or water or cause them to be examined; and if, on examination, such provisions or water are found to be of bad quality, and unfit for use, or to be deficient in quantity, the person making such examination shall signify the same in writing to the master of the ship; and if such master does not thereupon provide other proper provisions or water in lieu of any so signified to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, or does not procure the requisite quantity of any so signified to be insufficient in quantity, or uses any provisions or water which have been so signified as aforesaid to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, he shall in every such case incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and upon every such examination as aforesaid, the Officers making or directing the same shall enter a statement of the result of the examination in the official log, and shall send a report thereof to the Shipping Master, and such report, if produced out of the custody of such Shipping Master, shall be received in evidence in any legal proceeding.

Forfeiture for frivolous complaint

LXI. If the Officer to whom any such complaint as last aforesaid is made certifies in such statement as aforesaid that there was no reasonable ground for such complaint, each of the parties so complaining shall be liable to forfeit to the owner out of his wages a sum not exceeding one week's wages.

Allowance for short or bad provisions

LXII. In the following cases, (that is to say)—

1. If during a voyage the allowance of any of the provisions which any seaman has by his agreement stipulated for is reduced (except in accordance with any regulations for reduction by way of punishment contained in the agreement, and also except for any time during which such seaman wilfully and without sufficient cause refuses or neglects to perform his duty or is lawfully under confinement for misconduct, either on board or on shore);

2. If it is shown that any of such provisions are or have during the voyage been bad in quality and unfit for use;

The seaman shall receive by way of compensation for such reduction or bad quality, according to the time of its continuance, the following sums, to be paid to him in addition to and to be recoverable as wages, (that is to say)—

1. If his allowance is reduced by any quantity not exceeding one-third of the quantity specified in the agreement, a sum not exceeding three annas in the case of a European seaman, or one anna in the case of a lascar or native seaman

2 If his allowance is reduced by more than one third of such quantity, six annas in the case of a European seaman, or two annas in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

3. In respect of such bad quality as aforesaid, a sum not exceeding eight annas in the case of a European seaman, or three annas in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

But if it is shown, to the satisfaction of the Court before which the case is tried, that any provisions, the allowance of which has been reduced, could not be procured or supplied in proper quantities, and that proper and equivalent substitutes were supplied in lieu thereof, the Court shall take such circumstances into consideration and shall modify or refuse compensation as the justice of the case may require

Medicines, &c., to be provided and kept on board certain ships.

LXIII. All British ships, except ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons and employed only on Coasting voyages or between any Port on the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon, shall have always on board a sufficient supply of medicines and appliances, suitable for diseases and accidents likely to happen on sea voyages, according to such scale as shall be from time to time issued by the Commander-in-Chief of the Indian Navy, with the approval of the Governor General of India in Council, and published in the Government Gazettes at Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and in default thereof, the owner or master of every such ship shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees. Provided, however, that this Section shall not apply to ships navigating from the United Kingdom and coming within the provisions of Section CCXXIV of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854.

Masters to keep weights and measures on board.

LXIV. Every master shall keep on board proper weights and measures for the purpose of determining the quantities of the several provisions and articles served out, and shall allow the same to be used at the time of serving out such provisions and articles in the presence of a witness whenever any dispute arises about such quantities, and in default shall for every offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Expense of medical attendance and subsistence in case of illness how to be defrayed.

LXV. Whenever the master or any seaman of any ship registered at any place within the said Territories shall receive any hurt or injury in the service of the vessel, the expense of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance with medicines, and of his subsistence, until he shall be cured or shall be brought back to the Port from which he was shipped or other Port agreed upon, shall be defrayed, with the cost of his conveyance to such Port, by the owner of the vessel without any deduction on that account from the wages of such master, officer, or seaman; and if paid by himself, may be recovered as part of his wages; and if paid or allowed out of any monies belonging to the East India Company, may be recovered with full costs of suit as a debt due to the East India Company.

Place appropriated to seamen to have a certain space for each man and to be properly constructed and kept clear

LXVI. A place of shelter shall be provided below a well-caulked and substantial deck for the men engaged under this Act large enough to allow nine superficial feet for every man, if the place be not less than six feet in height from deck to deck, or fifty-four cubic feet for every man. Every such place shall be kept free from stores or goods of any kind, not being the personal property of the crew in use during the voyage, and if any such place in any ship is not in the whole sufficiently large to give such space for each seaman and apprentice as hereinbefore required, or is not properly caulked and in all other respects securely and properly constructed and well ventilated, the owner shall for every such failure to comply with the provisions of this Section incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and if any such space as aforesaid is not kept free from goods and stores as aforesaid, the master shall for every such failure to comply with the provisions of this Section incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Shipping Master, &c., may enter on board any ship and inspect provisions, &c.

LXVII. The Shipping Master at any Port in the said Territories, by himself or his Deputy, may enter at any time on board of any ship upon which seamen have been shipped at such Port, and inspect the provisions and water provided for the use of the crew, and the medicines and appliances and the accommodation for seamen prescribed by this Act or by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854. If on inspection the provisions or water are found to be of bad quality and unfit for use or to be deficient in quantity, the Shipping Master shall proceed as provided in Section LX of this Act, and the penalty prescribed in the said Section shall be incurred by any default of the master of the ship in respect of such provisions or water.

Procedure if provisions &c. are found to be of a bad quality.

Power of making Complaints.

Seamen to be allowed to go ashore to make complaint to a Justice.

LXVIII. If any seaman or apprentice whilst on board any ship states to the master that he desires to make complaint to a Magistrate against the master or any of the crew, the said master shall, if the ship is then at a place where there is a Magistrate, so soon as the service of the ship will permit, and if the ship is not then at such a place, so soon after her first arrival at such a place as the service of the ship will permit, allow such seaman to go ashore, or send him ashore in proper custody, so that he may be enabled to make such complaint, and shall, in default, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Protection of Seamen from imposition.

Sale of and charge upon wages to be invalid.

LXIX. No wages due or accruing to any seaman or apprentice shall be subject to attachment from any Court; and every payment of wages to a seaman shall be valid in law, notwithstanding any previous sale or assignment of such wages or of any incumbrance thereon; and no assignment or sale of such wages, or of salvage made prior to the accruing thereof, shall bind the party making the same; and no power of attorney or authority for the receipt of any such wages or salvage shall be irrevocable.

No debt exceeding three Rupees recoverable till end of voyage.

LXX. No debt exceeding in amount three Rupees incurred by any seaman after he has engaged to serve, shall be recoverable until the service agreed for is concluded.

Penalty for overcharges by lodging-house-keepers.

LXXI. If any person demands or receives from any seaman or apprentice payment in respect of his board or lodging in the house of such person for a longer period than such seaman or apprentice has actually resided or boarded therein, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for detaining seamen's effects.

LXXII. If any person receives or takes into his possession or under his control any monies, documents, or effects of any seaman or apprentice and does not return the same or pay the value thereof when required by such seaman or apprentice, subject to such deduction as may be justly due to him from such seaman or apprentice in respect of board or lodging or otherwise, or absconds therewith, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and any Magistrate may, besides inflicting such penalty by summary order, direct the amount or value of such monies, documents, or effects, subject to such deduction as aforesaid, to be forthwith paid to such seaman or apprentice.

Persons not to go on board before the final arrival of ship without permission.

LXXIII. Every person who, not being in the service of her Majesty or the East India Company and not being duly authorized by law for the purpose, goes on board any ship about to arrive at the place of her destination, before her actual arrival at the place of her discharge, without the permission of the master, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and the master or person in charge of such ship may take any such person so going on board as aforesaid into custody, and deliver him up forthwith to any Police Officer, to be by him taken before a Magistrate to be dealt with according to the provisions of this Act.

Penalties for solicitations by lodging-house-keepers.

LXXIV. If within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any ship at any Port in the said Territories, any person then being on board such ship solicits any seaman to become a lodger at the house of any person letting lodgings for hire, or takes out of such ship any effects of any seaman, except under his personal direction and with the permission of the master, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Discipline.

Penalty for misconduct endangering ship or life or limb

LXXV. Any master of, or any seaman or apprentice belonging to, any British ship registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place within the said Territories, who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness, does any act tending to the immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage of such ship, or tending immediately to endanger the life or limb of any person belonging to or on board of such ship, or who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness refuses or omits to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving such ship from immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage, or for preserving any person belonging to or on board of such ship from immediate danger to life or limb, shall for every such offence be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding two years.

Power to investigate cases of alleged incompetency and misconduct.

LXXVI. If the local Government, on the information of any Shipping Master or on any other ground, has reason to believe that any master or mate who has obtained a certificate of competency or service from such Government is from incompetency or misconduct unfit to discharge his duties, it may direct any Board or Officer at or near to the place to which it may be convenient for the parties and witnesses to attend, to institute an investigation; and thereupon such Board or Officer shall conduct the investigation, and may summon the master or mate to appear, and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence either in person or otherwise, and shall, for the purpose of such investigation, have all the powers vested in Magistrates of summoning and examining witnesses, and may make such order with respect to the costs of such investigation as they may deem just, and shall on the conclusion of the investigation make a report upon the case to the local Government.

Local Government may cancel or suspend certificates in certain cases.

LXXVII. The local Government may suspend or cancel the certificate (whether of competency or service) granted under this Act to any master or mate in the following cases; (that is to say)—

1. If upon any investigation made in pursuance of the last preceding Section, he is reported to be incompetent, or to have been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny.

2. If upon any investigation conducted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854, or otherwise, it appears to the local Government that the loss or abandonment of, or serious damage to any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default; or that he has been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny.

3. If he is superseded by the order of any Admiralty Court or of any Naval Court constituted as is provided by the said Act or any other law for the time being in force

4 If he is shown to have been convicted of any offence.

And every master or mate whose certificate is cancelled or suspended shall deliver it to the Shipping Master or to such other person as the local Government shall direct, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding five hundred Rupees; and the local Government may at any subsequent time grant to any person whose certificate has been cancelled, a new certificate of the same or of any lower grade.

Offences of seamen and apprentices and their punishments.

LXXVIII. Whenever any seaman who has been lawfully engaged, or any apprentice to the sea-service, commits any of the following offences, he shall be liable to be punished summarily as follows; (that is to say)—

Desertion.

1. For desertion he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and also to forfeit all or any part of the clothes and effects he leaves on board, and all or any part of the wages or emoluments which he has then earned, and also, if such desertion takes place at any Port or place not within the said Territories, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit all or any part of the wages or emoluments he may earn in any other ship in which he may be employed until his next return to any Port or place within the said Territories, and to satisfy any excess of wages paid by the master or owner of the ship from which he deserts to any substitute engaged in his place at a higher rate of wages than the rate stipulated to be paid to him

Neglecting or refusing to join, or to proceed to sea, absence within twenty-four hours before sailing, and absence without leave.

2. For neglecting or refusing, without reasonable cause, to join his ship, or to proceed to sea in his ship, or for absence without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the ship's sailing from any Port either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, or for absence at any time without leave and without sufficient reason from his ship or from his duty not amounting to desertion or not treated as such by the master, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding ten weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay, and in addition for every twenty-four hours of absence either a sum not exceeding six days' pay, or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute.

Quitting without leave before ship is secured.

3. For quitting the ship without leave after her arrival at her Port of delivery and before she is placed in security, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding one month's pay.

Act of disobedience.

4. For wilful disobedience to any lawful command he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding four weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding two days' pay.

Continued disobedience.

5 For continued wilful disobedience to lawful commands, or continued wilful neglect of duty, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit for every twenty-four hours' continuance of such disobedience or neglect, either a sum not exceeding six days' pay, or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute.

Assault on officers

6 For assaulting any master or mate he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor.

Combining to disobey.

7 For combining with any other or others of the crew to disobey lawful commands, or to neglect duty, or to impede the navigation of the ship or the progress of the voyage, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor

Wilful damage and embezzlement.

8. For wilfully damaging the ship, or embezzling or wilfully damaging any of her stores or cargo, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum equal in amount to the loss thereby sustained, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor.

Act of smuggling, causing loss to owner.

9. For any act of smuggling of which he is convicted, and whereby loss or damage is occasioned to the master or owner, he shall be liable to pay to such master or owner such a sum as is sufficient to reimburse the master or owner for such loss or damage; and the whole or a proportionate part of his wages may be retained in satisfaction or on account of such liability, without prejudice to any further remedy.

Entry of offences to be made in official log, and to be read over or a copy given to the offender, and his reply, if any, to be also entered.

LXXIX. Upon the commission of any of the offences enumerated in the last preceding Section, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and shall be signed by the master and also by the mate or one of the crew; and the offender, if still in the ship, shall, before the next subsequent arrival of the ship at any Port, or if she is at the time in Port before her departure therefrom, either be furnished with a copy of such entry or have the same read over distinctly and audibly to him, and may thereupon make such reply thereto as he thinks fit; and a statement that a copy of the said entry has been so furnished, or that the same has been so read over as aforesaid, and the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall likewise be entered and signed in manner aforesaid; and in any subsequent legal proceeding, the entries hereinbefore required shall, if practicable, be produced or proved, and in default of such production or proof the Court hearing the case may, at its discretion, refuse to receive evidence of the offence.

Seamen whom masters of ships are compelled to convey, and persons going in ships without leave, to be subject to penalties for breach of discipline.

LXXX. Every seafaring person whom the master of any ship is, under the authority of this Act or any law, compelled to take on board and convey, and every person who goes to sea in any ship without the consent of the master or owner or other person entitled to give such consent, shall, so long as he remains in such ship, be subject to the same laws and regulations for preserving discipline, and to the same penalties and punishments for offences constituting or tending to a breach of discipline, to which he would be subject if he were a member of the crew and had signed the agreement.

Master or owner may apprehend deserters without warrant.

LXXXI. Whenever, either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, any seaman or apprentice neglects or refuses to join, or deserts from, or refuses to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is duly engaged to serve, or is found otherwise absenting himself therefrom without leave, the master or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband, or consignee, may, with or without the assistance of Police Officers, who are hereby directed to give the same if required, apprehend him without first procuring a warrant; and may thereupon in any case, and shall, in case he so requires and it is practicable, convey him before some Court capable of taking cognizance of the matter, to be dealt with according to law; and may for the purpose of conveying him before such Court, detain him in custody for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours or such shorter time as may be necessary, or may, if he does not so require, or if there is no such Court at or near the place, at once convey him on board; and if any such apprehension appears to the Court before which the case is brought, to have been made on improper or on insufficient grounds, the master, mate, owner, ship's husband, or consignee who makes the same or causes the same to be made, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; but such penalty, if inflicted, shall be a bar to any action for false imprisonment in respect of such apprehension.

Deserters may be sent on board in lieu of being imprisoned.

LXXXII. Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, such Court may, if the master or the owner or his agent so requires, instead of committing the offender to prison, cause him to be conveyed on board for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, and may in such case order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner by reason of the offence, to be paid by the offender, and if necessary to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which by virtue of his then existing engagement he may afterwards earn.

Seaman imprisoned for desertion or breach of discipline may be sent on board before termination of sentence.

LXXXIII. If any seaman or apprentice is imprisoned on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, or of his having committed any other breach of discipline, and if during such imprisonment and before his engagement is at an end his services are required on board his ship, any Magistrate may, at the request of the master or of the owner or his agent, cause such seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board his said ship for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage or to be delivered to the master or any mate of the ship or to the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, notwithstanding that the termination of the period for which he was sentenced to imprisonment has not arrived.

Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent home, and admitted in evidence.

LXXXIV. In all cases of desertion from any ship registered at a Port or place within the said Territories while such ship is at any place out of the said Territories, the master shall produce the entry of such desertion in the official log-book to the person or persons required by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854 to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion; and such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and also a copy of the said certificate of desertion; the master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the Shipping Master at the Port where such seaman was engaged, who shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding; and such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be received as evidence of the entries therein appearing.

Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages.

LXXXV. Whenever a question arises whether the wages of any seaman or apprentice are forfeited for desertion, it shall be sufficient for the party insisting on the forfeiture to show that such seaman or apprentice was duly engaged in or that he belonged to the ship from which he is alleged to have deserted, and that he quitted such ship before the completion of the voyage or engagement, or if such voyage was to terminate at any Port or place within the said Territories, and the ship has not returned, that he is absent from her, and that an entry of the desertion has been duly made in the official log-book; and thereupon the desertion shall, so far as relates to any forfeiture of wages or emoluments under the provisions hereinbefore contained, be deemed to be proved, unless the seaman or apprentice can produce a proper certificate of discharge or can otherwise show to the satisfaction of the Court that he had sufficient reasons for leaving his ship.

Costs of procuring imprisonment may, to the extent of thirty Rupees, be deducted from wages.

LXXXVI. Whenever in any proceeding relating to seamen's wages it is shown that any seaman or apprentice has in the course of the voyage been convicted of any offence by any competent tribunal and rightfully punished therefor by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct a part of the wages due to such seaman, not exceeding thirty Rupees, to be applied in reimbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring such conviction and punishment.

Amount of forfeiture how to be ascertained when seamen contract for the voyage.

LXXXVII. Whenever any seaman contracts for wages by the voyage or by the run or by the share, and not by the month or other stated period of time, the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage; and if the whole time spent in the voyage does not exceed the period for which the pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Application of forfeitures.

LXXXVIII. All clothes, effects, wages, and emoluments which under the provisions hereinbefore contained are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the reimbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master or by the owner or his agent in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages, the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and, subject to such reimbursement, the same shall be paid into the Treasury of the East India Company and carried to the account of Government; and in all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

Questions of forfeitures may be decided in suits for wages.

LXXXIX. Any question concerning the forfeiture of, or deductions from the wages of any seaman or apprentice, may be determined in any proceeding lawfully instituted with respect to such wages, notwithstanding that the offence in respect of which such question arises, though hereby made punishable by imprisonment as well as forfeiture, has not been made the subject of any criminal proceeding.

Penalty for false statement as to last ship or name.

XC. If any seaman, on or before being engaged, wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of the name of his last ship or last alleged ship, or wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of his own name, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees, and such penalty may be deducted from any wages he may earn by virtue of such engagement as aforesaid, and shall, subject to reimbursement of the loss and expenses (if any) occasioned by any previous desertion, be paid and applied in the same manner as other penalties payable under this Act.

Fines to be deducted from wages, and paid to Shipping Master.

XCI. Whenever any seaman commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine and which it is intended to punish by enforcing such fine, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and a copy of such entry shall be furnished or the same shall be read over to the offender, and an entry of such reading over, and of the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall be made, in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore specified with respect to the offences against discipline specified in and punishable under this Act; and such fine shall be deducted and paid over as follows (that is to say); if the offender is discharged at any Port or place within the said Territories, and the offence, and such entries in respect thereof as aforesaid, are proved, in the case of a Foreign-going ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master before whom the offender is discharged, and in the case of a Home-trade ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged, the master or owner shall deduct such fine from the wages of the offender and pay the same over to such Shipping Master; and if before the final discharge of the crew within the said Territories, any such offender as aforesaid enters into any of Her Majesty's ships or is discharged at any place not in the said Territories, and the offence and such entries as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the Officer in command of the ship into which he so enters or of the Consular Officer, Officer of Customs, or other person by whose sanction he is so discharged, the fine shall thereupon be deducted as aforesaid, and an entry of such deduction shall then be made in the official log-book (if any) and signed by such officer or other person; and on the return of the ship within the said Territories, the master or owner shall pay over such fine, in the case of Foreign-going ships to the Shipping

Master before whom the crew is discharged, and in the case of Home-trade ships to the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged; and if any master or owner neglects or refuses to pay over any such fine in manner aforesaid, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding six times the amount of the fine retained by him: provided that no act of misconduct for which any such fine as aforesaid has been inflicted and paid shall be otherwise punished under the provisions of this Act.

Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.

XCII. Every person who by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade any seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or to proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship; or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, shall for each such offence in respect of each such seaman or apprentice incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship or who has wilfully neglected or refused to join or has deserted from his ship, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to have so done, shall for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for obtaining passage surreptitiously.

XCIII. Any person who secretes himself and goes to sea in any ship without the consent of either the owner, consignee, or master, or of a mate, or of any person in charge of such ship, or of any other person entitled to give such consent, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding four weeks.

On change of masters, documents hereby required to be handed over to successor.

XCIV. If during the progress of a voyage the master of any ship registered at any Port or place within the said Territories is superseded or for any other reason quits the ship and is succeeded in the command by some other person, he shall deliver to his successor the various documents relating to the navigation of the ship and to the crew thereof which are in his custody, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand Rupees; and such successor shall, immediately on assuming the command of the ship, enter in the official log a list of the documents so delivered to him.

Official Logs.

Official logs to be kept in forms sanctioned by local Government.

XCV. An official log-book of every ship registered at any Port or place within the said Territories, not being a ship employed only in Coasting voyages or between any Port of the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon, shall be kept in a form sanctioned by the local Government; and such official log may, at the discretion of the master or owner, either be kept distinct from the ordinary ship's log or united therewith, so that in all cases all the blanks in the official log be duly filled up.

Entries to be made in due time.

XCVI. Every entry in every official log shall be made as soon as possible after the occurrence to which it relates, and if not made on the same day as the occurrence to which it relates, shall be made and dated so as to show the date of the occurrence, and of the entry respecting it; and in no case shall any entry therein in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final Port of discharge be made more than twenty-four hours after such arrival.

Entries required in official log.

XCVII. Every master of a ship for which an official log-book is hereby required, shall make or cause to be made therein entries of the following matters, (that is to say)—

Convictions.

1. Every legal conviction of any member of his crew and the punishment inflicted.

Offences.

2. Every offence committed by any member of his crew for which it is intended to prosecute, or to enforce a forfeiture, or to exact a fine, together with such statement concerning the reading over such entry and concerning the reply (if any) made to the charge, as hereinbefore required.

Punishments.

3. Every offence for which punishment is inflicted on board, and the punishment inflicted.

Conduct &c. of crew.

4. A statement of the conduct, character, and qualifications of each of his crew, or a statement that he declines to give an opinion on such particulars

Illness and injuries.

5. Every case of illness or injury happening to any member of the crew, with the nature thereof, and the medical treatment adopted, (that is to say)—

Deaths.

6. Every case of death happening on board and of the cause thereof.

Births.

7. Every birth happening on board with the sex of the infant and the names of the parents.

Marriages.

8. Every marriage taking place on board with the names and ages of the parties.

Quitting ship.

9. The name of every seaman or apprentice who ceases to be a member of the crew otherwise than by death, with the place, time, manner, and cause thereof.

Wages of men entering Navy.

10. The amount of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service during the voyage.

Wages of deceased seamen.

11. The wages due to any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, and the gross amount of all deductions to be made therefrom.

Sale of deceased men's effects.

12. The sale of the effects of any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, including a statement of each article sold and of the sum received for it.

Collisions.

13 Every collision with any other ship and the circumstances under which the same occurred.

Entries how to be signed.

XCVIII. The entries hereby required to be made in official log-books shall be signed as follows, (that is to say), every such entry shall be signed by the master and by the mate or some other of the crew, and every entry of illness, injury, or death shall be also signed by the surgeon or medical practitioner on board (if any); and every entry of wages due to, or of the sale of the effects of, any seaman or apprentice who dies shall be signed by the master and by the mate and some other member of the crew, and every entry of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service, shall be signed by the master and by the seaman or by the officer authorized to receive the seaman into such service.

Penalties in respect of official logs.

XCIX. The following offences in respect of official log-books shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned, (that is to say)—

1. If in any case an official log book is not kept in the manner hereby required, or if any entry hereby directed to be made in any such log-book is not made at the time and in the manner hereby directed, the master shall for each such offence incur the specific penalty herein mentioned in respect thereof, or where there is no such specific penalty, a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

2. Every person who makes or procures to be made or assists in making any entry in an official log-book, in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final Port of discharge within the said Territories, more than twenty-four hours after such arrival, shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding three hundred Rupees.

3. Every person who wilfully destroys or mutilates or renders illegible any entry in any official log-book, or who wilfully makes or procures to be made or assists in making any false or fraudulent entry or omission in any such log-book, shall for each such offence be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding one year.

Entries in official logs to be received in evidence.

C. All entries made in any official log-book as hereinbefore directed shall be received in evidence in any proceeding in any Court of Justice, subject to all just exceptions.

Official logs to be delivered to Shipping Master.

CI. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final Port of destination in the said Territories, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver to the Shipping Master before whom the crew is discharged the official log-book of the voyage; and the master or owner of every Home-trade ship not exclusively employed in coasting voyages or between any Port of the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Shipping Master in the said Territories, the official log-book for the preceding half-year; and every master or owner who refuses or neglects to deliver his official log-book, as hereby required, shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Official logs to be sent home in case of transfer of ship and in case of loss.

CII. If any ship ceases, by reason of transfer of ownership or change of employment, to fall within the operation of Section XCV of this Act, the master or owner thereof shall, if such ship is then in any Port within the said Territories, within one month, and if she is elsewhere, within six months, deliver or transmit to the Shipping Master at the Port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book duly made out to the time at which she ceased to be within such operation, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and if any ship is lost or abandoned, the master or owner thereof shall, if practicable, and as soon as possible, deliver or transmit to the Shipping Master at the Port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book (if any) duly made out to the time of such loss or abandonment, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Depositions to be received in evidence when witnesses cannot be produced.

CIII. Whenever, in the course of any legal proceedings instituted at any Port or place within the said Territories before any Judge or Magistrate or before any person authorized by law or by consent of parties to receive evidence, the testimony of any witness is required in relation to the subject matter of such proceeding, then upon due proof that such witness cannot be found at, or that he has departed from such Port or place, any deposition that such witness may have previously made on oath in relation to the same subject matter before any Justice or Magistrate in Her Majesty's Dominions (including the said Territories), or any British Consular Officer elsewhere, shall, if authenticated by the signature of the Justice, Magistrate, or Consular Officer, be admissible in evidence. Provided that, if the proceeding is criminal, such deposition shall not be admissible unless it was made in the presence of the person accused and the fact that it was so made is certified by the Justice, Magistrate, or Consular Officer. It shall not be necessary in any case to prove the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed any such deposition; and in any criminal proceeding, such certificate as aforesaid shall, unless the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence of the accused having been present in manner thereby certified.

Adjudication of offences and recovery of penalties.

CIV. All offences under this Act, made punishable by any penalty, may be prosecuted summarily before a Magistrate or any person exercising the powers of a Magistrate. The provisions of Act XIII of 1856, relating to the adjudication of fines and penalties and the enforcing payment thereof, shall apply to penalties imposed under this Act in the Towns of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca.

Act not to extend to Ships of War.

CV. Nothing in this Act shall extend to any ship belonging to or in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or to any Ship of War belonging to any Foreign Prince or State.

Interpretation.

CVI. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, (that is to say); the expression "local Government" shall mean the person or persons for the time being immediately administering the Executive Government of any portion of the said Territories. The expression "Home-tradeship" shall include every ship employed in trading between any Ports of the said Territories; or between any Port of the said Territories and any Port or place on the Continent of India or in the Island of Ceylon. The expression "Foreign-going ship" shall include every ship employed in trading between any Port of the said Territories and any Port or place not in the said Territories nor on the Continent of India nor in the Island of Ceylon. The word "master" shall include every person (except a Pilot) having command or charge of any Ship. The word "seaman" shall include every person (except masters, pilots, and apprentices) employed or engaged in any capacity on board any ship.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular number. Words importing the masculine gender shall include females.

The word "person" shall include a corporation.

Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next :—

A Bill relating to Lunatic Asylums.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the reception and detention of Lunatics in Asylums established for that purpose; It is enacted as follows :—

Lunatic Asylums may be established by Government or may be licensed.

I. The Executive Government of any Presidency or place, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, may establish Asylums for the reception and detention of Lunatics at such places as may be deemed proper; or if it think fit, may grant licenses to any private persons for the establishment of such Asylums.

Superintendence by visitors.

II. Every Lunatic Asylum shall be under the superintendence of not less than three visitors appointed by the Executive Government, of whom one at least shall be a Medical Officer. The Inspector of Jails (where such office exists) shall be a visitor ex-officio of all the Asylums within the circle of his inspection.

Rules for the management of Asylums by whom to be made.

III. The management of every Lunatic Asylum and the care and custody of its inmates shall be regulated according to rules framed for the purpose. If the Executive Government so direct, the visitors of each Asylum may from time to time make rules for the regulation of the Asylum of which they are visitors, and such rules shall be subject to the approval and revision of the Executive Government. The Executive Government, if it think fit, may from time to time frame rules, either general or special, for the regulation of all or any of the Asylums of the Presidency or place subject to such Government.

Monthly inspection by visitors.

IV. Two or more of the visitors, one of whom shall be a Medical Officer, shall once at the least in every month, together inspect every part of the Asylum of which they are visitors; and see and examine, as far as circumstances will permit, every Lunatic therein, and the order and certificate for the admission of every Lunatic admitted since the last visitation of the visitors; and shall enter in a book to be kept for that purpose any remarks which they may deem proper in regard to the management and condition of such Asylum and the Lunatics therein.

Wandering Lunatics to be sent to the Magistrate unless their friends engage to take charge of them.

V. It shall be the duty of every Darogah or District Police Officer to apprehend and send to the Magistrate all persons found wandering at large within his District, who are deemed to be Lunatics, and all persons believed to be dangerous by reason of Lunacy, unless the friends of such persons as last aforesaid shall engage in writing to adopt such precautions as shall prevent them from doing mischief. Whenever any such person as aforesaid is brought before a Magistrate, the Magistrate, with the assistance of the Civil Surgeon, shall examine such person, and if the Civil Surgeon shall sign a certificate in the form A in the Schedule to this Act, and the Magistrate shall be satisfied on personal examination or other proof that such person is a Lunatic and a proper person to be detained under care and treatment he shall make an order for such person to be received into the Asylum established for the Division in which the Magistrate's jurisdiction is situate; or if such person is not a native of the country, and the circumstances of the case so require, into a Lunatic Asylum at the Presidency.

Certificate and order for reception in Asylum.

In case of neglect or cruel treatment of a Lunatic, Magistrate may order relative, &c., to maintain him.

VI. If it shall appear to the Magistrate, on the report of a Police Officer or the information of any other person, that any person within the limits of his jurisdiction is deemed to be a Lunatic is under proper care and control, or is cruelly treated or neglected by any relative or other person having the charge of him, the Magistrate may send for the supposed Lunatic, and summon such relative or other person as has or ought to have the charge of him; and if such relative or other person be legally bound to maintain the supposed Lunatic, the Magistrate may make an order for such Lunatic being properly cared for and treated, and require security for the fulfilment of the same, and if security is not given may commit such relative or other person to jail for a period not exceeding one month. If there be no person legally bound to maintain the supposed Lunatic, or if the Magistrate think fit so to do, he may proceed as prescribed in the last preceding Section, and upon being satisfied in manner aforesaid that the person deemed to be a Lunatic is a Lunatic and a proper person to be detained under care and treatment, may make an order for his reception into such Asylum as aforesaid.

If no person bound to maintain him, Magistrate may make an order for his reception in Asylum.

It shall be the duty of every Darogah or District Police Officer to report to the Magistrate every such case of neglect or cruel treatment as aforesaid which may come to his knowledge.

Darogah to report neglect.

VII. All acts which the Magistrate and the Civil Surgeon respectively are authorized or required to do by the two last preceding Sections, may be done in the Presidency Towns and the Stations of the Straits Settlement by the Commissioner of Police and any Medical Officer appointed by Government in that behalf respectively: and all duties which a Darogah or District Police Officer is authorized or required to perform, may be performed in any of the said Towns and Stations by an Officer of the Police Force not below the rank of Inspector.

Commissioner of Police &c. to act in the Presidency Towns.

VIII. Except as otherwise hereinbefore provided, no person shall be received into a Lunatic Asylum in any Presidency Town or in any Station of the Straits Settlement without an order under the hand of some person in the Form B in the Schedule to this Act together with such statement of particulars as is contained in the said Form B, nor without the medical certificate, containing the particulars in Form A in the Schedule to this Act, of two persons each of whom shall be a Physician, Surgeon, or Apothecary, and one of whom shall be a Presidency Surgeon, or a Surgeon in the employment of the Government. When such order and certificate are presented, the visitors or manager of the Asylum, before admitting the Lunatic into the Asylum, may require the friends of the said Lunatic to engage to pay the expenses which may be incurred for the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of the Lunatic, unless it shall appear to the said visitors that they have not sufficient means of doing so.

Order and certificate in Presidency Towns.

IX. Clause 1.—In places other than those specified in the last preceding Section, when a Lunatic is possessed of property and a guardian for such Lunatic has been appointed by order of the Court of Wards or of the Civil Court, if such guardian shall desire that the Lunatic be admitted into a Lunatic Asylum he shall make application to the Civil Court, and the Judge with the assistance of the Civil Surgeon shall examine such Lunatic, and if the Civil Surgeon shall sign a certificate in the Form A in the Schedule to this Act, and the Judge shall be satisfied that the Lunatic is a proper person to be detained under care and treatment in a Lunatic Asylum, he shall make an order for such person to be received into the Asylum established for the Division in which his jurisdiction is situate.

Application to Judge by the guardian of Lunatic for an order for his reception in an Asylum.

Clause 2.—If application is made to the Judge for the issue of an order for the reception into a Lunatic Asylum of any person for whom a guardian has not been appointed by order of the Court of Wards or of the Civil Court, the Judge, if he see sufficient reason for so doing, shall enquire into the fact of Lunacy in the same manner as if an application had been made to the Civil Court under the provisions of Section III of Act of 185 , and if the Lunacy be established, the Judge may then proceed in the manner prescribed in the first Clause of this Section.

Application where no guardian has been appointed.

Clause 3.—Whenever the Judge shall make an order for the reception of any person into a Lunatic Asylum he shall, at the same time, make an order for the payment of the expenses to be incurred for the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such person and such expenses shall be recovered by the Judge on the application of the visitors or manager of such Asylum. Provided, however, that, if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Judge that the Lunatic has not sufficient property, and his friends have not sufficient means for the payment of such expenses, he shall certify the same in the order for the reception of the Lunatic into the Asylum, instead of making such order for the payment of expenses as aforesaid.

Order for payment of expenses.

X. It shall be lawful for three of the visitors of any Asylum, of whom one shall be a Medical Officer, by writing under their hands, to order the discharge of any person detained in such Asylum. When such order is given, if the person is detained under the order of any public Officer, notice of the order of discharge shall be immediately communicated to such Officer.

Order of discharge from Asylum.

XI. When any relative or friend of a Lunatic detained in any Asylum under the provisions of Section V, Section VI, or Section VII of this Act, is desirous that such Lunatic should be delivered over to his care and custody, he shall make application to the Magistrate or Commissioner of Police under whose order the Lunatic is detained, and the Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, if he think fit, after communication with the visitors or with one of them being a Medical Officer, and upon the undertaking in writing of such relative or friend to the satisfaction of the said Magistrate or Commissioner that such Lunatic shall be properly taken care of, and shall be prevented from doing injury to himself or others, shall make an order for the discharge of such Lunatic, and such Lunatic shall thereupon be discharged.

Order of discharge on undertaking of relative for due treatment of the Lunatic.

XII. The Inspector of Jails may direct the removal of any Lunatic from any Asylum to any other Asylum within the circle of his inspection, and such order shall be sufficient authority for the removal of such Lunatic and also for his reception into the Asylum to which he is ordered to be removed.

Inspector of Jails may make order of removal from one Asylum to another.

Amendment of order or certificate.

XIII. If, after the reception of any Lunatic into any Asylum, it appear that the order or the medical certificate or certificates upon which he was received is or are defective or incorrect the same may at any time afterwards be amended by the person or persons signing the same with the sanction of two or more of the visitors of the said Asylum one of whom shall be a Medical Officer.

Certificate and order to justify detention and re-capture after escape.

XIV. Every person received into a Lunatic Asylum under such order as is required by this Act accompanied by the requisite medical certificate, may be detained therein until he be removed or discharged as authorized by this Act, and in case of escape may by virtue of such order be re-taken by the manager of such Asylum, or any Officer or servant belonging thereto, or any other person authorized in that behalf by the said manager, or any Police Officer, and conveyed to and received and detained in such Asylum.

In what cases Government to pay for the maintenance of Lunatic.

XV. When any Lunatic is sent to a licensed Asylum by order of a Magistrate or Commissioner of Police under Section V, VI, or VII of this Act, and when a Lunatic is admitted into such Asylum under Section VIII, or an order for the reception of a Lunatic is made under Section IX, and no engagement has been taken from the friends of the Lunatic or order made by the Judge for the payment of expenses, under the said Section VIII or IX respectively, the expense of the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such Lunatic shall be paid by the Government to the manager of such Asylum.

Civil Court, on application of Magistrate, may make order for the payment of cost of maintenance out of the Lunatic's estate.

XVI. The Magistrate or Commissioner of Police by whom any Lunatic has been sent to a Lunatic Asylum, if it appear to such Magistrate or Commissioner that such Lunatic has an estate applicable to his maintenance, and more than sufficient to maintain his family, or that any person is legally bound to maintain and has the means of maintaining such Lunatic, may apply to the Chief Court of Civil Judicature within the jurisdiction of which the said Asylum may be, and such Court shall enquire into the matter in a summary way, and on being satisfied that such Lunatic has an estate applicable to his maintenance, or that any person is legally bound to maintain and has the means of maintaining such Lunatic, shall make an order for the recovery of the charges of the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such Lunatic out of such estate or from such person. Such order shall be enforced in the same manner and shall be of the same force and effect as any judgment or order made by the said Court in a regular suit in respect of the property or person therein mentioned. Any personal property which may be in the possession of a Lunatic found wandering at large may be sold by the Magistrate, and the proceeds thereof (or such part of the same as may be necessary) applied towards the payment of the charges of the lodging and maintenance of the Lunatic, and of any other expenses incurred on his behalf.

Saving of liability of relatives to maintain Lunatic.

XVII. The liability of any relative or person to maintain any Lunatic shall not be taken away or affected by any provision contained in this Act.

Saving of Act IV of 1849.

XVIII. Nothing contained in this Act shall affect the provisions of Act IV of 1849 entitled "An Act for the safe custody of Criminal Lunatics."

Interpretation.

XIX. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include every person of unsound mind, and every person being an idiot.

The word "Magistrate" shall include a person exercising the powers of a Magistrate.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill to regulate proceedings in Lunacy in Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the several Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charters within the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company are authorized and empowered by their respective Charters to appoint guardians and keepers of the persons and estates of Lunatics, and to enquire into, hear, and determine questions of alleged Lunacy by inspection of the person or by such other ways and means by which the truth may best be discovered and known; and whereas, according to the practice of the said Courts, questions of alleged Lunacy are determined by inquisition taken before a jury, and it is expedient to lessen the cost and to alter the mode of enquiry into such questions, and also to empower the said Courts to make provision for the due management of the estates of Lunatics; It is enacted as follows:—

Court may order enquiry before a Judge or Master as to persons alleged to be insane.

I. It shall be lawful for any of the said Courts of Judicature, on such application for enquiry as is hereinafter mentioned, to make an order directing any Judge of the Court, or the Master, to enquire whether any person (subject to the jurisdiction of the Court) who is alleged to be Lunatic, is or is not of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself and his affairs, or (where the alleged Lunatic is more than one hundred and fifty miles from a Presidency Town) to issue a Commission directed to one or more persons to make the said enquiry. The Judge, or Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners executing the enquiry shall, while so employed, have the like powers and authority as are or may be vested by law in a Judge or Master of the said Court for the investigation of matters referred to them by the Court.

Application by whom to be made.

II. Application for such enquiry may be made by any relative or creditor of the alleged Lunatic, or by the Advocate General. Where the alleged Lunatic is within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, he shall have sufficient notice of the application before an order is made for such enquiry.

Notice to be given.

Order for enquiry what to contain.

III. The order for enquiry may, in addition to the matters of enquiry hereinbefore specified, contain directions for other enquiries concerning the nature of the property belonging to the alleged Lunatic, the persons who are his relatives or next of kin, the time during which he has been of unsound mind, or such other matters as to the Court shall seem proper. The Court shall have power, either at the request of the alleged Lunatic (if it appear that he is mentally competent to form and express a wish on the subject,) or at its own discretion, and at any stage of the enquiry, to appoint any two or more persons to act as assessors to the Judge, or Master, or to the Commissioner or Commissioners in the said enquiry.

Appointment of assessors.

Report to be made.

IV. The Judge, or Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners shall report to the Court the result of the enquiry. The assessors shall either signify their concurrence in the report by signing the same, or, if they or any of them dissent therefrom, shall signify such dissent and the reasons for such dissent to the Court.

Proceedings after report.

V. If no assessors have been appointed, or if the assessors appointed concur in the report, it shall be deemed to be of the same force and effect, and be proceeded on in the same manner in regard to the appointment of Committees of the person and estate of the Lunatic as the inquisition now according to practice taken upon the oath of a jury. If the assessors or any of them dissent from the report, the Court may, at its discretion, either pass an order confirming the report (in which case it shall be of force and effect, and be proceeded on in manner aforesaid) or direct a farther enquiry, and proceed thereupon, as provided in the case of the original enquiry. If the said report shall appear to the Court to be defective or insufficient, it shall be lawful for the Court either to amend the same or to refer it back to the Judge, Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners, to be amended as the Court shall think fit.

Lunatic out of the jurisdiction

VI. When the alleged Lunatic is not within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court in making the order for enquiry shall nominate assessors, and it shall not be necessary to give the alleged Lunatic notice of the enquiry unless the Court shall so direct.

Court may give certain powers for management of Lunatic's estate.

VII. It shall be lawful for the Court, on the appointment of Committees of the person and estate of a Lunatic, to direct by the order of appointment, or by any subsequent order, that the person to whom the charge of the estate is committed, shall have such powers for the management thereof as to the Court shall seem necessary and proper, reference being had to the nature of the property, whether moveable or immoveable, of which the estate may consist. But such powers shall not extend to the sale or charge, by way of mortgage, of the estate or any part thereof, or to the letting of any immoveable property unless for a term not exceeding three years

Master to receive proposals concerning management, sale, &c., of estate.

VIII. The Master of the Court shall be at liberty, without an order of reference, to receive any proposal and conduct any enquiry respecting the management of the estate of a Lunatic, if such proposal relate to any matter which the Committee of the estate has not been empowered by an order under the last preceding Section to dispose of. The Master may likewise, without reference, receive and enquire into any proposal relating to the sale, or charge by way of mortgage of the estate or any part thereof, or to the letting of any immoveable property for a term exceeding three years.

Court to make order upon the report of the Master

IX. The Master shall report to the Court on the proposal, and the Court shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, make such order upon the report and respecting the costs, as shall, under the circumstances, seem just.

Master to determine what persons to attend at any enquiry, at the cost of the estate.

X. The Court or the Master shall once in the matter of each Lunacy, and may afterwards, from time to time, determine whether any one or more, and if any, how many and which of the relatives or next of kin shall attend before the Master, at the cost of the estate, in any proceeding connected with the management thereof

Application to Court in the first instance.

XI. The Court may, on application made to it by petition concerning any matter whatsoever connected with the Lunacy, make such order, subject to the provisions of this Act, respecting the application and the costs thereof, and of the consequent proceedings, as shall, under the circumstances, seem just.

Lunatic's property may be sold for debts, maintenance, &c.

XII. The Court may, if it appears to be just, or for the Lunatic's benefit, order that any property moveable or immoveable of the Lunatic, and whether in possession, reversion, remainder, contingency, or expectancy, be sold, or charged by way of mortgage or otherwise disposed of, as may seem most expedient for the purpose of raising money to be applied for any of the following purposes :—

1 The payment of the Lunatic's debts, including any debt incurred for his maintenance or otherwise for his benefit.

2. The discharge of any incumbrance on his estates

3. The payment of, or provision for the expenses of his future maintenance, including the expenses of his removal to Europe, when he shall be so removed, and all expenses incidental thereto.

4 The payment of the costs of any enquiry under this Act, and of any costs incurred by order, or under the authority of the Court.

Committee to make conveyances.

XIII The Committee of the Lunatic's estate shall, in the name and on behalf of the Lunatic, execute all such conveyances and instruments of transfer relative to any sale, mortgage, or other disposition of his estate as the Court shall order. In like manner such Committee shall, under the order of the Court, exercise all powers whatsoever vested in a Lunatic whether the same are vested in him for his own benefit, or in the character of trustee or guardian

And to execute powers.

Court may order performance of contract.

XIV. Where a person having contracted to sell or otherwise dispose of his estate or any part thereof, afterwards becomes Lunatic, the Court may, if the contract is such as the Court thinks ought to be performed, direct the Committee of the estate to execute such conveyances and to do such other acts in fulfilment of the contract as it shall think proper

Member of partnership becoming Lunatic.

XV. If a member of a partnership firm becomes Lunatic, the Court may, on the application of the other partners, or of any person who appears to the Court to be entitled to require the same, dissolve the partnership ; and thereupon, or upon a dissolution by decree of Court or otherwise by due course of law, the Committee of the estate may, in the name and on behalf of the Lunatic, join with the other partners in disposing of the partnership property upon such terms, and shall do all such acts for carrying into effect the dissolution of the partnership, as the Court shall think proper.

Disposal of business premises

XVI. Where a Lunatic has been engaged in business, the Court may, if it appear to be for the Lunatic's benefit that the business premises should be disposed of, order the Committee of the estate to sell and dispose of the same ; and the monies arising from such sale shall be applied in such manner as the Court shall direct.

Committee may dispose of undesirable lease

XVII. Where a Lunatic is entitled to a lease or under-lease, and it appears to be for the benefit of his estate that it should be disposed of, the Committee of the estate may, by order of the Court, surrender, assign, or otherwise dispose of the same to such person for such valuable or nominal consideration, and upon such terms as the Court shall think fit.

Stock belonging to Lunatic may be ordered to be transferred

XVIII. Where any Stock or Government Securities or any Share in a Company is standing in the name of or is vested in a Lunatic, beneficially entitled thereto. or in a Committee of the estate of a Lunatic, or in a trustee for him, and the Committee dies intestate, or himself becomes Lunatic, or is out of the jurisdiction of the Court, or it is uncertain whether the Committee be living or dead, or he neglects or refuses to transfer the Stock, Securities, or Shares, or to receive and pay the dividends to a new Committee, or as he directs, within fourteen days after being required by him to do so, then the Court may order some fit person to make such transfer, or to transfer the same, and to receive and pay over the dividends in such manner as the Court may direct.

Stock and Government Securities &c. of Lunatic, out of India, may be ordered to be transferred.

XIX. Where any Stock or Government Securities or any Share in a Company is standing in the name of, or vested in any person residing out of the said Territories, the Court, upon being satisfied that such person has been declared of unsound mind, and that his personal estate has been vested in a curator or manager, according to the laws of the place where he is residing, may order some fit person to make such transfer of the Stock, Securities, or Shares, or of any part thereof, to such curator or manager or otherwise, and also to receive and pay over the dividends and proceeds, as the Court may think fit.

Court may apply in certain cases property for Lunatic's maintenance without appointing Committee.

XX. If it appears to the Court, having regard to the situation and condition in life of the Lunatic and his family and the other circumstances of the case, to be expedient that his property should be made available for his or their maintenance in a direct and inexpensive manner, it may, instead of appointing a Committee of the estate, order that the property, or such part of it as shall not consist of money, be realized and be paid to such person as the Court may think fit, to be applied for the purpose aforesaid.

Like power in case of temporary Lunacy.

XXI. If it appears to the Court that the unsoundness of mind of a Lunatic is in its nature temporary, and that it is expedient to make temporary provision for his maintenance, or for the maintenance of his family, the Court may, in like manner as under the last preceding Section, direct his property or a sufficient part of it to be applied for the purpose aforesaid.

Application to set aside report may be made within six months.

XXII. When a person has been found of unsound mind, it shall be lawful for such person, or for any other person aggrieved by such finding, to apply to the Court, within six months after the date of the report, for an order to set aside such report. In such case the Court may order a further enquiry, and may, by the order, direct what persons shall have the conduct of such enquiry and by whom the costs thereof shall be paid, and whether any and what security for the due payment thereof shall be given.

No application to be received afterwards, except under special circumstances.

XXIII. Except as is hereinafter provided, no application to set aside a report shall be received unless the same is made within the said period of six months from the date of the report, or unless the Court shall, under the special circumstances of any particular case, think fit to allow such application after the period so limited; in which case the Court may make the order upon such terms and conditions as shall seem just.

Superseding proceedings in Lunacy.

XXIV. When any person has been found of unsound mind, and it shall be shown to the Court, either on the application of such person or of any other person acting on his behalf, or having or claiming any interest in respect of his estate, or on the information of any other person, that there is reason to believe that such unsoundness of mind has ceased, the Court may make an order for enquiry whether such person is or is not still of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself and his affairs. The enquiry shall be conducted in like manner as is hereinbefore prescribed; and if it be found that the unsoundness of mind has ceased, the Court shall order all proceedings in the matter of the Lunacy to cease or to be set aside on such terms and conditions as under the circumstances of the case shall appear proper.

Power to Court to make general orders.

XXV. The Court may, from time to time, make such orders as shall seem meet for carrying into effect the purposes of this Act, and for regulating the mode of proceeding before any Judge of the Court, or before the Master, or before any Commissioner or Commissioners, in matters of Lunacy.

Interpretation.

XXVI. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include any person found, by due course of law, to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill to make better provision for the care of the estates of Lunatics not subject to the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the care of the estates of Lunatics not subject to the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature; and to prescribe general rules by which the state of mind of persons not subject to such jurisdiction, who are alleged to be Lunatic, may be enquired into and ascertained; It is enacted as follows:—

Regulations repealed.

I. So much of Section V Regulation X. 1793, of Section IX Regulation LII. 1803, of Regulation I. 1800, and of Section XXIX Regulation VIII. 1805 (extended to Benares by Section II Regulation VI. 1822), of the Bengal Code; and so much of Sections VI and VII Regulation V. 1804, and of Sections XX and XXI of the said Regulation (as modified by Section III Regulation X. 1831), of the Madras Code, as relate to Lunatics or idiots—are hereby repealed.

Civil Court on application may institute enquiry as to alleged Lunatics possessed of property.

II. Whenever any person possessed of property is alleged to be a Lunatic, the Civil Court, upon such application as is hereinafter mentioned, may institute an enquiry for the purpose of ascertaining whether such person is or is not of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

Application by whom to be made.

III. Application for such enquiry may be made by any relative or creditor of the alleged Lunatic or by any public Curator appointed under Act XX of 1841, or any public Officer legally empowered to take charge of the estates of persons disqualified by minority, lunacy, or other cause for managing the same. If the property be of such a description as to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, the application may be made by the Collector on behalf of the Court of Wards.

Appointment of jury.

IV. When the Civil Court is about to institute any such enquiry as aforesaid, the Court shall appoint a jury consisting of the Civil Surgeon and two respectable inhabitants of the District; and the enquiry shall be conducted by the Court in the presence and with the assistance of the jury so appointed.

On completion of enquiry order to be made.

V. On the completion of the enquiry, if the jury be unanimous or if the Civil Surgeon and another juror concur in the finding, the Judge shall make an order in accordance with the finding of the jury. If the Civil Surgeon dissent from the other jurors, the Judge, at his discretion, may either institute another enquiry (which shall be conducted in the same manner as the first) or may make such order in the case as he shall think proper The order of the Judge under this Section shall be final Managem nt of Lunatic's estate.

VI. When a person has been adjudged to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, if the estate of such person consist of property which the Court of Wards is by law empowered to take charge of, the Judge shall make an order authorizing the Court of Wards to take charge of the same. In all other cases, except as otherwise hereinafter provided, the Judge shall appoint a manager of the estate. If any near relative of the Lunatic be willing to undertake the charge of the estate and the Judge shall consider him a fit person to be entrusted therewith, such relative shall be appointed manager. If there be no such relative, the Judge may appoint the public Curator or any public Officer legally empowered as aforesaid, or (if there be no such Curator or Officer) any other suitable person, to be manager of the estate.

Guardianship of Lunatic's person.

VII. When a manager of the estate of a Lunatic is appointed in manner aforesaid, the manager, unless he be such Curator or Officer as aforesaid, or unless the Judge direct otherwise, shall be also the guardian of the Lunatic's person. The Judge may, whenever he thinks proper, appoint any fit person, other than the manager, to the office of guardian.

Remuneration of managers and guardians.

VIII. If the person appointed by the Judge of a Civil Court to be manager of the estate of a Lunatic, or the person so appointed to be guardian of a Lunatic's person, shall be unwilling to discharge the trust gratuitously, the Judge may fix such allowance or allowances to be paid out of the Lunatic's estate as, under the circumstances of the case, he may think suitable.

Powers of managers.

IX. Every manager of the estate of a Lunatic appointed as aforesaid may exercise the same powers in the management of the estate as might have been exercised by the proprietor if not a Lunatic. But no such manager shall have power to sell or mortgage the estate or any part thereof, or to grant a lease of any immoveable property for any period exceeding five years, without an order of the Civil Court previously obtained.

Managers to furnish inventory and annual accounts.

X. Every person appointed by the Judge of a Civil Court to be manager of the estate of a Lunatic shall, within six months from the date of his appointment, exhibit and deliver in open Court an inventory of the landed property and of all such sums of money, goods, and effects, as he shall have received on account of the estate, together with a statement of all debts due by or to the same. And every such manager shall furnish to the Court annually, within three months of the close of the year of the era current in the District, an account of the property in his charge, exhibiting the sums received and disbursed on account of the estate and the balance remaining in his hands. If any relative or creditor of the Lunatic, or any public Officer, by petition to the Court, shall impugn the accuracy of the said inventory and statement, or of any annual account, the Court may summon the manager, and enquire summarily into the matter and make such order thereon as it shall think proper. Any such petition may be referred by the Judge to any Civil Court subordinate to him.

Penalty for manager refusing to furnish accounts &c.

XI. The Judge may impose a fine not exceeding five hundred Rupees on any manager of the estate of a Lunatic who wilfully neglects or refuses to deliver his accounts, or any property in his hands, within the prescribed time, or a time fixed by the Court, and may realize such fine by attachment and sale of his property under the rules in force for the execution of decrees of Court, and may also commit the recusant to close custody until he shall deliver such accounts or property.

Removal of managers.

XII. The Judge, upon proof of incompetency or delinquency, or for any other sufficient cause, may remove any manager appointed under this Act not being a public Curator or a public Officer legally empowered as aforesaid, and may appoint such Curator or Officer, or any other fit person in his room, and may compel the person so removed to make over the property in his hands to his successor, and to account to such successor for all monies received or disbursed by him.

Judge may in certain cases apply property for Lunatic's maintenance without appointing any manager.

XIII. If it appears to the Judge, having regard to the situation and condition in life of the Lunatic and his family, and the amount and description of his property, to be unnecessary to appoint a manager of the estate as hereinbefore provided, the Judge may, instead of appointing such manager, order that the property, or such part of it as shall not consist of money, be realized and be paid to such person as the Judge may think fit, to be applied for the maintenance of the Lunatic and his family.

Procedure for delivery of estate to Lunatic on recovery.

XIV. When any person has been adjudged to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, if such person or any other person acting on his behalf, or having or claiming any interest in respect of his estate, shall represent by petition to the Civil Court, or if the Court shall be informed in any other manner, that the unsoundness of mind of such person has ceased, the Court may institute an enquiry for the purpose of ascertaining whether such person is or is not still of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs. The enquiry shall be conducted in the manner provided in Sections IV and V of this Act, and if it be adjudged that such person has ceased to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, the Judge shall make an order for his estate to be delivered over to him, and such order shall be final.

Orders to be open to appeal.

XV. Except as otherwise herein provided, all orders made by a Judge or by any subordinate Court under this Act, shall be open to appeal under the rules in force for appeals, in miscellaneous cases, from the orders of the Judge and the subordinate Courts.

Interpretation.

XVI. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include every person found by due course of law to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 7th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill for the levy of Port-dues in the Port of Aden.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Port of Aden in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows:—

Port-due chargeable on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering the Port.

I. A Port-due, at a rate not exceeding the rate of one anna for every ton of burden, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards (except fishing boats) which shall enter the said Port.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter the Port.

II. Provided that no such due shall be chargeable in respect of any vessel which, having left the Port is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage.

No vessel to pay Port-due oftener than once a month.

III. The Port-due chargeable under this Act shall not be chargeable oftener than once in the same calendar month in respect of the same vessel.

Vessels entering the Port in ballast.

IV. Vessels entering the port in ballast shall be charged with three-fourths of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

Provisions of Section XLVI Act XXII of 1855 not applicable to Steamers entering the Port.

V. The provisions of Section XLVI Act XXII of 1855 shall not be applicable to Steamers entering the Port.

Commencement of Act.

VI. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Bombay Gazette, the rates at which Port dues shall be levied in the said Port subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date no Port-due or fee shall be levied at the said Port except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rate of Port-dues and fees to be published.

No other Port-dues or fees to be levied.

Act to be read as part of Act XXII of 1855.

VII. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of Act XXII of 1855.

Fort William, 4th December 1857.

No. 1525 of 1857.—The following Orders, issued by the Chief Commissioner Punjaub, and published in the Punjaub Gazette, are confirmed :—

Military Orders by the Chief Commissioner and Agent to the Governor General in the Punjaub.

Lahore, 12th August 1857.—The following Orders, dated Lahore, the 1st August 1857, are re-published :—

With the concurrence of Major General E. E. Gowan, C. B., Commanding in the Upper Provinces, the following arrangements and temporary appointments are directed, in anticipation of the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council.

The augmentation of four Companies directed to each of the Infantry Corps and Police Battalions under the Chief Commissioner's orders having been nearly completed, they will at once be drafted into new Regiments, which are to be numbered, constituted, and officered as follows :—

No. and Designation.	At what Station to be formed.	To be composed of four Companies, from	Officers.
7th Regt. P. Infy. ...	Phillour, ordered towards Delhi...	2nd Police Battalion at Kangra. 7th ditto at Umritsur.	Commandant, Lieutenant J. F. Stafford, 4th N. I. 2nd in Command, Adjutant, Doing duty,
8th Ditto ...	Nowshera ...	4th Regt. Punjaub Infy. at Peshawur Valley. 5th ditto ditto.	Commandant, Lieutenant C. H. Brownlow, 1st Regt. N. I., 2nd in Command 1st Sikh Infantry. 2nd in Command, Lieutenant G. A. McNair, H. M.'s 70th Foot. Adjutant, Lieutenant E. H. Woodcock, 55th N. I. Doing duty,
9th Ditto ...	Kohat ...	3rd ditto at Kohat. 6th ditto ditto.	Commandant, Lieutenant J. Williamson, 49th N. I., 2nd in Command 5th P. I. 2nd in Command, Lieutenant N. E. Boileau, 27th N. I. Adjutant, Lieutenant A. W. Murray, 42nd N. I. Doing duty,
10th Ditto ...	Dera Ishmaol Khan ...	3rd Sikh Infy. at Bunnoo. 6th Police Battalion at Dera Ishmael Khan.	Commandant, Captain P. F. Gardiner, 29th N. I. 2nd in Command, Lieutenant G. H. Gordon, 39th N. I. Adjutant, Lieutenant T. J. Watson, late 46th N. I. Doing duty,
11th Ditto ...	Mooltan ...	1st Sikh Infy. at Dera Ghazee Khan. 3rd Police Battalion at Mooltan.	Commandant, Captain E. S. Denniss, 62nd N. I. 2nd in Command, Lieutenant A. H. Millett, 69th N. I. Adjutant, Lieutenant A. P. Mew, 74th N. I. Doing duty,
12th Ditto ...	Lahore ...	2nd Sikh Infy. at Hazara. 5th Police Battalion at Rawul Pindee.	Commandant, Captain T. C. Blagrave, late 26th L. I. 2nd in Command, Lieutenant M. J. White, ditto. Adjutant, Ensign F. J. Macdonnell, late 14th N. I. Doing duty, Ensign E. Swetenham, late 45th N. I.
13th Ditto ...	Umballa ...	1st Police Battalion at Lahore. 4th ditto at Umballa.	Commandant, Captain E. S. Garstin, 5th N. I. 2nd in Command, Lieutenant J. B. Cox, 62nd N. I. Adjutant, Lieutenant H. S. Ruxton, 49th N. I. Doing duty, Ensign T. H. Scott, 49th N. I.

The above Regiments will, for the present, consist of eight Companies each, which are to be recruited, as rapidly as possible, up to 100 Sepoys per Company.

This will afford time for the Officers to become acquainted with their men, and they will thereby be enabled to make better selections for the Non-commissioned grades of two additional Companies to be constituted hereafter, and each Regiment will eventually consist of ten Companies each of the strength noted in the margin.

1	Subadar.
1	Jemadar.
6	Havildars.
6	Naicks.
2	Buglers.
80	Sepoys.
2	Bhisties.
2	Laugrees.
1	Lascar.
1	Sweeper.

The transfers to the new Regiments will be paid up to the day they are struck off from their present Corps, and the usual Transfer Papers are to be furnished with them.

They are to be marched to their several destinations without loss of time, and, in all practicable cases, under an European Officer.

To ensure the early efficiency of the new Regiments which is of the utmost importance, it is essentially necessary that the transfers to them should have a fair proportion of old and trained Soldiers, and Commanding Officers are strictly enjoined to see that this order is fully carried out.

All classes and tribes to be fairly and proportionately represented in the Transfer Companies, and the fewer Hindoostanees the better.

The following proportions are, as far as possible, to be observed :—

Sikhs from British Territory, 4 parts.

Goorkhas, Hill Races (Rajpoots), 2 ditto.

Punjabee Mahomedans, not Pathans, 4 ditto.

Except at Peshawur, where the Mahomedans may be 3 parts Pathans and 1 part Punjabee.

These Regiments will be armed with muskets, which, with accoutrements, can be obtained on Indent from the nearest Magazines, or from those of disarmed Corps of the Line.

Light (half-mounting) clothing only will be prepared for the present. The color to be drab (khakee), and the pattern in all respects the same with that in use with the Infantry Corps of the Punjaub Irregular Force—a loose Tunic and Pantaloons.

For convenience, the Corps have been numbered from 7 to 13 inclusive, but any appointments made up for them will not, for the present, bear any numerical designations.

They are in all respects to be placed on the same footing with the Infantry Corps of the Punjaub Irregular Force and Sikh Infantry, as regards Pay and Allowances, Pensions, Establishments, &c., &c., but for the present no Carriage Establishment will be maintained for them. On any move taking place, Carriage for the Baggage of the men will be supplied at the public expense, according to the scale allowed for the above Corps. A copy of the scale of Carriage will be supplied to Commanding Officers hereafter by the Staff Officer of the Punjaub Irregular Force.

Emergent Indents for Arms, Accoutrements, Ammunition, Camp Equipage, &c., to be forwarded to the Office of the Military Secretary for counter-signature.

The first Muster Rolls and Pay Abstracts of the new Regiments are to be forwarded for counter-signature to the Office of the Military Secretary.

Afterwards, they will, in usual course, be transmitted to Pay-masters direct.

Officers Commanding Corps, from which transfers are to be made, will report direct, at an early date, to the Military Secretary, for the Chief Commissioner's information, what steps they may take for carrying out the foregoing arrangement, and all doubtful points (should there be any) should at once be referred for orders.

Lahore, 5th August 1857.—In continuation of Orders of the 1st instant, numbers are assigned to the following newly raised Regiments, and the appointments of Officers to them, subject to confirmation, are notified :—

16th Regiment of Punjaub Infantry at Peshawur.

Board of Revenue,
The 3rd December 1857.

E. T. Trevor,
Secretary.

Notification.

The 19th October 1857.

With the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, it is hereby declared that the Port of Maulmain and the Navigable River and Channel leading to that Port, are subject to Act XXII. of 1855.

The limits of the said Port of Maulmain are as follows :—

To the North, a line drawn across the Salween River from the Great Martaban Pagoda to the Boundary Pillar, at the junction of the Attaran and Salween Rivers.

To the South, a line drawn from the Boundary Pillar at the mouth of the Kyouktan Creek to the Boundary Pillar on the Island of Beeloogyoon, immediately opposite. So much of the Martaban branch of the Salween River as lies to the East of a line drawn from the Great Martaban Pagoda to the Boundary Pillar, on the North-East corner of the Island of Beeloogyoon.

The limits of the said Port include to the East and West so much of the River Salween, and of the shores thereof, as are within fifty yards of high water-mark spring tides.

The limits of the Navigable River and Channels leading to the said Port of Maulmain, made subject to the said Act, are as follows :—

To the North, the Port of Maulmain as above defined.

To the South, a line drawn from Double Island to the Western shore of Beloogyoon

Port Rules.

With the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, the following Port Rules have been made, and are hereby promulgated for general information and guidance :

Rule 1. No Vessel if above 200 Tons shall enter within the limits of the Port of Maulmain, or move from one place to another within the Port, between sun-set and sun-rise, without the special permission of the Master Attendant ; and the Commanders of all Vessels arriving at the Port of Maulmain are desired to enter correctly in the columns of the Report Book of the Master Attendant, as soon as presented to them, the information therein required regarding their Vessels. They will also report in writing to the Master Attendant, forty-eight hours before their departure, the particulars noted in the form appended hereto.

Rule 2. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall be bound to take up such berth as may be appointed for them by the Master Attendant, and shall change their berths or remain when required by such authority.

Rule 3. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall, on the requisition of the Master Attendant, rig in their jib and driver booms, and shall strike their yards and masts if required so to do by that Officer.

Rule 4. Every Ship or Vessel within the Port of Maulmain shall remove any anchor or spar or other substance projecting from her side when required to do so by the Master Attendant.

Rule 5. Vessels taking in or discharging ballast or any particular kind of cargo within the Port of Maulmain shall be bound to take up such berths as the Master Attendant may direct.

Rule 6. A free Channel of 240 yards wide is to be kept for Ships moving up or down the River within the Port and also free passages to Piers, Jetties, Landing Places, Wharves, Quays, Docks and Moorings, and all Vessels shall be bound to move when required to clear such Channels or passages.

Rule 7. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall anchor, moor and unmoor when and where required by the Master Attendant.

Rule 8. All Vessels within the Port of Maulmain shall be moored or warped from place to place as required by the Master Attendant, and no Vessel shall cast off a warp that has been made fast to her to assist a Vessel in mooring without being required so to do by the Pilot or Officer in charge of the Vessel mooring.

Rule 9. No Vessel shall use any of the Government Chain Moorings, whether fixed or swinging, without permission of the Master Attendant.

Rule 10. All Vessels occupying Government Moorings, fixed or swinging, shall be liable to pay for the same according to the following scale, but no more :—

GENERAL ORDER BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

NOTIFICATION.

No 1529 of 1857

FORT WILLIAM, 4TH DECEMBER 1857.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the Despatches and Returns relating to the operations carried on during the Siege of Delhi, and received by the Government at irregular intervals, should be made public

These Despatches contain the Reports of the Officers Commanding in the first Actions with the Mutineers at Ghazeeoodeen Nuggur, where the gallant conduct of Her Majesty's 60th Regiment, of the Carabineers, and of the Bengal Artillery, was conspicuous, and at Budlee ka Serai; as well as the accounts of other contests in which the British Troops have been engaged, always successfully, with the Enemy; each occasion furnishing examples of the undaunted courage, determination, and endurance by which the last crowning success was subsequently achieved.

The Governor General in Council has already recorded his gratitude to Major General Wilson, and the Officers and Men engaged in the final operations against the City. His Lordship in Council now offers his thanks to those who specially distinguished themselves in the preceding operations, and to the Noble Army by which they were supported

The warm acknowledgments of the Governor General in Council are due to Brigadier Hope Grant, C. B., and to Brigadier Showers, for their excellent services, and His Lordship in Council desires to express his high approbation of the zeal and good judgment displayed by Lieutenant-Colonel Custance, of the Carabineers, and Lieutenant Colonel Yule, of the 9th Lancers, in the frequent engagements in which they have been opposed to the Enemy.

Lieutenant-Colonel Yule has unhappily fallen, and the Queen's Army has to deplore the loss of a brave and skilful Officer.

The thanks of the Government of India are due to Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed Commanding Her Majesty's 8th Regiment; to Lieutenant-Colonel Deacon, Commanding Her Majesty's 61st Regiment: and to Lieutenant-Colonel Herbert, Commanding Her Majesty's 75th Regiment; as also to Colonel Welchman, who was at the head of the 1st Bengal European Fusiliers, and was severely wounded; and to Lieutenant-Colonel T. Seaton, C. B. of the 35th Regiment Native Infantry, to whose Command a Column was entrusted.

The example which has been set throughout these operations by the courageous and indefatigable exertions of Major Reid, Commanding the Sirmoor Battalion, is warmly acknowledged by the Governor General in Council.

Major Coke, of the Punjaub Irregular Force, has added to his high and well-earned reputation as one of the foremost Frontier Soldiers of India; and Lieutenant Hodson's good service at the head of the Irregular Horse merits much praise.

The thanks of the Government are eminently due to Lieutenant Colonel Baird Smith, and the Corps of Engineers under his direction. Their labors have been unremitting and have deserved success.

The readiness and coolness, as well as the gallantry evinced by Major Tombs, of the Bengal Artillery, on various occasions recorded in these papers, and the signal daring of Lieutenant Hills, who, alone and unsupported, charged a body of the Enemy's Cavalry and saved his Battery, command the admiration of the Governor General in Council.

Major Scott and Captain Remmington, of the Artillery, have well earned the acknowledgment of their services which the Governor General in Council now tenders to them.

His Lordship in Council desires to record his appreciation of the services of Lieutenant-Colonel Murray Mackenzie, of the Artillery, and of Major Jacob, of the 1st Bengal European Fusiliers, who died of the wounds received by them in these operations.

The General Officers who have held Command of the Army before Delhi, have brought to notice the ready assistance, at all times afforded to them, by that very distinguished Officer, Brigadier General Chamberlain, who, after the death of the lamented Colonel Chester on the field of Budlee ka Serai, was appointed to the Office of Adjutant General; by Captain Norman, whose services have been unremitting and most valuable, and by the Officers of the Adjutant General's Department; by Colonel Becher, and the Officers attached to the Quarter Master General's Department; by Colonel Congreve, C. B., Acting Adjutant General of Her Majesty's Forces; by Lieutenant Colonel the Hon'ble R. Curzon, Acting Quarter Master General of Her Majesty's Forces; by Lieutenant-Colonel Thomson, Deputy Commissary General, and the branch of the Service under his orders; by Lieutenant-Colonel Young, Judge Advocate General, and his Department; and by the Officers of the Head Quarters, as well as of their own Personal Staff. To these Officers the Governor General in Council again expresses his hearty thanks for the good services which they have rendered, and which it will be his grateful duty to bring to the notice of the Hon'ble Court of Directors and of Her Majesty's Government.

During a portion of the time over which the Siege Operations extended, dating from the first arrival of the Army under the walls of Delhi, the Command was held by Major General Sir Henry Barnard, K C B. But this gallant Officer was not permitted to witness the final success of the undertaking confided to him, and of which his own brilliant victory at Budlee ka Serai was the worthy commencement. Struck down by sickness, he died at his post, giving his last energies to the discharge of his trust: and the Governor General in Council cannot close this notice of the Campaign of Delhi without offering a tribute of sincere respect to the courage, constancy, and devotion to duty which marked the Command of Sir Henry Barnard

BRIGADIER A. WILSON,
Comdg. Field Force,

TO
THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY,
Head Quarters.

Camp Ghazeeoodeen Nuggur
The 31st May 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of Major-General Sir H Barnard, K. C B., Commanding the Umballa Force, that, as reported in my brief Despatch of last night, my Advance Picquets were driven in at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and that I was attacked by a large Force of the Mutineers, accompanied by heavy Guns from Delhi

I immediately sent off a Company of H. M.'s 60th Royal Rifles, with another in support, to hold the Iron Bridge, which is the key of my position, and I detached the four Guns of Major Tombs' Troop, supported by a Squadron of Carabineers to the right, along the bank of the Hindun River.

The Insurgents opened upon these advanced parties with heavy Guns. I ordered two more Companies of the 60th to support their advance, and brought up four Guns of Major Scott's Battery, the Sappers, and a Troop of Carabineers to their support, leaving two Guns and a Troop of Carabineers to protect the Camp.

The first few rounds from the Insurgents' Guns were admirably aimed, plunging through our Camp; but they were ably replied to by our two 18-Pounders in position under Lieutenant Light and Major Tombs' Troop, most admirably led by Lieutenant-Colonel M Mackenzie, who, ranking them in flank with his 6-Pounders, first made their fire unsteady, and in a short time silenced these heavy Guns.

On remarking the unsteadiness of their fire, I ordered Lieutenant Colonel Jones to advance his Rifles and attack. This was done in a most spirited manner. They drove the Enemy from the Guns, but in the act of taking possession of two heavy pieces on the causeway close to the Toll House, I regret to say that Captain Andrews and four of his men were blown up by the explosion of an Ammunition Waggon fired by one of the Mutineers.

The Insurgents were now in full retreat, leaving in our hands Ordnance Ammunition and Stores, as detailed in the accompanying Statement. They were followed for a considerable distance on the Delhi road by Lieutenant-Colonel Custance, Commanding the Carabineers with the Force.

Where all behaved so well, and showed such gallant conduct, it is almost invidious to particularize; but I wish to bring to Major-General Sir H. Barnard's notice, and through him to the Commander of the Forces, Lieutenant-Colonel Mackenzie, 1st Brigade Horse Artillery, who so ably led; Major Tombs, who so gallantly fought, the 2nd Troop of that Brigade, (the latter had his horse shot under him); Lieutenant-Colonel Custance, Commanding the Carabineers; Lieutenant-Colonel Jones, who so gallantly led the 60th Royal Rifles; and Major Scott, who ably supported that Regiment.

I beg to enclose the Reports I have received from Officers Commanding Detachments, with a Return of Killed and Wounded, and of the captured Ordnance and Ammunition.

Mr. Greathed, the Commissioner, attended me during the whole of the action. From this Gentleman, and from my own personal Staff, Captain Johnson, Staff Officer of the Force; Captain O. Hamilton, Officiating Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General; Captain Russell, of the 54th, and Lieutenant Barchard, of the 20th Native Infantry, my Orderly Officers; Lieutenant Waterfield, of the Commissariat Department—I received every assistance.

The casualties may not be considered great under the advantages we have gained, but with my small Force I cannot afford to lose men. I have applied to Major-General Hewitt, Commanding Meerut Division, for a reinforcement, as I consider my present Force much too small for the position I am placed in, liable to constant attacks from Delhi. Parties of horse have been seen from that quarter, reconnoitering my position all the morning, and it is very harassing to the men to be kept so constantly on the alert.

I have, &c,

FROM
BRIGADIER A. WILSON,
TO Comdg. Field Force,
THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY,
Head Quarters.
Camp Ghazeeoodeen Nuggur,
SIR, The 1st June 1857.

IN continuation of my demi official Express of last night's date, I have the honor to report for the information of Major-General Sir H. Barnard, K. C. B, and through him, of the Commander of the Forces, that the Insurgents attacked me again yesterday afternoon, at about 1 o'clock, in force.

They took up a position extending fully a mile, on the high ridge on the opposite side of the Hindun, about a mile from my advanced Picquet in front of the Bridge, and commenced a fire with their Guns from this long distance.

The Guns of the Horse Artillery, supported by a Squadron of Carabineers, immediately moved forward to reply to their fire, and the two 18-Pounders under Lieutenant Light moved to the bank of the River for the same purpose. The Rifles, leaving one Company in Camp, moved forward to the support of the Picquet at the Bridge, supported by two Guns of Major Scott's Battery and a Troop of Carabineers.

Perceiving that the Horse Artillery was exposed to a very heavy fire, I advanced two more Guns of Major Scott's Battery under Lieutenant Davidson to support them.

For nearly two hours the action was one of Artillery chiefly.

The Rifles clearing the village on the left of the Toll Bar, and the fire of the Enemy's Guns slackening, I ordered a general advance, the Insurgents retiring, continuing their fire, until we drove them from their position and crowned the ridge, from which we could see them in full retreat to Delhi.

My men were so knocked up by the heat of the sun, by which many Officers and Men were struck down, that I could not follow them further, as I wished; I therefore withdrew the Force into Camp, after having first burnt a village on our right flank, from which the Insurgents had given us much annoyance.

All the Force performed their duty well and to my satisfaction, and in addition to those Officers whom I brought to notice in my Despatch of yesterday, detailing the action of the 30th, I wish to report favorably of Lieutenant Elliot, of Artillery, who supported the Rifles with two Guns of Major Scott's Battery in the most steady and determined manner. Lieutenant Light also did admirable service with his 18-Pounders. The Sappers and Miners, under Lieutenant Maunsell, whom I brought up in support of Lieutenant Elliot's Guns, performed most efficient service.

I have to regret the loss of Lieutenant Perkins, of the Horse Artillery, an invaluable Officer, and a great loss to me.

I beg to enclose Reports from the Commanding Officers and a Return of Killed and Wounded.

I regret to say that the Insurgents were enabled to carry off all their Guns, which appeared to me to consist of two heavy Pieces on the Delhi road and five light Guns, most probably the remains of Captain DeTessier's Battery. One of their Ammunition Waggons only was destroyed.

I have, &c.,

FROM

MAJ.-GEN. SIR H. BARNARD, K. C. B.,
Commanding Field Force,

TO

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

Camp Delhi Cantonment, 8th June 1857.

SIR,

THE Forces under my Command marched from Aleepore at 1 A. M. this morning, and on reaching Badulee-ke-Serai, found the Enemy strongly posted in an entrenched position, which I have the satisfaction to inform you was carried after an engagement of about three-quarters of an hour, and proceeded to take up our present position, which we found to be over disputed ground the whole way, and finally in a well-defended line of defence from the Signal Tower to Hindoo Rao's house. Our Troops behaved with the greatest gallantry and persevering endurance, and after facing a very determined resistance, drove the Enemy within the walls of Delhi: all this was accomplished by 9 o'clock in the morning. Our loss has been comparatively trifling, only one Officer being killed; but I regret to say that Officer is Colonel Chester, Adjutant General of the Army, who was esteemed by all for every qualification that can adorn the Soldier. I have not been able to ascertain the particulars of our loss, or our capture of Guns, but I fear I cannot estimate the former under 40 to 50 killed: the number of Guns taken to be about 16 or 18. I do not in this hurried Despatch attempt to recommend any one, but I cannot pass over the assistance I received from Brigadier Wilson, whose cool judgment entitles him to an equal share of any merit that may be given to the Officer in Command. From the Brigadier and Staff of the Army attached to me from the Divisional Staff, I received every support, and from my personal Staff, Captain Barnard and Lieutenant Turnbull, the most daring devotion. The conduct of the Goorkha Battalion, the Sappers, and other Native Troops employed, was most praiseworthy; they vied with their European Comrades in forward daring. The Troops of the Native Contingents did equally good service, including those of the Jheend Rajah; and I cannot close this without special mention of many gentlemen attached to the Army in Civil capacities, who not only accompanied us into the Field, but did every service the extended nature of our position rendered prominent, in keeping up mutual communications.

I hope to send you a fuller detail to-morrow. Our Siege Train is up, and I hope to open on the Town without a moment's delay.

P. S.—I find the captured Guns amount to 26, and I desire to add to this, in justice to myself, special notice of the assistance I received from Colonel Congreve, C. B., Acting Adjutant General of Her Majesty's Forces in India; Colonel Becher, Quarter Master General of the Army, and Colonel the Honorable R. Curzon, Military Secretary to the late Commander-in-Chief, who never left me; Captain Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army, and on whom the important duties of Adjutant General devolved on the death of Colonel Chester, and Colonel Young, Judge Advocate General of the Army, who accompanied me during the whole of the action.

FROM

MAJ.-GEN. SIR H. BARNARD, K. C. B.,
Commanding Field Force,

TO

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

Camp before Delhi, 12th June 1857.

SIR,

WITH reference to my hurried Despatch of the 8th instant, I have now the honor, for the information of the General Commanding the Forces, to submit a more detailed account of the action of Badulee-ke-Serai, and seizure of the position on the ridge above the Cantonments of Delhi, necessary to hold, with regard to ultimate operations against that City.

Having been joined by the Force under Brigadier Wilson, I broke up the Camp at Aleepore without delay, and on ascertaining that the Enemy had made preparations to oppose our advance, and occupied a fortified position at Badulee-ke-Serai, I made the following disposition of the Forces:—Brigadier Grant, C. B., with the Force as per margin was to gain the opposite side of the Canal and re-cross it below, and in rear of the 6 Guns 3rd Troop 3rd Bde. H. A.

4 ditto 2nd Troop 1st Bde. H. A.
3 Squadrons 9th Lancers

Enemy's position, so soon ashe heard the action commence, witha view of taking the Enemy in flank. The 1st Brigade, under Brigadier Showers, was to act on the right side of the Main Trunk Road, along which the Column was to advance, and the 2nd Brigade, under Brigadier Graves, was to take the left; the heavy Guns were to remain in position on the road, the rest of the Artillery to act on either side. As soon as our Advance Picquet met the Enemy, these Brigades deployed, leaving the main road clear; the Enemy soon opened a very heavy fire upon us, and finding that our Light Field Pieces did not silence their Battery, and that we were losing men fast, I called upon the 75th Regiment to make a dashing charge, and take the place at the point of the Bayonet. This service was done with the most heroic gallantry; and to Lieutenant-Colonel Herbert, and every Officer, Non-Commissioned Officer, and Man of the 75th Regiment, my thanks are most especially due. The 1st Europeans supported the attack, and on the 2nd Brigade coming up, and threatening their right, and Brigadier Grant showing the head of his Column and Guns on their left rear, the Enemy abandoned the position entirely, leaving his Guns on the ground. The action lasted nearly one hour, and I regret to say cost many valuable lives.

Although the men were much exhausted, I determined to push on, under the impression that, if I halted, a similar difficulty might be opposed to me the following day in gaining the requisite position, and on the road separating, it became desirable to act in two Columns, sending one along the Main Trunk Road, and taking the other to the left, through the Cantonments. To Brigadier Wilson, supported by Brigadier Showers' Brigade, I confided the conduct of this Column, which had to fight its way through gardens with high walls and other obstacles the whole way, and taking the 2nd Brigade with Brigadier Graves with myself, I proceeded to the left. I soon found that the Enemy had posted himself strongly on the ridge over the Cantonment with Guns in position, and under the range of which we soon found ourselves; upon which I determined on a rapid flank movement to the left, in the hope of gaining the ridge under cover of the Cantonments, and taking the position in flank. This was happily successful; the Enemy got their Guns hastily into a position to meet me, and Brigadier Graves' Brigade, consisting of the 60th Rifles, under Lieutenant-Colonel Jones, supported by the 2nd Europeans under Captain Boyd, advanced gallantly, supported by Captain Money's Troop of Horse Artillery, carried the position; and the Enemy finding himself taken in flank and rear, abandoned his Guns, and we swept the whole ridge from the Flag Staff to Hindoo Rao's house, where I had the satisfaction of meeting Brigadier Wilson; and the object of the day having been thus effected, the Force was at once placed in position before Delhi.

I have already mentioned to the Commander-in-Chief the names of Officers to whom I am indebted, and whom I desire in justice to call to his notice, and to whose names I beg to add those of Major Ewart, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Captain Shute, Assistant Quarter Master General, and Captain Maisey, Deputy Judge Advocate General; and beg to state that I fully concur in the merit of those recommended by my Brigadiers.

Camp Delhi Cantonment, 11th June 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of General Reed, Commanding the Forces, that the Enemy attacked the position occupied by the Troops under my Command this morning in force. The Troops acted throughout with gallantry and coolness, and the affair ended in the total repulse of the Enemy, who have retreated to the City. At about ¼ to 5 A. M. the attack first began. On my ascertaining that both flanks were being attacked, the usual supports were not only sent up to the position on the heights, but the whole of the Troops under my Command were speedily under arms, and marched up to reinforce the Picquets and to drive back the Enemy. This was first accomplished on the left, the Enemy falling back under the fire of the Troops, and after being beaten back from the right, they came on again for a second attack under cover of the thickly-wooded gardens near the Subzee Mundy. The 1st Bengal European Fusiliers were sent against them under the Command of Major Jacob, and succeeded most gallantly in not only driving the Enemy back, but pursued them, skirmishing all through the thickly-wooded gardens of the Subzee Mundy. It was about 7½ A. M., when the Troops began to be re-called, and the Assembly first sounded for the Skirmishers.

In comparison with the strength of the attack, our loss was small, and I trust to be able to send in, without delay, the Official Returns of the Killed and Wounded. I have heard as yet of only one casualty among the Officers—Captain Knox, 75th Regiment, who was killed when reinforcing the Picquet at the Flag Staff Tower, and while driving back the Enemy. The loss on the other side, to the Enemy, must have been considerable, and although difficult to estimate, could not have been less than two hundred and fifty.

SIR,

WHILE enclosing, for the information of the Commander, the Reports of the late attack made by the Enemy on the Force under my Command, I would wish to bring to his notice the assistance I have received in every way from the services of Lieutenant Hodson, 1st Bengal European Fusiliers. Since the arrival of his Regiment at Umballa up to the present date, his untiring energy and perpetual anxiety to assist me in any way in which his services might be found useful, have distinguished him throughout, and are now my reasons for bringing this Officer thus specially to the notice of the Commander-in-Chief.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

Camp before Delhi, 18th June 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Commander-in-Chief, that on ascertaining yesterday that the Enemy was erecting a Battery and taking up a position about the village of Puharipoor, from which it was considered important to dislodge them, I ordered a small Force to proceed to the spot, in two Columns, to march at 4½ P. M.; the first Column, under Major Tombs, of the Horse Artillery, and the second, under Major Reid, Commanding the Sirmoor Battalion, and form a junction at Trevellyan and Kissengunge, drive the Enemy out of his position, and destroy the Battery. This service was performed with the usual gallantry and daring of our Troops, which cannot be better brought to your notice than by forwarding the reports of the Officers in Command. I fully concur in the merit of the Officers recommended to your notice. I beg also to make most special mention of Major Tombs and Major Reid—the former conspicuous for his usual cool courage and judgment (and who, I regret to say, was slightly wounded and had two horses shot under him), and the latter for that forward gallantry and knowledge of his work, that in both these Officers inspire the confidence of their men and lead our Troops to such brilliant success.

NUMERICAL RETURN of the Killed, Wounded, and Missing, on the 17th Instant, of the Troops under the Command of Major Tombs, Artillery.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Major-General Sir H. Barnard, K. C. B., Commanding the Field Force, that the Troops, as per margin, with the Command of which he did me the honor to entrust me, left Camp at 4-30 P. M., and moved through the Subzee Mundy until they arrived at the road leading across the Canal in the direction of the Eedgah. The Columns moved up this road, and had not advanced more than a couple of hundred yards, when the Enemy opened fire upon it from some walled gardens on the left of the road. Leaving parties of Riflemen under these walls, with orders to keep down the fire of the Enemy, I advanced with the main body, until we arrived at the Suburb of Puharipoor. Here I detached the four Horse Artillery Guns, with one Company Fusiliers and the Guide Cavalry in support, with orders to take the road leading round the village, until they came in sight of the Eedgah, against which they were to open fire. I myself, with one Company H. M.'s 60th Rifles and three Companies Fusiliers, went through the village, driving the Enemy, Cavalry and Infantry, before us. On reaching the other side of the suburbs, the Enemy appeared in considerable force on this side of the Eedgah and at the angle of it nearest the City. Here a hot musketry fire was sustained for some time, until I sent orders for two of the Horse Artillery Guns to be brought from the outside of the suburb to our support. On these Guns opening fire, the Enemy appeared to loosen their hold of the position. Seeing this, I ordered the advance, which was made with a rush, and the position was ours. We captured a 9-Pounder Gun and its limber here in position, and the object of the attack having been effected, I, agreeably to orders received, brought the Column back into Camp at about 7 P. M. The loss on our side, I am happy to say, was small; but I regret that it includes a gallant young Officer, Captain Brown, of the 1st Fusiliers, badly wounded. Every Officer and Man behaved as gallantly as men could do. To Major Jacob, 1st Fusiliers; Captain Williams, H. M.'s 60th Rifles; Lieutenant Wilson, in charge of the four Horse Artillery Guns; Lieut. Parkins, of the Engineers, who led

The Guide Cavalry, under their Native Officer, Khanan Khan, Ressaldar, executed all orders given to them.

The 18th June 1857.

SIR,

IN obedience to instructions contained in a confidential letter from the Major-General Commanding the Forces, I have the honor to report, for his information, that I proceeded yesterday, at 4-15 P. M., with the Troops noted in the margin, to attack the position taken up by the Enemy at Kissengunge, simultaneous with the advance of the Column under Command of Major Tombs, Artillery. The two Columns met on the road near the Canal Bridge, when they struck off at right angles,—Major Tombs' Column taking the right and mine the left of a large garden which had a high brick wall round it. I proceeded to the end of the wall, and then entered a Serai to the right. After battering down the gates of two different Serais, I succeeded in entering Kissengunge, which I found full of Mutineers. Many rushed madly on; but were at once shot down by our Troops. I counted thirty-one bodies in one place near one of the Batteries, and nine were counted close to the Battery erected on the right of a building in the centre of Kissengunge. The Enemy must have lost between fifty and sixty killed, and a very great number wounded. I completely destroyed the Batteries, which were not quite finished; burnt the village, the timber used in constructing Batteries, the Magazine (which had evidently been made by Sappers), and the gates of the Serai three in number. My loss very trifling. Three wounded in the four Companies 60th Rifles, one man killed in my own Regiment, and two wounded.

4 Companies 60th Rifles, and Sirmoor Battn.

This Report would have been forwarded earlier; but my time is fully occupied at this Picquet.

FROM

MAJ.-GEN. SIR H. BARNARD, K. C. B.,
Commanding Field Force,

To

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

Camp before Delhi, 23rd June 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to submit, for the information of the Commander-in-Chief, the Report of Brigadier Grant, C. B., of the affair of the 19th instant.

These repeated attacks upon our position, with the small Force we have to repel them, are rendered most harassing by the uncertainty of the point on which it is to be threatened, it being always doubtful whether it is to be confined to one, and can only be successfully repulsed by the untiring and unflinching gallantry of the small bodies who alone can be directed against the Enemy; and I can assure you that, under no circumstances, did Officers and Men merit greater praise.

I have to deplore the loss of Lieutenant-Colonel Yule, 9th Lancers, an Officer of great merit, and Lieutenant Alexander, of the 3rd Native Infantry, a young Officer of much promise; also that Colonel Becher, Quarter Master General, and Captain Daly, of the Guides, were wounded; and that I shall be deprived for some time of the services of these Officers—an irreparable loss at this moment.

The Native Irregular Cavalry-man mentioned by Brigadier Grant, C. B., has been rewarded by the Order of Merit, which carries the highest Pension, and I would venture to recommend Privates Hancock and Purcell, 9th Lancers, for the Victoria Cross.

My thanks are due to Brigadier Grant, C. B., who on this, as on all occasions, evinces the highest qualifications for a Cavalry Officer.

Our loss, I regret to say, was severe; but taking the great superiority of the Enemy in number into consideration, I am only thankful it should not have been greater.

I enclose a Return of Casualties.

FROM

BRIGADIER J. H. GRANT, C. B.,

Comdg. Cavy. Brigade, Field Force,

TO

THE DEPY. ASST. ADJT. GENL. OF DIVISION,

Head-Quarters Camp.

Camp, Delhi, 22nd June 1857.

SIR,

ON the afternoon of the 19th instant information was brought in, that the Camp was to be attacked in the rear.

The safety of the Camp being under my direction, I immediately proceeded with a Squadron of Her Majesty's 9th Lancers, two Guns of Major Scott's, two of Captain Money's, and two of Major Turner's, under Command of Lieutenant Bishop, to prevent the near approach of the Enemy to our Camp. When this Force got to the right of the Ochterlony Gardens, a heavy fire of Artillery was opened upon it, to which our Guns replied. The Troops from Camp now began to arrive, and the action became general.

The Enemy had taken up a position about half a mile in rear of the Ochterlony Gardens, and from thence opened a very severe fire of round shot, grape, and canister. I advanced our Guns right up to them, and our Artillery replied to their fire with the greatest spirit.

As long as it was light, we succeeded in driving the Rebels back; but in the dusk of the evening, the Enemy, who were in great numbers, very nearly succeeded in turning our flank, and for some time two Guns were in great jeopardy.

It now became very dark; but I succeeded, with Lieutenant Martin, of the 9th Lancers, in getting a few men together, and we charged into the Enemy.

The Guns, I am happy to say, were saved; but a Waggon of Major Scott's Battery was blown up. I must not fail to mention the excellent conduct of a Sowar of the 4th Irregular Cavalry and two Men of the 9th Lancers—Privates Thomas Hancock and John Purcell, who, when my horse was shot down, remained by me throughout. One of these Men and the Sowar offered me their horses, and I was dragged out by the Sowar's horse. Private Hancock was severely wounded, and Private Purcell's horse was killed under him. The Sowar's name is Roopur Khan.

Our fire re-opened, and the Enemy were driven back to the Town.

On the left flank two Squadrons of the 9th Lancers under Colonel Yule, one Troop of the Carabineers under Lieutenant Ellis, and the Guide Corps under Captain Daly, proceeded in support of Major Tombs' and Major Turner's Guns. The former proceeded with the Guide Corps, the latter with the 9th Lancers in support to the left of the Ochterlony Gardens, and both opened fire.

A Squadron of the 9th Lancers, under Captain Anson, then charged down the road, and the 3rd Squadron, under Lieutenant Jones, with Colonel Yule, followed in support. Colonel Yule, I regret to say, fell at this time, having received a shot in his leg, and was killed by the Enemy. He is a severe loss to the 9th Lancers.

The Guide Corps, under Captain Daly, gallantly charged twice, and I regret to say this excellent Officer was severely wounded in the shoulder; but the Enemy were beaten and retired to the Town.

The following morning I was ordered, by the Major General Commanding, to take a Force out on the same ground and drive the Enemy away if any were still left. I proceeded, but found only a strong Picquet of the Enemy, which was easily driven back, and we captured a Gun and two Waggons, which they had left the night previous.

I beg to bring to the immediate notice of Major-General Sir H. Barnard the names of the Officers who had Command of Guns and Squadrons:—Major Scott, Captain Money, and Lieutenant Bishop Commanded the Guns on the right, and nothing could be better than the way in which they brought their Guns forward and opened them on the Enemy fearless of danger; also Captain Head, who was on the right, and Captain Anson and Lieutenant Jones, who Commanded Squadrons on the left. The conduct of all has been reported most favorably to me. Major Turner's and Major Tombs' names, I presume, will be mentioned by Brigadier Wilson, and it would be needless my saying any thing in their favor.

I beg also to bring the name of Captain Daly before Sir Henry, a most gallant and excellent Officer.

I regret to say the loss in the 9th Lancers was severe. Five men killed and eight wounded, and thirty-one horses killed, wounded and missing.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of the Commander-in-Chief, that on the 23rd instant the Insurgents renewed their attack upon us, and owing to some religious feeling, kept it up during the whole day: knowing they had come out of the Town the day before and had not been seen returning at night, I became anxious for the safety of a valuable Convoy, which was to march into Camp on the morning of the 23rd, and sent a strong escort out to meet it: this was successful; but the Convoy had scarcely arrived in Camp, ere my attention was called to the right or Hindoo Rao position, where, during the whole of the rest of the day, the combat was maintained. The Enemy having lodged themselves in some loop-holed houses and a Serai and Mosque, occasioned some loss, and I regret to say Colonel Welchman, of the 1st Bengal European Fusiliers, was severely wounded.

The loss on the part of the Rebels was very serious.

I submit a Casualty Return.

MAJOR R. S. EWART,

Depy. Asst. Adjt. Genl, Field Force.

Camp before Delhi, 5th July 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Major-General Sir H Barnard, K. C. B., Commanding the Force before Delhi, that, in accordance with instructions received, I marched with the Force as per margin, at ½ past 2 o'clock A M. yesterday, to attack the body of Mutineers who had left Delhi on the previous evening.

2 Guns, 5th Tp. of 1st Bde. H Arty.

Squadron H M 's 9th Lancers.
The Guide Cavalry
Head Quarters and Wing H. M 's 61st Regiment.
1st Punjaub Infantry.

On arriving at the junction of the roads from the City and Cantonments, it seemed very doubtful whether the Rebels would return by the right or left bank of the Canal from Aleepore I therefore sent on Lieutenant Roberts by the main road to feel for the Enemy, and Captain Hodson, of the Guides, to the right bank of the Canal.

I found the Enemy were retiring by the Rhotuck road to Delhi, but spread all over the country On crossing the Canal, a considerable body with Guns were seen at a village about a mile from the Bridge, when I at once proceeded to attack them After a few rounds from their Guns, they carried them off in the direction of the City before we could get up to them, which they were enabled to do as they were on a road, whereas we had to advance over the open country, which was in many places a swamp, through which the Guns and Troops could only make their way with much difficulty.

A number of the Enemy were killed who had thrown themselves into the village on our front; the rest fled in every direction The Cavalry of the Guides followed them with the greatest spirit, and succeeded in cutting up some more of the Enemy. It was useless to attempt any further pursuit, for the heat was great and the European Soldiers exhausted. I therefore returned to the banks of the Canal, and allowed the men to rest under the shade of the trees.

While I was bringing the Infantry back, the Artillery by some misconception returned to Camp.

During the time we were resting under the trees on the Canal, the Enemy had collected their Force, and coming up under cover of the Canal, made an attack on the Infantry. We beat them back, and pursued them for a considerable distance, but seeing that there was a larger Force collecting behind them, I withdrew the Infantry, and took up a position that commanded the Bridge, and, as I expected they were bringing up Guns, I sent into Camp for Artillery.

Before the Guns arrived, however, the Enemy made a second attack, and were beaten back with considerable loss.

Soon after, the Artillery and Cavalry came up, and followed the Enemy, who again dispersed and fled in all directions.

I left the Guns and Cavalry at the Canal Bridge and brought back the Infantry to Camp, where we arrived about 4 o'clock.

There were about 100 of the Enemy killed in these attacks.

Enclosed is a Return of our loss, which was very small.

FROM

MAJ-GEN T REED,

Provincial Commander-in-Chief,

TO

THE SECY. TO THE GOVT. OF INDIA,

Military Department.

Camp before Delhi, 14th July 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint you, for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council, that on the morning of the 9th instant, the right of our position was attacked by the Mutineers in great force, with nine Guns and Cavalry in support.

2. The usual reinforcements having been despatched to the Picquets on the flanks (at Hindoo Rao's house,) the Troops which, in the mean time, had been held in readiness, were turned out on the irruption of some Mutineer Horse on our right rear, estimated at from 150 to 200 in number, which had driven in a small Picquet of the 9th Irregular Cavalry posted on that flank The uniform of the Mutineers being precisely similar to that of the 9th Irregular Cavalry, great confusion was created by the circumstance, and led to the idea afterwards, that the portion of that Corps in Camp had mutinied. A party of these Sowars having penetrated to some Guns preparing to move out of Camp, called upon the Native Gunners to join them; but they instead, true to their allegiance, called out to Major Olphert's Troop, which was unlimbered, to fire through them at the Insurgents.

3. A party of Foot Artillery now advanced, led by Captain Fagan, who had been writing in his tent close by, and had only time to relinquish his pen for a tulwar, and supported by a Company of 1st Fusiliers, drove one portion of the Sowars out of Camp, having killed some fifteen of them, and the Guns at the Mound Battery on our right being brought round to bear, opened on them. In the mean time the remainder of the Sowars, on being discovered, were driven out at the rear by a Squadron 9th Lancers, Captain Hodson's Guide Cavalry, and a party of the 2nd Punjaub Cavalry, under Lieutenant Nicholson, under the direction of Brigadier Grant, C. B.

4. It having been reported to me, that the gardens and enclosures on our right were full of the Enemy, I directed a Column, composed as per margin, to be formed to drive them out, and soon after, having received a message from Brigadier General Chamberlain, who was detached to the rear, that all was quiet in that quarter, and requesting permission to bring a Force to the right for the purpose of performing the above service, I directed the Column referred to, to be placed under his orders, by which the Brigadier General was enabled to leave H. M's 75th Regiment in reserve in Camp.

Available men of the Wings H M.'s 8th and 61st Regiments.
4th Sikh Infantry.
Major Scott's Battery.

5. At the same time I directed Major Reid, of the Sirmoor Battalion in charge of the Picquets on our right front (Hindoo Rao's house), to advance on the approach of Brigadier General Chamberlain.

6. The result of this combined movement was that the Mutineers were driven with great loss under the cover of the Grape and Musketry from the walls of Delhi.

7. This success was not achieved without serious loss (I am sorry to say), as will appear by the accompanying Return, while from all reliable sources, that of the Enemy must have been at least triple in amount.

8. It is with the highest gratification I have the honor of forwarding the enclosed Report of the heroic conduct of two Officers,—Major Tombs and Second Lieutenant Hills, of the 2nd Troop 1st Brigade Horse Artillery. It is unnecessary for me to make any further comment on Lieutenant-Colonel Mackenzie's Report, than to observe that the conduct of these Officers has always been conspicuous for distinguished gallantry, for the display of which, owing to his standing in the service, Major Tombs has had more opportunities; and that in recommending them to the most favorable consideration of the Governor General in Council, I consider them to be worthy of the highest distinction that can be awarded to valour and heroism.

9. I take this opportunity of recording the meritorious and efficient services afforded to me upon this occasion, and on every former one, to my lamented predecessor in the Command of this Force not only by my own Personal and Divisional Staff, but also by the Officers of the Head-Quarters Staff of the Army, who, with my concurrence, placed themselves at the disposal of Major-General Sir H. Barnard, and I feel assured I am acting in accordance with his intentions and wishes, in bringing to the favorable notice of His Lordship in Council the valuable services of Brigadier General Chamberlain, Acting Adjutant General; Captain Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army, who from the death of Colonel Chester, until the arrival of Brigadier General Chamberlain on the 24th ultimo, acted as Adjutant General; Colonel Congreve, C. B., Acting Adjutant General Her Majesty's Forces; Lieutenant-Colonel Hon'ble R. W. P. Curzon, Acting Quarter-Master

General, Her Majesty's Forces; Lieutenant-Colonel Young, Judge Advocate General; and Captain Garstin, Officiating Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General. Colonel Becher, I regret to say, has been prevented by the severe wound received on the 19th ultimo, from accompanying myself or Sir H. Barnard into the Field; but his exertions in the performance of his official duties have been unceasing.

I have, &c.,

SIR,

I HAVE much pleasure in forwarding, for submission to the Commander of the Forces, the accompanying copy of a Report, No. 83, of this day's date, I have received from Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Mackenzie, Commanding 1st Brigade Horse Artillery, of the gallant conduct of Major Tombs and Second Lieutenant Hills, of the 2nd Troop of his Brigade, when surprised by the Enemy's Cavalry yesterday morning; and to state that I shall feel gratified by any mark of approbation or reward the Commander of the Forces may deem fit to award or recommend them for.

FROM

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL M. MACKENZIE,

Commanding 1st Brigade Horse Artillery,

To

BRIGADIER A. WILSON,

Commandant of Artillery.

Camp near Delhi, 10th July 1857.

SIR,

IT is with great pleasure I submit, for the information of the Brigadier Commandant, the following account of the very gallant conduct of Second Lieutenant James Hills, of the 2nd Troop 1st Brigade Horse Artillery, and the noble behaviour of his Commanding Officer, Major H. Tombs, in twice coming to his Subaltern's rescue, and on each occasion killing his man.

Yesterday the 9th instant, Second Lieutenant J. Hills was on Picquet duty, with two Guns at the Mound, to the right of Camp. About 11 o'clock A. M. there was a rumour that the Enemy's Cavalry were coming down on this post. Lieutenant Hills proceeded to take up the position assigned in case of alarm; but before he reached the spot, he saw the Enemy close upon his Guns before they had time to form up. To enable him to do this, Lieutenant Hills boldly charged single-handed the head of the Enemy's Column, cut down the first man, struck the second, and was then ridden down horse and all. On getting up and searching for his sword, three more men came at him (two mounted); the first man he wounded with his pistol; he caught the lance of the second in his left hand, and wounded him with his sword; the first man then came on again and was cut down; the third man (on foot) then came up, and wrenched the sword from the hand of Lieutenant Hills (who fell in the struggle), and the Enemy was about to cut him down, when Major Tombs (who had gone up to visit his two Guns) saw what was going on, rushed in, and shot the man and saved Lieutenant Hills.

By this time the Enemy's Cavalry had passed by, and Major Tombs and Lieutenant Hills went to look after the wounded men, when Lieutenant Hills observed one of the Enemy passing with his (Lieutenant Hills') pistol. They walked towards him, the man began flourishing his sword and dancing about. He first cut at Lieutenant Hills, who parried the blow, and he then turned on Major Tombs, who received the blow in the same manner. His second attack on Lieutenant Hills was (I regret to say) more successful, as he was cut down with a bad sword cut on the head, and would have been no doubt killed, had not Major Tombs rushed in and put his sword through the man. I feel convinced that such gallant conduct on the part of these two Officers, has only to be brought properly forward to meet with an appropriate reward.

Major Tombs was saved from a severe sword-cut on the head by the wadded head-dress he wore.

I have to apologize for the writing of this letter, as it is written from a sick bed.

Camp before Delhi, 16th July 1857.

SIR,

ON the morning of the 14th, the Mutineers moved out of the City and attacked our Batteries at Hindoo Rao's house* and Picquet in the Subzee Mundy suburb, all under the Command of Major Reid, of the Sirmoor Battalion. Our Troops remained on the defensive until 3 P. M., maintaining their position against a Force believed to consist of twenty Regiments of Infantry, a large body of Cavalry, and several Field Pieces, and supported by a fire of heavy Artillery from the walls.

* Picquets at the Batteries.
Detachments H. M.'s 60th Rifles and 75th Regiment.
Sirmoor Battalion.
Guide Infantry.
Subzee Mundy Picquet.
180 of H. M.'s 8th and 61st Regiments.

2. At 3 o'clock a Column was formed, as per margin, under Command of Brigadier Showers, to drive the Enemy out of the suburbs; Major Reid, with the Troops from Hindoo Rao's Picquet, co-operating on the left.

Six Horse Artillery Guns of Major Turner's and Captain Money's Troops, with both these Officers.
1st Fusiliers, under Major Jacobs.
1st Punjaub Infantry, under Major Coke.

3. This service was effectually and gallantly performed, and the Enemy driven in confusion and with much loss, under the cover of a very heavy fire of Grape and Musketry from the walls of Delhi, and very nearly losing some of the Field Guns they had brought outside.

4. Our own loss, I am sorry to say, was severe, as will be seen by the accompanying Return, and I extremely regret to report that Brigadier General Chamberlain, the Acting Adjutant General of the Army, who accompanied Brigadier Showers' Column, was severely wounded. The duties of the Adjutant General's Department have therefore again devolved on Captain Norman.

5. Yesterday and to-day the Enemy have remained perfectly quiet with the exception of a fire of Artillery at intervals from the walls, to which our heavy Batteries have replied.

I have, &c.,

From

Brigadier General A. Wilson,

Comdg. Field Force,

To

The Acting Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

Camp before Delhi, 12th August 1857

Sir,

I have the honor to transmit a Return of the Casualties (Killed and Wounded) of the Field Force under my Command, which occurred during the attack on our out-posts by the Mutineers on the 18th 20th, and 23rd of last Month, and to attach the Reports of the Officers Commanding the Columns which I directed to be formed to dislodge the Mutineers from the position taken up by them in front of the Subzee Mundy and Main Picquets.

On the 18th this service was gallantly and efficiently performed by the Troops under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Jones, of H. M.'s 60th Rifles. From the numerous enclosures and broken ground occupied by the Insurgents, they were enabled to offer a continued and determined resistance; but which, from the disposition of the Troops under his Command, made by Lieutenant-Colonel Jones, was successfully overcome, and the Mutineers driven with severe loss into the Town

The Column under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Seaton, C. B., of the 35th Regiment Native Infantry, employed on the 20th, had for its object the dislodgement of the Mutineers from nearly the same position they occupied on the 18th instant.

The attack made on the 20th having commenced about 9 A. M., and been maintained for several hours, a movement towards their flank and rear became necessary to relieve the posts attacked, and which the advance of the Column under Lieutenant-Colonel Seaton, C. B, completely effected.

On the morning of the 23rd the Mutineers having moved out in force from the Cashmere Gate of the City, and attacked the centre and left front of our position, when perceiving as they moved to our right, that by a flank movement from our left the Insurgents would be compelled to retire and possibly with the loss of some of their Guns, I directed Brigadier Showers to take Command of the Troops marginally noted in his Report, and engage the Mutineers from the points and in the manner detailed by him.

Brigadier Showers ably performed the service entrusted to him, and the result was as anticipated—the speedy retirement of the Insurgents into the City.

Each of these Columns of Attack against the Mutineers was most ably led and my orders fully carried out by the Officers Commanding them; and I beg to record my thanks to Brigadier Showers, Lieutenant-Colonels Jones and Seaton individually, and to the Officers and Men collectively, who acted under them, for the zeal and gallantry displayed by all on each occasion.

Camp Delhi, 21st July 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Brigadier General Commanding the Field Force, that having assumed Command yesterday afternoon of the party named in the margin, I proceeded to carry out the instructions given to me in person by the Brigadier General. I moved off at ½ past 3 and on reaching the Trunk Road leading through the Subzee Mundy, I threw the Infantry of the Guides into the mass of gardens to the South of the road, and supported them by a party from the 1st European Bengal Fusiliers I directed Lieutenant W. S R. Hodson to sweep through the gardens in skirmishing order, feeling on to the banks of the Canal, to drive before him any Enemy he might find, and to halt when he came in a line with the Picquet in the Serai.

Horse Artillery Guns. Party of Sappers and Miners.

Whilst this operation was going on I moved the Column slowly down the road, halting at intervals. I rode on to the Serai to make observations on the Subzee Mundy Village and enquiries as to any Enemy it might contain.

The Skirmishers shortly emerged from the gardens, not having met with any of the Enemy or traces of any Earth-works or Entrenchments of any kind; I then took the Column into the Subzee Mundy Village, and found it utterly deserted.

There now only remained for me to search the upper part of the gardens between the Canal and the new escape cut; therefore sending the Guns with a suitable guard up the road to the point from whence I started, I proceeded with the Column up to the banks of the Canal to within a short distance of the Pool Chudder Aqueduct. Then directing the Column, with a cross road leading towards Camp and instructing the Senior Officer to march slowly along, I formed a Rear Guard of the Guides (those with Lieutenant Hodson,) rode up to the aqueduct, and examined that small corner of ground. Finding neither traces of any Enemy or of Entrenchments we rejoined the Column.

In the mean time a small body of the Enemy had come out of Trevylian Gunge and followed our retiring steps, firing at a considerable distance, but gradually creeping up.

As we came to an open space in the midst of the mass of gardens, they got to within 100 yards of us, and some of them exposed themselves on the garden walls, as if about to make a rush of the Rear guard; but the Guides, admirably posted by that excellent Officer, Lieutenant Hodson, gave them a volley with a cheer, which drove them off precipitately, and I returned to Camp without further molestation. The Casualties were only two men slightly wounded.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of the Brigadier General Commanding the Field Force, that about 1 P. M., on the 18th instant, I received orders to take Command of a moveable Column consisting of the Troops named in the margin, and to proceed to the Subzee Mundy and ground in front of it, and drive the Enemy back, who were there in position. On arriving at the pucka road leading to the Subzee Mundy, I ordered the Seikhs into the wood on the right of the road, and to advance in skirmishing order, their left resting on the road and their right on the Canal, the remainder of the Column advancing along the road, the head of it being in line with the Skirmishers in cover. On arriving at the Subzee Mundy, I ordered H. M.'s 75th Regiment to enter the village and to advance through it and clear it, which duty they performed; but were detained some time at a Serai before they could drive the Enemy from it; but eventually they succeeded. During this time the remainder of the Column was on the road on the Subzee Mundy, with the exception of two Guns supported by Cavalry and Infantry, which I advanced. On H. M.'s 75th moving on, I advanced the whole of the Column to the gate leading up to Hindoo Rao's house, and then took the road to the right and crossed the Canal, placing two Guns in position on the first road leading to the City, and advancing the other two to a road parallel to the first. On arriving there, the Enemy were stationed behind the crest of a hill to our right, when I opened fire on them with round shot and the Infantry with musketry. Before being able to get the second two Guns up, I was obliged to clear that part of the Subzee Mundy of the Enemy. Having driven the Enemy from the ground I was ordered to clear, I remained in position, until I received orders to retire, which I did by alternate half batteries, each supported by Cavalry and Infantry, and keeping up a heavy fire of Artillery and Infantry as the Enemy attempted to show themselves, which entirely prevented their advancing. On arriving at the gateway leading to Hindoo Rao's house, I left two Guns and a Troop of Cavalry with Major Reid, who was in position there with his Regiment of Goorkas. I then retired the remainder of the force into Camp.

BRIGADIER ST. G. D. SHOWERS,

Commanding 1st Infy. Brigade,

To

MAJOR R. S. EWART,

Deputy Assistant Adjutant General,

Delhi Field Force.

Dated Camp before Delhi, 3rd August 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Brigadier General Wilson, Commanding the Field Force, that in conformity with his instructions, I took Command of the Troops noted in the margin at about 10 o'clock A. M. of the 23rd ultimo, destined to attack the Enemy's Force in front of the Cashmere Gate. In order to conceal the movement of my Force from the view of the Enemy, I moved off some distance to the left so as to cross the ridge without being seen from the Fort and Town.

6 Guns, under Major F. Turner.
H. M.'s 8th Foot, 130 Rank and File.
H M's. 61st Foot, 78 Rank and File.
1st European Bengal Fusiliers, 200 Rank and File.
Coke's Punjaub Corps, 360 Rank and File.
Metcalfe House Picquet, 280 Rank and File.

2. Before moving with the Column, I sent instructions to Lieutenant-Colonel R. Drought, the Field Officer of the day, to collect all the Metcalfe House Picquets at the stables, and then to advance at once to his front, and after clearing the grounds of the Enemy's Skirmishers, to endeavour to take their Guns in flank and to capture them.

3. Allowing a lapse of twenty minutes, so as to enable the Picquets to get well to the front, I advanced the main Column; a Division of Guns under Captain G. W. Money leading. On crossing the Bridge in advance of the Mound Picquet, the Detachments of H. M.'s 8th Foot, under Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed, and of the 61st Foot, under Lieutenant-Colonel Deacon, were directed to move to the right and deploy, the 1st European Bengal Fusiliers and Coke's Rifles being held in reserve.

4. On this being effected, the Guns moved forward on the road in a line with the Infantry on the right. We now soon came up with the Enemy, who had their Guns in position on the road. These were immediately opened upon us, upon which our own Guns unlimbered and fired. The Infantry on the right in the mean time continued their advance, and the Enemy, fearing to be outflanked, retired after having fired but two rounds.

5. I then advanced with the Guns at a gallop, and again came up with those of the Enemy. They were now not more than 120 yards from us. It was here that the Metcalfe House Picquets, after having driven back the Enemy into an Orange Garden with a walled enclosure, rushed forward into the road.

6. As the Enemy were firing from the enclosure, I directed three Companies of the 1st European Bengal Fusiliers, under Lieutenant-Colonel T. Seaton, to move to the left, and drive the Enemy from the Orange Garden. These were supported by Major Coke with his Punjaub Rifles, and while our Guns continued firing, the Metcalfe House Picquets, composed of H. M.'s 75th Regiment that had formed up on the road, were thrown rapidly forward in the hope of coming at once upon the Enemy's Guns. Their progress was, however, intercepted by the wall of a range of out-offices. A short delay took place in moving round this, and when the men came again to the front, the Enemy with their Guns had disappeared.

7. I was now in position opposite Ludlow Castle, beyond which I was directed not to advance, and the Enemy having escaped with their Guns and retired, I returned to Camp with the Force, having been engaged with the Enemy about two hours.

8. I have to record my satisfaction with the conduct of the Troops engaged, and to offer my thanks to the Officers Commanding the different Corps and Detachments for the manner they conducted their men during this short and rapid skirmish. To Major F. Turner, Commanding the Artillery; to Lieutenant-Colonels Greathed and Deacon, Commanding H. M.'s 8th and 61st Regiments; to Major G. O. Jacob, Commanding 1st European Bengal Fusiliers; Major J. Coke, Commanding 1st Punjaub Rifles, and to Lieutenant-Colonel R. Drought, Commanding the Metcalfe House Picquets; to Lieutenant-Colonel T. Seaton also I must record my thanks, who, with his usual zeal and gallantry, accompanied the Brigade to which he is attached.

9. My thanks are also due to my Major of Brigade, Captain C. F. Simpson, and my Orderly Officer, Lieutenant F. C. Innes, of the late 60th Native Infantry, who accompanied me during the operations.

10. I beg to forward a Return of the Killed and Wounded.

GENERAL ORDERS BY MAJOR-GENERAL T. REED,

C. B., PROVINCIAL COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

Head Quarters, Camp before Delhi, 17th July 1857.

Lieutenant-General Sir P. Grant, K. C. B., having, in General Order dated the 17th June at Calcutta, announced his having assumed Command of the Bengal Army from that date. Major-General Reed has ceased to exercise the duties of Provincial Commander-in-Chief.

Major General Reed having been recommended by his Medical Advisers to avail himself of a Sick Certificate to repair to the Hills as the only chance of recovering his shattered health, which has latterly prevented him from taking an active part in the Field operations, has made over the Command and charge of this Force to Brigadier General A. Wilson.

It is with the greatest reluctance the Major-General has come to the determination to take this step, but his duty to his Country must be paramount to any selfish consideration, and being incapacitated himself for the post by disease and weakness, he has no alternative than to devolve his arduous duties upon another.

Of Brigadier General Wilson's merits it is unnecessary for Major-General Reed to speak; his judgment, gallantry, and conduct have been conspicuous since he led his small, but victorious, band from Meerut, up to this day.

It only remains for the Major-General to congratulate the Forces before Delhi on being placed under so able a Commander as Brigadier General Wilson.

Major-General Reed takes this opportunity of requesting the Head Quarters and Divisional Staff to accept his thanks for the great assistance received by him and by his lamented predecessor, Major-General Sir H. Barnard, K. C. B., not only in the exercise of their Departmental duties, but also in the operations in the Field.

To Brigadier General Chamberlain, Acting Adjutant General of the Army; Colonel Congreve, C. B., Acting Adjutant General, Her Majesty's Forces; Colonel Becher, Quarter Master General of the Army; Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon'ble R. W. P. Curzon, Acting Quarter Master General, Her Majesty's Forces; Lieutenant-Colonel Young, Judge Advocate General; Captain Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army; Captains Garstin and Hodson, Officiating Deputy Assistant Quarter Masters General of the Army; Major Ewart, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Captain Stewart, Officiating Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Captain Maisey, Deputy Judge Advocate General, and Captain Shute, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General of Division—his acknowledgments are eminently due.

The Major-General's warmest thanks are due to the whole Artillery of the Force, who have on all occasions behaved with conspicuous gallantry, and have ever maintained the reputation of their distinguished Corps.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Baird Smith and the Engineer Department, Major-General Reed offers his most sincere acknowledgments for the valuable services they have rendered.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Thomson, Deputy Commissary General, and his Assistants; to Superintending Surgeon Tritton, and all the Officers of the Medical Department—the Major General's best thanks are due for their indefatigable and successful exertions.

To Brigadiers Grant, Longfield, Jones, and Showers, and to the gallant Officers and Troops, European and Native, under their orders, the Major-General begs to award his tribute of admiration for their brilliant and distinguished conduct in a succession of attacks in which the Enemy have on every occasion been repulsed. The behaviour of the Troops has been beyond all praise.

Major-General Reed cannot forbear from recording the name of Major Reid as having commanded this Post, which has been subject to the most frequent and constant attacks of the Enemy, from which they have always been driven with great loss by the able dispositions of that Officer, so admirably seconded by the Troops under his Command, comprising parties of H. M.'s 60th Royal Rifles, and other Corps, with the gallant Sirmoor Battalion and Corps of Guides.

In conclusion, the Major General desires to express his thanks to the Officers of his Personal Staff for the uniform assistance he has received from them upon every occasion, and he only regrets he has not had more frequent opportunities of witnessing their distinguished conduct in the Field—to Captains Lowe, Reid, and Turnbull, Aides-de-Camp; to Assistant Surgeon W. F. Mactier, and to Lieutenant R. C. Low, Orderly Officer; as well as to Lieutenant W. H. Greathed, of Engineers, who acted as A. D. C. to the General Commanding from the 7th ultimo, besides performing the duty of Field Engineer when his services were needed in that capacity.

Dated Camp before Delhi, 13th August 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward, for the information of Major General Gowan, C. B, Commanding the Forces in the Upper Provinces, a Report by Major Reid, Commanding the Sirmoor Battalion, of the result of repeated attacks made by a large Force of the Insurgents upon his post during the night of the 1st, and continued during the greater part of the 2nd instant.

The Report speaks for itself, but I cannot refrain from bringing to the notice of Major-General Gowan, with a view to the same being submitted to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, and through him to the Supreme Government, the admiration with which I, as well as the whole Force, have viewed the gallantry with which this noble Officer, with the gallant band under him, has held the important post entrusted to his Command.

With the aid of Her Majesty's 60th Royal Rifles, his own Regiment, the Sirmoor Battalion, assisted by Reliefs from the Guide Corps of Infantry, the 4th Seikh Regiment, and the 1st Punjaub Infantry, this Officer has, from 8th June—the date of the arrival of this Force at Delhi—sustained and defeated twenty-four separate attacks upon his position up to the 6th instant, and from that date to the present, a constant worrying attack day and night, by both Infantry and Artillery.

I have no words to express my admiration of the endurance and gallantry displayed throughout this long period by Major Reid and the Officers and Men who have served under him; but I now thus briefly record my opinion of their merits, in the certain hope that Major General Gowan, C. B., will recommend them to higher authority, for the greatest honors that can be bestowed upon them.

Appended to Major Reid's Report is a letter from him of yesterday's date, bringing to favorable notice the names of Officers who have served under him since 8th June last.

Main Picquet, Hindoo Rao's House,

The 12th August 1857.

Sir,

My Report of the attack on my position on the night of the 1st and morning of the 2nd instant was a hurried affair; but I am indeed glad you have given me an opportunity of bringing to notice the names of Officers and Men who have served under me since the 8th of June last.

I cannot speak too highly of the conduct of the Detachments of the 60th Royal Rifles, who have on all occasions behaved admirably, and ever maintained the reputation of their distinguished Corps. I would wish to bring to your notice the names of two Officers of this Regiment, viz., Captain Sir E. Campbell and Captain J. R. Wilton, who have at different times Commanded the parties on duty at this post, and from whom I have always received the greatest assistance. Both are most excellent Officers, and I beg to recommend them to notice.

My acknowledgements are due to Lieutenant R. H. Shebbeare, now Commanding the distinguished Corps of Guides, who has been three times slightly wounded whilst on duty with me here; also to Lieutenant Hawes, Adjutant (likewise wounded); and other Officers doing duty with the Corps.

Detachments of the 1st Punjaub Infantry and 4th Seikhs have, since their arrival in Camp, been constantly on duty at this Picquet, and have always behaved, on all occasions of attack, with gallantry.

To Lieutenant Fisher, the Second in Command of my Regiment, and the Officers doing duty, my warmest thanks are due,—the conduct of the men you have already been pleased to make honorable mention of. It only remains for me to say that they have done their duty most cheerfully.

My thanks are also due to the Officers and Men of the 8th and 61st Foot, who have at different times taken the duties of the Subzee Mundy Picquet, which is under my orders.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) Chas. Reid.

Main Picquet, Hindoo Rao's House,

The 4th August 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Brigadier General Commanding the Forces, that about 4-30 P. M. on the 1st instant, I observed, from my look-out on the top of this house, that the Mutineers were turning out of the Ajmere and Toorkman Gates in considerable force. They assembled on the open plain in front of the above-mentioned gates; but as they did not move off, I took but little notice of them beyond directing my look-out men to watch their movements. About a quarter of an hour after, on looking to my right rear, I perceived the whole of the Force which had moved out of the City on the 31st ultimo, returning over the Ridge (Kala Pahar) and by the Rhotuck Road, with all the Guns they had taken out, viz., six Horse Artillery Guns, four 9-lb. Guns, and three heavy Mortars, with the whole of their Camp Equipage, and on Elephants and Camels. This Force halted about a mile from the Eedgah Serai, and a little before sun-set was joined by the Mutineers from the City. For some little time I was doubtful as to their intentions; but as the sun went down, about five or six thousand Infantry came down with six light Guns through the Kissengunge and Piharupoor Buildings, taking advantage of the cover as they advanced The "Sammy House" was attacked, and here I had a hundred of Major Coke's Regiment and fifty Guides, the Picquet under Command of Captain Travers (who, I much regret to say, was mortally wounded during the night, and is since dead.) I sent orders to him to encourage the Enemy to approach, and not to fire until his men were sure of their aim. Shortly after this I heard a rattle of musketry from the Breast-work on the right of the "Sammy House," as also from the enclosure, and the Enemy then opened with their light Guns on the "Crow's Nest," the Breast-work, and our right flank Batteries.

It became necessary, about 7 o'clock, to send reinforcements to the "Sammy House," so I accordingly directed Lieutenant McGile, with his Company (60th Rifles,) which had come up in support, to proceed to the Breast-work on the right, whilst I sent Captain Dely, with fifty men of the 61st Foot, to the enclosure.

Repeated attacks were made throughout the night; and at one time the Enemy came up within twenty paces of the "Sammy House" in very considerable force; but, as on all former occasions, were driven back with, I should say, very great loss; but owing to the cover they had, they were able to remove their dead without being seen. A hundred and twenty-seven bodies have, however, been since counted between the Breast-work and the Taleewalah Bazar.

A little before day-break on the 2nd, fresh Troops were brought up, and another attack was made on the Sammy House and Breast-work, on which I directed a Company of the 60th Rifles, under the Command of Captain Sir E. Campbell, to aid in driving the Enemy back. A large Force attempted to turn the right and get round to the Subzee Mundy; but in order to do this, they had to cross the road and the ground which has now been cleared of all jungle. As soon as they had got on to the road with a body of Cavalry, which came up from the Eedgah, I ordered the Officer Commanding the Light Gun Battery to give them three rounds of grape, whilst our light Mortars played on them from the "Crow's Nest." They flew back to their cover on the left of the road immediately, and did not again show in any force.

About 10 A. M. the Enemy commenced moving off in the direction of the City; but it was not until 4 P. M. that I had the satisfaction of seeing them in full retreat with their Guns.

I cannot speak too highly of the coolness of the Troops under my Command throughout the night. There was no noise whatever, no hurry, or confusion, and my warmest thanks are due to all for their gallantry and daring.

This Report would have been furnished before; but my duties at this Picquet would not admit of it

A Return of our loss has already been furnished. I am happy to say it was slight in comparison with that of the Enemy.

BRIGADIER GENERAL A. WILSON,

Comdg Delhi Field Force,

To

LIEUT. H W. NORMAN,

Asst Adjt General of the Army.

Dated Camp before Delhi, 21st August 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Major-General Gowan, C B., Commanding the Forces in the Upper Provinces, that finding the Metcalfe Picquet much annoyed by a large party of the Insurgents, who, supported by several Guns, had established themselves in Ludlow Castle and the gardens in front of the Cashmere Gate, I resolved to make an attempt this morning to surprise them and to capture their Guns. I am happy to say the surprise was complete. The Column of Attack joined by portion of the Metcalfe Picquet, under the able lead of Brigadier Showers, Commanding the 1st Brigadier, moved down unperceived just before dawn to within a short distance of the Insurgents' Picquet, when a rush was made, and four of their Guns immediately captured.

I forward herewith Brigadier Showers' Report, with a Return of the Killed and Wounded. The latter, I regret to say, is rather heavy.

My thanks are greatly due to Brigadier Showers, Major Coke, Commanding the left attack, and to Major Jacob, Commanding the right attack, and I beg to recommend them for favorable notice. The two former Officers, I much regret, were severely wounded—Major Coke while in the act of capturing a Gun with his own hand; but I trust I shall not be long deprived of their services.

Brigadier St. G. D Showers,

Comdg. 1st Infantry Brigade,

To

Major R. S Ewart,

Depy. Asst. Adjt. Genl., Delhi Field Force.

Camp before Delhi, 12th August 1857.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of Brigadier General Wilson, Commanding the Field Force, that in compliance with the instruction received, I moved with a Column noted in the margin at 3½ A. M. this morning. I directed the Metcalfe House Stables Picquet to move forward and sweep the gardens in advance of their position as far as the Koodsee Bagh, and to capture any Guns of the Rebels which they might find in that direction; the right attack, under Major Jacob, advancing simultaneously towards "Ludlow Castle," with similar instructions as to any advance they might find there. I myself took position on the road leading towards Ludlow Castle with the Horse Artillery Guns, supported by a Squadron of Her Majesty's 9th Lancers, with a force in reserve as noted in the margin.

Left Attack under Major Coke.
100 Men H. M.'s 75th Regiment of the Metcalfe House Picquet as Skirmishers.
100 „ 2nd European B. Fusiliers in support.
250 „ 1st Punjaub Rifles ditto.
Right Attack under Major Jacob.
150 „ 1st European Bengal Fusiliers as Skirmishers.
200 „ In support in Line, the Guide Cavalry moving rear.
Centre Attack.
2 Horse Arty Guns.
1 Squadron H. M.'s 9th Lancers.
Reserve.
4 Horse Arty Guns.
100 Men H. M.'s 8th Regiment.
100 „ Kemaoon Battalion.
100 „ 4th Seikh Infantry.

The arrangements having been made, the different Detachments advanced, as ordered, with the greatest steadiness and in profound silence towards the Enemy's position, which they actually reached without the alarm being given, until at length a Sentry challenged, which was the signal for rapid attack, commenced by a volley of Musketry on both sides, succeeded immediately by a charge with the Bayonet on our part, from which the Rebels recoiled and fled in confusion, leaving in our possession four Field Guns as noted in the margin, Ammunition, Horses, &c.

1 24-Pr. Howitzer.
2 9-Pr. Guns.
1 6. Pr. Ditto.

After capturing the Guns, I directed the Detachments of the Kemaoon Battalion in reserve, under the Command of Lieutenant G. C. Thomson, (51st Native Infantry) to move into the Orange Garden on the left, and sweep down as far as the building called Koodsee Bagh, on the banks of the River. This was energetically done. It was here that I expected to find other Guns of the Rebels in position; but in this I was disappointed. The party retired.

I beg to bring to the particular notice of the Brigadier General the steadiness, silence, and order with which the 1st European Bengal Fusiliers advanced to the attack on the Enemy's Guns, which was well conceived and gallantly executed by Major Jacob and the Officers and Men of the Regiment, under his Command, and Captain S. Greville, of that Regiment, Commanded the Skirmishers who made the first attack on the Guns.

The Horse Artillery (2 Guns) and Squadron of H. M.'s 9th Lancers which accompanied me along the Road, had no opportunity of coming into actual contact with the Rebels; but were at times under a heavy fire and displayed the greatest steadiness.

My thanks are due to Major Coke, Commanding the left attack; to Major G. O. Jacob, Commanding the right attack; to Captain F. R. Remmington, Commanding the Artillery; to Captain O. H. St. G. Anson, Commanding the Squadron, H. M's 9th Lancers; to Captain W. Harris, Commanding Detachment 2nd European Bengal Fusiliers, and to Captain R Freer (Her Majesty's 27th Regiment,) Commanding the Metcalfe House Stables Picquets, and to Captain A. C. Robertson, Her Majesty's 8th Regiment; Brevet Captain Chambers, Second in Command, 4th Seikh Infantry, and to Lieutenant G. C. Thomson, 51st Native Infantry Kemaoon Battalion, Commanding respectively the Detachments composing the Reserve; also to Captain C A. Sandford, 3rd Regiment Light Cavalry, Commanding the Guide Cavalry.

My thanks are also due to Captain C. F. Simpson, my Major of Brigade, and Lieutenant F. C. Innes, 60th Regiment Native Infantry, my Orderly Officer for the energetic assistance rendered me throughout these operations.

I regret to state that, as will be seen from the accompanying Casualty List, our loss has not been slight; but I have reason to believe, that about two hundred and fifty of the Rebels (several of whom were Artillery men) were left dead on the Field in the neighbourhood of "Ludlow Castle."

After having held the ground for some time to allow of the captured Guns, &c., being removed, I was compelled, by a severe wound, to retire from the scene of action, leaving the retirement of the Troops to be conducted by Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed, H. M.'s 8th Regiment.

Major-General A. Wilson,
Commanding Field Force,

To

Lieutenant H. W. Norman,
Asst. Adjt. Genl. of the Army, Camp.

Field Force Staff Office,
Camp before Delhi, 27th August 1857.

Sir,

I have the honor to forward for transmission to Major-General Gowan, C. B., Commanding in the Upper Provinces, and through him to Government, the accompanying Report of the operations of a Detachment of Irregular Cavalry I sent out under the Command of Lieutenant Hodson on the 14th instant, to watch a party of the Enemy who had moved out from Delhi on the Rhotuck road, and to afford support if necessary, either to Souput, or our Ally, the Jheend Rajah.

Lieutenant Hodson most fully carried out my instructions to my entire satisfaction, and his Report will show that the whole of his Detachment, both Officers and Men, behaved throughout in the most gallant and effectual manner.

It must have been most gratifying to Lieutenant Hodson to find his new Regiment so steady and staunch in their first engagement with the Enemy.

I particularly request, that Major-General Gowan will bring to the notice of Government the ready and loyal conduct on this occasion of the Jheend Rajah and the good service performed by his Troops. I have already, through Colonel Dunsford, Commanding the Rajah's Troops, expressed my acknowledgments to the Rajah for the ready assistance he afforded on this occasion, and from the commencement of our operations before Delhi; and also my satisfaction at the favorable report made by Lieutenant Hodson of the gallantry of his men.

From

Lieutenant W. S. R. Hodson,
Commanding Irregular Horse,

To

The Assistant Adjutant General,

Delhi Field Force.

Camp Delhi, 24th August 1857.

Sir,

I have the honor to report the proceedings of the Cavalry Detachment* which left Camp under my Command on the night of the 14th and 15th instant, under verbal instructions from Major-General Wilson, Commanding the Field Force.

* European Officers 6

2 My instructions were to watch a party of the Enemy who had moved out from Delhi by the Nujufgurh road with the avowed purpose of threatening our communications with Soneput and the Grand Trunk Road, or of marching to attack Hansee and the Rajah of Jheend, to ascertain their precise object and direction, and to afford support to either Soneput or the Jheend Rajah as might be necessary. I was also to examine the state of the roads and country, with a view to the probable necessity of a larger Force taking the Field.

3. On reaching Boanuh by way of Azadpoor and the Canal bank, I ascertained that the Enemy had passed the 14th at Samplah, and were said to be moving towards Rhotuck. I therefore pushed on to Khurkowdeh, on the road from Boanuh to that Town, reaching it about noon on the 15th.

4. Having been informed that a number of Irregular Cavalry men—whose homes were in the village—had arrived the day before from Delhi at Khurkowdeh, I took measures for securing the several entrances to it, and attempting their capture, sending a small party of the Guide Corps to surprise and arrest the leading man, named Peshurut Ali, a Ressaldar of the 1st Irregular Cavalry. Both objects were accomplished only two Sowars having had time to effect their escape before the village was surrounded. I then entered the village with a party of dismounted Sowars. From information received from the villagers, I was able to seize several of the Mutineer Sowars before they had time to arm. A large party, however, took refuge in the upper-story of a house belonging to one of the Lumbardars of the village, and defended themselves desperately. They were eventually overpowered and destroyed, but not without considerable difficulty and several casualties on our side, Lieutenant H. Gough and seven men being wounded. I subsequently caused those of the captured—who were proved on enquiry to have been in the Service of Government and to have joined the Rebels—to be executed.

5. During the afternoon of the 15th, the Enemy broke up from Samplah and marched to Rhotuck, where they gave out that they were going to remain for two or three days. I marched after them on the morning of the 16th towards Rhotuck by Sussaineh, Hamaioonpoor, and Balout. On reaching Bhour—five miles short of Rhotuck—I ascertained that the Rebels had suddenly marched early in the morning towards Medinha on hearing of our movements I therefore halted for the day, the rain being very heavy.

6. On the morning of the 17th we moved on Rhotuck. On approaching the Town and riding on to reconnoitre with a small party, I found a large body of armed men drawn up at the Old Fort, in front of the place, accompanied by a few Sowars. They immediately opened fire on us, and as we withdrew to bring up the Detachment, followed us up the road, firing and yelling in derision.

The instant the head of the Column arrived, they were charged, dispersed, and driven into the Town, leaving thirteen of their number dead. They subsequently turned out to be Rangurs, Kussais, and other turbulent inhabitants of the Town, headed by Babur Khan, the Chief of the Rangurs.

7. After riding round Rhotuck and reconnoitring the surrounding country and the approaches to it, I encamped in the open space in rear of the Kutcherry Buildings at the junction of the road by which we had marched from Bohur with the main road to Delhi. Some of the Zemindars and Hindoos of Rhotuck came out to me immediately afterwards, and through their instrumentality, the Detachment was amply provided with all necessary supplies. No further attempt was made to annoy us.

8. At about 7 o'clock the next morning, I received information that Babur Khan had gone during the night to the Camp of the Rebels on the Hansee road and brought back 300 Rangur Horsemen belonging to different Irregular Cavalry Regiments, to assist him in an attack upon us. Three or four minutes afterwards, a large body of Horsemen dashed up the roads from the Town at speed, followed by a mass of Footmen, armed with swords and matchlocks, certainly not less than 900 or 1,000 in number. At the moment of the attack, a party of 25 Jheend Horsemen, who had come from Gohana, on hearing from me of our approach, were crossing the road towards our Camp, and found themselves suddenly charged by and intermixed with the Enemy's horse.

They defended themselves with their carbines, and thus checked the attacking party, two of their number being wounded. The whole of the horses of the Detachment having been kept saddled, no time was lost in turning out, and the instant the twenty leading men were on their horses, the Enemy was charged and driven back in confusion towards the Town, their flight being covered by the matchlock-men, who had occupied some buildings and compounds between the Kutcherry and the Town. Directly the whole of the Detachment was ready and formed up, I sent what little baggage and followers we had to the rear under a sufficient escort, and prepared for a further attack. I formed the main body on the road in three lines, the Guides in front, sending a Troop out to the right front under Lieutenant Wise, and one to the left under Lieutenant McDowell, ready to take the Enemy in flank, should they again charge up the roads (of which there are three leading from the Town to our position.) These movements were covered by Skirmishers, and by the excellent fire of the Jheend Horsemen armed with matchlocks, whom I desired to dismount and drive back by their fire any party of the Enemy who might come from under shelter of the buildings. This service they performed exceedingly well and most cheerfully.

9. Finding that our Ammunition was nearly exhausted after some time had elapsed, and that there appeared little chance of the Enemy coming from their cover to attack us again, I determined to draw them out into the open country behind our position, and endeavour to bring on a fight there. Every thing turned out as I had anticipated. My men withdrew slowly and deliberately by alternate Troops (the Troop nearest the Enemy by alternate ranks) along the line of the Bohur road, by which we had reached Rhotuck, our left extending towards the main road to Delhi. The Jheend Horsemen protected our right, and a Troop of my own Regiment the left. The Enemy moved out the instant we withdrew, following us in great numbers, yelling and shouting and keeping up a heavy fire of matchlocks.

Their Horsemen were principally on their right, and a party galloping up the main road, threatened our left flank. I continued to retire until we got into open and comparatively dry ground, and then turned and charged the mass who had come to within from one hundred and fifty to two hundred yards of us.

The Guides, who were nearest to them, were upon them in an instant, closely followed by and soon intermixed with my own men.

The Enemy stood for a few seconds, turned, and then were driven back in utter confusion to the very walls of the Town. It being with some difficulty that the Officers could prevent their men entering the Town with the fugitives, fifty of the Enemy—all Horsemen—were killed on the ground, and many must have been wounded.

10. Nothing could be better than the conduct of all concerned. The Guide Cavalry behaved with their usual dashing gallantry, and their example was well emulated by the men of my new Regiment, now for the first time engaged with an Enemy. They not only remained under fire unflinchingly, but retired before the Enemy steadily and deliberately, and when ordered, turned and charged home boldly. It would have been hopeless to expect this, but for the magnificent leading and admirable management of the Officers in Command of the several Troops—Captain Ward and Lieutenants McDowell, Wise, C. J. Gough and H. Gough. The difficulty of their task will be appreciated when it is remembered that, with the exception of the Guides, none of the party had been drilled or formed or knew anything of Field movements.

11. After their defeat, as I subsequently ascertained, the Rangur Horsemen evacuated the place the same evening, carrying away their wounded with them. The whole of the Rangurs and Kussaies of the Town also fled during the night for refuge to the neighbouring villages. As soon as I had re-assembled the Detachment on our original ground, and ascertained personally that no parties of the Enemy remained outside Rhotuck, I moved round by our right to the Northern side of the Town on to the Gohana road, and encamped at Dussea—the first village sufficiently large to furnish us with supplies. I was in direct communication with Jheend, twenty-two coss distant, and with Gohana, where a body of the Rajah's Troops are stationed, and by way of Khylore my communication with Camp by way of Khurkowdeh and with Soneput was perfectly secure. I was also prepared to move off to the right towards Hansee to General Cortlandt, should he attack the Rebel Force moving in that direction. This Force had moved off from Medinha to Mehum on our reaching Rhotuck, and thence to Moondahab, and on the 18th evacuated the Rhotuck District and marched to Barsee, five coss from Hansee, in considerably diminished numbers.

12 On the 19th I halted at Dusseea, receiving, at daybreak, a valuable reinforcement in the shape of eighty well-equipped Horsemen from Jheend, with the promise of Infantry and a Gun if I required them. They had already been sent off by the Rijah with his usual ever-ready zeal, and would have been available in a few hours. On the evening of the 19th, I received the Major-General's orders to return towards Camp, and marched the next day to Khurkowdeh, and on the 21st, by a circuitous route, to Soneput.

13. I cannot close this without testifying to the excellent conduct of the Jheend Horsemen throughout the whole of our proceedings. Nothing could have been better than the behaviour, from first to last, both in keeping up our communications, in enduring fatigue and bad weather, and in gallantry in action. This is not the first time I have had experience of the good service they have rendered. At the action of Badlee-Serai, on the 8th of June, they particularly distinguished themselves, and they did no less well on the present occasion. I trust the Major-General will be pleased to convey his acknowledgements of their conduct to the Rajah.

FROM
MAJOR GENERAL A. WILSON,
Commanding Field Force,

To
CAPTAIN NORMAN,
Asst. Adjt. General of the Army

Camp before Delhi, the 30th August 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Major-General Gowan, C. B, Commanding the Force in Upper India and for submission to Government, that learning that a large force of Rebels had moved out from the City in the direction of Nujufghur for the purpose of attacking us in the rear, cutting off our supplies, and capturing the Siege Train now en route from Ferozepore, I detached a Column, under Brigadier General Nicholson, on the morning of the 25th instant, to intercept them.

I enclose herewith the Brigadier General's Report of his operations, with Plans of the route pursued by the Column, and of the action of Nujufghur, with Returns of the Killed and Wounded, and Ammunition expended, as well as of the captured Ordnance and Ammunition. I also enclose copy of a Field Force Order I have issued on the occasion.

To Brigadier General Nicholson's judgment, energy, and determination I attribute mainly the glorious result of the expedition, and next to the steadiness and gallantry in action, and the cheerfulness under great privation and fatigue exhibited by the Officers and Men placed under his Command.

They all most richly deserve my highest praise, and in forwarding this Report for submission to Government, I beg that Major-General Gowan will bring to the favorable notice of Government the name of Brigadier General J Nicholson, as well as all those Officers mentioned in his Report as those to whom he was most indebted for their service on this occasion.

No. 1088.

EXTRACT FIELD FORCE ORDERS, BY MAJOR-GENERAL A. WILSON, COMMANDING.

Head Quarters Camp, Delhi, 30th August 1857.

Major General Wilson, Commanding the Force, begs to offer his most hearty thanks and congratulations to Brigadier General Nicholson and the Force which moved from Camp, under his Command, on the morning of the 25th instant, on the very successful issue of the operations they were engaged in. This Force made a march of 18 miles over a country intersected with swamps, at the end of which they fought an action with the Enemy, variously estimated at 4,000 to 6 000 men; gained a complete victory, capturing all the Enemy's Guns (13 in number); and owing to the difficulty in getting up the baggage and provisions, had to bivouac on the ground, without food or covering of any kind The next day the Troops marched back, arriving in Camp that same evening.

2 The Major-General considers he is indebted for the glorious result of these operations to the judgment and energy displayed by Brigadier General Nicholson; the steadiness and gallantry of the Troops in action, and the cheerfulness with which they bore the fatigue and hardships they were called upon to undergo.

3. The Major-General has much pleasure in publishing the following extract* from Brigadier General Nicholson's Report, and in assuring all therein mentioned, that he will bring them to favorable notice in his Report to the Commander of the Forces in the Upper Provinces for submission to Government.

Detachment of Sappers and Miners, 30.
200 Mooltanee Horse

On my arrival at the village of Nanglooe—about 9 miles from this, (and to reach which I had to cross two difficult swamps,) I learned that the Enemy had been at Palum the previous day, and would probably reach Nujufgurh in the course of the afternoon; I therefore decided on leaving the Bahadoorgurh road, and if possible coming up with and routing the Enemy at Nujufgurh before nightfall.

I crossed a tolerably deep and broad ford over a branch of the Nujufgurh Jheel, near the village of Bassarowla, at about 1 P. M., and found the Enemy in position on my left and front, extending from the Bridge over the Nujufgurh Canal to the Town of Nujufgurh itself—a distance of a mile and three-quarters, or two miles. Their strongest point was an old Serai on their left centre, in which they had four Guns: nine more Guns were between this and the Bridge

It was 3 o'clock before the Troops were across the ford and parallel with the position As the evening was so far advanced, and I had no Guides, I laboured under the disadvantage of being compelled to make a very hasty reconnoissance.

The plan which I determined on was to force the left centre (which, as I have said, was the strongest part of the position), and then changing front to the left, to sweep down their line of Guns towards the Bridge.

I accordingly formed up H. M.'s 61st Regiment, the 1st Fusiliers, and the 2nd Punjaub Infantry, (with the exception of 100 men of each Corps, whom I had told off on the march as a Rear Guard and Reserve,) with four Guns on the right and ten on the left flank, supported by the Squad of 9th Lancers and Guide Cavalry; and after the Artillery had fired a few rounds, I advanced and charged with the Infantry.

The Enemy was driven out with scarcely any numerical loss to us (though H. M.'s 61st had a most gallant and promising Officer, Lieutenant Gabbett, mortally wounded), and I then changed front to the left, and so turned the whole position in which their Guns were. The Enemy made little resistance as we advanced, and were soon in full retreat across the Bridge, with our Guns playing upon them, thirteen of their Field Pieces having fallen into our hands

At the same time that I attacked the Serai, I directed Lieutenant Lumsden, Officiating Commandant of Major Coke's Corps, the 1st Punjaub Infantry, to advance and clear the Town of Nujufgurh on our right. This service was well performed by Lieutenant Lumsden, who, after passing through the Town, brought his right shoulder forward and followed in rear of the main line.

The Enemy's Guns were now all in our possession, and I supposed the conflict at an end, when it was reported to me that a few men had concealed themselves in the little village of Nuglee, which was at this time a few hundred yards in rear of our line. I immediately sent orders to Lieutenant Lumsden, who was then nearly abreast of the village, to drive them out; but though few in number, they had remained so long that our Troops were on all sides of them; and seeing no line of retreat open, they fought with extreme desperation.

Lieutenant Lumsden was, I regret to say, killed with eleven of his men, twenty-six more were wounded, and I was obliged to send back the 61st Regiment to reinforce the 1st Punjaub Infantry. This Corps also suffered a loss of another gallant Officer, Lieutenant Elkington, dangerously wounded, and five men killed and several more were wounded, before the village was in our possession.

The Enemy's Cavalry apparently, not less than 1,000 strong, more than once made a show of charging during the action, but were on each occasion driven back by the fire of our Artillery. Our own Cavalry I regretted much my inability to employ against them, but I had been obliged to leave the Squadron 2nd Punjaub Cavalry under Lieutenant Nicholson and 120 of the Mooltanees to look after the baggage, and I had of Lancers, Guides and Mooltanees not more than 300 left to escort the Guns and form a Reserve.

I passed the night at the Bridge with the 1st Fusiliers and 2nd Punjaub Infantry and a Detachment of Artillery and Lancers I had the Bridge mined and blown up by the Sappers, and all the Waggons and Tumbrils which I had not the means of bringing away were also blown up by Major Tombs. Shortly after day-break, I started on my return to Camp, and fearing lest more rain should render the ground (already sufficiently difficult) quite impracticable, I brought the Column in the same evening

It only now remains for me to fulfil the pleasing duty of expressing my extreme satisfaction with the conduct of the Troops in these operations. No Soldiers ever advanced to the attack of a position with greater gallantry and steadiness than H M.'s 61st Regiment, the 1st Fusiliers, and the 2nd Punjaub Infantry. No Infantry was ever more ably assisted by Artillery. Major Coke's Regiment under its gallant and lamented Officiating Commandant, Lieutenant Lumsden, sustained its high reputation.

The Troops are likewise entitled to great credit for the cheerfulness with which they bore the hardships they were exposed to; they marched at day-break, and had to cross two difficult swamps before their arrival at Nanglooe; and as it would not have been prudent to take the Baggage across the ford at Bassarowla, they were obliged, after fourteen hours' marching and fighting, to bivouac on the Field without food or covering of any kind.

* N. B.—Extract not here given, as a copy of the whole of Brigadier General Nicholson's Despatch is forwarded.

The Officers to whom I am most indebted for their services on this occasion, and whom I would beg to bring prominently to the favorable notice of the Major General, are Major Tombs, Commanding the Artillery, (this Officer's merits are so well known to the Major General that it is unnecessary for me to dwell upon them); Major Jacob, Commanding 1st Fusiliers; Captain Green, Commanding 2nd Punjaub Infantry, and Captains Remmington and Blunt and Lieutenants Wilson and Sankey of the Artillery. I also received every assistance from my Staff and Orderly Officers, Captain Blane, H. M.'s 52nd, my Brigade Major; Captain Shute, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Captain Trench, 35th Native Infantry, and Lieutenant Dixon, late 9th Light Cavalry, my Orderly Officers, and Lieutenant R. C. Low, on the Staff of the Major-General Commanding.

Lieutenant Sarell, H. M.'s 9th Lancers, to whom I entrusted the Command of the Cavalry with the Guns during the action, and of the Rear Guard on the 26th, performed these duties very much to my satisfaction. The same remarks apply to Captain Gordon, H. M.'s 61st, who Commanded the Reserve during the action and night of the 25th.

Sir Theophilus Metcalfe was good enough to accompany and give me the benefit of his local knowledge; he was also present and very forward in the attack on the Serai.

Lieutenant Geneste, of the Engineers, deserves credit for the very complete and successful manner in which he blew up the Bridge.

I enclose a Return of captured Guns and Ordnance Stores, a Casualty Roll, and a sketch of the Ground prepared by Captain Shute, of the Quarter Master General's Department.

I have, &c.,

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 28th November 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information.—

ACT No XXXII OF 1857

An Act to amend the Articles of War for the Native Army.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is expedient that, on every conviction of Mutiny or Desertion, the Government or the Court or other lawful authority by which the offender shall be convicted should have power to order the offender to be marked, It is enacted as follows:—

Government empowered to order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked

I. It shall be lawful for the Government, by any general or special order, to direct that all or any persons or person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army, who have been or shall be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, shall be marked on the left side two inches below the armpit with the letter M in the case of a conviction of Mutiny, and with the letter D in the case of a conviction of Desertion, either alone or together with such other mark as the Government may consider necessary for the purpose of identifying the offender at any future time or of denoting the punishment to which he has been sentenced. The letter shall not be less than an inch long; and such letter and other mark shall be made upon the skin with some ink, gunpowder, or other preparation, so as to be visible and conspicuous and not liable to be obliterated.

Court may, as part of the sentence order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked

II. It shall also be lawful for the Court, or other lawful authority by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, to order, as part of the sentence on such person, that he be marked with the letter M or D as the case may be, which letter shall be made in the manner hereinbefore directed.

Interpretation

III. The word "Government", as used in this Act, shall mean the Governor General of India in Council, or the Executive Government of the Presidency within which the offender shall have been tried.

Past sentences and orders to be deemed valid

IV. Any sentence or order, by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may upon conviction of Mutiny or Desertion have been ordered to be marked, shall be deemed valid.

Legislative Council of India

The 5th December 1857

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 5th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information —

ACT No XXXIII OF 1857

An Act to make further provision relating to Foreigners.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision to enable the several Governments of the British Territories in India to prevent the subjects of Foreign States from residing or sojourning therein or from passing through or travelling in the same without the consent of the said Governments; It is enacted as follows:—

Foreigner to report his arrival in India.

I. Every Foreigner shall, on his arrival in any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company from any Port or place not within the said Territories, or from any Port or place not subject to the provisions of this Act, forthwith report himself to the Commissioner of Police, if he shall arrive at any of the Presidency Towns; or, if he shall arrive at any other place, to the Magistrate or to such other Officer as shall be appointed to receive such reports by the Governor General in Council, or (in places within their respective jurisdictions) by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall extend to any Foreigner being the Master or Commander of a ship or vessel or employed therein.

Proviso.

What to be stated in the report.

II. The report shall be in writing; and shall be signed by the person reporting himself; and shall specify his name or names, the nation to which he belongs, the place from which he shall have come, the place or places of his destination, the object of his pursuit, and the date of his arrival in the said Territories: and the report shall be recorded by the Officer to whom it is made.

Foreigners employed in a ship or vessel, to report themselves when they cease to be so employed.

III. If any person included in the proviso to Section I, shall remain in any part of the said Territories after he shall have ceased to be employed in a ship or vessel, he shall forthwith report himself in manner aforesaid.

Foreigners neglecting to report themselves to be dealt with in like manner as Foreigners travelling without a license.

IV. If any Foreigner shall neglect to report himself as required by this Act, he may be dealt with in the manner hereinafter provided in respect of Foreigners travelling without a license.

Foreigner not to travel in India without a license.

V. No Foreigner shall travel in or pass through any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company without a license.

License by whom to be granted.

VI. Licenses under this Act may be granted by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, or by the Chief Secretary to the Governments of Fort St. George and Bombay respectively, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively, or by such other Officers as shall be specially authorized so to do by the Governor General of India in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners aforesaid.

What to be stated in license.

VII. Every such license shall state the name or names of the person to whom the license is granted, the nation to which he belongs, the district or districts through which he is authorized to pass or the limits within which he is authorized to travel, and the period (if any) during which the license is intended to have effect.

License may be granted subject to conditions and may be revoked.

VIII. The license may be granted subject to such conditions (if any) as the Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place or (as regards their several jurisdictions) any of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners may by any general order direct, or as the Officer granting the license may deem necessary; and the license may be revoked at any time by the Governor General in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Officer granting the same.

Foreigner travelling without or contrary to the conditions of license may be apprehended.

IX. If any Foreigner travel in or attempt to pass through any part of the said Territories without such license as aforesaid, or beyond the districts or limits mentioned therein, or after such license shall have been revoked, or shall violate any of the conditions therein specified, he may be apprehended without warrant by a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or by any European Commissioned Officer in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or by a Member of a Volunteer Corps enrolled by authority of Government whilst on duty, or by any Police Officer.

Procedure upon apprehension by persons not being Magistrates or Police Officers.

X. If any person be apprehended by a person not being a Magistrate or a Police Officer, he shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police Officer, and carried before a Magistrate; and whenever any person shall be apprehended by or taken before a Magistrate, such Magistrate shall forthwith report the case to the Government to which he is subject, and shall cause the person brought before him to be discharged, or to be conveyed to one of the Presidency Towns, or to be detained pending the orders of such Government.

Persons apprehended may be admitted to bail.

XI. All persons apprehended or detained under the above-mentioned provisions of this Act, may be admitted to bail by a Magistrate or by any of the Officers authorized to grant licenses, and shall be put to as little inconvenience as possible during their detention in custody.

Removal of persons apprehended.

XII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, may order any such person to remove himself from the said Territories by sea or by such other route as the Government may direct, or the Government may cause him to be removed from the said Territories by such route and in such manner as to the Government shall seem fit.

Government may order any Foreigner to remove himself.

XIII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by writing order any Foreigner within his jurisdiction to remove himself from the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, or to remove himself therefrom by a particular route to be specified in the order.

Foreigner refusing to remove or returning without license after removal may be apprehended and detained.

XIV. If any Foreigner ordered to remove himself from the said Territories, or ordered to remove himself therefrom by any particular route, shall neglect or refuse so to do; or if any Foreigner, having removed himself from the said Territories in consequence of an order issued under any of the provisions of this Act, or having been removed from the said Territories under any of the said provisions, shall wilfully return to the said Territories without a license in writing granted by the Governor General of India in Council or by the Government or Officer under whose order he shall have removed himself or been removed—such Foreigner may be apprehended and detained in safe custody, until he shall be discharged therefrom by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Executive Government, or of one of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, within whose jurisdiction he shall be so apprehended or detained, upon such terms and conditions as the said Governor General in Council, Executive Government, Chief Commissioner, or Commissioner shall deem sufficient for the peace and security of the British Territories, and of the allies of Her Majesty and of the East India Company, and of the neighbouring Princes and States.

Government may prohibit persons, not being natural-born subjects, from travelling or passing through any part of India without a license.

XV. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by order prohibit any person or persons, or any class or classes of persons, not being a natural-born subject or subjects of Her Majesty within the meaning of Section LXXXI 3 and 4 William IV. C. 85, from travelling in or passing through any part of the said Territories, or from passing from any part of India to another without a license to be granted by such Officer or Officers as shall be specified in the order; and if such person shall wilfully disobey such order, he may be apprehended without warrant by any of the Officers specified in Section IX of this Act, and carried before a Magistrate and dealt with under the provisions of Section X in the same manner as if he were a Foreigner; and the Government may order such person to be detained in safe custody, or under the surveillance of the Police, so long as it may be deemed necessary for the peace and security of the British Territories.

Police Officer may board ship to ascertain whether Foreigners are on board.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Police, or for a Magistrate, or his Assistant, or for any Officer appointed to receive reports as mentioned in the first Section of this Act, or for any Police Officer under the authority of such Commissioner or Magistrate, to enter any ship or vessel in any Port or place within the Territories in the possession and under the control of the East India Company, in order to ascertain whether any Foreigner, bound to report his arrival under Section I of this Act, is on board of such ship or vessel; and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, to adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary for that purpose; and the Master or Commander of such ship or vessel shall also, before any of the passengers are allowed to disembark, if he shall be required so to do by such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, deliver to him a list, in writing, of the passengers on board, specifying the Ports or places at which they embarked, and the Ports or places of their disembarkation or intended disembarkation, and answer, to the best of his knowledge, all such questions touching the passengers on board the said ship or vessel, or touching those who may have disembarked in any part of India, as shall be put to him by the Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid. If any Foreigner on board such ship or vessel in any part of India shall refuse to give an account of his objects of pursuit in India, or if his account thereof shall not be satisfactory, the Officer may refuse to allow him to disembark, or he may be dealt with in the same manner as a Foreigner travelling in India without a license.

Master of ship to furnish list of passengers.

Obstructing Officers.

XVII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any of the powers vested in him by this Act shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or to both.

Penalty if Master neglects to report.

XVIII. If the Master or Commander of any ship or vessel shall wilfully neglect or refuse to comply with the requisitions of this Act, he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two thousand Rupees.

False answer.

XIX. Whoever shall wilfully give a false answer to any question which by this Act he is bound to answer, or shall make any false report, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees.

Interpretation.

XX. The word "Foreigner" in this Act shall be deemed to mean a person not being either a natural-born subject of Her Majesty within the meaning of Section LXXXI, 3 and 4 William IV, C. 85, or a native of a place in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company. The word "Magistrate" shall include every person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, and a Justice of the Peace.

Proof of being a Foreigner.

XXI. If a question shall arise whether any person alleged to be a Foreigner and to be subject to the provisions of this Act is a Foreigner or not, or is or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, the onus of proving that such person is not a Foreigner or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, shall lie upon such person.

Operation of Act.

XXII. This Act shall continue in force for two years; and it shall not extend to the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the Territory of Aden, unless the same shall be specially declared applicable to such Settlement or Territory by the Governor General of India in Council.

Exceptions.

XXIII. The foregoing provisions of this Act shall not extend to any Foreign Minister duly accredited by his Government, nor to any Consul or Vice-Consul, nor to any person under the age of fourteen years, nor to any person in the service of the British Government. The Governor General in Council, or (as regards their respective jurisdictions) the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may exempt any person or any class of persons, either wholly or partially, or temporarily or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Act; and may at any time revoke any exemption.

Indemnity.

XXIV. Any Officer of Government or other person who, prior to the passing of this Act, may have done any thing which would have been justified by this Act if it had been in force at the time, is hereby ndemnified for so doing; and no action or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted in respect of any thing so done.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 5th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XXXIV OF 1857.

An Act relating to the Sale of Ganja in the Presidency of Bombay.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the sale of Ganja in the Town of Bombay, and to amend the law relating to the sale of that article within the Territories subordinate to the Presidency of Bombay; It is enacted as follows:—

Act repealed.

I. Act II of 1841 is hereby repealed.

Provisions of Act III of 1852 extended to the sale of Ganja in the Town of Bombay

II. The provisions of Act III of 1852 relating to the sale by license of intoxicating drugs or materials within the Territories subordinate to the Presidency of Bombay, are extended to the sale of Ganja within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Supreme Court of Judicature at Bombay, anything in the said Act to the contrary notwithstanding; provided always that the duties, powers, and authorities vested by the said Act in the Collectors of Zillahs shall, within the aforesaid limits, be possessed and exercised by the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, and Opium: and the said Commissioner shall, except as herein otherwise expressly provided, have the same powers with respect to the granting, refusing, or recalling licenses for the sale of Ganja, and with respect to the seizure and destruction or sale of unlicensed Ganja within the said limits, as are by the said Act vested in the Zillah Collectors of Land Revenue; and all the provisions of the said Act shall be applicable to licenses granted under this Act.

Proviso.

Commissioner of Customs, Salt, and Opium empowered to grant licenses.

Adjudication of penalties.

III. All penalties shall within the said limits be adjudicated and levied by any Magistrate of Police for the Town of Bombay.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 21st November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the law for the registry of Seamen and the grant of Register Tickets has been found to be ineffective for the purposes intended; and whereas, by Section CCLXXXVIII of an Act of the Imperial Parliament called "the Merchant Shipping Act 1854," it is enacted that, "if the Governor General of India in Council, or the respective Legislative authorities in any British possession abroad, by any Acts, Ordinances, or other appropriate legal means, apply or adapt any of the provisions in the third part of this Act contained to any British ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within their respective jurisdictions, and to the owners, masters, mates, and crews thereof, such provisions when so applied and adapted as aforesaid, and as long as they remain in force, shall, in respect of the ships and persons to which the same are applied, be enforced, and penalties and punishments for the breach thereof shall be recovered and inflicted throughout Her Majesty's dominions, in the same manner as if such provisions had been hereby so adapted and applied, and such penalties and punishments had been hereby expressly imposed." And whereas it is expedient to discontinue the practice of registry and the grant of Register Tickets, and to apply to ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, certain provisions of the third part of the said Act with such adaptations and modifications as are required by the circumstances of the said Territories, and for the purposes aforesaid to repeal the laws now in force in the said Territories relating to Merchant Seamen: It is enacted as follows:—

Acts repealed.

I. Act XXVII of 1850, entitled "An Act for the registry of Merchant Seamen," and Act XXVIII of 1850, entitled "An Act for the encouragement of Merchant Seamen," are hereby repealed, except as to acts done and agreements made before the passing of this Act.

Shipping Offices.

Shipping Offices.

II. A Shipping Office shall be established at each of the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay and at such other Ports as the Governor General of India in Council shall hereafter deem necessary. For every such Office there shall be a Superintendent, to be called a "Shipping Master," with such necessary Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, at such salaries and subject to such regulations as the local Government shall from time to time, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, direct and appoint. Every act done by or before any Deputy duly appointed shall have the same effect as if done by or before a Shipping Master.

Business of Shipping Masters.

III. It shall be the general business of Shipping Masters appointed under this Act, to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen in manner hereinafter mentioned, and to perform such other duties relating to Merchant Seamen and merchant ships as are hereby, or under the said Merchant Shipping Act 1854, or as may hereafter under the powers herein contained, be committed to them. It shall also be the duty of Shipping Masters to give to all persons desirous of apprenticing boys to the sea-service, and duly authorized so to do by Act XIX of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices), and also to masters and owners of ships requiring apprentices, such assistance as may be in their power for facilitating the making of such apprenticeships.

Fees to be paid upon engagements and discharges.

IV. Such fees, not exceeding the sums specified in the Table marked (A) in the Schedule to this Act, as are from time to time fixed by the local Government, shall be payable upon all engagements and discharges effected before Shipping Masters as hereinafter mentioned. Scales of the fees payable for the time being shall be conspicuously placed in the Shipping Offices; and all Shipping Masters, their Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, may refuse to proceed with any engagement unless the fees payable thereon are first paid.

Fees by whom to be paid, &c.

V. Every owner or master of a ship engaging or discharging any seaman in a Shipping Office or before a Shipping Master shall pay to the Shipping Master the whole of the fees hereby made payable in respect of such engagement or discharge, and may, for the purpose of in part reimbursing himself, deduct in respect of each such engagement or discharge from the wages of all persons (except apprentices) so engaged or discharged, and retain any sums not exceeding the sums specified in that behalf in the Table marked (B) in the Schedule hereto. Provided that, if in any cases the sums which the owner is so entitled to deduct, exceed the amount of the fee payable by him, such excess shall be paid by him to the Shipping Master in addition to such fee.

Penalty on Shipping Master taking other remuneration.

VI. Any Shipping Master, Deputy Shipping Master, or any Clerk or Servant in any Shipping Office, who demands or receives any remuneration whatever, either directly or indirectly, for hiring or supplying any seaman for any merchant ship, excepting the lawful fees payable under this Act, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, and shall also be dismissed from his office.

Business of Shipping Office may be transacted at Custom House or elsewhere.

VII. The local Government may direct that, at any place at which no separate Shipping Office is established, the whole or any part of the business of the Shipping Office shall be conducted at the Custom House, or at the Office of the Master Attendant or Harbour Master, or at such other Office as the Government shall direct, and thereupon the same shall be there conducted accordingly; and in respect of such business such Custom House or Office as aforesaid shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Office, and the Officer of Customs or other Officer there, to whom such business is committed, shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Master within the meaning of this Act.

Examinations and Certificates of Masters and Mates.

Examinations.

VIII. Examinations shall be instituted for persons who intend to become masters or mates of Foreign-going ships or of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, or who wish to procure certificates of competency hereinafter mentioned.

Local Government to appoint examiners.

IX. The local Government or any Board or Officer duly authorized by the local Government in that behalf shall from time to time nominate two or more competent persons for the purpose of examining the qualifications of the applicants for examination. The local Government may, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, make rules for the conduct of such examinations and as to the qualifications to be required; and such rules shall be strictly adhered to by all examiners.

Rules for conduct of examination.

Fees.

Fees at the following rates shall be paid by all applicants for examination.

For a certificate as Master... ...	10	Rupees
Ditto ditto as Mate	5	„

Certificates of competency.

X. The local Government or such Board or Officer as aforesaid shall deliver to every applicant who is reported by the examiners to have passed the examination satisfactorily, and to have given satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience, ability, and general good conduct on boardship, a certificate (hereinafter called a "certificate of competency") to the effect that he is competent to act as master or mate of a Foreign-going ship or of a Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, as the case may be.

Certificates of service.

XI. Certificates of service differing in form from certificates of competency shall be granted as follows, (that is to say)—

1.—Every person who before the day of served as master in the British merchant service or as master of any Foreign-going ship registered under Act X of 1841, or who has attained or attains the rank of Lieutenant, Master, passed Mate, or second Mate, or any higher rank, in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master for Foreign-going ships.

2.—Every person who before the said day served as mate in the British merchant service or as mate of any such ship as aforesaid shall be entitled to a certificate of service as mate for Foreign-going ships.

3.—Every person who before the day of served as master or mate of a Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master or mate (according to such previous service) for such Home-trade ships.

And each of such certificates of service shall contain particulars of the name and of the length and nature of the previous service of the person to whom it is delivered; and the local Government or such other authority as aforesaid shall deliver such certificates of service to the various persons so respectively entitled thereto upon their proving themselves to have attained such rank or to have served as aforesaid and upon their giving a full and satisfactory account of the particulars aforesaid.

No Foreign-going ship and no Home-trade ship above 300 tons to go to sea without certificate of master, &c

XII. No Foreign-going ship or Home-trade ship of a burden exceeding three hundred tons shall go to sea from any Port in the said Territories unless the master and one officer besides the master have obtained and possess valid and appropriate certificates either of competency or service under this Act or under the Merchant Shipping Act 1854; and whoever having been engaged to serve as master or mate, goes to sea as aforesaid as such master or mate without being at the time entitled to and possessed of such a certificate as hereinbefore required, and whoever employs any person as such master or mate without ascertaining that he is at the time entitled to and possessed of such certificate, shall for each such offence be liable to a penalty of five hundred Rupees

Certificates for Foreign-going ships available for Home-trade ships.

XIII. Every certificate of competency for a Foreign-going ship shall be deemed to be of a higher grade than the corresponding certificate for a Home-trade ship, and shall entitle the lawful holder thereof to go to sea in the corresponding grade in such last-mentioned ship; but no certificate for a Home-trade ship shall entitle the holder to go to sea as master or mate of a Foreign-going ship.

Records of grants, cancellations &c. of certificates.

XIV. All certificates, whether of competency or service, shall be made in duplicate; and one part shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded as the local Government shall direct. A note of all orders made for cancelling, suspending, altering, or otherwise affecting any certificate in pursuance of the powers herein contained, shall be entered in the record of certificates.

Loss of certificate

XV. Whenever any master or mate proves to the satisfaction of the local Government or such other authority as aforesaid that he has, without fault on his part, lost or been deprived of any certificate already granted to him, a copy of the certificate to which by the record so kept as aforesaid he appears to be entitled, shall be delivered to him, and shall have all the effect of the original.

Foregoing provisions not to apply to ships registered under Act X of 1841, navigated by Asiatic seamen and trading between Indian and Arabian Ports

XVI. The foregoing Sections shall not apply to ships registered under Act X of 1841, and trading between Ports in the said Territories and the Coast of Arabia when such ships are navigated and manned exclusively by Arabs, lascars, or other Asiatic masters and seamen. The local Government may frame such rules as it shall deem proper, for examining and granting certificates to the masters and officers of such vessels.

Local Government may make rules for granting certificates to the masters of such ships.

Engagement of Seamen.

Licenses to procure seamen

XVII. The local Government, or any Board or Officer duly authorized by the local Government in that behalf, may grant to such persons as may be deemed fit, licenses to engage or supply seamen for merchant ships, to continue for such periods, to be upon such terms, and to be revocable upon such conditions as the Government thinks proper.

Penalties.

XVIII. The following offences shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned, (that is to say)—

For supplying seamen without license.

(1.) If any person not licensed as aforesaid, other than the owner or master or mate of the ship, or some person who is bonâ fide the servant and in the constant employ of the owner, or a Shipping Master duly appointed as aforesaid, engages or supplies any seaman to be entered on board any ship, he shall for each seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

For employing unlicensed persons.

(2.) If any person employs any unlicensed person, other than persons so excepted as aforesaid, for the purpose of engaging or supplying any seaman to be entered on board any ship, he shall for each seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees, and if licensed, shall in addition forfeit his license.

For receiving seamen illegally supplied.

(3.) If any person knowingly receives or accepts to be entered on board any ship any seaman who has been engaged or supplied contrary to the provisions of this Act, he shall for every seaman so engaged or supplied incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for receiving remuneration from seamen for shipping them.

XIX. If any person demands or receives, either directly or indirectly, from any seaman, or from any person seeking employment as a seaman, or from any person on his behalf, any remuneration whatever, other than the fees hereby authorized, for providing him with employment, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees

Agreements with seamen.

XX. The master of every ship except ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons, employed only in the Home-trade, shall enter into an agreement with every seaman whom he carries to sea from any Port in the said Territories as one of his crew in the manner hereinafter mentioned; and every such agreement shall be in a form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, and shall be dated at the time of the first signature thereof, and shall be signed by the master before any seaman signs the same, and shall contain the following particulars as terms thereof; that is to say)—

1.—The nature, and as far as practicable, the duration of the intended voyage or engagement.

2.—The number and description of the crew, specifying how many are engaged as sailors

3.—The time at which each seaman is to be on board or to begin work.

4.—The capacity in which each seaman is to serve.

5.—The amount of wages which each seaman is to receive.

6.—A scale of the provisions which are to be furnished to each seaman.

7.—Any regulations as to conduct on board, and as to fines, short allowance of provisions, or other lawful punishments for misconduct, which have been sanctioned by the Government as regulations proper to be adopted and which the parties agree to adopt.

And every such agreement shall be so framed as to admit of stipulations, to be adopted at the will of the master and seaman in each case, (not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Act,) as to advance and allotment of wages, and may contain any other stipulations which are not contrary to law. Provided that, if the master of any ship belonging to the United Kingdom or any British possession has an agreement with his crew made in due form according to the law of the place to which such ship belongs or in which her crew were engaged, and engages single seamen in any Port within the said Territories, such seamen may sign the agreement so made, and it shall not be necessary for them to sign an agreement under this Act.

Proviso as to forms for British or Colonial ships.

Provided also that, in the case of lascars or other native seamen, when it shall be agreed that the service of any such seaman shall end at any Port not in the said Territories, the agreement shall contain stipulations for providing for such seaman fit employment on board some other vessel bound to the Port at which he was shipped, or such other Port as may be agreed on, or for providing for him a passage to some such Port as aforesaid free of charge, or on such other terms as may be agreed on; and every such stipulation shall be signed by the owner of the vessel or by the master on his behalf, and also by the consignee or agent (if any), and shall be binding upon the said owner, and upon the consignee or agent.

Proviso where lascars are shipped.

XXI. In the case of all Foreign-going ships, in whatever part of Her Majesty's Dominions the same are registered, the following rules shall be observed with respect to agreements; (that is to say—)

For Foreign-going ships such agreements, except in special cases, to be made before and attested by a Shipping Master.

1.—Every agreement made in any Port within the said Territories (except in such cases of agreements with substitutes as are hereinafter specially provided for) shall be signed by each seaman in the presence of a Shipping Master.

Agreement to be signed by seaman.

2.—Such Shipping Master shall cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, in a language understood by him, or shall otherwise ascertain that each seaman understands the same before he signs it, and shall attest each signature.

Shipping Master to cause agreement to be explained to seaman

3.—When the crew is first engaged the agreement shall be signed in duplicate, and one part shall be retained by the Shipping Master, and the other part shall contain a special place or form for the descriptions and signatures of substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship, and shall be delivered to the master.

To be in duplicate.

4.—In the case of substitutes engaged in the place of seamen who have duly signed the agreement, and whose services are lost within twenty-four hours of the ship's putting to sea by death, desertion, or other unforeseen cause, the engagement shall, when practicable, be made before some Shipping Master duly appointed in the manner hereinbefore specified; and whenever such last-mentioned engagement cannot be so made, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to the seamen; and the seamen shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest their signatures.

Provision for substitutes.

XXII. In the case of Foreign-going ships making voyages averaging less than six months in duration, running agreements with the crew may be made to extend over two or more voyages, so that no such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship at her Port of destination within the said Territories after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival; and every person entering into such agreement, whether engaged upon the first commencement thereof or otherwise, shall enter into and sign the same in the manner hereby required for other Foreign-going ships; and every person engaged thereunder, if discharged in any Port within the said Territories, shall be discharged in the manner hereby required for the discharge of seamen belonging to other Foreign-going ships.

Foreign-going ships making short voyages may have running agreements.

XXIII. The master of every Foreign-going ship for which such a running agreement as aforesaid is made shall, upon every return to any Port within the said Territories before the final termination of the agreement, discharge or engage before the Shipping Master at such Port any seaman whom he is required by law so to discharge or engage; and shall upon every such return endorse on the agreement a statement (as the case may be) either that no such discharges or engagements have been made or are intended to be made before the ship again leaves Port, or that all such discharges or engagements have been duly made as hereinbefore required; and shall deliver the agreement so endorsed to the Shipping Master: and any master who wilfully makes a false statement in such endorsement shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and the Shipping Master shall also sign an endorsement on the agreement to the effect that the provisions of this Act relating to such agreement have been complied with, and shall re-deliver the agreement so endorsed to the master.

Engagement and discharge of seamen in the meantime.

XXIV. For the purpose of determining the fees to be paid upon the engagement and discharge of seamen belonging to Foreign-going ships which have running agreements as aforesaid, the crew shall be considered to be engaged when the agreement is first signed, and to be discharged when the agreement finally terminates; and all intermediate engagements and discharges shall be considered to be engagements and discharges of single seamen.

Fees to be paid on such running agreement.

XXV. In the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, crews or single seamen may, if the master thinks fit, be engaged before a Shipping Master in the manner hereinbefore directed with respect to Foreign-going ships; and in every case in which the engagement is not so made, the master shall,

In Home-trade ships agreement to be entered into before a Shipping Master or other witness.

before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and if not, as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, and the seaman shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest his signature.

Special agreements for Home trade ships belonging to same owner

XXVI In cases where several Home-trade ships belong to the same owner, the agreement with the seamen may, notwithstanding anything herein contained, be made by the owner instead of by the master, and the seamen may be engaged to serve in any two or more of such ships, provided that the names of the ships and the nature of the service are specified in the agreement; but with the foregoing exception, all provisions herein contained which relate to ordinary agreements for Home-trade ships shall be applicable to agreements made in pursuance of this Section.

Penalty for shipping seamen without agreement duly executed

XXVII. If in any case a master carries any seaman to sea without entering into an agreement with him in the form and manner and at the place and time hereby in such case required, the master shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees

Changes in crew to be reported

XXVIII. The master of every Foreign-going ship, of which the crew has been engaged before a Shipping Master, shall before finally leaving the said Territories, sign and send to the nearest Shipping Master a full and accurate statement, in a form sanctioned by the Governor General of India in Council, of every change which takes place in his crew before finally leaving the said Territories; and, in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees; and such statement shall be admissible in evidence subject to all just exceptions

Foregoing provisions applicable to Foreign ships shipping British seamen or lascars.

XXIX. The foregoing provisions relative to the engagement of and agreements with seamen shall be applicable also in respect of all ships belonging to the subjects of any Foreign State upon which any British seamen, or any seamen natives of the said Territories, may be shipped at any Port within the said Territories.

To prevent infraction of Act, Shipping Master may board vessels and muster seamen

XXX. For the purpose of preventing any seamen from being shipped at any Port in the said Territories contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Shipping Master by himself or his Deputy may enter at any time on board any ship upon which he shall have reason to believe that seamen have been shipped, and may muster and examine the several seamen employed therein; and any person who shall obstruct the said Shipping Master or Deputy in such duty shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees

Production of agreements and certificates.

XXXI The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for Foreign-going ships; (that is to say)—

1. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, on signing the agreement with his crew, produce to the Shipping Master before whom the same is signed the certificates of competency or service which the said master and his mate are hereby required to possess; and upon such production being duly made, and the agreement being duly executed as hereby required, the Shipping Master shall sign and give to the master a certificate to that effect.

2. In the case of running agreements for Foreign-going ships, the Shipping Master shall, before the second and every subsequent voyage made after the first commencement of the agreement, sign and give to the master, on his complying with the provisions herein contained with respect to such agreements, and producing to the Shipping Master the certificate of competency or service of any mate then first engaged by him, a certificate to that effect.

3. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, before proceeding to sea, produce the certificate so to be given to him by the Shipping Master as aforesaid to the Collector of Customs, and no Officer of Customs shall clear any such ship outwards without such production, and if any such ship attempts to go to sea without a clearance, any such Officer may detain her until such certificate as aforesaid is produced.

4. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final Port of destination within the said Territories, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver such agreement to a Shipping Master at the place; and such Shipping Master shall thereupon give to the master a certificate of such delivery, and no Officer of Customs shall clear any Foreign-going ship inwards without the production of such certificate.

And if the master of any Foreign-going ship fails to deliver the agreement to a Shipping Master at the time and in the manner hereby directed, he shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Rules as to production of agreements and certificates for Home-trade ships.

XXXII. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the production of agreements and certificates of competency or service for Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, (that is to say)—

1. No such agreement shall extend beyond the next following thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, or the first arrival of the ship at her final Port of destination in the said Territories after such date, or the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival

2 The master or owner of every such ship shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Shipping Master in the said Territories every agreement made within the six calendar months next preceding such days respectively, and shall also produce to the Shipping Master the certificates of competency or service which the said master and his mate are hereby required to possess

3. The Shipping Master shall thereupon give to the master or owner a certificate of such delivery and production; and no Officer of Customs shall grant a clearance for any such ship without the production of such certificate; and if any such ship attempts to go to sea without such clearance, any such Officer may detain her until the said certificate is produced.

And if the agreement for any Home trade ship is not delivered or transmitted by the master or owner to a Shipping Master at the time and in the manner hereby directed, such master or owner shall for every default incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Alterations to be void unless attested to have been made with the consent of all parties.

XXXIII. Every erasure, interlineation, or alteration in any such agreement with seamen as is required by this Act (except additions so made as hereinbefore directed for shipping substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship) shall be wholly inoperative, unless proved to have been made with the consent of all the persons interested in such erasure, interlineation, or alteration by the written attestation (if made in Her Majesty's dominions) of some Shipping Master, Justice, Officer of Customs, or other public functionary, or (if made out of Her Majesty's Dominions) of a British Consular Officer, or where there is no such Officer, of two respectable British Merchants.

Copy of agreement to be made accessible to crew.

XXXIV. The master shall, at the commencement of every voyage or engagement, cause a legible copy of the agreement, and if necessary a translation thereof in a language understood by the majority of the crew (omitting the signatures), to be placed or posted up in such part of the ship as to be accessible to the crew, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Seamen discharged before voyage to have compensation.

XXXV. Any seaman who has signed an agreement, and is afterwards discharged before the commencement of the voyage or before one month's wages are earned, without fault on his part justifying such discharge and without his consent, shall be entitled to receive from the master or owner, in addition to any wages he may have earned, due compensation for the damage thereby caused to him, not exceeding one month's wages, and may, on adducing such evidence as the Court hearing the case deems satisfactory, of his having been so improperly discharged as aforesaid, recover such compensation as if it were wages duly earned.

Regulation of Advances.

Regulation of advances and advance-notes.

XXXVI. No advance of wages shall be made or advance-note given to any person but the seaman himself; and no advance of wages shall be made or advance-note given for any greater sum than the amount of one month's wages, nor unless the agreement contains a stipulation for the same and an accurate statement of the amount thereof; and no advance-note shall be given to any seaman who signs the agreement before a Shipping Master, unless in the presence of such Shipping Master.

Advances irregularly or improperly made not to be a discharge of wages

XXXVII. If any advance of wages is made or any advance-note given to any seaman in any such manner as to constitute a breach of any of the above provisions, the wages of such seaman shall be recoverable by him as if no such advance had been made or advance-note given, and in the case of any advance-note so given, no person shall be sued thereon under the provisions hereinafter contained unless he was in person or by his agent a party to the irregular or improper manner of giving the same.

Allotment of Wages.

Regulations as to allotment-notes.

XXXVIII. All stipulations for the allotment of any part of the wages of a seaman during his absence which are made at the commencement of the voyage shall be inserted in the agreement, and shall state the amounts and times of the payments to be made. All allotment-notes shall be in forms sanctioned by the local Government, and shall be made payable only to a relative of the seaman or to some member of his family.

Allotment-notes may be sued on summarily by certain persons and under certain conditions.

XXXIX. The person in whose favor an allotment note of part of the wages of such seaman is made may, unless the seaman is shown in manner hereinafter mentioned to have forfeited or ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid, sue for and recover the sums allotted by the note when and as the same are made payable, with costs, from the owner or any agent who has authorized the drawing of the note; and in any such proceeding it shall be sufficient for the claimant to prove that he is the person mentioned in the note and that the note was given by the owner or by the master or some other authorized agent; and the seaman shall be presumed to be duly earning his wages, unless the contrary is shown to the satisfaction of the Court either by the official statement of the change in the crew caused by his absence made and signed by the master, as by this Act is required, or by a duly certified copy of some entry in the official log-book to the effect that he has left the ship, or by a credible letter from the master of the ship to the same effect, or by such other evidence, of whatever description, as the Court in its absolute discretion considers sufficient to show satisfactorily that the seaman has ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid.

Discharge and payment of Wages.

Discharge from Foreign-going ships to be made before Shipping Master

XL. All seamen discharged from any Foreign-going ship at any Port within the said Territories, in whatever part of Her Majesty's Dominions the ship is registered, shall be discharged and receive their wages in the presence of a Shipping Master duly appointed under this Act, except in cases where some competent Court otherwise directs; and any master or owner of any such ship who discharges any seaman belonging thereto, or except as aforesaid pays his wages in any other manner, shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and in the case of Home-trade ships of a burden exceeding three hundred tons, seamen may, if the owner or master so desires, be discharged and receive their wages in like manner

Master to deliver account of wages.

XLI. Every master shall, not less than twenty-four hours before paying off or discharging any seaman, deliver to him, or, if he is to be discharged before a Shipping Master, to such Shipping Master, a full and true account, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, of his wages and of all deductions to be made therefrom on any account whatever, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees; and no deduction from the wages of any seaman (except in respect of any matter happening after such delivery) shall be allowed unless it is included in the account so delivered; and the master shall during the voyage enter the various matters in respect of which such deductions are made, with the amounts of the respective deductions as they occur, in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall, if required, produce such book at the time of the payment of wages and also upon the hearing before any competent authority of any complaint or question relating to such payments.

On discharge, masters to give seamen certificates of discharge, and return certificates of competency or service to mates.

XLII. Upon the discharge of any seaman or upon payment of his wages, the master shall sign and give him a certificate of his discharge, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, specifying the period of his service and the time and place of his discharge; and if any master fails to sign and give to any such seamen such certificate of discharge, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and the master shall also, upon the discharge of every certificated mate whose certificate of competency or service has been delivered to and retained by him, return such certificate, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Shipping Master may decide questions which parties refer to him.

XLIII. Every Shipping Master shall hear and decide any question whatever between a master or owner and any of his crew which both parties agree in writing to submit to him; and every award so made by him shall be binding on both parties, and shall in any legal proceeding which may be taken in the matter before any Court of Justice be deemed to be conclusive as to the rights of the parties; and any document purporting to be such submission or award shall be primâ facie evidence thereof.

Master and others to produce ship's papers to Shipping Masters, and give evidence

XLIV. In any proceeding relating to the wages, claims, or discharge of any seaman carried on before any Shipping Master under the provisions of this Act, such Shipping Master may call upon the owner or his agent, or upon the master or any mate or other member of the crew, to produce any log-books, papers, or other documents in their respective possession or power relating to any matter in question in such proceeding, and may call before him and examine any of such persons being then at or near the place on any such matter; and every owner, agent, master, mate, or other member of the crew who, when called upon by the Shipping Master, does not produce any such paper or document as aforesaid if in his possession or power, or does not appear, and give evidence, shall, unless he shows some reasonable excuse for such default, for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Settlement of wages.

XLV. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the settlement of wages (that is to say) —

Release to be signed before and attested by the Shipping Master

1.—Upon the completion before a Shipping Master of any discharge and settlement, the master or owner and each seaman shall respectively, in the presence of the Shipping Master, sign, in a form sanctioned by the local Government, a mutual release of all claims in respect of the past voyage or engagement, and the Shipping Master shall also sign and attest the release and shall retain the same.

To be a discharge.

2.—Such release so signed and attested shall operate as a mutual discharge and settlement of all demands between the parties thereto in respect of the past voyage or engagement.

And to be evidence.

3.—A copy of such release, certified under the hand of such Shipping Master to be a true copy, shall be given by him to any party thereto requiring the same, and such copy shall be receivable in evidence upon any future question touching such claims as aforesaid, and shall have all the effect of the original of which it purports to be a copy.

No other receipt to be a discharge.

4.—In cases in which discharge and settlement before a Shipping Master are hereby required, no payment, receipt, settlement, or discharge otherwise made shall operate or be admitted as evidence of the release or satisfaction of any claim.

Voucher to be given to master and to be evidence.

5.—Upon any payment being made by a master before a Shipping Master, the Shipping Master shall, if required, sign and give to such master a statement of the whole amount so paid, and such statement shall, as between the master and his employer, be received as evidence that he has made the payments therein mentioned.

Legal rights to wages.

Right to wages and provisions when to begin.

XLVI. A seaman's right to wages and provisions shall be taken to commence either at the time at which he commences work or at the time specified in the agreement for his commencement of work or presence on board, whichever first happens.

Seaman not to give up certain rights.

XLVII. No seamen shall by any agreement forfeit his lien upon the ship or be deprived of any remedy for the recovery of his wages to which he would otherwise have been entitled; and every stipulation in any agreement inconsistent with any provision of this Act, and every stipulation by which any seaman consents to abandon his right to wages in the case of the loss of the ship or to abandon any right which he may have or obtain in the nature of salvage, shall be wholly inoperative.

Wages not to be dependent on the earning of freight.

XLVIII. No right to wages shall be dependent on the earning of freight; and every seaman and apprentice who would be entitled to demand and recover any wages if the ship in which he has served had earned freight, shall, subject to all other rules of law and conditions applicable to the case, be entitled to claim and recover the same notwithstanding that freight has not been earned; but in all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, proof that he has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo, and stores, shall bar his claim.

In case of death, such wages to be paid as after mentioned.

XLIX. If any seaman or apprentice to whom wages are due under the last preceding enactment dies before the same are paid, they shall be paid and applied in the manner hereinafter specified with regard to the wages of seamen who die during a voyage.

Rights to wages in case of termination of service by wreck or illness.

L. In cases where the service of any seaman terminates before the period contemplated in the agreement by reason of the wreck or loss of the ship, and also in cases where such service terminates before such period as aforesaid by reason of his being left on shore at any place abroad under a certificate of his unfitness or inability to proceed on the voyage, granted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854, such seaman shall be entitled to wages for the time of service prior to such termination as aforesaid but not for any further period.

Wages not to accrue during refusal to work or imprisonment.

LI. No seaman or apprentice shall be entitled to wages for any period during which he unlawfully refuses or neglects to work when required, whether before or after the time fixed by the agreement for his beginning work; nor, unless the Court hearing the case otherwise directs, for any period during which he is lawfully imprisoned for any offence committed by him.

Period within which wages are to be paid.

LII. The master or owner of every ship shall pay to every seaman his wages within three days after the cargo has been delivered or within five days after the seaman's discharge, whichever first happens; and the seaman shall at the time of his discharge be entitled to be paid on account a sum equal to one-fourth part of the balance due to him; and every master or owner who neglects or refuses to make payment in manner aforesaid without sufficient cause, shall pay to the seaman a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay for each of the days, not exceeding ten days, during which payment is delayed beyond the respective periods aforesaid; and such sum shall be recoverable as wages.

Mode of recovering Wages.

Seaman may sue for wages in a summary manner.

LIII. Any seaman or apprentice, or any person duly authorized on his behalf, may sue in the Court of Small Causes established for the place at which the service has terminated, or at which the seaman has been discharged, or at which any person upon whom the claim is made is or resides, or if there be no such Court, before the Magistrate, for any amount of wages due to such seaman or apprentice not exceeding five hundred Rupees; and every order made by such Court or Magistrate in the matter shall be final Master to have same remedies for wages as seaman.

LIV. Every master of a ship shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens, and remedies for the recovery of his wages which by this Act or by any law or custom any seaman, not being a master has for the recovery of his wages; and if, in any proceeding in any Court of Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty touching the claim of a master to wages, any right of set-off or counter-claim is set up it shall be lawful for such Court to enter into and adjudicate upon all questions, and to settle all accounts then arising or outstanding and unsettled between the parties to the proceeding, and to direct payment of any balance which is found to be due.

Wages and effects of deceased Seamen.

Master to take charge of effects of deceased seamen.

LV. Whenever a seaman or apprentice, on a voyage which is to terminate at any Port within the said Territories, dies during such voyage, the master shall take charge of all money, clothes, and effects which he leaves on board, and shall enter in the official log-book a statement of the amount of money and a description of the effects left by the deceased, and in case of a sale of such effects, the sum received for each article sold.

Effects and wages to be paid to Shipping Master with full accounts.

LVI. The master shall, within forty-eight hours after his arrival at his Port of destination in the said Territories, deliver any such effects as aforesaid, and pay any money which he has taken charge of or received, and also the wages due to deceased, to the Shipping Master at such Port, and shall give to such Shipping Master an account of the effects, money, and wages so to be delivered and paid; and no deductions claimed in such account shall be allowed unless verified, if there is an official log-book, by the entry therein hereinbefore required, and also by such other vouchers (if any) as may be reasonably required by the Shipping Master to whom the account is rendered.

Penalties for not taking charge of or accounting for such monies and effects.

LVII. If the master fails to take such charge of the money or other effects of a seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage, or to make such entries in respect thereof, or to make such payment or delivery, or to give such account as hereinbefore respectively directed, he shall be accountable for the money, wages, and effects of the seaman or apprentice to the Shipping Master as aforesaid, and shall pay and deliver the same accordingly: and such master shall in addition incur a penalty not exceeding treble the value of the money or effects, or if such value is not ascertained, not exceeding five hundred Rupees. All money, wages, and effects of any seaman or apprentice dying during a voyage shall be recoverable in the same Courts and by the same modes of proceeding by which seamen are hereby enabled to recover wages due to them.

Wages and property of deceased seamen may be paid without probate.

LVIII. When money or effects left by, or due to any deceased seaman or apprentice, are paid or delivered to a Shipping Master, then, subject to such deductions for expenses incurred in respect of the seaman or apprentice or of his said money and effects as the Shipping Master thinks proper to allow, the Shipping Master may pay and deliver the said money and effects to any claimants who can prove themselves to the satisfaction of the said Shipping Master to be entitled thereto, and the said Shipping Master shall be thereby discharged from all further liability in respect of the money and effects so paid and delivered; or if he think fit so to do, the Shipping Master may require probate or letters of administration or a certificate under Act XX of 1841 to be taken out, and thereupon pay and deliver the said money and effects to the legal representative of the deceased.

Unclaimed wages.

LIX. In cases of wages or effects of deceased seamen or apprentices received by any Shipping Master as aforesaid, to which no claim is substantiated within one year from the receipt thereof by such Shipping Master, it shall be in the discretion of the Shipping Master, subject to the orders of the local Government, if any subsequent claim is made, either to allow or refuse the same. And every Shipping Master shall pay into the Treasury of the East India Company all monies arising from the unclaimed wages and effects of deceased seamen to which no claim has been preferred within the period aforesaid after having given notice of such unclaimed monies being in his possession by advertizement in some public paper at least twice during such period.

Provisions, Health, and Accommodation.

Survey of provisions and water on complaint made.

LX. Any three or more of the crew of any British Ship registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place within the said Territories, may complain to any Shipping Master or other Officer duly appointed in this behalf by the local Government that the provisions or water for the use of the crew are at any time of bad quality, unfit for use, or deficient in quantity; and such Officer may thereupon examine the said provisions or water or cause them to be examined; and if, on examination, such provisions or water are found to be of bad quality, and unfit for use, or to be deficient in quantity, the person making such examination shall signify the same in writing to the master of the ship; and if such master does not thereupon provide other proper provisions or water in lieu of any so signified to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, or does not procure the requisite quantity of any so signified to be insufficient in quantity, or uses any provisions or water which have been so signified as aforesaid to be of a bad quality and unfit for use, he shall in every such case incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and upon every such examination as aforesaid, the Officers making or directing the same shall enter a statement of the result of the examination in the official log, and shall send a report thereof to the Shipping Master, and such report, if produced out of the custody of such Shipping Master, shall be received in evidence in any legal proceeding.

Forfeiture for frivolous complaint

LXI. If the Officer to whom any such complaint as last aforesaid is made certifies in such statement as aforesaid that there was no reasonable ground for such complaint, each of the parties so complaining shall be liable to forfeit to the owner out of his wages a sum not exceeding one week's wages.

Allowance for short or bad provisions.

LXII. In the following cases, (that is to say)—

1. If during a voyage the allowance of any of the provisions which any seaman has by his agreement stipulated for is reduced (except in accordance with any regulations for reduction by way of punishment contained in the agreement, and also except for any time during which such seaman wilfully and without sufficient cause refuses or neglects to perform his duty or is lawfully under confinement for misconduct, either on board or on shore);

2. If it is shown that any of such provisions are or have during the voyage been bad in quality and unfit for use;

The seaman shall receive by way of compensation for such reduction or bad quality, according to the time of its continuance, the following sums, to be paid to him in addition to and to be recoverable as wages, (that is to say)—

1. If his allowance is reduced by any quantity not exceeding one-third of the quantity specified in the agreement, a sum not exceeding three annas in the case of a European seaman, or one anna in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

2. If his allowance is reduced by more than one-third of such quantity, six annas in the case of a European seaman, or two annas in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

3. In respect of such bad quality as aforesaid, a sum not exceeding eight annas in the case of a European seaman, or three annas in the case of a lascar or native seaman.

But if it is shown, to the satisfaction of the Court before which the case is tried, that any provisions, the allowance of which has been reduced, could not be procured or supplied in proper quantities, and that proper and equivalent substitutes were supplied in lieu thereof, the Court shall take such circumstances into consideration and shall modify or refuse compensation as the justice of the case may require.

Medicines, &c., to be provided and kept on board certain ships.

LXIII. All British ships, except ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons and employed only on Coasting voyages or between any Port on the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon, shall have always on board a sufficient supply of medicines and appliances, suitable for diseases and accidents likely to happen on sea voyages, according to such scale as shall be from time to time issued by the Commander-in-Chief of the Indian Navy, with the approval of the Governor General of India in Council, and published in the Government Gazettes at Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay; and in default thereof, the owner or master of every such ship shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees. Provided, however, that this Section shall not apply to ships navigating from the United Kingdom and coming within the provisions of Section CCXXIV of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854.

Masters to keep weights and measures on board.

LXIV. Every master shall keep on board proper weights and measures for the purpose of determining the quantities of the several provisions and articles served out, and shall allow the same to be used at the time of serving out such provisions and articles in the presence of a witness whenever any dispute arises about such quantities, and in default shall for every offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Expense of medical attendance and subsistence in case of illness how to be defrayed.

LXV. Whenever the master or any seaman of any ship registered at any place within the said Territories shall receive any hurt or injury in the service of the vessel, the expense of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance with medicines, and of his subsistence, until he shall be cured or shall be brought back to the Port from which he was shipped or other Port agreed upon, shall be defrayed, with the cost of his conveyance to such Port, by the owner of the vessel without any deduction on that account from the wages of such master, officer, or seaman; and if paid by himself, may be recovered as part of his wages; and if paid or allowed out of any monies belonging to the East India Company, may be recovered with full costs of suit as a debt due to the East India Company.

Place appropriated to seamen to have a certain space for each man and to be properly constructed and kept clear.

LXVI. A place of shelter shall be provided below a well-caulked and substantial deck for the men engaged under this Act large enough to allow nine superficial feet for every man, if the place be not less than six feet in height from deck to deck, or fifty-four cubic feet for every man. Every such place shall be kept free from stores or goods of any kind, not being the personal property of the crew in use during the voyage, and if any such place in any ship is not in the whole sufficiently large to give such space for each seaman and apprentice as hereinbefore required, or is not properly caulked and in all other respects securely and properly constructed and well ventilated, the owner shall for every such failure to comply with the provisions of this Section incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and if any such space as aforesaid is not kept free from goods and stores as aforesaid, the master shall for every such failure to comply with the provisions of this Section incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Shipping Master, &c., may enter on board any ship and inspect provisions, &c.

LXVII. The Shipping Master at any Port in the said Territories, by himself or his Deputy, may enter at any time on board of any ship upon which seamen have been shipped at such Port, and inspect the provisions and water provided for the use of the crew, and the medicines and appliances and the accommodation for seamen prescribed by this Act or by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854. If on inspection the provisions or water are found to be of bad quality and unfit for use or to be deficient in quantity, the Shipping Master shall proceed as provided in Section LX of this Act, and the penalty prescribed in the said Section shall be incurred by any default of the master of the ship in respect of such provisions or water.

Procedure if provisions &c. are found to be of a bad quality.

Power of making Complaints.

Seamen to be allowed to go ashore to make complaint to a Justice.

LXVIII. If any seaman or apprentice whilst on board any ship states to the master that he desires to make complaint to a Magistrate against the master or any of the crew, the said master shall, if the ship is then at a place where there is a Magistrate, so soon as the service of the ship will permit, and if the ship is not then at such a place, so soon after her first arrival at such a place as the service of the ship will permit, allow such seaman to go ashore, or send him ashore in proper custody, so that he may be enabled to make such complaint, and shall, in default, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Protection of Seamen from imposition.

Sale of and charge upon wages to be invalid.

LXIX. No wages due or accruing to any seaman or apprentice shall be subject to attachment from any Court; and every payment of wages to a seaman shall be valid in law, notwithstanding any previous sale or assignment of such wages or of any incumbrance thereon; and no assignment or sale of such wages, or of salvage made prior to the accruing thereof, shall bind the party making the same; and no power of attorney or authority for the receipt of any such wages or salvage shall be irrevocable.

No debt exceeding three Rupees recoverable till end of voyage.

LXX. No debt exceeding in amount three Rupees incurred by any seaman after he has engaged to serve, shall be recoverable until the service agreed for is concluded.

Penalty for overcharges by lodging-house-keepers.

LXXI. If any person demands or receives from any seaman or apprentice payment in respect of his board or lodging in the house of such person for a longer period than such seaman or apprentice has actually resided or boarded therein, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for detaining seamen's effects.

LXXII. If any person receives or takes into his possession or under his control any monies, documents, or effects of any seaman or apprentice and does not return the same or pay the value thereof when required by such seaman or apprentice, subject to such deduction as may be justly due to him from such seaman or apprentice in respect of board or lodging or otherwise, or absconds therewith, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and any Magistrate may, besides inflicting such penalty by summary order, direct the amount or value of such monies, documents, or effects, subject to such deduction as aforesaid, to be forthwith paid to such seaman or apprentice.

Persons not to go on board before the final arrival of ship without permission.

LXXIII. Every person who, not being in the service of her Majesty or the East India Company and not being duly authorized by law for the purpose, goes on board any ship about to arrive at the place of her destination, before her actual arrival at the place of her discharge, without the permission of the master, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; and the master or person in charge of such ship may take any such person so going on board as aforesaid into custody, and deliver him up forthwith to any Police Officer, to be by him taken before a Magistrate to be dealt with according to the provisions of this Act.

Penalties for solicitations by lodging-house-keepers.

LXXIV. If within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any ship at any Port in the said Territories, any person then being on board such ship solicits any seaman to become a lodger at the house of any person letting lodgings for hire, or takes out of such ship any effects of any seaman, except under his personal direction and with the permission of the master, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

Discipline.

Penalty for misconduct endangering ship or life or limb.

LXXV. Any master of, or any seaman or apprentice belonging to, any British ship registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place within the said Territories, who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness, does any act tending to the immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage of such ship, or tending immediately to endanger the life or limb of any person belonging to or on board of such ship, or who by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness refuses or omits to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving such ship from immediate loss, destruction, or serious damage, or for preserving any person belonging to or on board of such ship from immediate danger to life or limb, shall for every such offence be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding two years.

Power to investigate cases of alleged incompetency and misconduct.

LXXVI. If the local Government, on the information of any Shipping Master or on any other ground, has reason to believe that any master or mate who has obtained a certificate of competency or service from such Government is from incompetency or misconduct unfit to discharge his duties, it may direct any Board or Officer at or near to the place to which it may be convenient for the parties and witnesses to attend, to institute an investigation; and thereupon such Board or Officer shall conduct the investigation; and may summon the master or mate to appear, and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence either in person or otherwise, and shall, for the purpose of such investigation, have all the powers vested in Magistrates of summoning and examining witnesses, and may make such order with respect to the costs of such investigation as they may deem just, and shall on the conclusion of the investigation make a report upon the case to the local Government.

Local Government may cancel or suspend certificates in certain cases.

LXXVII. The local Government may suspend or cancel the certificate (whether of competency or service) granted under this Act to any master or mate in the following cases; (that is to say)—

1. If upon any investigation made in pursuance of the last preceding Section, he is reported to be incompetent, or to have been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny.

2. If upon any investigation conducted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act 1854, or otherwise, it appears to the local Government that the loss or abandonment of, or serious damage to any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default; or that he has been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny.

3. If he is superseded by the order of any Admiralty Court or of any Naval Court constituted as is provided by the said Act or any other law for the time being in force.

4. If he is shown to have been convicted of any offence.

And every master or mate whose certificate is cancelled or suspended shall deliver it to the Shipping Master or to such other person as the local Government shall direct, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding five hundred Rupees; and the local Government may at any subsequent time grant to any person whose certificate has been cancelled, a new certificate of the same or of any lower grade.

Offences of seamen and apprentices and their punishments.

LXXVIII. Whenever any seaman who has been lawfully engaged, or any apprentice to the sea-service, commits any of the following offences, he shall be liable to be punished summarily as follows; (that is to say)—

Desertion.

1. For desertion he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and also to forfeit all or any part of the clothes and effects he leaves on board, and all or any part of the wages or emoluments which he has then earned, and also, if such desertion takes place at any Port or place not within the said Territories, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit all or any part of the wages or emoluments he may earn in any other ship in which he may be employed until his next return to any Port or place within the said Territories, and to satisfy any excess of wages paid by the master or owner of the ship from which he deserts to any substitute engaged in his place at a higher rate of wages than the rate stipulated to be paid to him.

Neglecting or refusing to join, or to proceed to sea, absence within twenty-four hours before sailing, and absence without leave.

2. For neglecting or refusing, without reasonable cause, to join his ship, or to proceed to sea in his ship, or for absence without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the ship's sailing from any Port either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, or for absence at any time without leave and without sufficient reason from his ship or from his duty not amounting to desertion or not treated as such by the master, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding ten weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay, and in addition for every twenty-four hours of absence either a sum not exceeding six days' pay, or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute.

Quitting without leave before ship is secured.

3. For quitting the ship without leave after her arrival at her Port of delivery and before she is placed in security, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding one month's pay.

Act of disobedience.

4. For wilful disobedience to any lawful command he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding four weeks, with or without hard labor, and also at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding two days' pay.

Continued disobedience.

5. For continued wilful disobedience to lawful commands, or continued wilful neglect of duty, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit for every twenty-four hours' continuance of such disobedience or neglect, either a sum not exceeding six days' pay, or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute.

Assault on officers

6 For assaulting any master or mate he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor.

Combining to disobey.

7 For combining with any other or others of the crew to disobey lawful commands, or to neglect duty, or to impede the navigation of the ship or the progress of the voyage, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor

Wilful damage and embezzlement.

8. For wilfully damaging the ship, or embezzling or wilfully damaging any of her stores or cargo, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum equal in amount to the loss thereby sustained, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labor.

Act of smuggling, causing loss to owner.

9. For any act of smuggling of which he is convicted, and whereby loss or damage is occasioned to the master or owner, he shall be liable to pay to such master or owner such a sum as is sufficient to reimburse the master or owner for such loss or damage; and the whole or a proportionate part of his wages may be retained in satisfaction or on account of such liability, without prejudice to any further remedy.

Entry of offences to be made in official log, and to be read over or a copy given to the offender, and his reply, if any, to be also entered.

LXXIX. Upon the commission of any of the offences enumerated in the last preceding Section, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and shall be signed by the master and also by the mate or one of the crew; and the offender, if still in the ship, shall, before the next subsequent arrival of the ship at any Port, or if she is at the time in Port before her departure therefrom, either be furnished with a copy of such entry or have the same read over distinctly and audibly to him, and may thereupon make such reply thereto as he thinks fit; and a statement that a copy of the said entry has been so furnished, or that the same has been so read over as aforesaid, and the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall likewise be entered and signed in manner aforesaid; and in any subsequent legal proceeding, the entries hereinbefore required shall, if practicable, be produced or proved, and in default of such production or proof the Court hearing the case may, at its discretion, refuse to receive evidence of the offence.

Seamen whom masters of ships are compelled to convey, and persons going in ships without leave, to be subject to penalties for breach of discipline.

LXXX. Every seafaring person whom the master of any ship is, under the authority of this Act or any law, compelled to take on board and convey, and every person who goes to sea in any ship without the consent of the master or owner or other person entitled to give such consent, shall, so long as he remains in such ship, be subject to the same laws and regulations for preserving discipline, and to the same penalties and punishments for offences constituting or tending to a breach of discipline, to which he would be subject if he were a member of the crew and had signed the agreement.

Master or owner may apprehend deserters without warrant.

LXXXI. Whenever, either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, any seaman or apprentice neglects or refuses to join, or deserts from, or refuses to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is duly engaged to serve, or is found otherwise absenting himself therefrom without leave, the master or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband, or consignee, may, with or without the assistance of Police Officers, who are hereby directed to give the same if required, apprehend him without first procuring a warrant; and may thereupon in any case, and shall, in case he so requires and it is practicable, convey him before some Court capable of taking cognizance of the matter, to be dealt with according to law; and may for the purpose of conveying him before such Court, detain him in custody for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours or such shorter time as may be necessary, or may, if he does not so require, or if there is no such Court at or near the place, at once convey him on board; and if any such apprehension appears to the Court before which the case is brought, to have been made on improper or on insufficient grounds, the master, mate, owner, ship's husband, or consignee who makes the same or causes the same to be made, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; but such penalty, if inflicted, shall be a bar to any action for false imprisonment in respect of such apprehension.

Deserters may be sent on board in lieu of being imprisoned.

LXXXII. Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, such Court may, if the master or the owner or his agent so requires, instead of committing the offender to prison, cause him to be conveyed on board for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, and may in such case order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner by reason of the offence, to be paid by the offender, and if necessary to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which by virtue of his then existing engagement he may afterwards earn.

Seaman imprisoned for desertion or breach of discipline may be sent on board before termination of sentence.

LXXXIII. If any seaman or apprentice is imprisoned on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, or of his having committed any other breach of discipline, and if during such imprisonment and before his engagement is at an end his services are required on board his ship, any Magistrate may, at the request of the master or of the owner or his agent, cause such seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board his said ship for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage or to be delivered to the master or any mate of the ship or to the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, notwithstanding that the termination of the period for which he was sentenced to imprisonment has not arrived.

Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent home, and admitted in evidence.

LXXXIV. In all cases of desertion from any ship registered at a Port or place within the said Territories while such ship is at any place out of the said Territories, the master shall produce the entry of such desertion in the official log-book to the person or persons required by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854 to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion; and such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and also a copy of the said certificate of desertion; the master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the Shipping Master at the Port where such seaman was engaged, who shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding; and such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be received as evidence of the entries therein appearing.

Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages

LXXXV. Whenever a question arises whether the wages of any seaman or apprentice are forfeited for desertion, it shall be sufficient for the party insisting on the forfeiture to show that such seaman or apprentice was duly engaged in or that he belonged to the ship from which he is alleged to have deserted, and that he quitted such ship before the completion of the voyage or engagement, or if such voyage was to terminate at any Port or place within the said Territories, and the ship has not returned, that he is absent from her, and that an entry of the desertion has been duly made in the official log-book; and thereupon the desertion shall, so far as relates to any forfeiture of wages or emoluments under the provisions hereinbefore contained, be deemed to be proved, unless the seaman or apprentice can produce a proper certificate of discharge or can otherwise show to the satisfaction of the Court that he had sufficient reasons for leaving his ship.

Costs of procuring imprisonment may, to the extent of thirty Rupees, be deducted from wages.

LXXXVI. Whenever in any proceeding relating to seamen's wages it is shown that any seaman or apprentice has in the course of the voyage been convicted of any offence by any competent tribunal and rightfully punished therefor by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct a part of the wages due to such seaman, not exceeding thirty Rupees, to be applied in reimbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring such conviction and punishment.

Amount of forfeiture how to be ascertained when seamen contract for the voyage

LXXXVII. Whenever any seaman contracts for wages by the voyage or by the run or by the share, and not by the month or other stated period of time, the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage; and if the whole time spent in the voyage does not exceed the period for which the pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Application of forfeitures.

LXXXVIII. All clothes, effects, wages, and emoluments which under the provisions hereinbefore contained are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the reimbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master or by the owner or his agent in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages, the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and, subject to such reimbursement, the same shall be paid into the Treasury of the East India Company and carried to the account of Government; and in all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

Questions of forfeitures may be decided in suits for wages.

LXXXIX. Any question concerning the forfeiture of, or deductions from the wages of any seaman or apprentice, may be determined in any proceeding lawfully instituted with respect to such wages, notwithstanding that the offence in respect of which such question arises, though hereby made punishable by imprisonment as well as forfeiture, has not been made the subject of any criminal proceeding.

Penalty for false statement as to last ship or name.

XC. If any seaman, on or before being engaged, wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of the name of his last ship or last alleged ship, or wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of his own name, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees, and such penalty may be deducted from any wages he may earn by virtue of such engagement as aforesaid, and shall, subject to reimbursement of the loss and expenses (if any) occasioned by any previous desertion, be paid and applied in the same manner as other penalties payable under this Act.

Fines to be deducted from wages, and paid to Shipping Master.

XCI. Whenever any seaman commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine and which it is intended to punish by enforcing such fine, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and a copy of such entry shall be furnished or the same shall be read over to the offender, and an entry of such reading over, and of the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall be made, in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore specified with respect to the offences against discipline specified in and punishable under this Act; and such fine shall be deducted and paid over as follows (that is to say); if the offender is discharged at any Port or place within the said Territories, and the offence, and such entries in respect thereof as aforesaid, are proved, in the case of a Foreign-going ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master before whom the offender is discharged, and in the case of a Home-trade ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged, the master or owner shall deduct such fine from the wages of the offender and pay the same over to such Shipping Master; and if before the final discharge of the crew within the said Territories, any such offender as aforesaid enters into any of Her Majesty's ships or is discharged at any place not in the said Territories, and the offence and such entries as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the Officer in command of the ship into which he so enters or of the Consular Officer, Officer of Customs, or other person by whose sanction he is so discharged, the fine shall thereupon be deducted as aforesaid, and an entry of such deduction shall then be made in the official log-book (if any) and signed by such officer or other person; and on the return of the ship within the said Territories, the master or owner shall pay over such fine, in the case of Foreign-going ships to the Shipping

Master before whom the crew is discharged, and in the case of Home-trade ships to the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged; and if any master or owner neglects or refuses to pay over any such fine in manner aforesaid, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding six times the amount of the fine retained by him: provided that no act of misconduct for which any such fine as aforesaid has been inflicted and paid shall be otherwise punished under the provisions of this Act.

Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.

XCII. Every person who by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade any seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or to proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship; or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, shall for each such offence in respect of each such seaman or apprentice incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship or who has wilfully neglected or refused to join or has deserted from his ship, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to have so done, shall for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for obtaining passage surreptitiously.

XCIII. Any person who secretes himself and goes to sea in any ship without the consent of either the owner, consignee, or master, or of a mate, or of any person in charge of such ship, or of any other person entitled to give such consent, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding four weeks.

On change of masters, documents hereby required to be handed over to successor.

XCIV. If during the progress of a voyage the master of any ship registered at any Port or place within the said Territories is superseded or for any other reason quits the ship and is succeeded in the command by some other person, he shall deliver to his successor the various documents relating to the navigation of the ship and to the crew thereof which are in his custody, and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand Rupees; and such successor shall, immediately on assuming the command of the ship, enter in the official log a list of the documents so delivered to him.

Official Logs.

Official logs to be kept in forms sanctioned by local Government.

XCV. An official log-book of every ship registered at any Port or place within the said Territories, not being a ship employed only in Coasting voyages or between any Port of the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon, shall be kept in a form sanctioned by the local Government; and such official log may, at the discretion of the master or owner, either be kept distinct from the ordinary ship's log or united therewith, so that in all cases all the blanks in the official log be duly filled up.

Entries to be made in due time

XCVI. Every entry in every official log shall be made as soon as possible after the occurrence to which it relates, and if not made on the same day as the occurrence to which it relates, shall be made and dated so as to show the date of the occurrence, and of the entry respecting it; and in no case shall any entry therein in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final Port of discharge be made more than twenty-four hours after such arrival

Entries required in official log.

XCVII. Every master of a ship for which an official log-book is hereby required, shall make or cause to be made therein entries of the following matters, (that is to say)—

10. The amount of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service during the voyage.

Wages of deceased seamen.

11. The wages due to any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, and the gross amount of all deductions to be made therefrom.

Sale of deceased men's effects.

12. The sale of the effects of any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, including a statement of each article sold and of the sum received for it.

Collisions.

13 Every collision with any other ship and the circumstances under which the same occurred.

Entries how to be signed.

XCVIII. The entries hereby required to be made in official log-books shall be signed as follows, (that is to say), every such entry shall be signed by the master and by the mate or some other of the crew, and every entry of illness, injury, or death shall be also signed by the surgeon or medical practitioner on board (if any); and every entry of wages due to, or of the sale of the effects of, any seaman or apprentice who dies shall be signed by the master and by the mate and some other member of the crew, and every entry of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service, shall be signed by the master and by the seaman or by the officer authorized to receive the seaman into such service.

Penalties in respect of official logs.

XCIX. The following offences in respect of official log-books shall be punishable as hereinafter mentioned, (that is to say)—

1. If in any case an official log book is not kept in the manner hereby required, or if any entry hereby directed to be made in any such log-book is not made at the time and in the manner hereby directed, the master shall for each such offence incur the specific penalty herein mentioned in respect thereof, or where there is no such specific penalty, a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees.

2. Every person who makes or procures to be made or assists in making any entry in an official log-book, in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final Port of discharge within the said Territories, more than twenty-four hours after such arrival, shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding three hundred Rupees.

3. Every person who wilfully destroys or mutilates or renders illegible any entry in any official log-book, or who wilfully makes or procures to be made or assists in making any false or fraudulent entry or omission in any such log-book, shall for each such offence be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding one year.

Entries in official logs to be received in evidence.

C. All entries made in any official log-book as hereinbefore directed shall be received in evidence in any proceeding in any Court of Justice, subject to all just exceptions.

Official logs to be delivered to Shipping Master.

CI. The master of every Foreign-going ship shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final Port of destination in the said Territories, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver to the Shipping Master before whom the crew is discharged the official log-book of the voyage ; and the master or owner of every Home-trade ship not conclusively employed in coasting voyages or between any Port of the Coast of India and the Island of Ceylon shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Shipping Master in the said Territories, the official log-book for the preceding half-year ; and every master or owner who refuses or neglects to deliver his official log-book, as hereby required, shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees.

Official logs to be sent home in case of transfer of ship and in case of loss

CII. If any ship ceases, by reason of transfer of ownership or change of employment, to fall within the operation of Section XCV of this Act, the master or owner thereof shall, if such ship is then in any Port within the said Territories, within one month, and if she is elsewhere, within six months, deliver or transmit to the Shipping Master at the Port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book duly made out to the time at which she ceased to be within such operation, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees ; and if any ship is lost or abandoned, the master or owner thereof shall, if practicable, and as soon as possible, deliver or transmit to the Shipping Master at the Port to which the ship belonged, the official log-book (if any) duly made-out to the time of such loss or abandonment, and in default shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Depositions to be received in evidence when witnesses cannot be produced.

CIII. Whenever, in the course of any legal proceedings instituted at any Port or place within the said Territories before any Judge or Magistrate or before any person authorized by law or by consent of parties to receive evidence, the testimony of any witness is required in relation to the subject matter of such proceeding, then upon due proof that such witness cannot be found at, or that he has departed from such Port or place, any deposition that such witness may have previously made on oath in relation to the same subject matter before any Justice or Magistrate in Her Majesty's Dominions (including the said Territories), or any British Consular Officer elsewhere, shall, if authenticated by the signature of the Justice, Magistrate, or Consular Officer, be admissible in evidence. Provided that, if the proceeding is criminal, such deposition shall not be admissible unless it was made in the presence of the person accused and the fact that it was so made is certified by the Justice, Magistrate, or Consular Officer It shall not be necessary in any case to prove the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed any such deposition ; and in any criminal proceeding, such certificate as aforesaid shall, unless the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence of the accused having been present in manner thereby certified.

Adjudication of offences and recovery of penalties.

CIV. All offences under this Act, made punishable by any penalty, may be prosecuted summarily before a Magistrate or any person exercising the powers of a Magistrate. The provisions of Act XIII of 1856, relating to the adjudication of fines and penalties and the enforcing payment thereof, shall apply to penalties imposed under this Act in the Towns of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca.

Act not to extend to Ships of War

CV. Nothing in this Act shall extend to any ship belonging to or in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or to any Ship of War belonging to any Foreign Prince or State.

Interpretation.

CVI. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, (that is to say) ; the expression "local Government" shall mean the person or persons for the time being immediately administering the Executive Government of any portion of the said Territories. The expression "Home-tradeship" shall include every ship employed in trading between any Ports of the said Territories ; or between any Port of the said Territories and any Port or place on the Continent of India or in the Island of Ceylon. The expression "Foreign-going ship" shall include every ship employed in trading between any Port of the said Territories and any Port or place not in the said Territories nor on the Continent of India nor in the Island of Ceylon. Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next:—

A Bill relating to Lunatic Asylums.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the reception and detention of Lunatics in Asylums established for that purpose; It is enacted as follows:—

Lunatic Asylums may be established by Government or may be licensed.

I. The Executive Government of any Presidency or place, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, may establish Asylums for the reception and detention of Lunatics at such places as may be deemed proper; or if it think fit, may grant licenses to any private persons for the establishment of such Asylums.

Superintendence by visitors.

II. Every Lunatic Asylum shall be under the superintendence of not less than three visitors appointed by the Executive Government, of whom one at least shall be a Medical Officer. The Inspector of Jails (where such office exists) shall be a visitor ex-officio of all the Asylums within the circle of his inspection.

Rules for the management of Asylums by whom to be made.

III. The management of every Lunatic Asylum and the care and custody of its inmates shall be regulated according to rules framed for the purpose. If the Executive Government so direct, the visitors of each Asylum may from time to time make rules for the regulation of the Asylum of which they are visitors, and such rules shall be subject to the approval and revision of the Executive Government. The Executive Government, if it think fit, may from time to time frame rules, either general or special, for the regulation of all or any of the Asylums of the Presidency or place subject to such Government.

Monthly inspection by visitors.

IV. Two or more of the visitors, one of whom shall be a Medical Officer, shall once at the least in every month, together inspect every part of the Asylum of which they are visitors; and see and examine, as far as circumstances will permit, every Lunatic therein, and the order and certificate for the admission of every Lunatic admitted since the last visitation of the visitors; and shall enter in a book to be kept for that purpose any remarks which they may deem proper in regard to the management and condition of such Asylum and the Lunatics therein.

Wandering Lunatics to be sent to the Magistrate unless their friends engage to take charge of them.

V. It shall be the duty of every Darogah or District Police Officer to apprehend and send to the Magistrate all persons found wandering at large within his District, who are deemed to be Lunatics, and all persons believed to be dangerous by reason of Lunacy, unless the friends of such persons as last aforesaid shall engage in writing to adopt such precautions as shall prevent them from doing mischief. Whenever any such person as aforesaid is brought before a Magistrate, the Magistrate, with the assistance of the Civil Surgeon, shall examine such person, and if the Civil Surgeon shall sign a certificate in the form A in the Schedule to this Act, and the Magistrate shall be satisfied on personal examination or other proof that such person is a Lunatic and a proper person to be detained under care and treatment he shall make an order for such person to be received into the Asylum established for the Division in which the Magistrate's jurisdiction is situate; or if such person is not a native of the country, and the circumstances of the case so require, into a Lunatic Asylum at the Presidency.

Certificate and order for reception in Asylum.

In case of neglect or cruel treatment of a Lunatic, Magistrate may order relative, &c., to maintain him.

VI. If it shall appear to the Magistrate, on the report of a Police Officer or the information of any other person, that any person within the limits of his jurisdiction deemed to be a Lunatic is not under proper care and control, or is cruelly treated or neglected by any relative or other person having the charge of him, the Magistrate may send for the supposed Lunatic, and summon such relative or other person as has or ought to have the charge of him; and if such relative or other person be legally bound to maintain the supposed Lunatic, the Magistrate may make an order for such Lunatic being properly cared for and treated, and require security for the fulfilment of the same, and if security is not given may commit such relative or other person to jail for a period not exceeding one month. If there be no person legally bound to maintain the supposed Lunatic, or if the Magistrate think fit so to do, he may proceed as prescribed in the last preceding Section, and upon being satisfied in manner aforesaid that the person deemed to be a Lunatic is a Lunatic and a proper person to be detained under care and treatment, may make an order for his reception into such Asylum as aforesaid.

If no person bound to maintain him, Magistrate may make an order for his reception in Asylum.

Darogah to report neglect.

It shall be the duty of every Darogah or District Police Officer to report to the Magistrate every such case of neglect or cruel treatment as aforesaid which may come to his knowledge.

Commissioner of Police &c. to act in the Presidency Towns

VII. All acts which the Magistrate and the Civil Surgeon respectively are authorized or required to do by the two last preceding Sections, may be done in the Presidency Towns and the Stations of the Straits Settlement by the Commissioner of Police and any Medical Officer appointed by Government in that behalf respectively: and all duties which a Darogah or District Police Officer is authorized or required to perform, may be performed in any of the said Towns and Stations by an Officer of the Police Force not below the rank of Inspector.

Order and certificate in Presidency Towns.

VIII. Except as otherwise hereinbefore provided, no person shall be received into a Lunatic Asylum in any Presidency Town or in any Station of the Straits Settlement without an order under the hand of some person in the Form B in the Schedule to this Act together with such statement of particulars as is contained in the said Form B, nor without the medical certificate, containing the particulars in Form A in the Schedule to this Act, of two persons each of whom shall be a Physician, Surgeon, or Apothecary, and one of whom shall be a Presidency Surgeon, or a Surgeon in the employment of the Government. When such order and certificate are presented, the visitors or manager of the Asylum, before admitting the Lunatic into the Asylum, may require the friends of the said Lunatic to engage to pay the expenses which may be incurred for the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of the Lunatic, unless it shall appear to the said visitors that they have not sufficient means of doing so.

Application to Judge by the guardian of Lunatic for an order for his reception in an Asylum.

IX. Clause 1.—In places other than those specified in the last preceding Section, when a Lunatic is possessed of property and a guardian for such Lunatic has been appointed by order of the Court of Wards or of the Civil Court, if such guardian shall desire that the Lunatic be admitted into a Lunatic Asylum he shall make application to the Civil Court, and the Judge with the assistance of the Civil Surgeon shall examine such Lunatic, and if the Civil Surgeon shall sign a certificate in the Form A in the Schedule to this Act, and the Judge shall be satisfied that the Lunatic is a proper person to be detained under care and treatment in a Lunatic Asylum, he shall make an order for such person to be received into the Asylum established for the Division in which his jurisdiction is situate.

Application where no guardian has been appointed.

Clause 2.—If application is made to the Judge for the issue of an order for the reception into a Lunatic Asylum of any person for whom a guardian has not been appointed by order of the Court of Wards or of the Civil Court, the Judge, if he see sufficient reason for so doing, shall enquire into the fact of Lunacy in the same manner as if an application had been made to the Civil Court under the provisions of Section III of Act of 185 , and if the Lunacy be established, the Judge may then proceed in the manner prescribed in the first Clause of this Section.

Order for payment of expenses.

Clause 3.—Whenever the Judge shall make an order for the reception of any person into a Lunatic Asylum he shall, at the same time, make an order for the payment of the expenses to be incurred for the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such person, and such expenses shall be recovered by the Judge on the application of the visitors or manager of such Asylum Provided, however, that, if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Judge that the Lunatic has not sufficient property, and his friends have not sufficient means for the payment of such expenses, he shall certify the same in order for the reception of the Lunatic into the Asylum, instead of making such order for the payment of expenses as aforesaid.

Order of discharge from Asylum.

X. It shall be lawful for three of the visitors of any Asylum, of whom one shall be a Medical Officer, by writing under their hands, to order the discharge of any person detained in such Asylum. When such order is given, if the person is detained under the order of any public Officer, notice of the order of discharge shall be immediately communicated to such Officer.

Order of discharge on undertaking of relative for due treatment of the Lunatic.

XI. When any relative or friend of a Lunatic detained in any Asylum under the provisions of Section V, Section VI, or Section VII of this Act, is desirous that such Lunatic should be delivered over to his care and custody, he shall make application to the Magistrate or Commissioner of Police under whose order the Lunatic is detained, and the Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, if he think fit, after communication with the visitors or with one of them being a Medical Officer, and upon the undertaking in writing of such relative or friend to the satisfaction of the said Magistrate or Commissioner that such Lunatic shall be properly taken care of, and shall be prevented from doing injury to himself or others, shall make an order for the discharge of such Lunatic, and such Lunatic shall thereupon be discharged.

Inspector of Jails may make order of removal from one Asylum to another.

XII. The Inspector of Jails may direct the removal of any Lunatic from any Asylum to any other Asylum within the circle of his inspection, and such order shall be a sufficient authority for the removal of such Lunatic and also for his reception into the Asylum to which he is ordered to be removed.

Amendment of order or certificate.

XIII. If, after the reception of any Lunatic into any Asylum, it appear that the order or the medical certificate or certificates upon which he was received is or are defective or incorrect, the same may at any time afterwards be amended by the person or persons signing the same with the sanction of two or more of the visitors of the said Asylum one of whom shall be a Medical Officer.

Certificate and order to justify detention and re-capture after escape.

XIV. Every person received into a Lunatic Asylum under such order as is required by this Act accompanied by the requisite medical certificate, may be detained therein until he be removed or discharged as authorized by this Act, and in case of escape may by virtue of such order be re-taken by the manager of such Asylum, or any Officer or servant belonging thereto, or any other person authorized in that behalf by the said manager, or any Police Officer, and conveyed to and received and detained in such Asylum.

In what cases Government to pay for the maintenance of Lunatic.

XV. When any Lunatic is sent to a licensed Asylum by order of a Magistrate or Commissioner of Police under Section V, VI, or VII of this Act, and when a Lunatic is admitted into such Asylum under Section VIII, or an order for the reception of a Lunatic is made under Section IX, and no engagement has been taken from the friends of the Lunatic or order made by the Judge for the payment of expenses, under the said Section VIII or IX respectively, the expense of the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such Lunatic shall be paid by the Government to the manager of such Asylum.

Civil Court, on application of Magistrate, may make order for the payment of cost of maintenance out of the Lunatic's estate.

XVI. The Magistrate or Commissioner of Police by whom any Lunatic has been sent to a Lunatic Asylum, if it appear to such Magistrate or Commissioner that such Lunatic has an estate applicable to his maintenance, and more than sufficient to maintain his family, or that any person is legally bound to maintain and has the means of maintaining such Lunatic, may apply to the Chief Court of Civil Judicature within the jurisdiction of which the said Asylum may be, and such Court shall enquire into the matter in a summary way, and on being satisfied that such Lunatic has an estate applicable to his maintenance, or that any person is legally bound to maintain and has the means of maintaining such Lunatic, shall make an order for the recovery of the charges of the lodging, maintenance, clothing, medicine, and care of such Lunatic out of such estate or from such person. Such order shall be enforced in the same manner and shall be of the same force and effect as any judgment or order made by the said Court in a regular suit in respect of the property or person therein mentioned. Any personal property which may be in the possession of a Lunatic found wandering at large may be sold by the Magistrate, and the proceeds thereof (or such part of the same as may be necessary) applied towards the payment of the charges of the lodging and maintenance of the Lunatic, and of any other expenses incurred on his behalf.

Saving of liability of relatives to maintain Lunatic.

XVII. The liability of any relative or person to maintain any Lunatic shall not be taken away or affected by any provision contained in this Act.

Saving of Act IV of 1849.

XVIII. Nothing contained in this Act shall affect the provisions of Act IV of 1849 entitled "An Act for the safe custody of Criminal Lunatics."

Interpretation.

XIX. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include every person of unsound mind, and every person being an idiot.

The word "Magistrate" shall include a person exercising the powers of a Magistrate.

Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee, who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next :—

A Bill to regulate proceedings in Lunacy in Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the several Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charters within the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company are authorized and empowered by their respective Charters to appoint guardians and keepers of the persons and estates of Lunatics, and to enquire into, hear, and determine questions of alleged Lunacy by inspection of the person or by such other ways and means by which the truth may best be discovered and known; and whereas, according to the practice of the said Courts, questions of alleged Lunacy are determined by inquisition taken before a jury, and it is expedient to lessen the cost and to alter the mode of enquiry into such questions, and also to empower the said Courts to make provision for the due management of the estates of Lunatics; It is enacted as follows :—

Court may order enquiry before a Judge or Master as to persons alleged to be insane.

I. It shall be lawful for any of the said Courts of Judicature, on such application for enquiry as is hereinafter mentioned, to make an order directing any Judge of the Court, or the Master, to enquire whether any person (subject to the jurisdiction of the Court) who is alleged to be Lunatic, is or is not of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself and his affairs, or (where the alleged Lunatic is more than one hundred and fifty miles from a Presidency Town) to issue a Commission directed to one or more persons to make the said enquiry. The Judge, or Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners executing the enquiry, shall, while so employed, have the like powers and authority as are or may be vested by law in a Judge or Master of the said Court for the investigation of matters referred to them by the Court.

Application by whom to be made.

Notice to be given.

II. Application for such enquiry may be made by any relative or creditor of the alleged Lunatic, or by the Advocate General. Where the alleged Lunatic is within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, he shall have sufficient notice of the application before an order is made for such enquiry.

Order for enquiry what to contain.

Appointment of assessors.

III. The order for enquiry may, in addition to the matters of enquiry hereinbefore specified, contain directions for other enquiries concerning the nature of the property belonging to the alleged Lunatic, the persons who are his relatives or next of kin, the time during which he has been of unsound mind, or such other matters as to the Court shall seem proper. The Court shall have power, either at the request of the alleged Lunatic (if it appear that he is mentally competent to form and express a wish on the subject,) or at its own discretion, and at any stage of the enquiry, to appoint any two or more persons to act as assessors to the Judge, or Master, or to the Commissioner or Commissioners in the said enquiry.

Report to be made.

IV. The Judge, or Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners shall report to the Court the result of the enquiry. The assessors shall either signify their concurrence in the report by signing the same, or, if they or any of them dissent therefrom, shall signify such dissent and the reasons for such dissent to the Court.

Proceedings after report.

V. If no assessors have been appointed, or if the assessors appointed concur in the report, it shall be deemed to be of the same force and effect, and be proceeded on in the same manner in regard to the appointment of Committees of the person and estate of the Lunatic as the inquisition now according to practice taken upon the oath of a jury. If the assessors or any of them dissent from the report, the Court may, at its discretion, either pass an order confirming the report (in which case it shall be of force and effect, and be proceeded on in manner aforesaid) or direct a farther enquiry, and proceed thereupon, as provided in the case of the original enquiry. If the said report shall appear to the Court to be defective or insufficient, it shall be lawful for the Court either to amend the same or to refer it back to the Judge, Master, or the Commissioner or Commissioners, to be amended as the Court shall think fit.

Lunatic out of the jurisdiction

VI. When the alleged Lunatic is not within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court in making the order for enquiry shall nominate assessors, and it shall not be necessary to give the alleged Lunatic notice of the enquiry unless the Court shall so direct.

Court may give certain powers for management of Lunatic's estate.

VII. It shall be lawful for the Court, on the appointment of Committees of the person and estate of a Lunatic, to direct by the order of appointment, or by any subsequent order, that the person to whom the charge of the estate is committed, shall have such powers for the management thereof as to the Court shall seem necessary and proper, reference being had to the nature of the property, whether moveable or immoveable, of which the estate may consist. But such powers shall not extend to the sale or charge, by way of mortgage, of the estate or any part thereof, or to the letting of any immoveable property unless for a term not exceeding three years.

Master to receive proposals concerning management, sale, &c., of estate.

VIII. The Master of the Court shall be at liberty, without an order of reference, to receive any proposal and conduct any enquiry respecting the management of the estate of a Lunatic, if such proposal relate to any matter which the Committee of the estate has not been empowered by an order under the last preceding Section to dispose of. The Master may likewise, without reference, receive and enquire into any proposal relating to the sale, or charge by way of mortgage of the estate or of any part thereof, or to the letting of any immoveable property for a term exceeding three years.

Court to make order upon the report of the Master.

IX. The Master shall report to the Court on the proposal, and the Court shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, make such order upon the report and respecting the costs, as shall, under the circumstances, seem just.

Master to determine what persons to attend at any enquiry, at the cost of the estate.

X. The Court or the Master shall once in the matter of each Lunacy, and may afterwards, from time to time, determine whether any one or more, and if any, how many and which of the relatives or next of kin shall attend before the Master, at the cost of the estate, in any proceeding connected with the management thereof.

Application to Court in the first instance.

XI. The Court may, on application made to it by petition concerning any matter whatsoever connected with the Lunacy, make such order, subject to the provisions of this Act, respecting the application and the costs thereof, and of the consequent proceedings, as shall, under the circumstances, seem just.

Lunatic's property may be sold for debts, maintenance, &c.

XII. The Court may, if it appears to be just, or for the Lunatic's benefit, order that any property moveable or immoveable of the Lunatic, and whether in possession, reversion, remainder, contingency, or expectancy, be sold, or charged by way of mortgage or otherwise disposed of, as may seem most expedient for the purpose of raising money to be applied for any of the following purposes:—

1. The payment of the Lunatic's debts, including any debt incurred for his maintenance or otherwise for his benefit.

2. The discharge of any incumbrance on his estates.

3. The payment of, or provision for the expenses of his future maintenance, including the expenses of his removal to Europe, when he shall be so removed, and all expenses incidental thereto.

4. The payment of the costs of any enquiry under this Act, and of any costs incurred by order, or under the authority of the Court.

Committee to make Conveyances.

XIII. The Committee of the Lunatic's estate shall, in the name and on behalf of the Lunatic, execute all such conveyances and instruments of transfer relative to any sale, mortgage, or other disposition of his estate as the Court shall order. In like manner such Committee shall, under the order of the Court, exercise all powers whatsoever vested in a Lunatic whether the same are vested in him for his own benefit, or in the character of trustee or guardian.

And to execute powers.

Court may order performance of contract.

XIV. Where a person having contracted to sell or otherwise dispose of his estate or any part thereof, afterwards becomes Lunatic, the Court may, if the contract is such as the Court thinks ought to be performed, direct the Committee of the estate to execute such conveyances and to do such other acts in fulfilment of the contract as it shall think proper.

Member of partnership becoming Lunatic.

XV. If a member of a partnership firm becomes Lunatic, the Court may, on the application of the other partners, or of any person who appears to the Court to be entitled to require the same, dissolve the partnership; and thereupon, or upon a dissolution by decree of Court or otherwise by due course of law, the Committee of the estate may, in the name and on behalf of the Lunatic, join with the other partners in disposing of the partnership property upon such terms, and shall do all such acts for carrying into effect the dissolution of the partnership, as the Court shall think proper.

Disposal of business premises.

XVI. Where a Lunatic has been engaged in business, the Court may, if it appear to be for the Lunatic's benefit that the business premises should be disposed of, order the Committee of the estate to sell and dispose of the same; and the monies arising from such sale shall be applied in such manner as the Court shall direct.

Committee may dispose of undesirable lease.

XVII. Where a Lunatic is entitled to a lease or under-lease, and it appears to be for the benefit of his estate that it should be disposed of, the Committee of the estate may, by order of the Court, surrender, assign, or otherwise dispose of the same to such person for such valuable or nominal consideration, and upon such terms as the Court shall think fit.

Stock belonging to Lunatic may be ordered to be transferred.

XVIII. Where any Stock or Government Securities or any Share in a Company is standing in the name of or is vested in a Lunatic, beneficially entitled thereto, or in a Committee of the estate of a Lunatic, or in a trustee for him, and the Committee dies intestate, or himself becomes Lunatic, or is out of the jurisdiction of the Court, or it is uncertain whether the Committee be living or dead, or he neglects or refuses to transfer the Stock, Securities, or Shares, or to receive and pay the dividends to a new Committee or as he directs, within fourteen days after being required by him to do so, then the Court may order some fit person to make such transfer, or to transfer the same, and to receive and pay over the dividends in such manner as the Court may direct.

Stock and Government Securities &c. of Lunatic, out of India, may be ordered to be transferred.

XIX. Where any Stock or Government Securities or any Share in a Company is standing in the name of, or vested in any person residing out of the said Territories, the Court, upon being satisfied that such person has been declared of unsound mind, and that his personal estate has been vested in a curator or manager, according to the laws of the place where he is residing, may order some fit person to make such transfer of the Stock, Securities, or Shares, or of any part thereof, to such curator or manager or otherwise, and also to receive and pay over the dividends and proceeds, as the Court may think fit.

Court may apply in certain cases property for Lunatic's maintenance without appointing Committee.

XX. If it appears to the Court, having regard to the situation and condition in life of the Lunatic and his family and the other circumstances of the case, to be expedient that his property should be made available for his or their maintenance in a direct and inexpensive manner, it may, instead of appointing a Committee of the estate, order that the property, or such part of it as shall not consist of money, be realized and be paid to such person as the Court may think fit, to be applied for the purpose aforesaid.

Like power in case of temporary Lunacy.

XXI If it appears to the Court that the unsoundness of mind of a Lunatic is in its nature temporary, and that it is expedient to make temporary provision for his maintenance, or for the maintenance of his family, the Court may, in like manner as under the last preceding Section, direct his property or a sufficient part of it to be applied for the purpose aforesaid.

Application to set aside report may be made within six months.

XXII. When a person has been found of unsound mind, it shall be lawful for such person, or for any other person aggrieved by such finding, to apply to the Court, within six months after the date of the report, for an order to set aside such report In such case the Court may order a farther enquiry, and may, by the order, direct what persons shall have the conduct of such enquiry and by whom the costs thereof shall be paid, and whether any and what security for the due payment thereof shall be given.

No application to be received afterwards, except under special circumstances.

XXIII. Except as is herein after provided, no application to set aside a report shall be received unless the same is made within the said period of six months from the date of the report, or unless the Court shall, under the special circumstances of any particular case, think fit to allow such application after the period so limited ; in which case the Court may make the order upon such terms and conditions as shall seem just.

Superseding proceedings in Lunacy.

XXIV. When any person has been found of unsound mind, and it shall be shown to the Court, either on the application of such person or of any other person acting on his behalf, or having or claiming any interest in respect of his estate, or on the information of any other person, that there is reason to believe that such unsoundness of mind has ceased, the Court may make an order for enquiry whether such person is or is not still of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself and his affairs. The enquiry shall be conducted in like manner as is hereinbefore prescribed ; and if it be found that the unsoundness of mind has ceased, the Court shall order all proceedings in the matter of the Lunacy to cease or to be set aside on such terms and conditions as under the circumstances of the case shall appear proper.

Power to Court to make general orders.

XXV. The Court may, from time to time, make such orders as shall seem meet for carrying into effect the purposes of this Act, and for regulating the mode of proceeding before any Judge of the Court, or before the Master, or before any Commissioner or Commissioners, in matters of Lunacy.

Interpretation.

XXVI. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include any person found, by due course of law, to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 28th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next :—

A Bill to make better provision for the care of the estates of Lunatics not subject to the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the care of the estates of Lunatics not subject to the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature; and to prescribe general rules by which the state of mind of persons not subject to such jurisdiction, who are alleged to be Lunatic, may be enquired into and ascertained ; It is enacted as follows :—

Regulations repealed.

I. So much of Section V Regulation X. 1793, of Section IX Regulation LII. 1803, of Regulation I. 1800, and of Section XXIX Regulation VIII. 1805 (extended to Benares by Section II Regulation VI. 1822), of the Bengal Code; and so much of Sections VI and VII Regulation V. 1804, and of Sections XX and XXI of the said Regulation (as modified by Section III Regulation X. 1831), of the Madras Code, as relate to Lunatics or idiots—are hereby repealed.

Civil Court on application may institute enquiry as to alleged Lunatics possessed of property.

II. Whenever any person possessed of property is alleged to be a Lunatic, the Civil Court, upon such application as is hereinafter mentioned, may institute an enquiry for the purpose of ascertaining whether such person is or is not of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

Application by whom to be made.

III. Application for such enquiry may be made by any relative or creditor of the alleged Lunatic or by any public Curator appointed under Act XX of 1841, or any public Officer legally empowered to take charge of the estates of persons disqualified by minority, lunacy, or other cause for managing the same. If the property be of such a description as to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, the application may be made by the Collector on behalf of the Court of Wards.

Appointment of jury.

IV. When the Civil Court is about to institute any such enquiry as aforesaid, the Court shall appoint a jury consisting of the Civil Surgeon and two respectable inhabitants of the District ; and the enquiry shall be conducted by the Court in the presence and with the assistance of the jury so appointed.

On completion of enquiry order to be made.

V. On the completion of the enquiry, if the jury be unanimous or if the Civil Surgeon and another juror concur in the finding, the Judge shall make an order in accordance with the finding of the jury. If the Civil Surgeon dissent from the other jurors, the Judge, at his discretion, may either institute another enquiry (which shall be conducted in the same manner as the first) or may make such order in the case as he shall think proper The order of the Judge under this Section shall be final

Management of Lunatic's estate.

VI. When a person has been adjudged to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, if the estate of such person consist of property which the Court of Wards is by law empowered to take charge of, the Judge shall make an order authorizing the Court of Wards to take charge of the same. In all other cases, except as otherwise hereinafter provided, the Judge shall appoint a manager of the estate. If any near relative of the Lunatic be willing to undertake the charge of the estate and the Judge shall consider him a fit person to be entrusted therewith, such relative shall be appointed manager. If there be no such relative, the Judge may appoint the public Curator or any public Officer legally empowered as aforesaid, or (if there be no such Curator or Officer) any other suitable person, to be manager of the estate.

Guardianship of Lunatic's person.

VII. When a manager of the estate of a Lunatic is appointed in manner aforesaid, the manager, unless he be such Curator or Officer as aforesaid, or unless the Judge direct otherwise, shall be also the guardian of the Lunatic's person. The Judge may, whenever he thinks proper, appoint any fit person, other than the manager, to the office of guardian.

Remuneration of managers and guardians.

VIII. If the person appointed by the Judge of a Civil Court to be manager of the estate of a Lunatic, or the person so appointed to be guardian of a Lunatic's person, shall be unwilling to discharge the trust gratuitously, the Judge may fix such allowance or allowances to be paid out of the Lunatic's estate as, under the circumstances of the case, he may think suitable.

Powers of managers.

IX. Every manager of the estate of a Lunatic appointed as aforesaid may exercise the same powers in the management of the estate as might have been exercised by the proprietor if not a Lunatic. But no such manager shall have power to sell or mortgage the estate or any part thereof, or to grant a lease of any immoveable property for any period exceeding five years, without an order of the Civil Court previously obtained.

Managers to furnish inventory and annual accounts.

X. Every person appointed by the Judge of a Civil Court to be manager of the estate of a Lunatic shall, within six months from the date of his appointment, exhibit and deliver in open Court an inventory of the landed property and of all such sums of money, goods, and effects, as he shall have received on account of the estate, together with a statement of all debts due by or to the same. And every such manager shall furnish to the Court annually, within three months of the close of the year of the era current in the District, an account of the property in his charge, exhibiting the sums received and disbursed on account of the estate and the balance remaining in his hands. If any relative or creditor of the Lunatic, or any public Officer, by petition to the Court, shall impugn the accuracy of the said inventory and statement, or of any annual account, the Court may summon the manager, and enquire summarily into the matter and make such order thereon as it shall think proper. Any such petition may be referred by the Judge to any Civil Court subordinate to him.

Penalty for manager refusing to furnish accounts &c.

XI. The Judge may impose a fine not exceeding five hundred Rupees on any manager of the estate of a Lunatic who wilfully neglects or refuses to deliver his accounts, or any property in his hands, within the prescribed time, or a time fixed by the Court, and may realize such fine by attachment and sale of his property under the rules in force for the execution of decrees of Court, and may also commit the recusant to close custody until he shall deliver such accounts or property.

Removal of managers.

XII. The Judge, upon proof of incompetency or delinquency, or for any other sufficient cause, may remove any manager appointed under this Act not being a public Curator or a public Officer legally empowered as aforesaid, and may appoint such Curator or Officer, or any other fit person in his room, and may compel the person so removed to make over the property in his hands to his successor, and to account to such successor for all monies received or disbursed by him.

Judge may in certain cases apply property for Lunatic's maintenance without appointing any manager.

XIII. If it appears to the Judge, having regard to the situation and condition in life of the Lunatic and his family, and the amount and description of his property, to be unnecessary to appoint a manager of the estate as hereinbefore provided, the Judge may, instead of appointing such manager, order that the property, or such part of it as shall not consist of money, be realized and be paid to such person as the Judge may think fit, to be applied for the maintenance of the Lunatic and his family.

Procedure for delivery of estate to Lunatic on recovery.

XIV. When any person has been adjudged to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, if such person or any other person acting on his behalf, or having or claiming any interest in respect of his estate, shall represent by petition to the Civil Court, or if the Court shall be informed in any other manner, that the unsoundness of mind of such person has ceased, the Court may institute an enquiry for the purpose of ascertaining whether such person is or is not still of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs. The enquiry shall be conducted in the manner provided in Sections IV and V of this Act, and if it be adjudged that such person has ceased to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs, the Judge shall make an order for his estate to be delivered over to him, and such order shall be final.

Orders to be open to appeal.

XV. Except as otherwise herein provided, all orders made by a Judge or by any subordinate Court under this Act, shall be open to appeal under the rules in force for appeals, in miscellaneous cases, from the orders of the Judge and the subordinate Courts.

Interpretation.

XVI. The word "Lunatic," as used in this Act, shall mean and include every person found by due course of law to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 28th November 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 7th November 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of March next :—

A Bill for the levy of Port-dues in the Port of Aden.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Port of Aden in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows :—

Port-due chargeable on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering the Port.

I. A Port-due, at a rate not exceeding the rate of one anna for every ton of burden, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards (except fishing boats) which shall enter the said Port.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter the Port.

II. Provided that no such due shall be chargeable in respect of any vessel which, having left the Port is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage.

No vessel to pay Port-due oftener than once a month.

III. The Port-due chargeable under this Act shall not be chargeable oftener than once in the same calendar month in respect of the same vessel.

Vessels entering the Port in ballast.

IV. Vessels entering the port in ballast shall be charged with three-fourths of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

Provisions of Section XLVI Act XXII of 1855 not applicable to Steamers entering the Port.

V. The provisions of Section XLVI Act XXII of 1855 shall not be applicable to Steamers entering the Port.

Commencement of Act.

VI. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Bombay Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in the said Port subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date no Port-due or fee shall be levied at the said Port except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rate of Port-dues and fees to be published.

No other Port-dues or fees to be levied.

Act to be read as part of Act XXII of 1855.

VII. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of Act XXII of 1855.

Acting Supdt. of Marine.

Fort William;
Marine Supdt.'s Office,
The 5th December 1857.

Notification.

Fort William, the 20th November 1857.

NOTICE is hereby given, that on Monday, the 11th January 1858, at the hour of Eleven o'Clock in the forenoon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the undermentioned quantity of Opium, the provision of 1856-57, subject to the following Conditions, viz.:—

Produce of Behar Agency ..	Chests	1,815
Ditto of Benares ditto ...	„	890
Total Chests ...		2,705

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P. M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on, until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the quantity of 2,705 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertsied, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4. Each lot to contain five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupess 1,000, at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book; and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th January, or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times, and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last-mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 16th January, will be placed in the hands of the Attorney to the Hon'ble Company for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities, on account of Opium, upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 16th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertised for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M. of Tuesday, the 26th January 1858, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit of 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such Lots or Chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government, at such time and in such manner, as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or Orders for the delivery of Opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or Order, and it is to be clearly understood, that the Certificates or Orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or Orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of Lots or Chests, whether more or less, than the number of Lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or Order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of Public Securities, under the Fifth of the present Conditions, will be received in this Office, except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book, or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per cent. even money of the amount bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified, that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing, in immediate succession, at the same price, and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency Opium, to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and all and every plea and pleas to the jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue—

No 1 —Certificate of the Opium now advertised for Sale.

No. 2.—Report of the Examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed, that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1856-57, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the Cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each Cake.

An account of the weight of the drug when packed, and a statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches, on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz, two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season, will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertised for Sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The total quantity of Behar Opium of 1856-57, advertised in the Notice of 19th September last, was 22,302 Chests. Of this quantity, 500 Chests will be withdrawn for Abkaree purposes, leaving available only 21,802 Chests for the Sales of 1858. The Board purpose disposing of the 10,000 Chests of this Provision, which have been re-packed in Calcutta, in the first Sales of the year, and the remainder in the after-sales.

19. The public are hereby informed, that in addition to the quantity above mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium, of 1856-57, will be brought to Sale in the year 1858, on or about the dates specified below ; the Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates, should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

20. It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that, out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December 1858, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 32,468 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for Sale at each or any of the twelve Sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a Sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article 6th.—With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties, that at each of the periodical Sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of Chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed Three hundred Chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical Sale, it being understood that, if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agent of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the Three hundred Chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta, within thirty days after Notice of the intended Sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

ON THE BHAUGIRUTTEE ENTRANCE,
The 1st December 1857.

* Over the shoal, but 15 feet in the Channel. The bar over the Entrance is forming very rapidly, and threatens to shut up the Mouth; the Current does not set in freely as before.

Sereeah, a long Shoal formed by the immense masses of mud carried down by the stream from the banks near where the River Bird Steamer is aground. Two Shoals occur here one at Dangahparra and Golspoor. Very bad Shoal at Ammaneegunge, three miles above Berhampore. This is rapidly getting better; but the Channel having shifted to the right bank, for the time quite destroyed it. At Mowlah a bad place occurs, which is being deepened.

One shoal below Cutowa at Bolpookriah.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1857.

GENERAL ORDERS BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

No 1543 of 1857.

FORT WILLIAM, 8TH DECEMBER 1857.

THE Right Honorable the Governor General in Council has received from Brigadier Inglis, of H M.'s 32nd Regiment, lately Commanding the Garrison in Lucknow, the subjoined Report of the defence of the Residency in that City, from the first threatened attack upon it on the 29th of June, to the arrival of the Force under Major-General Sir J. Outram, G C. B, and the lamented Major-General Sir H. Havelock, K. C. B., on the 25th of September.

The Divisional Order of Major-General Sir James Outram upon the Report accompanies it.

The Governor-General in Council believes that never has a tale been told which will so stir the hearts of Englishmen and Englishwomen as the simple, earnest narrative of Brigadier Inglis.

It rightfully commences with a Soldier's testimony, touchingly borne to the chivalrous character and high deserts of Sir Henry Lawrence, the sad details of whose death are now made known.

There does not stand recorded in the Annals of War an achievement more truly Heroic than the defence of the Residency at Lucknow described in the Narrative which follows

That defence has not only called forth all the energy and daring which belong to Englishmen in the hour of active conflict; but it has exhibited, continuously, and in the highest degree, that noble and sustained courage which against enormous odds and fearful disadvantages, against hope deferred, and through unceasing toil and wear of body and mind, still holds on day after day and triumphs

The heavy Guns of the Assailants, posted, almost in security, within fifty yards of the Entrenchments,—so near indeed that the solicitations, and threats, and taunts which the Rebels addressed to the Native defenders of the Garrison were easily heard by those true-hearted Men; the fire of the Enemy's Musketry, so searching that it penetrated the innermost retreat of the Women and Children, and of the Wounded; their desperate attempts, repeatedly made, to force an entry after blowing in the defences; the perpetual mining of the Works; the weary night watching for the expected signal of relief, and the steady waste of precious lives until the number of English Gunners was reduced below that of the Guns to be worked;—all these constitute features in a History which the Fellow-countrymen of the Heroes of Lucknow will read with swelling hearts, and which will endure for ever as a lesson to those who shall hope, by treachery, numbers, or boldness in their treason, to overcome the indomitable spirit of Englishmen.

A complete list of the brave Men who have fallen has not yet reached the Governor General in Council; but the names mentioned in Brigadier Inglis's Report are, in themselves, a long and sad one.

Amongst those who have nobly perished in this protracted struggle, Sir Henry Lawrence will occupy the first place in the thoughts of his Fellow-countrymen. The Governor General in Council has already given expression to the deep sorrow with which he mourns the loss of that distinguished man. But the name of Sir Henry Lawrence can never rise up without calling forth a tribute of honor and admiration from all who knew him.

The Governor General in Council has also to deplore the loss of Major Banks, an Officer high in the confidence of the Government of India, and who, with the full approval of the Governor General in Council, had succeeded to the charge of Chief Commissioner upon Sir Henry Lawrence's death; of Lieutenant-Colonel Case, H. M.'s 32nd Regiment, who was mortally wounded while leading on his Men at Chinhut on the 29th of June; of Captain Radcliffe, whose conspicuous bravery attracted the attention of Sir Henry Lawrence on that occasion; of Captain Francis, who was also especially noticed by Sir Henry Lawrence for his gallant conduct while in Command of the Muchhee Bhowun; of Captain Fulton, of the Engineers, whose indefatigable exertions are thankfully recorded by Brigadier Inglis; of Major Anderson, the Chief Engineer, who, contending against deadly sickness, did not cease to give his valuable aid to his Commander; of Captain Simons, Artillery, mortally wounded at Chinhut; of Lieutenants Shepherd and Arthur, 7th L. C., killed at their posts; of Captain McCabe, H. M.'s 32nd, who fell while leading his fourth sortie; of Captain Mansfield, of the same Corps, who fell a victim to Cholera.

The Governor General in Council laments also to find in this melancholy record the names of Mr Lucas, a traveller in India, and of Mr. Boyson These two Gentlemen, acting as Volunteers, received charge of one of the most dangerous outposts, and held it at the cost of their lives.

The good services of H. M's 32nd Regiment throughout this struggle have been remarkable.

To the watchful courage and sound judgment of its Commander, Brigadier Inglis, the British Government owes a heavy debt of gratitude; and Major Lowe, Captain Bassano, Lieutenants Edmonstoune, Foster, Harmar, Lawrence, Clery, Cooke, Browne, and Charlton and Quarter-master Stribbling, of this Corps, and Captain O'Brien, of H. M.'s 84th Regiment, are praised by their Superior as having severally distinguished themselves. Of the 7th L. C., Colonel Master, to whom was entrusted the command of a most exposed post, Captain Boileau, and Lieutenant Warner, are entitled to the thanks of the Governor General in Council.

The Governor General in Council recognizes, with pleasure, the distinction accorded to Major Apthorp, Captains Kemble and Saunders, Lieutenants Barwell and Keir, of the 41st N. I., as well as to Captain Germon and Lieutenant Aitken, of the 13th N. I, the latter of whom commanded an important position in the defences with signal courage and success ; to Captain Anderson, of the 25th, and to Lieutenant Graydon, of the 44th N. I.

His Lordship in Council desires to acknowledge the excellent service of Captain Dinning and Lieutenant Sewell, of the 71st N. I. ; and of Lieutenant Langmore, of the same Regiment, who held continuously a post open to attack, and entirely without shelter for himself or for his Men by night or by day ; as well as of Lieutenant Worsley, of the same Corps ; of Lieutenant Tulloch, 58th N. I. ; of Lieutenant Hay, 48th N. I., who was placed under the Engineers to assist in the arduous duties of that Department ; and of Ensign Ward, of the same Regiment, who, when the Officers of Artillery were mostly disabled, worked the Mortars with good effect ; also of Lieutenant Graham, of the 11th N. I., and of Lieut. Mecham, of the 4th Oude Irregulars.

Of the Native Officers and Men of the 13th, 48th and 71st Regiments of N. I. who have been amongst the defenders of the Residency, it is difficult to speak too highly. Their courageous constancy under the severest trials is worthy of all honor.

The Medical Officers of the Garrison are well entitled to the cordial thanks of the Government of India The attention, skill and energy evinced by Superintending Surgeon Scott ; Assistant Surgeon Boyd, H M.'s 32nd Foot ; Assistant Surgeon Bird, of the Artillery ; Surgeon Campbell, 7th L. C. ; Surgeon Brydon, 71st N. I. ; Surgeon Ogilvie, Sanitary Commissioner ; Assistant Surgeon Fayrer ; Assistant Surgeon Partridge, 2nd Oude Irregulars ; Assistant Surgeons Greenhow and Darby, and of Mr. Apothecary Thompson, are spoken of in high terms by Brigadier Inglis.

To Dr. Brydon especially the Governor General in Council would address his hearty congratulations This Officer, after passing through the Cabul Campaign of 1841-42, was included in the Illustrious Garrison who maintained their position in Jellalabad. He may now, as one of the Heroes of Lucknow, claim to have witnessed and taken part in an achievement even more conspicuous as an example of the invincible energy and enduring courage of British Soldiers.

The labors of the Officers of Engineers—Lieutenants Anderson, Hutchinson, and Innes ; and of the Artillery—Lieutenant Thomas (Madras), and Lieutenants Macfarlane and Bonham, receive, as they deserve, honorable mention, which the Governor General in Council is glad to confirm by his cordial approval.

The services rendered by Mr. McRae, Civil Engineer ; Mr Schilling, Principal of the Martinière ; and by Mr. Cameron, a gentleman who had visited Oude for commercial purposes, merit the especial thanks of the Government of India.

The Governor General in Council has read with great satisfaction the testimony borne by Brigadier Inglis to the sedulous attention given to the spiritual comforts of his Comrades by the Reverend Mr. Polehampton and the Reverend Mr Harris. The first, unhappily, has not survived his labors.

The Officers of the Staff have rendered excellent service. That of Lieutenant James, Sub-Assistant Commissary General, calls for the especial thanks of the Government of India. This Officer, although severely wounded at Chinhut, resolutely continued to give valuable aid to the Brigadier ; and it is mainly owing to his forethought and care that the Supplies of the Garrison have sufficed through the hardships of the Siege.

Captain Wilson, 13th N. I, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, has evinced courage, activity, and sound judgment in a very high degree.

Lieutenant Hardinge, Officiating as Deputy Quarter Master General, as well as Commanding the Sikh Cavalry of the Garrison, has proved himself worthy to bear his Soldier's name.

Lieutenant Barwell, 71st N. I., Fort Adjutant, is honorably mentioned ; and Lieutenant Birch, of the 71st N. I., who acted as A. D. C. to Brigadier Inglis throughout the Siege, has discharged his duties in a manner which has called forth emphatic praise from his Commander.

The Officers of the Civil Service have not been behind their Military Brethren in courage and zeal. The assistance rendered by Mr. Couper to Brigadier Inglis, as previously to Sir Henry Lawrence, has been most valuable.

Messrs. Thornhill and Capper were wounded during the Siege ; and Mr. Martin, Deputy Commissioner, and Captain Carnegie, Assistant Commissioner, have earned the special thanks of Brigadier Inglis.

To all these brave Men, and to their Brother Officers and Comrades of every rank and degree, European and Native, who have shared the same dangers and toils with the same heroic spirit, the Governor General in Council tenders his warmest thanks.

The Officers and Men of Her Majesty's Regiments must receive their full measure of acknowledgment from a Higher Authority than that of the Governor General in Council ; but it will be the pleasing duty of His Lordship in Council to express to Her Majesty's Government, and to the Honorable Court of Directors of the East India Company, in the strongest terms, the recommendation of them to that favor for which Major-General Sir James Outram so justly pleads.

Meanwhile it is a gratification to the Governor General in Council to direct, in a General Order of this day, that the rewards and honors therein specified shall be at once awarded to the Officers and Men of the two Services and to the Civilians respectively.

This notice must not be closed without mention of those noble Women who, little fitted to take part in such scenes, have assumed so cheerfully and discharged so earnestly their task of charity in ministering to sickness and pain. It is likely that to themselves the notoriety of praise publicly given may be distasteful ; yet the Governor General in Council cannot forego the pleasure of doing justice to the names of Birch, Polehampton, Barbor, and Gall, and of offering to those whose acts have so adorned them, his tribute of respectful admiration and gratitude.

The History of the Defence of the Residency of Lucknow does not end with the Narrative of Brigadier Inglis. But no full reports of the course of events at Lucknow subsequently to the junction of Sir Henry Havelock's Force with the Defenders, or of the final and effectual relief by the advance of the Commander-in-Chief, have yet been received. It is known, however, that the success which has carried joy to so many aching hearts has been clouded by the death within the last few days of one of the First Soldiers of India, Major-General Sir Henry Havelock.

The Governor General in Council deeply deplores the loss of this able leader and truly brave Man, who has been taken from the Service of his Country at a time when he can least be spared, though not before he had won for himself lasting renown, and had received at the hands of his Sovereign the gracious and prompt recognition of his merits.

FROM

BRIGADIER INGLIS,

Commanding Garrison of Lucknow,

To

THE SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT

MILITARY DEPARTMENT,

Calcutta.

Dated Lucknow, 26th September 1857.

SIR,

IN consequence of the very deeply-to-be-lamented death of Brigadier General Sir H. M. Lawrence, K. C. B., late in Command of the Oude Field Force, the duty of narrating the Military events which have occurred at Lucknow since 29th June last, has devolved upon myself.

On the evening of that day several reports reached Sir Henry Lawrence that the Rebel Army, in no very considerable force, would march from Chinhut (a small village about 8 miles distant on the road to Fyzabad) on Lucknow on the following morning; and the late Brigadier General therefore determined to make a strong reconnoisance in that direction, with the view, if possible, of meeting the Force at a disadvantage, either at its entrance into the suburbs of the City, or at the Bridge across the Gokral, which is a small stream intersecting the Fyzabad road, about half way between Lucknow and Chinhut.

The Force destined for this service, and which was composed as follows, moved out at 6 A. M. on the morning of the 30th June :—

Artillery.—4 Guns of No. — Horse Light Field Battery.
4 ditto of No. 2 Oude Field Battery.
2 ditto of No. 3 Ditto ditto ditto.
An 8-inch Howitzer.

Cavalry.—Troop of Volunteer Cavalry.
120 Troopers of Detachments belonging to 1st, 2nd and 3rd Regiments of Oude Irregular Cavalry.

Infantry.—300 Her Majesty's 32nd.
150 13th Native Infantry.
60 48th Native Infantry.
20 71st Native Infantry (Sikhs.)

The Troops, misled by the reports of wayfarers—who stated that there were few or no men between Lucknow and Chinhut—proceeded somewhat further than had been originally intended, and suddenly fell in with the Enemy, who had up to that time eluded the vigilance of the advanced Guard by concealing themselves behind a long line of trees in overwhelming numbers. The European Force and the Howitzer with the Native Infantry, held the foe in check for some time, and had the six Guns of the Oude Artillery been faithful, and the Sikh Cavalry shown a better front, the day would have been won in spite of an immense disparity in numbers. But the Oude Artillerymen and Drivers were traitors. They overturned the Guns into ditches, cut the traces of their horses, and abandoned them, regardless of the remonstrances and exertions of their own Officers, and of those of Sir Henry Lawrence's Staff, headed by the Brigadier General in person, who himself drew his sword upon these Rebels. Every effort to induce them to stand having proved ineffectual, the Force, exposed to a vastly superior fire of Artillery, and completely outflanked on both sides by an overpowering body of Infantry and Cavalry, which actually got into our rear, was compelled to retire with the loss of three pieces of Artillery, which fell into the hands of the Enemy, in consequence of the rank treachery of the Oude Gunners, and with a very grievous list of Killed and Wounded. The heat was dreadful, the Gun Ammunition was expended, and the almost total want of Cavalry to protect our rear made our retreat most disastrous.

All the Officers behaved well, and the exertions of the small body of Volunteer Cavalry—only forty in number—under Captain Radcliffe, 7th Light Cavalry, were most praiseworthy. Sir Henry Lawrence subsequently conveyed his thanks to myself, who had, at his request, accompanied him upon this occasion (Colonel Case being in Command of H. M.'s 32nd). He also expressed his approbation of the way in which his Staff—Captain Wilson, Officiating Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Lieutenant James, Sub-Assistant Commissary General; Captain Edgell, Officiating Military Secretary; and Mr. Couper, C. S.—the last of whom had acted as Sir Henry Lawrence's A. D. C. from the commencement of the disturbances,—had conducted themselves throughout this arduous day. Sir Henry further particularly mentioned that he would bring the gallant conduct of Captain Radcliffe and of Lieutenant Bonham, of the Artillery, (who worked the Howitzer successfully until incapacitated by a wound,) to the prominent notice of the Government of India. The manner in which Lieutenant Birch, 71st N. I., cleared a village with a party of Sikh Skirmishers, also elicited the admiration of the Brigadier General. The conduct of Lieutenant Hardinge, who, with his handful of horse, covered the retreat of the Rear Guard, was extolled by Sir Henry, who expressed his intention of mentioning the services of this gallant Officer to His Lordship in Council. Lieutenant-Colonel Case, who Commanded H. M.'s 32nd Regiment, was mortally wounded whilst gallantly leading on his Men. The Service had not a more deserving Officer. The Command devolved on Captain Steevens, who also received a death-wound shortly afterwards. The Command then fell to Captain Mansfield, who has since died of Cholera. A list* of the Casualties on this occasion accompanies the Despatch.

It remains to report the Siege operations.

It will be in the recollection of His Lordship in Council that it was the original intention of Sir Henry Lawrence to occupy not only the Residency, but also the Fort called Muchhee Bhowun—an old dilapidated edifice, which had been hastily repaired for the occasion, though the defences were even at the last moment very far from complete, and were moreover commanded by many houses in the City. The situation of the Muchhee Bhowun with regard to the Residency has already been described to the Government of India.

The untoward event of the 30th June so far diminished the whole available Force, that we had not a sufficient number of Men remaining to occupy both positions. The Brigadier General, therefore, on the evening of the 1st July, signalled to the Garrison of the Muchhee Bhowun to evacuate and blow up that Fortress in the course of the night. The orders were ably carried out, and at 12 P. M. the Force marched into the Residency with their Guns and Treasure without the loss of a Mine; and shortly afterwards the explosion of 240 barrels of Gunpowder and 6,000,000 Ball Cartridges, which were lying in the Magazine, announced to Sir Henry Lawrence and his Officers—who were anxiously waiting the report—the complete destruction of that post and all that it contained. If it had not been for this wise and strategic measure, no Member of the Lucknow Garrison, in all probability, would have survived to tell the tale; for, as has already been stated, the Muchhee Bhowun was commanded from other parts of the Town, and was moreover indifferently provided with heavy Artillery Ammunition, while the difficulty, suffering, and loss which the Residency Garrison, even with the Reinforcement thus obtained from the Muchhee Bhowun, has undergone in holding the position, is sufficient to show that, if the original intention of holding both posts had been adhered to, both would have inevitably fallen.

It is now my very painful duty to relate the calamity which befel us at the commencement of the Siege. On the 1st July an 8-inch Shell burst in the room in the Residency in which Sir. H. Lawrence was sitting. The missile burst between him and Mr. Couper, close to both; but without injury to either. The whole of his Staff implored Sir Henry to take up other quarters, as the Residency had then become the special target for the Round Shot and Shell of the Enemy. This, however, he jestingly declined to do, observing that another Shell would certainly never be pitched into that small room. But Providence had ordained otherwise, for on the very next day he was mortally wounded by the fragment of another Shell which burst in the same room, exactly at the same spot. Captain Wilson, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, received a contusion at the same time.

The late lamented Sir H. Lawrence, knowing that his last hour was rapidly approaching, directed me to assume Command of the Troops, and appointed Major Banks to succeed him in the Office of Chief Commissioner. He lingered in great agony till the morning of the 4th July, when he expired, and the Government was thereby deprived, if I may venture to say so, of the services of a distinguished Statesman and a most gallant Soldier. Few men have ever possessed to the same extent the power which he enjoyed of winning the hearts of all those with whom he came in contact, and thus ensuring the warmest and most zealous devotion for himself and for the Government which he served. The successful defence of the position has been, under Providence, solely attributable to the foresight which he evinced in the timely commencement of the necessary operations, and the great skill and untiring personal activity which he exhibited in carrying them into effect. All ranks possessed such confidence in his judgment and his fertility of resource, that the news of his fall was received throughout the Garrison with feelings of consternation only second to the grief which was inspired in the hearts of all by the loss of a public Benefactor and a warm personal Friend. Feeling as keenly and as gratefully as I do the obligations that the whole of us are under to this great and good man, I trust the Government of India will pardon me for having attempted, however imperfectly, to pourtray them. In him every good and deserving Soldier lost a Friend and a Chief capable of discriminating, and ever on the alert to reward merit, no matter how humble the sphere in which it was exhibited.

The Garrison had scarcely recovered the shock which it had sustained in the loss of its revered and beloved General, when it had to mourn the death of that able and respected Officer, Major Banks, the Officiating Chief Commissioner, who received a bullet through his head while examining a critical outpost on the 21st July, and died without a groan.

The description of our position, and the state of our Defences when the Siege began, are so fully set forth in the accompanying Memorandum* furnished by the Garrison Engineer, that I shall content myself with bringing to the notice of His Lordship in Council the fact that when the blockade was commenced, only two of our Batteries were completed, part of the Defences were yet in an unfinished condition, and the buildings in the immediate vicinity, which gave cover to the Enemy, were only very partially cleared away. Indeed, our heaviest losses have been caused by the fire from the Enemy's Sharp-shooters stationed in the adjoining Mosques and Houses of the Native Nobility, the necessity of destroying which had been repeatedly drawn to the attention of Sir Henry by the Staff of Engineers. But his invariable reply was—"Spare the holy places, and private property too, as far as possible"; and we have consequently suffered severely from our very tenderness to the religious prejudices and respect to the rights of our Rebellious Citizens and Soldiery. As soon as the Enemy had thoroughly completed the investment of the Residency, they occupied these houses some of which were within easy pistol shot of our Barricades, in immense force, and rapidly made loopholes on those sides which bore on our post, from which they kept up a terrific and incessant fire day and night, which caused many daily Casualties, as there could not have been less than 8,000 Men firing at one time into our position. Moreover, there was no place in the whole of our Works that could be considered safe, for several of the Sick and Wounded who were lying in the Banquetting Hall, which had been turned into an Hospital, were killed in the very centre of the building, and the Widow of Lieutenant Dorin and other Women and Children were shot dead in rooms into which it had not been previously deemed possible that a bullet could penetrate. Neither were the Enemy idle in erecting Batteries. They soon had from 20 to 25 Guns in position, some of them of very large calibre. These were planted all round our post at small distances, some being actually within fifty yards of our defences, but in places where our own heavy Guns could not reply to them, while the perseverance and ingenuity of the Enemy in erecting Barricades in front of, and around their Guns in a very short time, rendered all attempts to silence them by Musketry entirely unavailing. Neither could they be effectually silenced by Shells, by reason of their extreme proximity to our position, and because, moreover, the Enemy had recourse to digging very narrow Trenches about eight feet in depth in rear of each Gun, in which the Men lay while our Shells were flying, and which so effectually concealed them, even while working the Gun, that our baffled Sharp-shooters could only see their hands while in the act of loading.

The Enemy contented themselves with keeping up this incessant fire of Cannon and Musketry until the 20th July, on which day, at 10 A. M., they assembled in very great force all around our position, and exploded a heavy Mine inside our outer line of Defences at the Water Gate. The Mine, however, which was close to the Redan, and apparently sprung with the intention of destroying that Battery, did no harm. But as soon as the smoke had cleared away, the Enemy boldly advanced under cover of a tremendous fire of Cannon and Musketry, with the object of storming the Redan. But they were received with such a heavy fire, that after a short struggle they fell back with much loss. A strong Column advanced at the same time to attack Innes post, and came on to within ten yards of the palisades, affording to Lieutenant Loughnan, 13th N. I., who Commanded the position, and his brave Garrison, composed of Gentlemen of the Uncovenanted Service, a few of Her Majesty's 32nd Foot and of the 13th N. I., an opportunity of distinguishing themselves, which they were not slow to avail themselves of, and the Enemy were driven back with great slaughter. The Insurgents made minor attacks at almost every outpost, but were invariably defeated, and at 2 P. M. they ceased their attempts to storm the place, although their Musketry fire and Cannonading continued to harass us unceasingly as usual. Matters proceeded in this manner until the 10th August, when the Enemy made another assault, having previously sprung a Mine close to the Brigade Mess, which entirely destroyed our Defences for the space of twenty feet, and blew in a great portion of the outside wall of the house occupied by Mr. Schilling's Garrison. On the dust clearing away, a breach appeared, through which a Regiment could have advanced in perfect order, and a few of the Enemy came on with the utmost determination, but were met with such a withering flank fire of Musketry from the Officers and Men holding the top of the Brigade Mess, that they beat a speedy retreat, leaving the more adventurous of their numbers lying on the crest of the breach. While this operation was going on, another large body advanced on the Cawnpore Battery, and succeeded in locating themselves for a few minutes in the ditch. They were, however, dislodged by Hand Grenades. At Captain Anderson's post they also came boldly forward with scaling ladders, which they planted against the wall; but here, as elsewhere, they were met with the most indomitable resolution, and the leaders being slain, the rest fled, leaving the ladders, and retreated to their Batteries and loop-holed Defences, from whence they kept up, for the rest of the day, an unusually heavy Cannonade and Musketry fire. On the 18th August the Enemy sprung another Mine in front of the Sikh lines with very fatal effect. Captain Orr (unattached), Lieutenants Mecham and Soppitt, who Commanded the small body of Drummers composing the Garrison, were blown into the air; but providentially returned to earth with no further injury than a severe shaking. The Garrison, however, were not so fortunate. No less than eleven Men were buried alive under the ruins, from whence it was impossible to extricate them, owing to the tremendous fire kept up by the Enemy from houses situated not ten yards in front of the breach. The explosion was followed by a general assault of a less determined nature than the two former efforts, and the Enemy were consequently repulsed without much difficulty. But they succeeded, under cover of the breach, in establishing themselves in one of the houses in our position, from which they were driven in the evening by the Bayonets of H. M.'s 32nd and 84th Foot. On the 5th September the Enemy made their last serious assault. Having exploded a large Mine, a few feet short of the Bastion of the 18-Pounder Gun, in Major Apthorp's post, they advanced with large heavy scaling ladders, which they planted against the wall, and mounted, thereby gaining for an instant the embrasure of a Gun. They were, however, speedily driven back with loss by Hand Grenades and Musketry. A few minutes subsequently they sprung another Mine close to the Brigade Mess, and advanced boldly; but soon the corpses strewed in the Garden in front of the post bore testimony to the fatal accuracy of the Rifle and Musketry fire of the gallant Members of that Garrison, and the Enemy fled ignominiously, leaving their leader—a fine-looking old Native Officer—among the slain. At other posts they made similar attacks, but with less resolution, and every where with the same want of success. Their loss upon this day must have been very heavy, as they came on with much determination, and at night they were seen bearing large numbers of their Killed and Wounded over the Bridges in the direction of Cantonments. The above is a faint attempt at a description of the four great struggles which have occurred during this protracted season of exertion, exposure, and suffering. His Lordship in Council will perceive that the Enemy invariably commenced his attacks by the explosion of a Mine, a species of offensive warfare, for the exercise of which our position was unfortunately peculiarly situated, and had it not been for the most untiring vigilance on our part, in watching and blowing up their Mines before they were completed, the assaults would probably have been much more numerous, and might, perhaps, have ended in the capture of the place. But by countermining in all directions, we succeeded in detecting and destroying no less than four of the Enemy's subterraneous advances towards important positions, two of which operations were eminently successful, as on one occasion not less than eighty of them were blown into the air, and twenty suffered a similar fate on the second explosion. The labor, however, which devolved upon us in making these counter-Mines, in the absence of a body of skilled Miners, was very heavy. The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council will feel that it would be impossible to crowd, within the limits of a Despatch, even the principal events, much more the individual acts of gallantry which have marked this protracted struggle. But I can conscientiously declare my conviction, that few Troops have ever undergone greater hardships, exposed as they have been to a never-ceasing Musketry fire and Cannonade. They have also experienced the alternate vicissitudes of extreme wet and of intense heat, and that too with very insufficient shelter from either, and in many places without any shelter at all. In addition to having had to repel real attacks, they have been exposed night and day to the hardly less harassing false alarms which the Enemy have been constantly raising. The Insurgents have frequently fired very heavily, sounded the advance, and shouted for several hours together, though not a man could be seen, with the view, of course, of harassing our small and exhausted Force, in which object they succeeded, for no part has been strong enough to allow of a portion only of the Garrison being prepared in the event of a false attack being turned into a real one. All therefore had to stand to their arms, and to remain at their posts until the demonstration had ceased; and such attacks were of almost nightly occurrence. The whole of the Officers and Men have been on duty night and day, during the eighty-seven days which the Siege had lasted, up to the arrival of Sir J. Outram, G. C. B. In addition to this incessant Military duty, the Force has been nightly employed in repairing Defences, in moving Guns, in burying dead Animals, in conveying Ammunition and Commissariat Stores from one place to another, and in other fatigue duties too numerous and too trivial to enumerate here. I feel, however, that any words of mine will fail to convey any adequate idea of what our fatigue and labors have been—labors in which all ranks and all classes, Civilians, Officers, and Soldiers, have all borne an equally noble part. All have together descended into the Mine, all have together handled the shovel for the interment of the putrid Bullock, and all, accoutred with Musket and Bayonet, have relieved each other on sentry, without regard to the distinctions of rank, Civil or Military. Notwithstanding all these hardships, the Garrison has made no less than five sorties, in which they spiked two of the Enemy's heaviest Guns, and blew up several of the houses from which they had kept up their most harassing fire. Owing to the extreme paucity of our numbers, each Man was taught to feel that, on his own individual efforts alone depended in no small measure the safety of the entire position. This consciousness incited every Officer, Soldier and Man, to defend the post assigned to him with such desperate tenacity, and to fight for the lives which Providence had entrusted to his care with such dauntless determination, that the Enemy, despite their constant attacks, their heavy Mines, their overwhelming numbers, and their incessant fire, could never succeed in gaining one single inch of ground within the bounds of this straggling position, which was so feebly fortified, that had they once obtained a footing in any of the outposts, the whole place must inevitably have fallen.

If further proof be wanting of the desperate nature of the struggle which we have, under God's blessing, so long and so successfully waged, I would point to the roofless and ruined houses, to the crumbled walls, to the exploded Mines, to the open breaches, to the shattered and disabled Guns and Defences, and lastly, to the long and melancholy list of the brave and devoted Officers and Men who have fallen. These silent witnesses bear sad and solemn testimony to the way in which this feeble position has been defended. During the early part of these vicissitudes, we were left without any information whatever regarding the posture of affairs outside. An occasional spy did indeed come in with the object of inducing our Sepoys and Servants to desert; but the intelligence derived from such sources was, of course, entirely untrustworthy. We sent our messengers, daily calling for aid and asking for information, none of whom ever returned until the 26th day of the Siege, when a Pensioner named Ungud came back with a letter from General Havelock's Camp, informing us that they were advancing with a Force sufficient to bear down all opposition, and would be with us in five or six days. A messenger was immediately despatched, requesting that on the evening of their arrival on the outskirts of the City, two Rockets might be sent up, in order that we might take the necessary measures for assisting them while forcing their way in. The sixth day, however, expired, and they came not; but for many evenings after Officers and Men watched for the ascension of the expected Rockets, with hopes such as make the heart sick. We knew not then, nor did we learn until the 29th August—or thirty-five days later—that the Relieving Force, after having fought most nobly to effect our deliverance, had been obliged to fall back for Reinforcements, and this was the last communication we received until two days before the arrival of Sir James Outram on the 25th September.

Besides heavy visitations of Cholera and Smallpox, we have also had to contend against a sickness which has almost universally pervaded the Garrison. Commencing with a very painful eruption it has merged into a low Fever, combined with Diarrhœa; and although few or no men have actually died from its effects, it leaves behind a weakness and lassitude which, in the absence of all material sustenance, save coarse beef and still coarser flour, none have been able entirely to get over. The mortality among the Women and Children, and especially among the latter, from these diseases and from other causes, has been perhaps the most painful characteristic of the Siege. The want of Native Servants has also been a source of much privation. Owing to the suddenness with which we were besieged, many of these people who might perhaps have otherwise proved faithful to their employers, but who were outside the Defences at the time, were altogether excluded. Very many more deserted, and several Families were consequently left without the services of a single domestic. Several Ladies have had to tend their Children, and even to wash their own clothes, as well as to cook their scanty meals entirely unaided. Combined with the absence of Servants, the want of proper accommodation has probably been the cause of much of the disease with which we have been afflicted. I cannot refrain from bringing to the prominent notice of His Lordship in Council the patient endurance and the Christian resignation which have been evinced by the Women of this Garrison. They have animated us by their example. Many alas! have been made Widows and their Children fatherless in this cruel struggle. But all such seem resigned to the will of Providence, and many, among whom may be mentioned the honored names of Birch, of Polehampton, of Barbor, and of Gall, have, after the example of Miss Nightingale, constituted themselves the tender and solicitous nurses of the wounded and dying Soldiers in the Hospital.

It only remains for me to bring to the favorable notice of His Lordship in Council the names of those Officers who have most distinguished themselves, and afforded me the most valuable assistance in these operations. Many of the best and bravest of these now rest from their labors. Among them are Lieutenant-Colonel Case and Captain Radcliffe, whose services have already been narrated; Captain Francis, 13th N. I.—who was killed by a round shot—had particularly attracted the attention of Sir H. Lawrence for his conduct while in Command of the Muchhee Bhowun; Captain Fulton, of the Engineers, who also was struck by a Round Shot, had, up to the time of his early and lamented death, afforded me the most invaluable aid; he was indeed indefatigable; Major Anderson, the Chief Engineer, though, from the commencement of the Siege, incapable of physical exertion from the effects of the disease under which he eventually sank, merited my warm acknowledgments for his able counsel; Captain Simons, Commandant of Artillery, distinguished himself at Chinhut, where he received the two wounds which ended in his death; Lieutenants Shepherd and Arthur, 7th Light Cavalry, who were killed at their posts; Captain Hughes, 57th N. I., who was mortally wounded at the capture of a house which formed one of the Enemy's outposts; Captain McCabe, of the 32nd Foot, who was killed at the head of his Men while leading his fourth sortie, as well as Captain Mansfield, of the same Corps, who died of Cholera—were all Officers who had distinguished themselves highly. Mr. Lucas, too, a Gentleman Volunteer, and Mr. Boyson, of the Uncovenanted Service—who fell when on the look-out at one of the most perilous outposts—had earned themselves reputations for coolness and gallantry.

The Officers who Commanded Outposts—Lieutenant-Colonel Master, 7th Light Cavalry; Major Apthorp, 41st N. I.; Captain Sanders, 41st N. I.; Captain Boileau, 7th Light Cavalry; Captain Germon, 13th N. I.; Lieutenant Aitken, and Lieutenant Loughnan, of the same Corps; Captain Anderson, 25th N. I.; Lieutenant Graydon, 44th N. I; Lieutenant Langmore, 71st N. I.; and Mr. Schilling, Principal of the Martiniere College—have all conducted ably the duties of their onerous position. No further proof of this is necessary than the fact which I have before mentioned, that throughout the whole duration of the Siege the Enemy were not only unable to take, but they could not even succeed in gaining one inch of the posts Commanded by these gallant Gentlemen. Colonel Master Commanded the critical and important post of the Brigade Mess, on either side of which was an open breach, only flanked by his handful of Riflemen and Musketeers. Lieutenant Aitken, with the whole of the 13th N. I., which remained to us with the exception of their Sikhs, commanded the Bayley Guard—perhaps the most important position in the whole of the Defences; and Lieutenant Langmore, with the remnant of his Regiment (the 71st), held a very exposed position between the Hospital and the Water Gate. This gallant and deserving young Soldier and his Men were entirely without shelter from the weather, both by night and by day.

My thanks are also due to Lieutenants Anderson, Hutchinson and Innes, of the Engineers, as well as to Lieutenant Tulloch, 58th N. I., and Lieutenant Hay, 48th N. I., who were placed under them to aid in the arduous duties devolving upon that Department. Lieutenant Thomas, Madras Artillery, who Commanded that arm of the service for some weeks, and Lieutenants Macfarlane and Bonham rendered me the most effectual assistance. I was, however, deprived of the services of the two latter, who were wounded, Lieutenant Bonham no less than three times, early in the Siege. Captain Evans, 17th B. N I., who owing to the scarcity of Artillery Officers was put in charge of some Guns, was ever to be found at his post.

Major Lowe, Commanding H. M.'s 32nd Regiment; Captain Bassano, Lieutenants Lawrence, Edmonstoune, Foster, Harmar, Cooke, Clery, Browne, and Charlton, of that Corps, have all nobly performed their duty. Every one of these Officers, with the exception of Lieutenants Lawrence and Clery, have received one or more wounds of more or less severity. Quarter Master Stribbling, of the same Corps, also conducted himself to my satisfaction.

Captain O'Brien, H. M.'s 84th Foot; Captain Kemble, 41st N. I.; Captain Edgell, 53rd N. I.; Captain Dinning, Lieutenant Sewell, and Lieutenant Worsley, of the 71st N. I.; Lieutenant Warner, 7th L. C.; Ensign Ward, 48th N. I, (who, when most of our Artillery Officers were killed or disabled, worked the Mortars with excellent effect); Lieutenant Graham, 11th N. I.; Lieutenant Mecham, 4th Oude Locals; and Lieutenant Keir, 41st N. I., have all done good and willing service throughout the Siege, and I trust that they will receive the favorable notice of His Lordship in Council.

I beg particularly to call the attention of the Government of India to the untiring industry, the extreme devotion and the great skill which have been evinced by Surgeon Scott (Superintending Surgeon), and Assistant Surgeon Boyd, of H. M.'s 32nd Foot; Assistant Surgeon Bird, of the Artillery; Surgeon Campbell, 7th Light Cavalry; Surgeon Brydon, 71st N. I.; Surgeon Ogilvie, Sanitary Commissioner; Assistant Surgeon Fayrer, Civil Surgeon; Assistant Surgeon Partridge, 2nd Oude Irregular Cavalry; Assistant Surgeon Greenhow; Assistant Surgeon Darby, and by Mr. Apothecary Thompson, in the discharge of their onerous and most important duties.

Messrs. Thornhill and Capper, of the Civil Service, have been both wounded, and the way in which they, as well as Mr. Martin, the Deputy Commissioner of Lucknow, conducted themselves, entitles them to a place in this Despatch. Captain Carnegie, the Special Assistant Commissioner, whose invaluable services previous to the commencement of the Siege I have frequently heard warmly dilated upon, both by Sir H. Lawrence and by Major Banks, and whose exertions will probably be more amply brought to notice by the Civil Authorities on some future occasion, has conducted the office of Provost Marshal to my satisfaction. The Reverend Mr. Harris and the Reverend Mr. Polehampton, Assistant Chaplains, vied with each other in their untiring care and attention to the suffering Men. The latter Gentleman was wounded in the Hospital, and subsequently unhappily died of Cholera. Mr. McCrae, of the Civil Engineers, did excellent service at the Guns, until he was severely wounded. Mr. Cameron, also, a Gentleman who had come to Oude to enquire into the resources of the Country, acquired the whole mystery of Mortar practice, and was of the most signal service until incapacitated by sickness. Mr. Marshall, of the Road Department, and other Members of the Uncovenanted Service, whose names will, on a subsequent occasion, be laid before the Government of India, conducted themselves bravely and steadily. Indeed, the entire body of these Gentlemen have borne themselves well, and have evinced great coolness under fire.

I have now only to bring to the notice of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council the conduct of the several Officers who composed my Staff:—Lieutenant James, Sub-Assistant Commissary General, was severely wounded by a shot through the knee at Chinhut, notwithstanding which he refused to go upon the Sick List, and carried on his most trying duties throughout the entire Siege. It is not too much to say that the Garrison owe their lives to the exertions and firmness of this Officer. Before the struggle commenced, he was ever in the saddle, getting in Supplies, and his untiring vigilance in their distribution after our difficulties had begun, prevented a waste which otherwise, long before the expiration of the eighty-seven days, might have annihilated the Force by the slow process of starvation.

Captain Wilson, 13th N. I., Officiating Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, was ever to be found where shot was flying thickest, and I am at a loss to decide whether his services were most invaluable owing to the untiring physical endurance and bravery which he displayed, or to his ever-ready and pertinent counsel and advice in moments of difficulty and danger.

Lieutenant Hardinge—an Officer whose achievements and antecedents are well-known to the Government of India—has earned fresh laurels by his conduct throughout the Siege. He was officiating as Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General and also Commanded the Sikh portion of the Cavalry of the Garrison. In both capacities his services have been invaluable, especially in the latter, for it was owing alone to his tact, vigilance, and bravery, that the Sikh Horsemen, were induced to persevere in holding a very unprotected post under a heavy fire.

Lieutenant Barwell, 71st N. I., the Fort Adjutant and Officiating Major of Brigade, has proved himself to be an efficient Officer.

Lieutenant Birch, of the 71st N. I., has been my A. D. C. throughout the Siege. I firmly believe there never was a better A. D. C. He has been indefatigable, and ever ready to lead a sortie, or to convey an order to a threatened outpost under the heaviest fire. On one of these occasions he received a slight wound on the head. I beg to bring the services of this most promising and intelligent young Officer to the favorable consideration of His Lordship in Council.

I am also much indebted to Mr. Couper, C. S., for the assistance he has on many occasions afforded me by his judicious advice. I have, moreover, ever found him most ready and willing in the performance of the Military duties assigned to him, however exposed the post or arduous the undertaking. He commenced his career in Her Majesty's Service, and consequently had had some previous experience of Military matters. If the road to Cawnpore had been made clear by the advent of our Troops, it was my intention to have deputed this Officer to Calcutta, to detail in person the occurrences which have taken place, for the information of the Government of India. I still hope that when our communications shall be once more unopposed, he may be summoned to Calcutta for this purpose.

Lastly, I have the pleasure of bringing the splendid behaviour of the Soldiers, viz., the Men of H. M.'s 32nd Foot, the small Detachment of H. M.'s 84th Foot, the European and Native Artillery, the 13th, 48th and 71st Regiments N. I, and the Sikhs of the respective Corps, to the notice of the Government of India. The losses sustained by H. M.'s 32nd, which is now barely 300 strong; by H. M.'s 84th and by the European Artillery, show at least that they knew how to die in the cause of their Countrymen. Their conduct under the fire, the exposure, and the privations which they have had to undergo, has been throughout most admirable and praiseworthy.

As another instance of the desperate character of our defence and the difficulties we have had to contend with, I may mention that the number of our Artillerymen was so reduced that on the occasion of an attack, the Gunners—aided as they were by Men of H. M.'s 32nd Foot, and by Volunteers of all Classes, had to run from one Battery to another wherever the fire of the Enemy was hottest, there not being nearly enough Men to serve half the number of Guns at the same time. In short, at last, the number of European Gunners was only twenty-four, while we had, including Mortars, no less than thirty Guns in position.

With respect to the Native Troops I am of opinion that their loyalty has never been surpassed. They were indifferently fed and worse housed. They were exposed—especially the 13th Regiment—under the gallant Lieutenant Aitken, to a most galling fire of Round Shot and Musketry, which materially decreased their numbers. They were so near the Enemy that conversation could be carried on between them; and every effort, persuasion, promise, and threat was alternately resorted to, in vain, to seduce them from their allegiance to the handful of Europeans, who, in all probability, would have been sacrificed by their desertion. All the Troops behaved nobly, and the names of those Men of the Native Force who have particularly distinguished themselves, have been laid before Major General Sir James Outram, G. C. B., who has promised to promote them. Those of the European Force will be transmitted in due course for the orders of his Royal Highness the General Commanding-in-Chief.

In conclusion, I beg leave to express, on the part of myself and the Members of this Garrison, our deep and grateful sense of the conduct of Major General Sir J. Outram, G. C. B.; of Brigadier General Havelock, C. B., and of the Troops under those Officers who so devotedly came to our relief at so heavy a sacrifice of life. We are also repaid for much suffering and privation by the sympathy which our brave deliverers say our perilous and unfortunate position has excited for us in the hearts of our Countrymen throughout the length and breadth of Her Majesty's dominions.

I have, &c,

DIVISION ORDERS BY MAJOR-GENERAL SIR JAMES OUTRAM, G. C. B.

Head Quarters, Lucknow, October 5th 1857.

The incessant and arduous duties which have devolved on Brigadier Inglis and his Staff since the arrival of the Relieving Force had hitherto prevented him from furnishing to the Major-General Commanding the usual Official documents relative to the Siege of the Garrison.

In the absence of these, the Major-General could not with propriety have indulged in any public declaration of the admiration with which he regards the heroism displayed by Brigadier Inglis and the glorious Garrison he has so ably Commanded during the last three Months, and he has been reluctantly obliged to defer therefore so long the expression of the sentiments he was desirous to offer.

But the Major-General having at length received Brigadier Inglis' Reports, is relieved from the necessity of further silence, and he hastens to tender to the Brigadier and to every individual Member of the Garrison, the assurance of his confidence that their services will be regarded by the Government under which they are immediately serving, by the British Nation, and by Her Gracious Majesty, with equal admiration to that with which he is himself impressed.

The Major-General believes that the annals of warfare contain no brighter page than that which will record the bravery, fortitude, vigilance, and patient endurance of hardships, privation, and fatigue displayed by the Garrison of Lucknow, and he is very conscious that his unskilled pen must needs fail adequately to convey to the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India, and His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the profound sense of the merits of that Garrison, which has been forced on his mind by a careful consideration of the almost incredible difficulties with which they have had to contend.

The term "illustrious" was well and happily applied, by a former Governor General of India to the Garrison of Jellalabad; but some far more laudatory epithet, if such the English language contains, is due, the Major General considers, to the brave Men whom Brigadier Inglis has Commanded, with undeviating success and untarnished honor, through the late memorable Siege; for while the devoted band of Heroes who so nobly maintained the honor of their Country's arms under Sir R. Sale were seldom exposed to actual attack, the Lucknow Garrison, of inferior strength, have, in addition to a series of fierce assaults, gallantly and successfully repulsed, been for three Months exposed to a nearly incessant fire from strong and commanding positions, held by an Enemy of overwhelming force, possessing powerful Artillery, having at their command the whole resources of what was but recently a Kingdom, and animated by an insane and blood-thirsty fanaticism.

It is a source of heartfelt satisfaction to the Major-General to be able, to a certain extent, to confer on the Native portion of the Garrison an instalment of those rewards which their gallant and grateful Commander has sought for them, and which he is very certain the Governor General will bestow in full; and though the Major General, as regards the European portion of the Garrison, cannot do more than give his most earnest and hearty support to the recommendations of the Brigadier, he feels assured that the Governor General of India will fully and publicly manifest his appreciation of their distinguished services, and that our beloved Sovereign will herself deign to convey to them some gracious expression of royal approbation of their conduct.

Brigadier Inglis has borne generous testimony to the bravery, vigilance, devotedness, and good conduct of all ranks; and to all ranks, as the local representative of the British Indian Government, the Major-General tenders his warmest acknowledgments. He would fain offer his special congratulations and thanks to the European and Eurasian portion of the Garrison whom Brigadier Inglis has particularly noticed; but by doing so he would forestall the Governor General in the exercise of what the Major-General is assured will be one of the most pleasing acts of his Official life.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1857

GENERAL ORDER BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

No. 1546 of 1857.

Fort William, 10th December 1857.

The Right Honorable the Governor General in Council directs that the accompanying Despatches from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, which reached the Government of India last night, be at once published in General Orders

These Despatches declare the signal defeat of the Rebels in the City of Lucknow, and the completely successful rescue of the Women and Children, Sick and Wounded, together with their heroic Defenders, from the long-beleaguered Residency.

Of the Military operations described in them the Governor General in Council will not presume to speak. They are explained fully and clearly, and every sentence bears proof of their having been guided by a Master hand, and of that unbounded mutual confidence between the Soldiers and their Commander, which, as it is the growth of past dangers and triumphs shared in common, so is it the assurance of Victories yet to come.

Most heartily does the Governor General in Council congratulate the Commander-in-Chief and his brave Companions in Arms upon the first fruits of their brilliant achievement. To have been the instruments through which, by God's blessing, the inmates of the Lucknow Residency have, in the face of extraordinary difficulties, and in the presence of a numerous Enemy, been snatched from danger and placed in security, will be a life-long source of pride and satisfaction to every man who has had part in the Work.

To General Sir Colin Campbell, G. C. B., the fearless, skilled, and sound-judging leader in this anxious enterprize, his Country owes a new debt of gratitude. In the name of the Government of India the Governor General in Council desires to record his deep obligations to His Excellency.

The Governor General in Council offers his most cordial thanks to Major-General Mansfield, Chief of the Staff, to whose ability and experience the Commander-in-Chief expresses himself so deeply indebted for the most valuable assistance throughout these operations.

To Brigadier General Hope Grant, C. B., who immediately Commanded the Division employed, His Lordship in Council tenders his warm acknowledgments, for the very admirable manner in which he performed the arduous duties of his Command. This well-tried Officer had already greatly distinguished himself in the operations before Delhi, and has received the public thanks of Government.

The Governor General in Council recognizes with great satisfaction the conspicuously gallant conduct of Brigadier the Honble. Adrian Hope, 93rd Highlanders, who is repeatedly brought to notice in these Despatches.

To Captain Peel, C. B., of the Royal Navy, whose exemplary coolness and energetic courage are so prominently mentioned by the Commander-in-Chief, the most sincere thanks of Government are offered. To no Officer are they more eminently due.

The Officers Commanding Brigades and Regiments have merited the acknowledgments of the Governor General in Council, and he has much satisfaction in thus tendering his thanks to Brigadier Crawford, Royal Artillery, Commanding the Artillery; to Brigadier Little, 9th Lancers, Commanding the Cavalry; to Brigadier Greathed, Her Majesty's 8th Regiment, who having, in a series of important successes, led a Column of Troops from Delhi, after the Capture of that City, to Cawnpore, has now further distinguished himself in the Relief of Lucknow; to Brigadier Russell, 84th Foot, who was severely wounded while Commanding the 3rd Infantry Brigade; to Lieutenant Lennox, Royal Engineers, Acting Chief Engineer; to Lieutenant Vaughan, Royal Artillery, who served with the Naval Brigade; to Major Turner, Commanding the Bengal Artillery, in whose praise the Commander-in-Chief has so warmly expressed himself; to Captain Travers, Commanding the Royal Artillery; to Captains Remmington and Blunt, Commanding Troops of Bengal Horse Artillery, and Captain Maxwell, Artillery, attached to the Naval Brigade; to Captains Middleton, Royal Artillery, and Bourchier, Bengal Artillery, who so ably Commanded Field Batteries; and to Captain Longden, Royal Artillery, Commanding the Mortar Battery.

The Governor General in Council cordially concurs with the Commander-in-Chief in the eulogy bestowed by His Excellency on the Royal Artillery and on that of Bengal and Madras, who emulated one another, and were alike distinguished in rendering the most conspicuous and important services in these memorable operations.

His Lordship in Council offers his thanks to Lieutenants Walker, Bengal Artillery, Ford and Brown, Royal Artillery, who Commanded Batteries; to Lieutenant Bridge, who ably Commanded the Guns of the Madras Horse Artillery; to Lieutenant Scott, Madras Engineers, in Command of the Sappers and Miners.

The thanks of Government are also due to Major Ouvry, Commanding 9th Lancers; to Major Robertson, Commanding Military Train; to Lieutenant-Colonels Wells, Commanding 23rd Fusiliers; Gordon, 93rd Highlanders, in temporary Command Her Majesty's 53rd Regiment; Hale, Commanding Her Majesty's 82nd Regiment; Leith Hay, Commanding 93rd Highlanders; Hamilton, Commanding 78th Highlanders, and who led the 1st Battalion of Detachments; and to Major Barnston, Her Majesty's 90th Foot, Commanding 2nd Battalion of Detachments, whose services, together with those of the other Officers Commanding Corps named above, are repeatedly brought to the favorable notice of Government, and who, it is observed with great regret, was dangerously wounded.

The Governor General in Council has to regret the loss of Captain Hardy, who Commanded the Heavy Field Battery of the Royal Artillery.

His Lordship in Council acknowledges the merits of Lieutenants Watson, Probyn, Younghusband, and Gough, Commanding Detachments of Punjaub Cavalry and Hodson's Horse; of Captain Green, Commanding 2nd Punjaub Infantry; of Lieutenant Willoughby, 4th Punjaub Infantry, of Lieutenant Ryves, who Commanded the same Corps towards the conclusion of the operations; of Major Milman, 5th Fusiliers; and Lieutenant-Colonel M'Intyre, 78th Highlanders, who Commanded Detachments conspicuously; of Lieutenant-Colonel Ewart, 93rd Highlanders, who Commanded at the Barracks; of Captains Dawson, 93rd Highlanders; Rolleston, 84th Foot, and Hopkins, 53rd Regiment; and of Lieutenants Fisher and Powlett, 2nd Punjaub Infantry—all of whom bravely and effectively Commanded separate Detachments or Posts

To Captain Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army, the Commander-in-Chief has recorded his warm acknowledgments, and the Governor General in Council cordially concurs in recognizing the highly distinguished services rendered, not for the first time, by this Officer.

The Governor General in Council offers his thanks to Colonel Berkeley, Her Majesty's 32nd Foot; to Major Alison, Military Secretary to the Commander-in-Chief, (very severely wounded); to Captain Sir David Baird, Bart., Aide-de-Camp; and to Lieutenant Hope Johnstone, Depy. Assist. Adjutant General to the Chief of the Staff.

His Lordship in Council has also to thank Lieutenant Algood, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Captains Maycock and Carey, of the same Department; Captain Rudman, of the Adjutant General's Department, Her Majesty's Forces; Captain Hutch, Deputy Judge Advocate General; Captains Alison and Forster, Aides-de-Camp to the Commander-in-Chief; Captain Metcalfe and Lieutenant Murray, on His Excellency's Personal Staff; Captain Cox, 75th Foot, Brigade Major; Lieutenant Roberts, Bengal Artillery, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Captain Hamilton, 9th Lancers, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Captain the Honorable A. H. Anson, Her Majesty's 84th, Aide-de-Camp, and Lieutenant Salmond, 7th Light Cavalry, Acting Aide-de-Camp to Brigadier General Grant; Captain Hammond, Bengal Artillery, Brigade Major of Artillery, (who was severely wounded); Captain H. LeG Bruce, Brevet Major Barry, and Lieutenant Bunny, Staff Officers of the Royal and Bengal Artillery; Lieutenant Watson, Bengal Engineers, Brigade Major of Engineers; Captain Sarel, 17th Lancers, Brigade Major of Cavalry; and Captains Bannatyne, 8th Foot, and Lightfoot, 84th Foot, Brigade Majors of Infantry; as well as Lieutenant P. Stewart, Bengal Engineers, Superintendent of the Electric Telegraph, whom the Commander-in-Chief mentions with much praise.

The acknowledgments of Government are also due to Captain Dickens, Commissariat Department, and to Lieutenant Tod Brown, Ordnance Commissariat, who have rendered distinguished service, and given much satisfaction to the Commander-in-Chief in the discharge of their duties.

Of the services of Surgeon J. C. Brown, attached to the Bengal Artillery, since become Superintending Surgeon, His Excellency speaks in high terms, and it gives satisfaction to the Governor General in Council to acknowledge this Officer's merit.

His Lordship in Council has to record with much regret the death of Colonel Biddulph, 45th Bengal Native Infantry, to whose conduct the Commander-in-Chief bears testimony.

It is with much gratification that the Governor General in Council recgonizes the distinguished bravery of Subadar Gokul Sing, 4th Punjaub Rifles, at the storming of Secunderbagh. The services of this gallant Native Officer will be duly rewarded.

The Commander-in-Chief speaks in high terms of the daring conduct of Lord Seymour, who, as a Volunteer, joined the Commander-in-Chief and was present throughout the operations before Lucknow. The thanks of the Governor General in Council are due to Lord Seymour for the good service which he has freely rendered.

His Excellency mentions with just appreciation the valuable aid which he received from Mr. Cavenagh, of the Uncovenanted Civil Service; and the Governor General in Council offers his special thanks to Mr. Cavenagh, whose conduct will be borne in mind by Government.

To the brave and indomitable Troops of all Arms, who took part in the glorious operations described by the Commander-in-Chief, and to their Comrades of the Naval Brigade, unsurpassed in gallantry and devotion to their duty, the Governor General in Council cordially offers the tribute of his warmest acknowledgments. Under their honored leader they have achieved signal success, and it will be the first care of the Governor General in Council to bring to the favorable notice of the Government and of the Honorable Court of Directors the important services and high deserts of General Sir Colin Campbell, G. C. B, and of the Officers and Men who have borne part in the last operations at Lucknow.

FROM HIS EXCELLENCY THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF,

TO

THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Head Quarters;

SHAH NUJJEEF,

Lucknow, 18th November 1857.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honor to apprise your Lordship that I left Cawnpore on the 9th November, and joined the Troops under the Command of Brigadier General Hope Grant, C. B., the same day, at Camp Buntara, about six miles from Alumbagh.

There being a few Detachments on the road, I deemed it expedient to wait till the 12th before commencing my advance.

Naval Brigade, Eight (8) Heavy Guns.
Bengal Horse Artillery, Ten (10) Guns.
Bengal Horse Field Battery, Six (6) Guns.
Heavy Field Battery, Royal Artillery.
Detachments Bengal and Punjaub Sappers and Miners
H. M.'s 9th Lancers.
Detachments 1st, 2nd, and 5th Punjaub Cavalry and Hodson's Horse
H. M.'s 8th, 53rd, 75th and 93rd Regiments of Infantry
2nd and 4th Punjaub Infantry.
Probable Total 700 Cavalry, 2,700 Infantry.

On that day I marched early for Alumbagh with the Troops named in the margin.

The Advance Guard was attacked by two Guns and a body of about 2,000 Infantry. After a smart skirmish, the Guns were taken; Lieutenant Gough, Commanding Hodson's Irregular Horse, having distinguished himself very much in a brilliant charge by which this object was effected.

The Camp was pitched on that evening at Alumbagh. This place I found to be annoyed to a certain extent by Guns placed in different positions in the neighbourhood.

I caused the Post to be cleared of lumber and cattle, and placed all my Tents in it.

I made my arrangements for marching without baggage when I should reach the Park of Dilkoosha, and the Men were directed to have three days' food in their haversacks. I changed the Garrison at Alumbagh, taking fresh Men from it, and leaving H. M.'s 75th Regiment there, which had been so much harassed by its late exertions.

Detachment joined on and up to the 14th.
Two (2) Guns Madras Horse Artillery.
Reserve Royal Artillery.
Royal Engineers.
Military Train.
Head Quarters H. M.'s 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers.
Detachment H. M.'s 82nd Infantry

On the 14th, I expected a further reinforcement of 600 or 700 Men, composed as per margin, who joined my Rear Guard after my march had commenced in the morning of that day.

As I approached the Park of Dilkoosha, the leading Troops were met by a long line of musketry fire

The Advance Guard was quickly reinforced by a Field Battery and more Infantry, composed of Companies of H. M.'s 5th, 64th and 78th Foot, under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Hamilton, H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, supported by the 8th Foot. After a running fight of about two hours, in which our loss was very inconsiderable, the Enemy was driven down the hill to the Martinière, across the Garden and Park of the Martinière, and far beyond the Canal.

His loss was trifling, owing to the suddenness of the retreat.

The Dilkoosha and Martinière were both occupied, Brigadier Hope's Brigade being then brought up and arranged in position in the wood of the Martinière at the end opposite the Canal, being flanked to the left by Captain Bourchier's Field Battery and two of Captain Peel's heavy Guns.

Shortly after these arrangements had been made, the Enemy drew out a good many people and attacked our position in front.

He was quickly driven off, some of our Troops crossing the Canal in pursuit.

On this occasion the 53rd, 93rd, and a body of the 4th Punjaub Sikhs, distinguished themselves.

Two very promising young Officers lost their lives—Lieutenant Mayne, Bengal Horse Artillery, Quarter-Master General's Department, and Captain Wheatcroft, Carabineers, doing duty with H. M.'s 9th Lancers.

All the Troops behaved very well.

With the exception of my Tents, all my heavy baggage, including provisions for fourteen days for my own Force and that in Lucknow, accompanied me on my march across country to Dilkoosha, covered by a strong Rear Guard under Lieutenant-Colonel Ewart, of H. M.'s 93rd Highlanders. This Officer distinguished himself very much in this difficult Command; his Artillery, under Captain Blunt, Bengal Horse Artillery, assisted by the Royal Artillery under Colonel Crawford, R. A., having been in action for the greater part of the day.

The Rear Guard did not close up to the Column until late next day, the Enemy having hung on it until dark on the 14th.

Every description of baggage having been left at Dilkoosha, which was occupied by H. M.'s 8th Regiment, I advanced direct on Secunderbagh early on the 16th.

This place is a high walled enclosure of strong masonry, of 120 yards square, and was carefully loop-holed all round. It was held very strongly by the Enemy. Opposite to it was a Village at a distance of a hundred yards, which was also loop-holed and filled with Men.

On the head of the Column advancing up the lane to the left of the Secunderbagh, fire was opened on us. The Infantry of the Advance Guard was quickly thrown in skirmishing order to line a bank to the right.

The Guns were pushed rapidly onwards, viz., Captain Blunt's Troop, Bengal Horse Artillery, and Captain Travers' Royal Artillery, Heavy Field Battery.

The Troop passed at a gallop through a cross-fire from the Village and Secunderbagh, and opened fire within easy musketry range in a most daring manner.

As soon as they could be pushed up a stiff bank, two 18-Pounder Guns, under Captain Travers, were also brought to bear on the Building.

Whilst this was being effected, the leading Brigade of Infantry, under Brigadier the Hon'ble Adrian Hope, coming rapidly into action, caused the loop-holed Village to be abandoned; the whole fire of the Brigade being then directed on the Secunderbagh.

After a time a large body of the Enemy, who were holding ground to the left of our advance, were driven by parties of the 53rd and 93rd, two of Captain Blunt's Guns aiding the movement.

The Highlanders pursued their advantage and seized the Barracks, and immediately converted it into a Military Post, the 53rd stretching in a long line of Skirmishers in the open plain and driving the Enemy before them.

The attack on the Secunderbagh had now been proceeding for about an hour and a half, when it was determined to take the place by storm through a small opening which had been made. This was done in the most brilliant manner by the remainder of the Highlanders, and the 53rd and the 4th Punjaub Infantry, supported by a Battalion of Detachments under Major Barnston.

There never was a bolder feat of arms, and the loss inflicted on the Enemy, after the entrance of the Secunderbagh was effected, was immense;—more than 2,000 of the Enemy were afterwards carried out.

The Officers who led these Regiments were Lieutenant-Colonel Leith Hay, H. M.'s 93rd Highlanders; Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon, H M.'s 93rd Highlanders; Captain Walton, H. M.'s 53rd Foot; Lieutenant Paul, 4th Punjaub Infantry, (since dead); and Major Barnston, H M 's 90th Foot.

Captain Peel's Royal Naval Siege Train then went to the front and advanced towards the Shah Nujjeef, together with the Field Battery and some Mortars, the Village to the left having been cleared by Brigadier Hope and Lieutenant Colonel Gordon

The Shah Nujjeef is a domed Mosque with a Garden, of which the most had been made by the Enemy. The wall of the enclosure of the Mosque was loop-holed with great care. The entrance to it had been covered by a regular work in masonry, and the top of the building was crowned with a parapet. From this, and from the defences in the Garden, an unceasing fire of musketry was kept up from the commencement of the attack.

This position was defended with great resolution against a heavy cannonade of three hours. It was then stormed in the boldest manner by the 93rd Highlanders under Brigadier Hope, supported by a Battalion of Detachments under Major Barnston, who was, I regret to say, severely wounded; Captain Peel leading up his Heavy Guns with extraordinary gallantry within a few yards of the Building, to batter the massive stone walls. The withering fire of the Highlanders effectually covered the Naval Brigade from great loss; but it was an action almost unexampled in War. Captain Peel behaved very much as if he had been laying the Shannon alongside an Enemy's Frigate.

This brought the day's operations to a close.

On the next day, communications were opened to the left rear of the Barracks to the Canal, after overcoming considerable difficulty. Captain Peel kept up a steady cannonade on the Building called the Mess House. This Building, of considerable size, was defended by a ditch about 12 feet broad and scarped with masonry, and beyond that a loop-holed mud wall. I determined to use the Guns as much as possible in taking it.

About 3 P. M., when it was considered that Men might be sent to storm it without much risk, it was taken by a Company of the 90th Foot under Captain Wolseley, and a Picquet of H. M.'s 53rd under Captain Hopkins, supported by Major Barnston's Battalion of Detachments under Captain Guise, H. M.'s 90th Foot, and some of the Punjaub Infantry under Lieutenant Powlett. The Mess House was carried immediately with a rush

The Troops then pressed forward with great vigour and lined the wall separating the Mess House from the Motee Mahal, which consists of a wide enclosure and many Buildings. The Enemy here made a last stand, which was overcome after an hour, openings having been broken in the wall, through which the Troops poured, with a body of Sappers, and accomplished our communications with the Residency.

I had the inexpressible satisfaction, shortly afterwards, of greeting Sir James Outram and Sir Henry Havelock, who came out to meet me before the action was at an end.

The relief of the besieged Garrison had been accomplished.

The Troops, including all ranks of Officers and Men, had worked strenuously and persevered boldly in following up the advantages gained in the various attacks. Every man in the Force had exerted himself to the utmost, and now met with his reward.

It should not be forgotten that these exertions did not date merely from the day that I joined the Camp; the various bodies of which the Relieving Force was composed, having made the longest forced marches, from various directions, to enable the Government of India to save the Garrison of Lucknow. Some from Agra, some from Allahabad, all had alike undergone the same fatigues in pressing forward for the attainment of this great object. Of their conduct in the field of battle, the facts narrated in this Despatch are sufficient evidence, which I will not weaken by any eulogy of mine.

I desire now to direct the attention of your Lordship to the merits of the Officers who have served under my orders on this occasion.

I cannot convey to your Lordship, in adequate terms, my deep sense of the obligations I am under to Major-General Mansfield, Chief of the Staff, for the very able and cordial assistance he has afforded me and the Service during these operations, and how admirably the very many and important duties belonging to his situation have been performed, for which his high talents and experience of service in this Country so peculiarly fit him.

I have also to express my very particular acknowledgments to Brigadier General Hope Grant, C. B, who was in immediate Command of the Division by which this service was effected. His activity in carrying out the details has been admirable, and his vigilance in superintending the Outpost Duties has been unsurpassed.

My thanks are peculiarly due to Brigadier the Hon'ble Adrian Hope, who Commanded the advance of the Force; as also to Captain Peel, C B, of the Royal Navy, who has distinguished himself in a most marked manner.

I desire to bring to the favorable notice of your Lordship the Officers Commanding Brigades and Regiments, and those who have been in the performance of Staff Duties, or who have been marked out by Brigadiers

Brigadier Crawford, Royal Artillery, Commanding the Artillery; Brigadier Little, Commanding the Cavalry; Brigadier Greathed, Commanding 3rd Infantry Brigade; Brigadier Russell, Commanding 5th Infantry Brigade, (severely wounded.)

Lieutenant Lennox, Royal Engineers, Acting Chief Engineer.

Lieutenant Vaughan, Royal Navy, and Captain Maxwell, Bengal Artillery, attached to the Naval Brigade.

Major Turner, Commanding the Bengal Artillery, (to this Officer my most particular acknowledgments are due he has few equals as an Artillery Officer.)

Captain Travers, Commanding Royal Artillery.

Captains Remmington and Blunt, Commanding Troops of Bengal Horse Artillery.

Captains Middleton, Royal Artillery, and Bourchier, Bengal Artillery, Commanding Horse Field Batteries; and Captain Longden, Royal Artillery, Commanding the Mortar Battery.

It is impossible to draw a distinction between any of these Officers. They all distinguished themselves under very arduous circumstances, and it was highly agreeable to me to be present on this first occasion, when the Bengal and Royal Artillery were brought into action together under my own eyes. I wish also to mention Lieutenant Walker, Bengal Artillery, in Command of a demi Field Battery; Lieutenants Ford and Brown, who successively took up the Command of the Heavy Field Battery of Royal Artillery under Captain Hardy, on the death of that lamented Officer; and Lieutenant Bridge, who Commanded two Guns of the Madras Horse Artillery with great ability.

I have further to bring to your Lordship's notice Lieutenant Scott, Madras Engineers, who Commanded the Sappers and Miners.

I would also bring to favorable notice the following Officers in Command of Corps or Detachments:—

Major Ouvry, H. M.'s 9th Lancers; Major Robertson, Military Train; Captain Hinde, H. M.'s 8th Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Wells, 23rd Fusiliers; Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon, 93rd Highlanders, in temporary Command H. M.'s 53rd Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Hale, H. M.'s 82nd Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Leith Hay, 93rd Highlanders; Lieutenant-Colonel Hamilton, 78th Highlanders, Commanding 1st Battalion of Detachments; Major Barnston, H. M.'s 90th Regiment, Commanding 2nd Battalion of Detachments, (dangerously wounded); and Captain Guise, H. M.'s 90th Regiment, who succeeded Major Barnston in his Command.

Lieutenants Watson, Probyn, Younghusband, and Gough, respectively Commanding Detachments of the 1st, 2nd, and 5th Punjaub Cavalry and Hodson's Horse; Captain Green, Commanding 2nd Punjaub Infantry; Lieutenant Willoughby, who succeeded to the Command of the 4th Punjaub Infantry, on his three Seniors in the Corps being severely wounded; Lieutenant Ryves, who Commanded the 4th Punjaub Infantry from the evening of the 16th; Major Milman, 5th Fusiliers; and Lieutenant-Colonel M'Intyre, 78th Highlanders, in Command of Detachments employed in the advance on Dilkoosha and the Martinière; Lieutenant-Colonel Ewart, 93rd Highlanders, who Commanded at the Barracks; Captains Dawson, 93rd Highlanders; Rolleston, H. M.'s 84th Regiment; and Hopkins, 53rd Regiment; and Lieutenants Fisher and Powlett, 2nd Punjaub Infantry, who Commanded separate Detachments or Posts, and whose services have, for the most part, been noted in the body of the Despatch.

It remains for me to express my high sense of the services performed by the Assistant Adjutant General of the Army, Captain Norman, who, on this as on every other occasion, highly distinguished himself.

I have further to express my warm thanks to all the Officers serving on the General and Personal Staff of myself and Major-General Mansfield as named below; but especially to Colonel Berkeley, H. M.'s 32nd Regiment, who attended the Chief of the Staff in the Field, and who displayed remarkable activity and intelligence; to Major Alison, Military Secretary, (who unfortunately lost an arm); to Captain Sir David Baird, Bart. my first A. D. C, and to Lieutenant Hope Johnstone, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General to the Chief of the Staff.

The remaining Officers of this Staff were Lieutenant G. Algood, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Captains Maycock and Carey, Officiating Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Captain Rudman, Acting Assistant Adjutant General H. M.'s Forces; Captain Hatch, Deputy Judge Advocate General; Captains Alison and Forster, my Aides-de-Camp; Captain Metcalfe, Interpreter; and Lieutenant Murray, Aide-de-Camp to the Chief of the Staff.

Mr. Cavenagh, of the Uncovenanted Civil Service, who came out from Lucknow in disguise to afford me information, at the imminent risk of his life, has won my most especial thanks, and I recommend him most cordially to the notice of your Lordship.

Lord Seymour was present throughout these operations, and displayed a daring gallantry at a most critical moment.

I concur most fully in the commendations that have been bestowed by General Grant and Officers Commanding Brigades on their respective Staffs as named below; but I would especially draw attention to the services of Captain Cox H. M.'s 75th Regiment, Brigade Major of the 4th Brigade; and Lieutenant Roberts, Bengal Artillery, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Captain W. Hamilton, H. M.'s 9th Lancers, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Captain the Hon'ble A. H. Anson, H. M.'s 84th Regiment, Aide-de-Camp; and Lieutenant Salmond, 7th Light Cavalry, Acting Aide-de-Camp to Brigadier General Grant.

Captain H. Hammond, Bengal Artillery, Brigade Major of Artillery, (severely wounded); Captain H. LeG Bruce, Bengal Artillery, who succeeded Captain Hammond; Brevet-Major W. Barry and Lieutenant A. Bunny, Staff Officers of Royal and Bengal Artillery respectively; Lieutenant G. E. Watson, Bengal Engineers, Brigade Major of Engineers; Captain H. A. Sarel, 17th Lancers, Brigade Major of Cavalry; and Captains Bannatyne, H. M.'s 8th Foot, and Lightfoot, 84th Foot, Brigade Majors of the 3rd and 5th Brigade; also Lieutenant P. Stewart, Bengal Engineers, Superintendent of the Electric Telegraph, who accompanied the Force and made himself particularly useful throughout.

I must not omit to name, in the most marked manner, Subadar Gokul Sing, 4th Punjaub Rifles, who, in conjunction with the British Officers, led the 4th Punjaub Rifles at the storming of Secunderbagh, in the most daring manner.

Captain A. D. Dickens, Deputy Assistant Commissary General, and Lieutenant W. Tod Brown, Deputy Commissary of Ordnance, have both distinguished themselves exceedingly in carrying on the intricate duties of their Departments, with very scanty Establishments, to meet the great demands upon them.

Brigadier General Grant has made favorable mention of Surgeon J. C. Brown, M. D., Bengal Horse Artillery, whose great exertions have been deserving of all praise. He has since become Superintending Surgeon of the Force.

The number of Officers mentioned in this Despatch may appear large; but the Force employed was composed of many Detachments, and the particular service was calculated to draw forth the individual qualities of the Officers engaged.

Annexed is a Return of Casualties; and a list of Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Soldiers who have been brought to my notice as having particularly distinguished themselves will be separately forwarded.

I have the honor to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's

Most obedient humble Servant,

(Signed) C. Campbell, General,

Commander-in-Chief.

Assistant Adjutant General of the Army.

Head Quarters Camp, Alumbagh,
The 25th November 1857.

My Lord,

In continuation of my Report of the 18th, I have the honor to apprise your Lordship, that the left rear of my position was finally secured on the night of the 17th Instant, by the Building called Banks' House having been seized by a party of the 2nd Punjaub Infantry (Sikhs) specially employed for that purpose.

Brigadier Russell and Lieutenant-Colonel Hale distinguished themselves much in completing the chain of Posts on the 17th and 18th in that direction; the Enemy having been very vigilant on that point, and kept up an unceasing fire on all the Buildings occupied by Brigadier Russell, and on the Barrack occupied by 300 of the Highlanders under Lieutenant-Colonel Ewart.

Brigadier Russell having been unfortunately severely wounded on the afternoon of the 18th Instant, I placed the lamented Colonel Biddulph in Command of his line of Posts. He was killed almost immediately afterwards, when making his dispositions for the attack of the Hospital.

Captain Bourchier, of the Bengal Artillery, distinguished himself by the intelligent and able support he afforded Lieutenant-Colonel Hale, H. M.'s 82nd Foot, on that Officer succeeding Colonel Biddulph.

These very difficult and tedious operations, conducted as they were under a most galling fire, in cramped suburbs, reflect much credit on all the Officers and Men concerned, and secured the position.

The same afternoon, the Enemy made a smart attack on the Picquets covering the centre of the line.

I supported them with a Company of H. M.'s 23rd and another of H. M.'s 53rd Foot, not having any more Infantry at my disposal.

Captain Remmington's Troop of Horse Artillery was brought up, and dashed right into the jungle with the leading Skirmishers, and opened fire with extraordinary rapidity and precision.

Captain Remmington distinguished himself very much.

I superintended this affair myself, and I have particular pleasure in drawing your Lordship's attention to the conduct of this Troop on this occasion, as an instance of the never-failing readiness and quickness of the Horse Artillery of the Bengal Service.

During the next three days, I continued to hold the whole of the Country from the Dilkoosha to the Gates of the Residency, the left flank having been secured in the manner above mentioned, with a view to extricating the Garrison, without exposing it to the chance of even a stray musket-shot.

From the first, all the arrangements have been conducted towards this end. The whole of the Force under my immediate Command being one outlying Picquet, every man remained on duty, and was constantly subject to annoyance from the Enemy's fire; but such was the vigilance and intelligence of the Force, and so heartily did all ranks co-operate to support me, that I was enabled to conduct this affair to a happy issue, exactly in the manner originally proposed.

Upon the 20th fire was opened on the Kaiserbagh, which gradually increased in importance, till it assumed the character of regular breaching and bombardment.

The Kaiserbagh was breached in three places by Captain Peel, R. N., and I have been told that the Enemy suffered much loss within its precincts. Having thus led the Enemy to believe that immediate assault was contemplated, orders were issued for the retreat of the Garrison through the lines of our Picquets at midnight on the 22nd.

The Ladies and Families, the Wounded, the Treasure, the Guns it was thought worth while to keep; the Ordnance Stores, the Grain still possessed by the Commissariat of the Garrison, and the State Prisoners, had all been previously removed.

Sir James Outram had received orders to burst the Guns which it was thought undesirable to take away; and he was finally directed silently to evacuate the Residency of Lucknow at the hour indicated.

The dispositions to cover their retreat and to resist the Enemy, should he pursue, were ably carried out by Brigadier Hon'ble Adrian Hope; but I am happy to say the Enemy was completely deceived, and he did not attempt to follow. On the contrary he began firing on our old positions, many hours after we had left them. The movement of retreat was admirably executed and was a perfect lesson in such combinations.

Each exterior line came gradually retiring through its supports, till at length nothing remained but the last line of Infantry and Guns, with which I was myself to crush the Enemy if he had dared to follow up the Picquets.

The only line of retreat lay through a long and tortuous lane, and all these precautions were absolutely necessary to ensure the safety of the Force.

The extreme Posts on the left, under Lieutenant-Colonel Hale, H. M.'s 82nd; Lieutenant-Colonel Wells, H. M.'s 23rd Foot; and Lieutenant-Colonel Ewart, H. M.'s 93rd Highlanders, made their way by a road which had been explored for them, after I considered that the time had arrived, with due regard to the security of the whole, that their Posts should be evacuated.

It was my endeavour that nothing should be left to chance, and the conduct of the Officers in exactly carrying out their instructions was beyond all praise.

During all these operations, from the 16th Instant, the remnant of Brigadier Greathed's Brigade closed in the rear, and now again formed the Rear Guard as we retired to Dilkoosha.

Dilkoosha was reached at 4 A. M. on the 23rd Instant by the whole Force.

I must not forget to mention the exertions of the Cavalry during all the operations which have been described.

The exertions of Brigadier Little and of Major Ouvry, respectively, of the Cavalry Brigade and the 9th Lancers, were unceasing in keeping up our long line of communications, and preserving our extreme rear beyond the Dilkoosha, which was constantly threatened.

On the 22nd the Enemy attacked at Dilkoosha; but was speedily driven off under Brigadier Little's orders.

The Officers Commanding the Irregular Cavalry, Lieutenants Watson, Younghusband, Probyn, and Gough, as well as all the Officers of the 9th Lancers, were never out of the saddle during all this time, and well maintained the character they have won throughout the War.

I moved with General Grant's Division to Alumbagh on the afternoon of the 24th, leaving Sir James Outram's Division in position at Dilkoosha, to prevent molestation of the immense convoy of the Women and Wounded, which it was necessary to transport with us. Sir James Outram closed up this day without annoyance from the Enemy.

I have the honor to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's

Most obedient humble Servant,

(Signed) C. Campbell, General,

GENERAL ORDERS BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

Head Quarters, Shah Nujeef, Lucknow, 21st November 1857.

Although the Commander-in-Chief has not yet had time to peruse the detailed Report of Brigadier Inglis respecting the defence made by the slender Garrison under his Command, His Excellency desires to lose no time in recording his opinion of the magnificent defence made by the remnant of a British Regiment, Her Majesty's 32nd, a Company of British Artillery, and a few hundred Sepoys, whose very presence was a subject of distrust, against all the Force of Oude until the arrival of the reinforcement under Major-Generals Sir J. Outram, G. C. B., and Sir H. Havelock, K. C. B.

2. The persevering constancy of this small Garrison, under the watchful Command of the Brigadier, has, under Providence, been the means of adding to the prestige of the British Army and of preserving the honor and lives of our Country-women.

There can be no greater reward than such a reflection; and the Commander-in-Chief heartily congratulates Brigadier Inglis and his devoted Garrison on that reflection belonging to them.

3. The position occupied by the Garrison was an open entrenchment. the numbers were not sufficient to man the defences, and the supply of Artillery-men for the Guns was most inadequate. In spite of these difficult circumstances, the Brigadier and his Garrison held on; and it will be a great pleasure to the Commander-in-Chief to bring to the notice of the Government of India the names of all the Officers and Soldiers who have distinguished themselves during the great trial to which they have been exposed.

4. The Commander-in-Chief congratulates Sir James Outram and Sir Henry Havelock on having been the first to aid Brigadier Inglis.

The Governor General in Council has already expressed his opinion on the splendid feat of arms by which that aid was accomplished.

Head Quarters, Shah Nujeef, 22nd November 1857.

When the Commander-in-Chief issued his Order of yesterday with regard to the old Garrison of Lucknow, His Excellency was unaware of the important part taken in aid of the Soldiers by the Civil Functionaries who happened to be at the Residency when it was shut in by the Enemy.

2. His Excellency congratulates them very heartily on the honor they have won in conjunction with their Military Comrades. This is only another instance that in danger and difficulty all Englishmen behave alike, whatever their profession.

Head Quarters, La Martinère, Lucknow, 23rd November 1857.

The Commander-in-Chief has reason to be thankful to the Force he conducted for the relief of the Garrison of Lucknow.

2. Hastily assembled, fatigued by forced marches, but animated by a common feeling of determination to accomplish the duty before them, all ranks of this Force have compensated for their small number, in the execution of a most difficult duty, by unceasing exertions.

3. From the morning of the 16th till last night, the whole Force has been one outlying Picquet, never out of fire, and covering an immense extent of ground, to permit the Garrison to retire scatheless and in safety, covered by the whole of the Relieving Force.

4. That ground was won by fighting as hard as it ever fell to the lot of the Commander-in-Chief to witness, it being necessary to bring up the same men over and over again to fresh attacks; and it is with the greatest gratification that His Excellency declares he never saw men behave better.

5. The storming of the Secundra Bagh and the Shah Nujeef has never been surpassed in daring, and the success of it was most brilliant and complete.

6. The movement of retreat of last night, by which the final rescue of the Garrison was effected, was a model of discipline and exactness. The consequence was, that the Enemy was completely deceived, [illegible] Force retired by a narrow, tortuous lane, the only line of retreat open, in the face of 50,000 enemies, without molestation.

7. The Commander-in-Chief offers his sincere thanks to Major-General Sir James Outram, G. C. B., for the happy manner in which he planned and carried out his arrangements for the evacuation of the Residency of Lucknow.

By Order of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief,

W. Mayhew, Major,
Deputy Adjutant General of the Army.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 28th November 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXXII OF 1857.

An Act to amend the Articles of War for the Native Army.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient that, on every conviction of Mutiny or Desertion, the Government or the Court or other lawful authority by which the offender shall be convicted should have power to order the offender to be marked ; It is enacted as follows :—

Government empowered to order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked.

I. It shall be lawful for the Government, by any general or special order, to direct that all or any persons or person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army, who have been or shall be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, shall be marked on the left side two inches below the armpit with the letter M in the case of a conviction of Mutiny, and with the letter D in the case of a conviction of Desertion, either alone or together with such other mark as the Government may consider necessary for the purpose of identifying the offender at any future time or of denoting the punishment to which he has been sentenced. The letter shall not be less than an inch long ; and such letter and other mark shall be made upon the skin with some ink, gunpowder, or other preparation, so as to be visible and conspicuous and not liable to be obliterated.

Court may, as part of the sentence, order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked.

II. It shall also be lawful for the Court, or other lawful authority by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, to order, as part of the sentence on such person, that he be marked with the letter M or D as the case may be, which letter shall be made in the manner hereinbefore directed.

Interpretation.

III. The word " Government", as used in this Act, shall mean the Governor General of India in Council, or the Executive Government of the Presidency within which the offender shall have been tried.

Past sentences and orders to be deemed valid

IV. Any sentence or order, by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may upon conviction of Mutiny or Desertion have been ordered to be marked, shall be deemed valid.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 5th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXXIII OF 1857.

An Act to make further provision relating to Foreigners.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision to enable the several Governments of the British Territories in India to prevent the subjects of Foreign States from residing or sojourning therein or from passing through or travelling in the same without the consent of the said Governments; It is enacted as follows:—

Foreigner to report his arrival in India.

I. Every Foreigner shall, on his arrival in any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company from any Port or place not within the said Territories, or from any Port or place not subject to the provisions of this Act, forthwith report himself to the Commissioner of Police, if he shall arrive at any of the Presidency Towns; or, if he shall arrive at any other place, to the Magistrate or to such other Officer as shall be appointed to receive such reports by the Governor General in Council, or (in places within their respective jurisdictions) by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall extend to any Foreigner being the Master or Commander of a ship or vessel or employed therein.

Proviso.

What to be stated in the report.

II. The report shall be in writing; and shall be signed by the person reporting himself; and shall specify his name or names, the nation to which he belongs, the place from which he shall have come, the place or places of his destination, the object of his pursuit, and the date of his arrival in the said Territories: and the report shall be recorded by the Officer to whom it is made.

Foreigners employed in a ship or vessel, to report themselves when they cease to be so employed.

III. If any person included in the proviso to Section I, shall remain in any part of the said Territories after he shall have ceased to be employed in a ship or vessel, he shall forthwith report himself in manner aforesaid.

Foreigners neglecting to report themselves to be dealt with in like manner as Foreigners travelling without a license.

IV. If any Foreigner shall neglect to report himself as required by this Act, he may be dealt with in the manner hereinafter provided in respect of Foreigners travelling without a license.

Foreigner not to travel in India without a license.

V. No Foreigner shall travel in or pass through any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company without a license.

License by whom to be granted.

VI. Licenses under this Act may be granted by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, or by the Chief Secretary to the Governments of Fort St. George and Bombay respectively, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively, or by such other Officers as shall be specially authorized so to do by the Governor General of India in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners aforesaid.

What to be stated in license.

VII. Every such license shall state the name or names of the person to whom the license is granted, the nation to which he belongs, the district or districts through which he is authorized to pass or the limits within which he is authorized to travel, and the period (if any) during which the license is intended to have effect.

License may be granted subject to conditions and may be revoked.

VIII. The license may be granted subject to such conditions (if any) as the Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place or (as regards their several jurisdictions) any of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners may by any general order direct, or as the Officer granting the license may deem necessary; and the license may be revoked at any time by the Governor General in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Officer granting the same.

Foreigner travelling without or contrary to the conditions of license may be apprehended.

IX. If any Foreigner travel in or attempt to pass through any part of the said Territories without such license as aforesaid, or beyond the districts or limits mentioned therein, or after such license shall have been revoked, or shall violate any of the conditions therein specified, he may be apprehended without warrant by a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or by any European Commissioned Officer in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or by a Member of a Volunteer Corps enrolled by authority of Government whilst on duty, or by any Police Officer.

Procedure upon apprehension by persons not being Magistrates or Police Officers.

X. If any person be apprehended by a person not being a Magistrate or a Police Officer, he shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police Officer, and carried before a Magistrate; and whenever any person shall be apprehended by or taken before a Magistrate, such Magistrate shall forthwith report the case to the Government to which he is subject, and shall cause the person brought before him to be discharged, or to be conveyed to one of the Presidency Towns, or to be detained pending the orders of such Government.

Persons apprehended may be admitted to bail.

XI. All persons apprehended or detained under the above-mentioned provisions of this Act, may be admitted to bail by a Magistrate or by any of the Officers authorized to grant licenses, and shall be put to as little inconvenience as possible during their detention in custody.

Removal of persons apprehended.

XII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, may order any such person to remove himself from the said Territories by sea or by such other route as the Government may direct, or the Government may cause him to be removed from the said Territories by such route and in such manner as to the Government shall seem fit.

Government may order any Foreigner to remove himself.

XIII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by writing order any Foreigner within his jurisdiction to remove himself from the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, or to remove himself therefrom by a particular route to be specified in the order.

Foreigner refusing to remove or returning without license after removal may be apprehended and detained.

XIV. If any Foreigner ordered to remove himself from the said Territories, or ordered to remove himself therefrom by any particular route, shall neglect or refuse so to do; or if any Foreigner, having removed himself from the said Territories in consequence of an order issued under any of the provisions of this Act, or having been removed from the said Territories under any of the said provisions, shall wilfully return to the said Territories without a license in writing granted by the Governor General of India in Council or by the Government or Officer under whose order he shall have removed himself or been removed—such Foreigner may be apprehended and detained in safe custody, until he shall be discharged therefrom by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Executive Government, or of one of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, within whose jurisdiction he shall be so apprehended or detained, upon such terms and conditions as the said Governor General in Council, Executive Government, Chief Commissioner, or Commissioner shall deem sufficient for the peace and security of the British Territories, and of the allies of Her Majesty and of the East India Company, and of the neighbouring Princes and States.

Government may prohibit persons, not being natural-born subjects, from travelling or passing through any part of India without a license.

XV. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by order prohibit any person or persons, or any class or classes of persons, not being a natural-born subject or subjects of Her Majesty within the meaning of Section LXXXI 3 and 4 William IV. C. 85, from travelling in or passing through any part of the said Territories, or from passing from any part of India to another without a license to be granted by such Officer or Officers as shall be specified in the order; and if such person shall wilfully disobey such order, he may be apprehended without warrant by any of the Officers specified in Section IX of this Act, and carried before a Magistrate and dealt with under the provisions of Section X in the same manner as if he were a Foreigner; and the Government may order such person to be detained in safe custody, or under the surveillance of the Police, so long as it may be deemed necessary for the peace and security of the British Territories.

Police Officer may board ship to ascertain whether Foreigners are on board.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Police, or for a Magistrate, or his Assistant, or for any Officer appointed to receive reports as mentioned in the first Section of this Act, or for any Police Officer under the authority of such Commissioner or Magistrate, to enter any ship or vessel in any Port or place within the Territories in the possession and under the control of the East India Company, in order to ascertain whether any Foreigner, bound to report his arrival under Section I of this Act, is on board of such ship or vessel; and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, to adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary for that purpose, and the Master or Commander of such ship or vessel shall also, before any of the passengers are allowed to disembark, if he shall be required so to do by such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, deliver to him a list, in writing, of the passengers on board, specifying the Ports or places at which they embarked, and the Ports or places of their disembarkation or intended disembarkation, and answer, to the best of his knowledge, all such questions touching the passengers on board the said ship or vessel, or touching those who may have disembarked in any part of India, as shall be put to him by the Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid. If any Foreigner on board such ship or vessel in any part of India shall refuse to give an account of his objects of pursuit in India, or if his account thereof shall not be satisfactory, the Officer may refuse to allow him to disembark, or he may be dealt with in the same manner as a Foreigner travelling in India without a license.

Master of ship to furnish list of passengers.

Obstructing Officers.

XVII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any of the powers vested in him by this Act shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or to both.

Penalty if Master neglects to report.

XVIII. If the Master or Commander of any ship or vessel shall wilfully neglect or refuse to comply with the requisitions of this Act, he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two thousand Rupees.

False answer.

XIX. Whoever shall wilfully give a false answer to any question which by this Act he is bound to answer, or shall make any false report, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees.

Interpretation.

XX. The word "Foreigner" in this Act shall be deemed to mean a person not being either a natural-born subject of Her Majesty within the meaning of Section LXXXI, 3 and 4 William IV, C. 85, or a native of a place in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company. The word "Magistrate" shall include every person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, and a Justice of the Peace.

Proof of being a Foreigner.

XXI. If a question shall arise whether any person alleged to be a Foreigner and to be subject to the provisions of this Act is a Foreigner or not, or is or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, the onus of proving that such person is not a Foreigner or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, shall lie upon such person.

Operation of Act.

XXII. This Act shall continue in force for two years; and it shall not extend to the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the Territory of Aden, unless the same shall be specially declared applicable to such Settlement or Territory by the Governor General of India in Council.

Exceptions.

XXIII. The foregoing provisions of this Act shall not extend to any Foreign Minister duly accredited by his Government, nor to any Consul or Vice-Consul, nor to any person under the age of fourteen years, nor to any person in the service of the British Government. The Governor General in Council, or (as regards their respective jurisdictions) the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may exempt any person or any class of persons, either wholly or partially, or temporarily or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Act; and may at any time revoke any exemption.

Indemnity.

XXIV. Any Officer of Government or other person who, prior to the passing of this Act, may have done any thing which would have been justified by this Act if it had been in force at the time, is hereby ndemnified for so doing; and no action or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted in respect of any thing so done.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 5th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XXXIV OF 1857.

An Act relating to the Sale of Ganja in the Presidency of Bombay.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the sale of Ganja in the Town of Bombay, and to amend the law relating to the sale of that article within the Territories subordinate to the Presidency of Bombay; It is enacted as follows:—

Act repealed.

I. Act II of 1841 is hereby repealed.

Provisions of Act III of 1852 extended to the sale of Ganja in the Town of Bombay.

II. The provisions of Act III of 1852 relating to the sale by license of intoxicating drugs or materials within the Territories subordinate to the Presidency of Bombay, are extended to the sale of Ganja within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Supreme Court of Judicature at Bombay, anything in the said Act to the contrary notwithstanding; provided always that the duties, powers, and authorities vested by the said Act in the Collectors of Zillahs shall, within the aforesaid limits, be possessed and exercised by the Commissioner of Customs, Salt, and Opium: and the said Commissioner shall, except as herein otherwise expressly provided, have the same powers with respect to the granting, refusing, or recalling licenses for the sale of Ganja, and with respect to the seizure and destruction or sale of unlicensed Ganja within the said limits, as are by the said Act vested in the Zillah Collectors of Land Revenue; and all the provisions of the said Act shall be applicable to licenses granted under this Act.

Proviso.

Commissioner of Customs, Salt, and Opium empowered to grant licenses.

Adjudication of penalties.

III. All penalties shall within the said limits be adjudicated and levied by any Magistrate of Police for the Town of Bombay.

No. 1559 of 1857.—The following Extract para. 11 of a Military letter from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors to the Government of India, No. 195, of the 14th October 1857, is published for general information :—

Letter dated 15th May 1857. No. 154
Memorial from Mr. Conductor A. B. Fox, of the Army Commissariat Department, soliciting that modification may be made in the Furlough Regulations for Warrant Officers, to meet the cases of those who obtained their Warrant after a lengthened service on the Non-Commissioned grade.

11. Warrant Officers are allowed the same privilege of Furlough as Unattached Ensigns and Lieutenants and as Officers promoted to Commissions on the Veteran Establishment, viz. after six years' service as Commissioned or Warrant Officers and fifteen years' service in India. It is now recommended that, in consequence of slowness of promotion, the time required to be served in the Warrant Grade may be reduced, in order that those who have served twenty years and upwards in India may be thereby rendered eligible for Furlough to Europe. In compliance with your recommendation and that of the late Commander-in-Chief, we sanction this change as applicable to the several classes above mentioned.

No. 1560 of 1857.—In continuation of Government General Order No. 822 of 1857, the following Extract of a Military letter from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors to the Government of India, No 195, dated 14th October 1857, is published for general information :—

Letter dated 15th May 1857, No. 155.
Memorial from Lieutenant Brasyer, (Unattached) praying that he may be promoted to the rank of Captain; also Letter dated 3rd July 1857, No. 187, announcing his promotion.

12. We learn with satisfaction, that in anticipation of our sanction, you have conferred the Commission of Captain unattached on that gallant Officer, Lieutenant Brasyer, the Commandant of the Regiment of Ferozepore, in consideration of the important services rendered by him at Allahabad. This grant has our cordial approval.

No. 1561 of 1857.—In continuation of Government General Order No. 559, of the 17th April 1857, and under the authority of the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to add the following Office on the Staff to the list published in General Order by the Governor General of the 21st September 1855, in which service as Lieutenant-Colonel shall be held equivalent to actual Regimental Command as Lieutenant-Colonel in qualifying Officers to be promoted to the Rank of Colonel :—

See Court's letter No. 195 of 1857, para. 17.

Secretary to Government, Public Works Department.

No. 1562 of 1857.—The under-mentioned Non-Commissioned Officers, Students at the Artillery Depôt of Instruction, Meerut, having been reported qualified, are appointed Officiating Sub-Conductors in the Ordnance Department :—

To be Officiating Sub-Conductors.

Serjeant Major Michael Rourke, 67th Native Infantry.

Serjeant Major Simon Vandrass, 13th Regiment Native Infantry.

Magazine Serjeant Andrew Walker, Allahabad Magazine.

Magazine Serjeant James Rogers, Allahabad Magazine.

Gun Serjeant James Copley, Ramghur Battalion.

Park Serjeant Miles McCarthy, Arsenal, Fort William.

Serjeant Major James Goulder, 1st Regiment Infantry, Scindia's Contingent.

Armourer Serjeant Thomas Heathcoate, Ferozepore Magazine.

No. 1563 of 1857.—Captain William Wright Aubert, of the 34th Regiment N. I., Pay Master and Superintendent of Native Pensioners, Barrackpore Circle, having been declared permanently disqualified for the performance of further active service, but being still equal to the discharge of Garrison duties, is in conformity with para. 6 of Government General Order No. 819, of the 23rd June 1857, transferred to the Invalid Establishment, and attached to the Invalid Battalion from this date.

2. Captain Aubert will continue in his present Office of Pay Master and Superintendent of Native Pensioners at Barrackpore.

Notification.

Fort William, the 20th November 1857.

NOTICE is hereby given, that on Monday, the 11th January 1858, at the hour of Eleven o'Clock in the forenoon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the undermentioned quantity of Opium, the provision of 1856-57, subject to the following Conditions, viz.:—

Produce of Behar Agency ...	Chests	1,815
Ditto of Benares ditto ...	„	890
Total Chests ...		2,705

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on, until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the quantity of 2,705 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertsied, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4 Each lot to contain five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupees 1,000, at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book; and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th January, or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times, and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last-mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 16th January, will be placed in the hands of the Attorney to the Hon'ble Company for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities, on account of Opium, upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 16th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertised for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M. of Tuesday, the 26th January 1858, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit of 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such Lots or Chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government, at such time and in such manner, as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or Orders for the delivery of Opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or Order, and it is to be clearly understood, that the Certificates or Orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or Orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of Lots or Chests, whether more or less, than the number of Lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or Order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of Public Securities, under the Fifth of the present Conditions, will be received in this Office, except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book, or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per cent. even money of the amount bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified, that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing, in immediate succession, at the same price, and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency Opium, to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and all and every plea and pleas to the jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue:—

No. 1.—Certificate of the Opium now advertised for Sale.

No. 2.—Report of the Examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed, that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1856-57, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the Cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each Cake.

An account of the weight of the drug when packed, and a statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches, on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season, will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertised for Sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The total quantity of Behar Opium of 1856-57, advertised in the Notice of 19th September last, was 22,302 Chests. Of this quantity, 500 Chests will be withdrawn for Abkaree purposes, leaving available only 21,802 Chests for the Sales of 1858. The Board purpose disposing of the 10,000 Chests of this Provision, which have been re-packed in Calcutta, in the first Sales of the year, and the remainder in the after-sales.

19. The public are hereby informed, that in addition to the quantity above mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium, of 1856-57, will be brought to Sale in the year 1858, on or about the dates specified below; the Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates, should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

20. It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that, out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December 1858, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 32,468 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for Sale at each or any of the twelve Sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a Sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article 6th.—With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties, that at each of the periodical Sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of Chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed Three hundred Chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical Sale, it being understood that, if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agent of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the Three hundred Chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta, within thirty days after Notice of the intended Sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. GREY,

Offg. Junior Secretary.

REPORT OF DEFENCES OF RESIDENCY.

THE outbreak at Meerut and Delhi, and reports of general disaffection among the Sepoys, caused Sir Henry Lawrence to take immediate measures for the defence of the place. Some time previously he had selected the Muchee Bowun as a site for our Magazine and Stores, and judging it, from its very commanding position and the moral effect that the occupation of it would exercise over the City, be in the first instance proceeded to strengthen it. The works were commenced on the 17th May, and carried forward with unremitting energy by Lieutenant Innes, under the general direction of Major Anderson, Chief Engineer, until the commencement of the Siege.

The Defence of the Residency was also commenced, though at first it received a secondary share of attention. It was not till after the Mutiny in Cantonments (30th May), and the subsequent Mutinies of Corps in the Districts, that it became apparent that we should have probably to defend ourselves against a combined attack of Mutineers and Rebels from the Country and City. The more clear this became, the more clearly the inadequacy of the Muchee Bowun as a fortified position became apparent. It was also seen that, if the Mutineers came on in great force, we had not sufficient hands to man both it and the Residency; and it having been ascertained after full consideration, that the defects of the Muchee Bowun, both as regards defensive measures and shelter of Troops, and the large European Community, Sir Henry Lawrence made up his mind to abandon it, on the investment of the City by the Enemy.

On this being decided (11th June), the Defences of the Residency were proceeded with with vigor. Prior to this, the Chief Engineer was doubtful as to the extent of the Force he had to shelter within the line of Defences, or to man the works, but now he could form a definite plan, and he lost no time in forming a connected line of defensive works round the buildings he thought it necessary to occupy.

The Residency Compound was first protected by a line of parapet and ditch across it; a strong Battery, since named "the Redan," was constructed in a corner of the Garden, which furnished a command over the Iron Bridge.

A Battery (called "the Cawnpore") was constructed at the opposite point of our position enfilading the Cawnpore Road, and was then designed chiefly as a barrier to the approach of Mutineers from Cawnpore.

Two other Batteries were partially constructed, one between Gubbins' and Ommaney's Compounds, the other between the Slaughter-house and Sheep-pen; but neither were ready at the commencement of the Siege, and want of labor prevented their being completed afterwards.

Heavy and light Guns and Mortars, more or less protected by parapets, were placed in various positions intermediate to the above-mentioned principal Batteries. Those positions are marked in the annexed Sketch, though of course various changes occurred during the Siege; a Gun or Mortar having been frequently required to silence an Enemy's Battery and withdrawn when the object was accomplished.

Mr. Gubbins, by means of laborers procured by his Subordinates, carried on the Defences of his own Compound; and the general line round our position was continued from Battery to Battery, and house to house, by abbatis (in lanes), and by parapets and ditches, or stockades.

Outside our line of works also a great amount of labor was required. Masses of buildings extended to within a few feet of us, in nearly every direction, and though some of them would act as traverses to us from the Enemy's Batteries, the majority were a most undoubted source of annoyance to us, and it was necessary to proceed with their removal as vigorously as our means permitted. Several Mosques, which occupied positions commanding us, were left alone, much to our future injury; but I believe the reason that prevented their removal was a good one, namely, the danger of precipitating an outbreak before we were prepared for it. But, apart from this, the demolition of private buildings was far from complete. The affair of Chinhut brought the Enemy upon us earlier, I believe, than was anticipated by any individual of our Force, and our command of labor having been limited, we had to close our Gates with nothing in many places separating us from the besiegers, but the width of the streets. The houses that remained became nests of Rebels, and besides forming secure starting points for their mines, enabled them from under shelter to keep a deadly fire of Musketry upon us day and night, and it is to it, and not to round shot, that we have to attribute the greater part of our casualties. The latter was mainly injurious in destroying the buildings occupied by our Troops and Camp Followers; and, though the loss of life, considering the amount of battering they sustained, was much less than was to be expected, it was a constant source of danger and annoyance to the Garrison, and the repair of damage entailed heavy labor on men who were weakened by exposure and want of rest.

The Enemy proceeded to invest the place immediately on the return of our Force from Chinhut on the 30th June. The Muchee Bowun was still garrisoned by our Troops, though the Treasure, and greater portions of the Munitions and Stores, had been previously removed to the Residency; and it now became an object of primary importance to withdraw the Garrison without loss. A Telegraphic Message was communicated to Lieutenant Innes, the Engineer Officer, to the effect that the powder in the Magazine, about 200 barrels, was to be used in blowing up the Fort, and that the Garrison was to leave at midnight on the 1st July. This order was carried out with perfect success, and the Garrison marched into our Gates without the loss of a man.

The Garden Battery was one of the first established by the Enemy. It played on the Guard House at the Cawnpore Battery, the Battery itself, Brigade Mess, Anderson's, and Judicial Commissioner's The combined fire of heavy Guns and Musketry on the Cawnpore Battery became so deadly, that our Guns could not be served, and eventually it was thought necessary to withdraw them and to leave the position to be defended by Musketry, and to repair the parapets as fast as they were damaged by the Enemy's round shot.

At the beginning of the Siege, the 8-Inch Howitzer which fell into the Enemy's hands at Chinhut was placed out of sight of our Guns on the opposite bank of the River near the Bridge of Boats, and kept up a destructive fire on the Residency. It was by one of the shells from it that Sir Henry Lawrence was killed.

Batteries were also established by the Enemy on the road leading from the Iron Bridge in front of Gubbins' House, the Brigade Mess, and Post Office, and at the Clock Tower, and all the buildings were more or less damaged by them A portion of the Residency was battered down, and six men were buried in the ruins. Many of the buildings were reduced to such a state as to appear to be quite untenable, but the Garrison continued to occupy nearly all; and though the Defences of the Posts have been very much weakened by the continued and heavy fire, not a single one has been abandoned; on the contrary, several buildings (Financial Commissioner's, Sago's, and Innes') have been occupied and strengthened since the commencement of the Siege.

When the Enemy found that neither by repeated attacks, nor by the destruction of our buildings, he could force us from our Posts, he had recourse to mining. This had been anticipated, but the Chief Engineer, acting under the suggestion of the late Captain Fulton, would not take the initiative as he apprehended that our Enemies would at once follow our example, and that the unlimited command of labor they possessed would give us a poor chance of competing with them.

The first mine exploded by the Enemy was at the Redan. It preceded a general attack, and both as regards direction and distance was a complete failure. This was followed by one at the angle of the Seikh Square, and is the only one from which any loss of life on our side has been sustained. The sound of the mining had not been heard owing to the proximity of the Cavalry Horses, and the Guard were completely surprised. Seven Drummers were killed on this occasion.

29th July.

27th July.

Two other mines at the building occupied by the Martinière boys and at Sago's were also exploded, but beyond breaking the outer line of walls, did no damage. The Enemy in no case showed any great alacrity in assaulting the breaches, and we soon formed retrenchments in rear of them.

10th August.

We had meanwhile commenced countermining, and on the 5th August foiled a mine of the Enemy's against the Guard House at the Cawnpore Battery, and since then, up to the arrival of the Relieving Force, we have been incessantly employed in mining and countermining. We have generally worked into their galleries, and after having frightened the miners away, have destroyed them, or, in some cases, we have blown in their galleries by charging and firing our own. I need hardly add that this was a service of danger.

Two of our mines, for directly offensive objects, require separate notice, the one at Sago's, to the Enemy's Guard-room, which we blew down with a loss to them of—it is supposed—between twenty and thirty men. The second, to Johannes' house, in which we destroyed above eighty of the Enemy The explosion was followed by a Sortie to cover the demolition of the remainder of the house and one adjoining, which object was effectually accomplished, and relieved us from the destructive fire of many of the Enemy's best marksmen. I may mention that several Sorties were made on other occasions, and with equal success.

We had, on the arrival of the Relieving Force, fifteen Galleries ready for countermining further operations of the Enemy. Several of the Enemy's Galleries have since been discovered and destroyed.

I believe I have now noted every measure of importance with reference to the defence and attack of the place on an engineering point of view, and it remains for me to add the means at our disposal for carrying on work.

During the early part of the Siege we had working parties of H. M.'s 32nd Regiment. On one work during the night, I have had forty-two men. The Soldiers, however, had their other duties to perform, they were exposed to rain, and were very often under arms, which prevented their having a proper amount of rest. They could therefore have little physical strength left to work in the trenches, and as the Siege progressed, their numerical strength became so much reduced, that it was necessary to give up European working parties almost entirely, and to depend on the Sepoys. The latter came forward most willingly, and I cannot speak too highly of the way in which they worked. They have also been of material assistance in our mining operations, and a party of the 13th N. I.—thanks to the good management of Lieutenant Aitken—have constructed a Battery for an 18 Pounder, worked the Gun, and dug a Shaft and Gallery at their own Post

There has been but one Squad of European Miners, eight men under Serjeant Day, all of whom have worked with the most unremitting zeal throughout.

As regards general superintendence, the late Major Anderson, Chief Engineer, designed the Defences of the Muchee Bowun and Residency, and until shortly before his death, directed the construction of the various works and repairs.

Captain Fulton became the Senior Engineer Officer on the demise of Major Anderson on the 11th August. He had constructed the greater portion of the Defences, Powder Magazines, &c., and up to the day of his death displayed the most unremitting energy, in spite of bad health, in advancing our work. In particular he took a most active part in foiling the Enemy's attempts to destroy our advanced posts by mines, and the manner in which he conducted the blasting operations during our Sorties invariably excited the admiration of all who were present, Officers and Men.

In the performance of the above mentioned, and Engineering operations generally, he received the most able and untiring support from Lieutenants Hutchinson, Innes, and Tulloh, and the late Lieutenant Birch, and latterly, since Captain Fulton's death, I have received much assistance from Lieutenant Hay, Assistant Field Engineer. The active part I myself have taken in the superintendence of works has been small, owing to my having suffered from continued ill health.

Finally, I beg to bring to the notice of the Brigadier the excellent service performed by the late Mr. Casey, Head Accountant to the Chief Engineer, who had been Serjeant Major of Sappers, and who was recommended by Major Anderson for the rank of Assistant Field Engineer; of the late Mr. Supervisor Barrett; Mr Beale, Overseer; and Serjeant Ryder, Assistant Overseer—all of whom have left families behind them.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 28th November 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXXII OF 1857.

An Act to amend the Articles of War for the Native Army.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient that, on every conviction of Mutiny or Desertion, the Government or the Court or other lawful authority by which the offender shall be convicted should have power to order the offender to be marked ; It is enacted as follows :—

Government empowered to order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked.

I. It shall be lawful for the Government, by any general or special order, to direct that all or any persons or person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army, who have been or shall be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, shall be marked on the left side two inches below the armpit with the letter M in the case of a conviction of Mutiny, and with the letter D in the case of a conviction of Desertion, either alone or together with such other mark as the Government may consider necessary for the purpose of identifying the offender at any future time or of denoting the punishment to which he has been sentenced. The letter shall not be less than an inch long ; and such letter and other mark shall be made upon the skin with some ink, gunpowder, or other preparation, so as to be visible and conspicuous and not liable to be obliterated.

Court may, as part of the sentence, order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked.

II. It shall also be lawful for the Court, or other lawful authority by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, to order, as part of the sentence on such person, that he be marked with the letter M or D as the case may be, which letter shall be made in the manner hereinbefore directed.

Interpretation.

III. The word "Government", as used in this Act, shall mean the Governor General of India in Council, or the Executive Government of the Presidency within which the offender shall have been tried.

Past sentences and orders to be deemed valid.

IV. Any sentence or order, by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may upon conviction of Mutiny or Desertion have been ordered to be marked, shall be deemed valid.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 5th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXXIII OF 1857.

An Act to make further provision relating to Foreigners.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision to enable the several Governments of the British Territories in India to prevent the subjects of Foreign States from residing or sojourning therein or from passing through or travelling in the same without the consent of the said Governments; It is enacted as follows:—

Foreigner to report his arrival in India.

I. Every Foreigner shall, on his arrival in any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company from any Port or place not within the said Territories, or from any Port or place not subject to the provisions of this Act, forthwith report himself to the Commissioner of Police, if he shall arrive at any of the Presidency Towns; or, if he shall arrive at any other place, to the Magistrate or to such other Officer as shall be appointed to receive such reports by the Governor General in Council, or (in places within their respective jurisdictions) by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall extend to any Foreigner being the Master or Commander of a ship or vessel or employed therein.

Proviso.

What to be stated in the report.

II. The report shall be in writing; and shall be signed by the person reporting himself; and shall specify his name or names, the nation to which he belongs, the place from which he shall have come, the place or places of his destination, the object of his pursuit, and the date of his arrival in the said Territories: and the report shall be recorded by the Officer to whom it is made.

Foreigners employed in a ship or vessel to report themselves when they cease to be so employed.

III. If any person included in the proviso to Section I. shall remain in any part of the said Territories after he shall have ceased to be employed in a ship or vessel, he shall forthwith report himself in manner aforesaid.

Foreigners neglecting to report themselves to be dealt with in like manner as Foreigners travelling without a license.

IV. If any Foreigner shall neglect to report himself as required by this Act, he may be dealt with in the manner hereinafter provided in respect of Foreigners travelling without license.

Foreigner not to travel in India without a license.

V. No Foreigner shall travel in or pass through any part of the Territories in the possession and under the government of the East India Company without a license.

License by whom to be granted.

VI. Licenses under this Act may be granted by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, or by the Chief Secretary to the Governments of Fort St George and Bombay respectively, or by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, the Chief Commissioner of Oude, or the Commissioners of Mysore, Coorg, Nagpore, Scinde, Pegu, and the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces respectively, or by such other Officers as shall be specially authorized so to do by the Governor General of India in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners aforesaid.

What to be stated in license.

VII. Every such license shall state the name or names of the person to whom the license is granted, the nation to which he belongs, the district or districts through which he is authorized to pass or the limits within which he is authorized to travel, and the period (if any) during which the license is intended to have effect.

License may be granted subject to conditions and may be revoked.

VIII. The license may be granted subject to such conditions (if any) as the Governor General in Council or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place or (as regards their several jurisdictions) any of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners may by any general order direct, or as the Officer granting the license may deem necessary; and the license may be revoked at any time by the Governor General in Council, or by the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or by the Officer granting the same.

Foreigner travelling without or contrary to the conditions of license may be apprehended.

IX. If any Foreigner travel in or attempt to pass through any part of the said Territories without such license as aforesaid, or beyond the districts or limits mentioned therein, or after such license shall have been revoked, or shall violate any of the conditions therein specified, he may be apprehended without warrant by a Magistrate, Deputy Magistrate, or Assistant to a Magistrate, or by any European Commissioned Officer in the service of Her Majesty or of the East India Company, or by a Member of a Volunteer Corps enrolled by authority of Government whilst on duty, or by any Police Officer.

Procedure upon apprehension by persons not being Magistrates or Police Officers.

X. If any person be apprehended by a person not being a Magistrate or a Police Officer, he shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police Officer, and carried before a Magistrate; and whenever any person shall be apprehended by or taken before a Magistrate, such Magistrate shall forthwith report the case to the Government to which he is subject, and shall cause the person brought before him to be discharged, or to be conveyed to one of the Presidency Towns, or to be detained pending the orders of such Government.

Persons apprehended may be admitted to bail.

XI. All persons apprehended or detained under the above-mentioned provisions of this Act, may be admitted to bail by a Magistrate or by any of the Officers authorized to grant licenses, and shall be put to as little inconvenience as possible during their detention in custody.

Removal of persons apprehended.

XII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, may order any such person to remove himself from the said Territories by sea or by such other route as the Government may direct, or the Government may cause him to be removed from the said Territories by such route and in such manner as to the Government shall seem fit.

Government may order any Foreigner to remove himself.

XIII. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by writing order any Foreigner within his jurisdiction to remove himself from the Territories in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company, or to remove himself therefrom by a particular route to be specified in the order.

Foreigner refusing to remove or returning without license after removal may be apprehended and detained.

XIV. If any Foreigner ordered to remove himself from the said Territories, or ordered to remove himself therefrom by any particular route, shall neglect or refuse so to do; or if any Foreigner, having removed himself from the said Territories in consequence of an order issued under any of the provisions of this Act, or having been removed from the said Territories under any of the said provisions, shall wilfully return to the said Territories without a license in writing granted by the Governor General of India in Council or by the Government or Officer under whose order he shall have removed himself or been removed—such Foreigner may be apprehended and detained in safe custody, until he shall be discharged therefrom by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Executive Government, or of one of the said Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, within whose jurisdiction he shall be so apprehended or detained, upon such terms and conditions as the said Governor General in Council, Executive Government, Chief Commissioner, or Commissioner shall deem sufficient for the peace and security of the British Territories, and of the allies of Her Majesty and of the East India Company, and of the neighbouring Princes and States.

Government may prohibit persons, not being natural-born subjects, from travelling or passing through any part of India without a license.

XV. The Governor General in Council, or the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may by order prohibit any person or persons, or any class or classes of persons, not being a natural-born subject or subjects of Her Majesty within the meaning of Section LXXXI 3 and 4 William IV. C. 85, from travelling in or passing through any part of the said Territories, or from passing from any part of India to another without a license to be granted by such Officer or Officers as shall be specified in the order; and if such person shall wilfully disobey such order, he may be apprehended without warrant by any of the Officers specified in Section IX of this Act, and carried before a Magistrate and dealt with under the provisions of Section X in the same manner as if he were a Foreigner; and the Government may order such person to be detained in safe custody, or under the surveillance of the Police, so long as it may be deemed necessary for the peace and security of the British Territories.

Police Officer may board ship to ascertain whether Foreigners are on board.

XVI. It shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Police, or for a Magistrate, or his Assistant, or for any Officer appointed to receive reports as mentioned in the first Section of this Act, or for any Police Officer under the authority of such Commissioner or Magistrate, to enter any ship or vessel in any Port or place within the Territories in the possession and under the control of the East India Company, in order to ascertain whether any Foreigner, bound to report his arrival under Section I of this Act, is on board of such ship or vessel; and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, to adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary for that purpose; and the Master or Commander of such ship or vessel shall also, before any of the passengers are allowed to disembark, if he shall be required so to do by such Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid, deliver to him a list, in writing, of the passengers on board, specifying the Ports or places at which they embarked, and the Ports or places of their disembarkation or intended disembarkation, and answer, to the best of his knowledge, all such questions touching the passengers on board the said ship or vessel, or touching those who may have disembarked in any part of India, as shall be put to him by the Commissioner of Police, or other Officer as aforesaid. If any Foreigner on board such ship or vessel in any part of India shall refuse to give an account of his objects of pursuit in India, or if his account thereof shall not be satisfactory, the Officer may refuse to allow him to disembark, or he may be dealt with in the same manner as a Foreigner travelling in India without a license.

Master of ship to furnish list of passengers.

Obstructing Officers.

XVII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any of the powers vested in him by this Act shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or to both.

Penalty if Master neglects to report.

XVIII. If the Master or Commander of any ship or vessel shall wilfully neglect or refuse to comply with the requisitions of this Act, he shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two thousand Rupees.

False answer.

XIX. Whoever shall wilfully give a false answer to any question which by this Act he is bound to answer, or shall make any false report, shall, upon conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees.

Interpretation.

XX. The word "Foreigner" in this Act shall be deemed to mean a person not being either a natural-born subject of Her Majesty within the meaning of Section LXXXI, 3 and 4 William IV, C. 85, or a native of a place in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company. The word "Magistrate" shall include every person exercising the full powers of a Magistrate, and a Justice of the Peace.

Proof of being a Foreigner.

XXI. If a question shall arise whether any person alleged to be a Foreigner and to be subject to the provisions of this Act is a Foreigner or not, or is or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, the onus of proving that such person is not a Foreigner or is not subject to the provisions of this Act, shall lie upon such person.

Operation of Act.

XXII. This Act shall continue in force for two years; and it shall not extend to the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the Territory of Aden, unless the same shall be specially declared applicable to such Settlement or Territory by the Governor General of India in Council.

Exceptions.

XXIII. The foregoing provisions of this Act shall not extend to any Foreign Minister duly accredited by his Government, nor to any Consul or Vice-Consul, nor to any person under the age of fourteen years, nor to any person in the service of the British Government. The Governor General in Council, or (as regards their respective jurisdictions) the Executive Government of any Presidency or place, or any of the Chief Commissioners or Commissioners mentioned in Section VI of this Act, may exempt any person or any class of persons, either wholly or partially, or temporarily or otherwise, from all or any of the provisions of this Act; and may at any time revoke any exemption.

Indemnity.

XXIV. Any Officer of Government or other person who, prior to the passing of this Act, may have done any thing which would have been justified by this Act if it had been in force at the time, is hereby ndemnified for so doing; and no action or other proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted in respect of any thing so done.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 5th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 5th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT NO. XXXIV OF 1857.

An Act relating to the Sale of Ganja in the Presidency of Bombay.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the sale of Ganja in the Town of Bombay, and to amend the law relating to the sale of that article within the Territories subordinate to the Presidency of Bombay; It is enacted as follows:—

No. 2663.

Fort William, Home Department,
The 15th December 1857.

Notification.—The following Extract (Para. 10) from a Despatch in the Financial Department, No. 67 of 1857, dated the 16th September, from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, is published for general information:—

"Para. 10. The object contemplated in granting a Furlough on Private Affairs, with an allowance after stated periods of service, was to enable our Civil Servants to re-visit their Native Country. At the same time we cannot see any good reason for placing a limitation in the places to which Civil Servants may proceed on their Furloughs. If, therefore, a Civil Servant prefers taking his Furlough in India, we shall not object to his doing so. A disposition on the part of our Officers, Civil or Military, to pass the leisure of their Furloughs, and to spend the savings of their Salaries in India is, we consider, unquestionably beneficial to the country, and to the people."

"Letter from in Public Department, dated 14th February 1857, No. 14.

"Mr. ——, of the Civil Service, having requested that his Furlough might commence from the 1st November 1856, the date on which it was assigned to him, instead of from the date of his departure from India, was informed that his request was inadmissable. The question whether a Civil Servant can take his Furlough in India, is submitted for the Court's decision."

The following Despatch, from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, is published for general information :—

No. 13 of 1857.

OUR GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

1. The state of disorganization in nearly all the Districts of the N. W. Provinces, and in other parts of the Territories under your Government, having rendered the despatch of a large additional force of European Troops necessary, we have directed all Chaplains and Assistant Chaplains who are at Home on Furlough or Leave on Private Affairs to return forthwith to their duties; and as regards Absentees on Sick Certificate, we have ordered that those who have been absent for twelve months and upwards shall likewise return immediately, unless they shall produce a sufficient Medical Certificate of the necessity of their continued residence in this Country.

2. It is not our intention that Chaplains or Assistant Chaplains who have been obliged, under the operation of this order, to return to India before the expiration of the Furloughs to which their Services had entitled them, should, in respect to the remaining portions of the Furloughs now relinquished, be subject to the restrictions prescribed by the printed Rules as to the periods which must ordinarily elapse before Leave can again be given. It will be at your discretion to permit them to take the remainder of their Furloughs whenever their Services may not be required in India.

3. You will communicate this Despatch to the subordinate Governments.

We are, &c,

Notification.

Fort William, the 20th November 1857.

NOTICE is hereby given, that on Monday, the 11th January 1858, at the hour of Eleven o'Clock in the forenoon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the undermentioned quantity of Opium, the provision of 1856-57, subject to the following Conditions, viz.:—

Produce of Behar Agency ...	Chests	1,815
Ditto of Benares ditto ...	„	890
Total Chests		2,705

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on, until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the quantity of 2,705 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertsied, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4. Each lot to contain five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupess 1,000, at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book; and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th January, or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times, and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last-mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 16th January, will be placed in the hands of the Attorney to the Hon'ble Company for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities, on account of Opium, upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 16th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertised for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M. of Tuesday, the 26th January 1858, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit of 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such Lots or Chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government, at such time and in such manner, as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or Orders for the delivery of Opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or Order, and it is to be clearly understood, that the Certificates or Orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or Orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of Lots or Chests, whether more or less, than the number of Lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or Order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of Public Securities, under the Fifth of the present Conditions, will be received in this Office, except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book, or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per cent. even money of the amount bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified, that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bond fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing, in immediate succession, at the same price, and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency Opium, to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and all and every plea and pleas to the jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue:—

No. 1.—Certificate of the Opium now advertised for Sale.

No. 2.—Report of the Examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed, that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1856-57, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the Cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each Cake.

An account of the weight of the drug when packed, and a statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches, on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season, will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertised for Sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The total quantity of Behar Opium of 1856-57, advertised in the Notice of 19th September last, was 22,302 Chests. Of this quantity, 500 Chests will be withdrawn for Abkaree purposes, leaving available only 21,802 Chests for the Sales of 1858. The Board purpose disposing of the 10,000 Chests of this Provision, which have been re-packed in Calcutta, in the first Sales of the year, and the remainder in the after-sales.

19. The public are hereby informed, that in addition to the quantity above mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium, of 1856-57, will be brought to Sale in the year 1858, on or about the dates specified below; the Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates, should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

20. It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that, out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December 1858, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 32,468 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for Sale at each or any of the twelve Sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a Sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article 6th.—With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties, that at each of the periodical Sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of Chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed Three hundred Chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical Sale, it being understood that, if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agent of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the Three hundred Chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta, within thirty days after Notice of the intended Sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

W. GREY,

Offg. Junior Secretary.

The 9th December 1857.

* Since last Report, this River, from the frequent encroachment on its banks, has turned off the current of the Ganges, hardly any of which can now possibly enter, and thus the River is almost closed at its entrance, and all further attempts to keep it open are useless.

† This River is still open, and if the operations at the Pungassy succeed it will probably be so during the dry months as usual. The Shoals begin to appear below the Pungassy at Bangberriah, Asmanscolly and Sonatunpore.

6	For a Packet exceeding 2 lbs. and not exceeding 2½ lbs.	1	4	0
7	For a Packet exceeding 2 ½ lbs. and not exceeding 3 lbs.	1	8	0

The following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book Packets by Post :—

1*st.* The Postage must be prepaid in full by means of the Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet or its cover.

2*nd.* Every Packet must be sent either without a cover or in a cover open at the ends or sides so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3*rd.* The Packet may contain any number of separate Books or other Publications, Prints, or Maps, and any quantity of Paper, Parchment, or Vellum (to the exclusion, however, of Letters, whether sealed or open) and the Books or other Publications, Prints, Maps, &c., may be either printed, written, or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting or covering of a Book, Publication, &c, or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached ; as also Rollers in the case of Prints or Maps ; Markers, (whether of Paper or otherwise) in the case of Books ; and, in short, whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of Literary or Artistic matter, or usually appertains thereto.

4*th.* The Packet must not contain any Letter closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any Letter, or any communication of the nature of a Letter, written or printed, in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the Books, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a Letter.

5*th.* No Book Packet can be received if it exceeds 2 feet in length, width or depth.

6*th.* Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any Letter or any communication of the nature of a Letter, written or printed, in it or upon its cover, will be charged with Letter postage.

7*th.* If a Packet be found to contain any Letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the Letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet charged with full Postage as an unpaid Letter, together with an additional Book rate, that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than ½ lb. The remainder of the Packet, if duly prepaid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8th. If a Packet be not sufficiently prepaid with Stamps, but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book Postage, together with an additional Book rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage.

9th. No Book Packet weighing more than 3 lbs., can be sent to and from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10th. The Colonial Book Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11th In no case can a Book Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the Letter rate of Postage) through a Foreign Country.

H. B. RIDDELL,
Director General of the Post Office in India.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 12th December 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 12th December 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon (under a suspension of the Standing Orders) on or after the 17th of January next:—

A Bill for the levy of Port-dues and fees at Ports within the Presidency of Fort Saint George.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues and fees to be hereafter levied and taken, in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855, in the several Ports named in the Schedule to this Act, being Ports within the Presidency of Fort Saint George; It is enacted as follows:—

Port-dues on sea-going vessels of 10 tons and upwards entering Port.

I. Port-dues, at rates not exceeding the rates contained in the Schedule to this Act, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of twenty tons and upwards which shall enter any of the said Ports.

Port-due on Dhonies and country vessels.

II. Provided that the Port-due chargeable in respect of Dhonies and country vessels employed in the coasting trade, shall be at a rate equal to one-half the rate chargeable in respect of other vessels; and such due shall not be chargeable oftener than once in sixty days in respect of the same vessel.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter Port.

III. Provided also that no such due as aforesaid shall be chargeable in respect of any vessel which, having left any of the said Ports, is compelled to re-enter the same Port by stress of weather or in consequence of having sustained any damage.

Port-dues on vessels leaving Port within 48 hours without breaking bulk.

IV. Vessels entering any of the said Ports, and leaving such Port within forty-eight hours without breaking bulk, shall be charged with one-half only of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

Port-due on vessels entering Port in ballast.

V. Vessels entering any of the said Ports in ballast shall be charged with three-fourths only of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

Scale of fees for measuring vessels.

VI. In any of the said Ports, a fee according to the scale hereinafter mentioned may be charged for measuring any vessel (that is to say)—

Fort William, 10th December 1857.

No. 1552 A. of 1857.—The services of Captain J. R. Pughe, of the 47th Regiment Native Infantry, are placed at the disposal of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Fort William, 17th December 1857.

No. 1588 of 1857.—The following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General on the 28th November 1857, and is published in General Orders :—

ACT No. XXXII. OF 1857.

An Act to amend the Articles of War for the Native Army.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient that, on every conviction of Mutiny or Desertion, the Government or the Court, or other lawful authority by which the offender shall be convicted, should have power to order the offender to be marked : It is enacted as follows :—

Government empowered to order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked.

I. It shall be lawful for the Government, by any general or special order, to direct that all or any persons or person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army, who have been or shall be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, shall be marked on the left side two inches below the arm pit with the letter M in the case of a conviction of Mutiny, and with the letter D in the case of a conviction of Desertion, either alone or together with such other mark as the Government may consider necessary for the purpose of identifying the offender at any future time, or of denoting the punishment to which he has been sentenced. The letter shall not be less than an inch long ; and such letter and other mark shall be made upon the skin with some ink, gunpowder, or other preparation, so as to be visible and conspicuous and not liable to be obliterated.

Court may, as part of the sentence, order Mutineers and Deserters to be marked.

II. It shall also be lawful for the Court, or other lawful authority by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may be convicted of Mutiny or Desertion, to order, as part of the sentence on such person, that he be marked with the letter M or D, as the case may be, which letter shall be made in the manner hereinbefore directed.

Interpretation.

III. The word "Government," as used in this Act, shall mean the Governor General of India in Council, or the Executive Government of the Presidency within which the offender shall have been tried.

Past sentences and orders to be deemed valid.

IV. Any sentence or order, by which any person subject to the Articles of War for the Native Army may upon conviction of Mutiny or Desertion have been ordered to be marked, shall be deemed valid.

No. 1589 of 1857.—The following Notification, from the Home Department, is published in General Orders :—

No. 2663, dated 15*th December* 1857.—The following Extract (Para. 10) from a Despatch in the Financial Department, No. 67 of 1857, dated the 16th September, from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, is published for general information:—

"Para. 10. The object contemplated in granting a furlough on private affairs, with an allowance after stated periods of service, was to enable our Civil Servants to re-visit their Native Country. At the same time we cannot see any good reason for placing a limitation in the places to which Civil Servants may proceed on their furloughs. If, therefore, a Civil Servant prefers taking his furlongh in India, we shall not object to his doing so. A disposition on the part of our Officers, Civil or Military, to pass the leisure of their furloughs, and to spend the savings of their salaries in India, is, we consider, unquestionably beneficial to the county and to the people."

"Letter from, in Public Department, dated 14th February 1857, No. 14. Mr. ——, of the Civil Service, having requested that his furlough might commence from the 1st November 1856, the date on which it was assigned to him, instead of from the date of his departure from India, was informed that his request was inadmissible. The question whether a Civil Servant can take his furlough in India is submitted for the Court's decision."

No. 1590 of 1857.—The following Notifications, from the Foreign Department, are published in General Orders:—

No. 5065, dated 12*th December* 1857.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to appoint the under-mentioned Medical Officers to do duty with the Troops from Nepal:—Surgeons W. S. Dicken, J. McClelland, and C. Harland, and Assistant Surgeon J. L. Bryden.

No. 5067, dated 14*th December* 1857.—Assistant Surgeon D. M. Falconer is appointed Civil Surgeon at Moulmein, vice Dr. Bond, deceased.

No. 5071, dated 14*th December* 1857.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to appoint Brigadier General G. H. Macgregor, C. B., to be Military Commissioner and Governor General's Agent with the Goorkha Force Commanded by Maha Raja Jung Bahadoor, and Lieutenant J. F. MacAndrew, of the 19th Regiment Native Infantry, to be Military Secretary and Aide-de-Camp to the Brigadier General.

No. 118, dated 7*th December* 1857.—The following Despatch, from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, is published for general information:—

No. 13 of 1857.

OUR GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

1. The state of disorganization in nearly all the Districts of the North-Western Provinces, and in other parts of the Territories under your Government, having rendered the despatch of a large additional force of European Troops necessary, we have directed all Chaplains, and Assistant Chaplains, who are at Home on Furlough, or leave on private affairs, to return forthwith to their duties, and as regards absentees on Sick certificate, we have ordered that those who have been absent for twelve months and upwards shall likewise return immediately, unless they shall produce a sufficient Medical certificate of the necessity of their continued residence in this country.

2. It is not our intention that Chaplains or Assistant Chaplains, who have been obliged, under the operation of this Order, to return to India before the expiration of the Furloughs to which their services had entitled them, should, in respect to the remaining portions of the Furloughs now relinquished, be subject to the restrictions prescribed by the printed Rules as to the periods which must ordinarily elapse before leave can again be given. It will be at your discretion to permit them to take the remainder of their Furloughs whenever their services may not be required in India.

3. You will communicate this Despatch to the subordinate Governments.

We are, &c.,

(Signed) ROSS D. MANGLES.
" F. CURRIE.
" C. MILLS.
And Other Directors.

The following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book Packets by Post :—

1*st.* The Postage must be prepaid in full by means of the Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet or its cover.

2*nd.* Every Packet must be sent either without a cover or in a cover open at the ends or sides so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3*rd.* The Packet may contain any number of separate Books or other Publications, Prints, or Maps, and any quantity of Paper, Parchment, or Vellum (to the exclusion, however, of Letters, whether sealed or open) and the Books or other Publications, Prints, Maps, &c., may be either printed, written, or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting or covering of a Book, Publication, &c, or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached ; as also Rollers in the case of Prints or Maps ; Markers, (whether of Paper or otherwise) in the case of Books ; and, in short, whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of Literary or Artistic matter, or usually appertains thereto.

4*th.* The Packet must not contain any Letter closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any Letter, or any communication of the nature of a Letter, written or printed, in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the Books, &c, or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a Letter.

5*th.* No Book Packet can be received if it exceeds 2 feet in length, width or depth.

6*th.* Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any Letter or any communication of the nature of a Letter, written or printed, in it or upon its cover, will be charged with Letter postage.

7*th.* If a Packet be found to contain any Letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the Letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet charged with full Postage as an unpaid Letter, together with an additional Book rate, that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than ½ lb. The remainder of the Packet, if duly prepaid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8th. If a Packet be not sufficiently prepaid with Stamps, but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book Postage, together with an additional Book rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage.

9th. No Book Packet weighing more than 3 lbs., can be sent to and from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10th. The Colonial Book Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11th. In no case can a Book Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the Letter rate of Postage) through a Foreign Country.

Legislative Council of India.

The 19th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 14th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXXV OF 1857.

An Act for the levy of Port-dues in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong, in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows :—

Port-dues on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering Port.

I. Port-dues, at rates not exceeding the rates contained in the Schedule to this Act, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards which shall enter any of the said Ports.

Rate of Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to enter Port.

II. When any vessel enters any of the said Ports, being driven in by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage, or for any other reason, but does not discharge or take in any cargo or passenger therein (with the exception of such un-shipment and re-shipment as may be necessary for the purpose of repair)—the Port-due chargeable in respect of such vessel shall be at a rate equal to one-half the rate chargeable in respect of other vessels.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter Port.

III. Provided that, when any vessel having left any of the said Ports, is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather or in consequence of having sustained any damage, no Port-due shall be chargeable in respect of such vessel.

No vessel to pay Port-due at same Port oftener than once in sixty days.

IV. No vessel shall be required to pay at the same Port any Port-due chargeable under this Act oftener than once in sixty days.

Commencement of Act.

V. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the first day of January 1858; and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in any of the said Ports subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date no Port-due shall be levied at any of the said Ports, except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rates of Port-dues to be published.

No Port-dues to be levied except under Act.

Legislative Council of India.

The 19th December 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 19th December 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 23rd of March next:—

A Bill for the regulation of certain Ports within the Presidency of Fort St. George.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the safety of vessels and the convenience of traffic in Ports within the Presidency of Fort St. George declared under Section XXIV Act VI of 1844 to be Ports for the landing and shipment of merchandize, but to which the general provisions of Act XXII of 1855 are not suitable: It is enacted as follows:—

Sections XVI and XXIV Act XXII of 1855 to be applicable to certain Ports.

I. The provisions contained in Sections XVI and XXIV of Act XXII of 1855 shall be applicable to the Ports mentioned in the Schedule to this Act annexed, being Ports declared by the Governor in Council of Fort St. George, under Section XXIV Act VI of 1844, to be Ports for the landing and shipment of merchandize; and may be enforced by any Magistrate to whose ordinary jurisdiction any such Port is subject: and any penalties imposed by such Magistrate, and any expenses incurred by his order under the said provisions, shall be recoverable respectively in the manner provided in Sections LV and LVII of the said Act.

Recovery of penalties and expenses.

Consent of Principal Officer of Customs or other Officer necessary for discharging ballast, &c.

II. In any of the said Ports, the consent referred to in Section XXIV of the said Act shall be given by the Principal Officer of Customs at such Port, or by any other Officer in that behalf appointed by Government.

No. 5244.
Fort William, Foreign Department,
The 22nd December 1857.

Notification.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has much gratification in publishing, for general information, the subjoined Reports from Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton, of two engagements at Kodhooa and Chanda, on the Jounpore Frontier, in which the Rebel Forces of Mehndee Hossein, the so-called Nazim of Sultanpore, were completely defeated by the brave Troops of our Ally, the Maha Raja of Nepal.

It is with the highest satisfaction that the Governor General in Council thus publicly acknowledges the valuable service which the Nepalese Troops have performed in attacking and dispersing the rebellious bands, which have menaced the British Frontier; and it is with no less satisfaction that His Lordship in Council records his admiration of the spirited and soldierly conduct by which the Troops of our friendly Ally have been distinguished in the actions which Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton has described, and in the defensive operations which preceded them.

The Governor General in Council is grieved to observe that the victories at Kodhooa and Chanda were not achieved without serious loss; and His Lordship in Council especially deplores the death of Lieutenant-Colonel Muddun Maun Singh, who fell at the head of his Regiment nobly doing his duty as a brave Soldier.

To Colonel Puhlwan Singh, Commanding the Goorkha Troops, the warm acknowledgments of the Governor General in Council are due for his ready acquiescence in every operation, which has been deemed advisable for the security of the Frontier; for his exemplary zeal in the cause to which his Government has lent its cordial support; and for the soldierly bearing, the judgment, and bravery, which he has displayed on all occasions; especially in the action at Chanda, where the Troops under his Command completely defeated an Enemy, much superior in numbers and artillery, and dislodged him from a strong and well-chosen position, with the loss of nearly all his Guns and all his Ammunition.

Major Indra Singh, who succeeded to the Command of the Shere Regiment, when Lieutenant-Colonel Muddun Maun Singh was mortally wounded in the action of Chanda, and Major Chumpa Singh, who behaved on the same occasion, as at Kodhooa also, with marked gallantry, fully deserve the thanks of the Governor General in Council.

The conspicuous bravery of Lieutenant Gumbheer Singh, of the Shere Regiment, calls for prominent notice. The exploit of this Officer in attacking, single-handed, and capturing a Gun defended by seven of the Enemy, is an instance of individual daring which has seldom or never been surpassed, and which specially calls for the admiration and thanks of the Governor General in Council.

Lastly, the Governor General in Council desires to record his warm appreciation of the discipline, the steadiness, and bravery of all the Nepalese Officers and Troops engaged in the actions at Khodhooa and Chanda, and to assure them that it will be his care to bring their excellent conduct, on these occasions, under the favorable notice of the Government which they serve.

But the Governor General in Council, while awarding to the Officers and Men of the Nepalese Battalions the praise which is justly due to their bravery and devotion, must not omit to record the high sense which he entertains of the judgment, temper, and tact with which Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton has discharged the important functions that have devolved upon him as the Officer in Military charge of the Battalions under the Command of Colonel Puhlwan Singh. Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton's position has been one of some difficulty and great responsibility; he has fulfilled its requirements ably and satisfactorily, and is entitled to the best thanks of the Governor General in Council.

The acknowledgments of His Lordship in Council are also due to Captain Steel, Lieutenant Clark, Assistant Surgeon Paske, Mr. Carnegy, and Mr. Waleskf—all of whom were present in the action at Chanda, and rendered valuable assistance to Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton.

By Order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

Camp Singramow, 20th October 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report that the Force under Command of Colonel Puhlwan Singh reached this yesterday morning.

From some time past, rumours had prevailed that Mehndee Hossein, the Nazim of Sultanpore, was collecting an Army, and putting together Guns, with a view to seizing the District of Jounpore, and that he had dispatched an Advance Guard to Chanda (distant from our present encampment about 10 miles), and which place it was my intention to have attacked, had the Rebels not moved down towards us.

2nd. On the road between this and our last ground, one of my Chuprassies, whom I had sent to Chanda for information, reported that the Enemy had that morning quitted that place, and had come down to within three miles of Singramow. To this statement, however, I did not at first attach much credit, but as it was afterwards corroborated by others, leaving the fact of their proximity no longer a doubt, I lost no time in proposing to Colonel Puhlwan Sing an immediate attack, which was cordially responded to by that gallant Officer, and by noon about (1,000) one thousand Men and 4 Guns had fallen in and were ready to start towards the Enemy's Camp.

3rd. Some little delay, however, occurred in making arrangements for the protection of our Camp, surrounded as we were by the Troops of a very doubtful friend, the Zemindar of Singramow, by name Murdheer Singh, on whom I had reason to look with the greatest suspicion, and whom Mr. Lind, the Magistrate, took with us, to place beyond a possibility any attack on our Camp during our absence.

4th. The Force moved off at 2 P. M, and after considerable delay, caused by the bad state of the roads, we arrived in the vicinity of the Enemy's position, near the village of Kodowah. The Rebels were encamped in a tope of trees surrounded by nullahs, rayines, jungles, and dense cultivations of Sugar-cane and Indian-corn, with a thick jungle on their left and an extensive jheel of water on their right. In fact so dense was the vegetation all round, that nothing could be seen beyond the field immediately on our front, and I had almost commenced to despair of finding the Enemy in such a country, when a number of horsemen met my observation, evidently making off towards the jungle on our left. I immediately ordered the Guns to be unlimbered, and a line to be formed, and a few shot and shell from the former to be sent into the wood. This had the desired effect of making the horsemen return to their Camp. We then advanced, and very shortly, to our astonishment, we came on the Enemy's position. The Goorkhas, observing that a retreat was being made by the Enemy, could no longer be restrained; gave one cheer, and dashed at them in a splendid manner; nor did they give up the pursuit until quite overcome by fatigue and exhaustion.

5th. Two Companies of the Shere Regiment managed to get beyond any others, and the Officer reports having seen a person, evidently of some distinction, mounted on an elephant and surrounded by 30 armed men, beating a precipitate retreat. This was no doubt Hussen Yar Khan, the Chuckledar, whose capture would have been easy, had we had more Cavalry; that under Mr. Jenkinson having been at the time occupied in an opposite direction. The Goorkhas were so exhausted, they could not move.

6th. There does not appear to have been much opposition shown by the Enemy at first, but I, as well as others, witnessed some desperate hand to hand encounters.

7th. It is impossible to state precisely the loss of the Enemy in this very successful little affair, but from the enquiries I have made, and the fact of 218 bodies having been counted by one individual alone, I do not think I shall be over-stepping the mark, when I put it down at (300) three hundred. The two Companies of the Shere Regiment are said to have killed an immense number considerably ahead of the main body. Numbers were also driven into the jheel, and were either drowned or shot down from the high banks. These were never counted.

8th. Our casualties were 7 wounded, but none very seriously, I am happy to say.

9th. The number of Goorkhas engaged was (1,000) one thousand, and I put the Enemy down at (1200) twelve hundred, without Guns. I understand there were three organized Regiments consisting of about (800) eight hundred men, and the rest was made up of Matchlock-men from the neighbouring Zemindars. We took (7) seven standards. The Enemy had no Guns, we had four, but with the exception of the first few discharges, we could not bring them into play, in consequence of the rapidity with which the pursuit was followed up.

Captain Steel, Lieutenant Clark, and Dr. Paske accompanied the Troops and exerted themselves well, and Messrs. Lind, Carnegy, and Jenkinson, also afforded me their valuable assistance.

I cannot speak too highly of Colonel Puhlwan Singh, his Officers and Men without exception, and their recent exertions I hope will soon restore quiet and tranquillity to this District.

It was yesterday reported, that the road between this and Chanda was strewed with the dead and wounded, and that Mehndee Hossein's Troops had, after plundering his Treasury, totally dispersed.

TO

LIEUT.-COLONEL R. STRACHEY,

Camp Singramow, 31st October 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, that the Force under Command of Colonel Puhlwan Singh gained a complete victory over the Rebels yesterday, capturing four Guns and all their Ammunition.

From the very excellent intelligence, communicated to me the day before by Mr. Carnegy, it was evident that the Rebels were collecting fast at Chanda, and that the arrival of the Nazim, Mehndee Hossein, would be the signal for a general advance on our position. Under these circumstances, I considered it advisable to attack the Enemy at once, although very much our superior, both in numbers and in artillery.

A Column, consisting of about (1100) eleven hundred Goorkhas, left this at 8 A. M., and reached the Enemy's position, which was an admirably chosen and excessively strong one, and distant about 10 miles, at 11½ o'clock.

It being evident that it was the intention of the Enemy to defend the road passing through his position, it was considered proper to attack in two Columns, which movement was admirably carried out by Colonel Puhlwan Singh. The Enemy was taken in both flanks, and perceiving himself outmanœuvred, began to fall back, after having kept up a well-directed fire of Artillery for two hours.

The Rebels numbered at least five thousand with five Guns, under the immediate Command of Mehndee Hossein, who had only been in Camp a couple of hours previous to our attacking him.

There cannot be a doubt that the Nazim had a number of Mutineers, both Artillery and Infantry, attached to his Force. The Artillery was manned by experienced Gunners. Our loss, of which I beg to forward a Return, was heavy. Amongst the killed, I regret to be obliged to include the name of Lieutenant-Colonel Muddun Mann Singh, an excellent Officer, and one who, on the day of his death, had nobly done his duty as a Soldier.

Lieutenant Gumbheer Singh, of the Shere Regiment, now lies covered with wounds. This Officer I beg prominently to bring to the notice of Government for his great gallantry, such as would, in our Service, entitle a person to the highest honor being conferred on him.

The Lieutenant rushed on seven men defending a Gun, cut down five, and wounded the others, who made off. He himself received eight sword-cuts.

I cannot speak too highly of the behaviour of the Troops on this occasion, and to Colonel Puhlwan Singh every praise is due for his coolness and tact.

The loss of the Enemy I put down at only (200) two hundred, a small number indeed; but as we have no Cavalry, and as the men were completely exhausted by their long march and rapid advance, a pursuit was out of the question. I regret to say, the Enemy took away one small Gun.

The Force was accompanied by Captain Steel, Lieutenant Clark, Assistant Surgeon Paske, Mr. Carnegy, Deputy Collector, and Mr. Waleski, Indigo Planter, and to all these Officers and Gentlemen I am infinitely obliged for the assistance they rendered me. Lieutenant Clark had charge of the left Column of Attack and did his work admirably.

I beg to forward a Return of Guns and Ammunition captured on the occasion.

PEARL FISHERY.

NOTICE is hereby given, that a Pearl Fishery will take place at Aripo, in the Island of Ceylon, on or about the 1st of March next 1858; and that the Bank to be fished is the North-west part of the Chivel Paar, the Bank fished last March, estimated to contain Oysters sufficient to employ Sixty Boats for Fifteen days.

It is therefore recommended, that such Boat-owners and Divers as may wish to be employed at the said Fishery should be at Aripo on or before the 20th February next; and it is particularly notified, that the first day's fishing will positively take place on the first day in March that the weather may permit the Boats to fish.

The Fishery will be conducted on account of Government, and the Oysters put up to sale in such lots as may be deemed expedient.

The arrangements of the Fishery will be the same as have been usual on similar occasions.

All payments to be made in ready money in Ceylon Currency, or in East India Company's Rupees.

Drafts on the Banks in Colombo, or Bills on the Agents of this Government in India, at Ten days' sight, will be taken, on Letters of Credit being produced to warrant the drawing of such Drafts or Bills.

For the convenience of Purchasers, the Treasurer at Colombo and the different Government Agents of Provinces will be authorized to receive Cash Deposits from parties intending to become purchasers, and Receipts of these Officers will be taken in payment of any sums due on account of the Fishery.

No deposit will be received for a less sum than Fifty Pounds.

By His Excellency's Command,
C. J. MACCARTHY,
Colonial Secretary.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, 3rd December 1857.

Silawatorre, 18th November 1857.

Notification.

Fort William, the 20th November 1857.

NOTICE is hereby given, that on Monday, the 11th January 1858, at the hour of Eleven o'Clock in the forenoon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the undermentioned quantity of Opium, the provision of 1856-57, subject to the following Conditions, viz.:—

Produce of Behar Agency ..	Chests	1,815
Ditto of Benares ditto ...	„	890
Total Chests ..		2,705

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P. M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on, until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the quantity of 2,705 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertsied, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4. Each lot to contain five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupess 1,000, at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book; and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th January, or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times, and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last-mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 16th January, will be placed in the hands of the Attorney to the Hon'ble Company for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities, on account of Opium, upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 16th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertised for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M. of Tuesday, the 26th January 1858, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit of 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such Lots or Chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government, at such time and in such manner, as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or Orders for the delivery of Opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or Order, and it is to be clearly understood, that the Certificates or Orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or Orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of Lots or Chests, whether more or less, than the number of Lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or Order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of Public Securities, under the Fifth of the present Conditions, will be received in this Office, except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book, or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per cent. even money of the amount bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified, that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing, in immediate succession, at the same price, and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency Opium, to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and all and every plea and pleas to the jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue:—

No. 1.—Certificate of the Opium now advertised for Sale.

No. 2.—Report of the Examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed, that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1856-57, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the Cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each Cake.

An account of the weight of the drug when packed, and a statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches, on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season, will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertised for Sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The total quantity of Behar Opium of 1856-57, advertised in the Notice of 19th September last, was 22,302 Chests. Of this quantity, 500 Chests will be withdrawn for Abkaree purposes, leaving available only 21,802 Chests for the Sales of 1858. The Board purpose disposing of the 10,000 Chests of this Provision, which have been re-packed in Calcutta, in the first Sales of the year, and the remainder in the after-sales.

19. The public are hereby informed, that in addition to the quantity above mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium, of 1856-57, will be brought to Sale in the year 1858, on or about the dates specified below; the Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates, should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

20. It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that, out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December 1858, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 32,468 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for Sale at each or any of the twelve Sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a Sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article 6th.—With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties, that at each of the periodical Sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of Chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed Three hundred Chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical Sale, it being understood that, if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agent of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the Three hundred Chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta, within thirty days after Notice of the intended Sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

The following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book Packets by Post :—

1*st.* The Postage must be prepaid in full by means of the Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet or its cover.

2*nd.* Every Packet must be sent either without a cover or in a cover open at the ends or sides so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3*rd.* The Packet may contain any number of separate Books or other Publications, Prints, or Maps, and any quantity of Paper, Parchment, or Vellum (to the exclusion, however, of Letters, whether sealed or open) and the Books or other Publications, Prints, Maps, &c., may be either printed, written, or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting or covering of a Book, Publication, &c, or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached ; as also Rollers in the case of Prints or Maps ; Markers, (whether of Paper or otherwise) in the case of Books ; and, in short, whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of Literary or Artistic matter, or usually appertains thereto.

4*th.* The Packet must not contain any Letter closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any Letter, or any communication of the nature of a Letter, written or printed, in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the Books, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a Letter.

5*th.* No Book Packet can be received if it exceeds 2 feet in length, width or depth.

6*th.* Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any Letter or any communication of the nature of a Letter, written or printed, in it or upon its cover, will be charged with Letter postage.

7*th.* If a Packet be found to contain any Letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the Letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet charged with full Postage as an unpaid Letter, together with an additional Book rate, that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than ½ lb. The remainder of the Packet, if duly prepaid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8*th* If a Packet be not sufficiently prepaid with Stamps, but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book Postage, together with an additional Book rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage

9*th*. No Book Packet weighing more than 3 lbs., can be sent to and from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10*th* The Colonial Book Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11*th* In no case can a Book Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the Letter rate of Postage) through a Foreign Country.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1857.

GENERAL ORDERS BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

FORT WILLIAM, 22ND DECEMBER 1857.

No. 1625 OF 1857.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the accompanying Despatches relating to the first Relief of the Garrison of Lucknow, which have lately reached Government.

These Despatches contain an account of the proceedings of the Force under the Command of the late Major-General Sir H. Havelock, K. C. B., before he forced his way into the City, as well as of the various operations carried on under Major-General Sir James Outram, G. C. B., after a junction had been effected with the Garrison of the Residency on the 25th of September until the arrival of the Relieving Force under His Excellency General Sir Colin Campbell.

They show how thoroughly this gallant band has sustained the reputation of British Soldiers for courage, discipline, and determination, whether in the plain, in the hand to hand struggle of the street-fighting, or in the more wearying labours of the Siege.

The Governor General in Council has already had the satisfaction of acknowledging the obligations of the Government of India to Sir James Outram; but His Lordship in Council cannot deny himself the pleasure of expressing again his appreciation of Sir James Outram's eminent services, and his respect for the generous and soldier-like feeling which prompted Sir James to abstain from assuming the position due to his superior rank, and to leave in the hands of Sir Henry Havelock the completion of the undertaking which the latter had successfully begun.

To Brigadier Inglis, the Governor General in Council can give no higher praise than to say that, during the continuance of the Siege, after Sir James Outram had assumed the Chief Command in the Residency, his ability, energy, and vigilance were worthy of the lasting reputation which his conduct of the defence has secured to him.

Sir James Outram has acknowledged the efficient co-operation which he had from Brigadiers Hamilton and Stisted. To those Officers, as well as to Captain Bouverie and Captain Spurgin, serving on the Brigade Staff, the Governor General in Council desires to offer his hearty thanks for the good service they have done.

His Lordship in Council conveys to Major Eyre, who had already established a claim on the gratitude of the Government; to Captain Maude, Royal Artillery; to Captain Olpherts, Bengal Artillery; to Lieutenant Thomas, Commissary of Ordnance; and to the Officers and Men of the combined Force of Artillery, the assurance of the satisfaction with which he has received the evidence of their zeal and gallantry.

The labours that devolved upon the Engineer Department have been of a most important and difficult nature, and the Governor General in Council begs to assure Captain Crommelin, Commanding the Engineers; Lieutenant Hutchinson, Second in Command; Lieutenants Russell and Limond; the Officers and Men attached to, as well as those who volunteered to work with, the Department—his appreciation of the courage, skill, and energy with which they bore their very arduous part in the Siege.

Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell, Commanding Her Majesty's 90th Light Infantry, deserves praise for the able manner in which he held an advanced post, exposed to the unceasing attacks of the Enemy; and to Captain Brasyer, Commanding the Regiment of Ferozepore; to Captain Lockhart, Commanding Her Majesty's 78th Highlanders; to Captain Shute, Commanding a Detachment of Her Majesty's 64th, who have each maintained a difficult post with complete success; to Captain Willis, Commanding Her Majesty's 84th; to Captain Galwey, Commanding Madras Fusiliers; and to Lieutenant Meara, Commanding Her Majesty's 5th Fusiliers, the Governor General in Council tenders his hearty thanks.

His Lordship in Council acknowledges with pleasure the cheerful alacrity with which Captain Barrow, Commanding Volunteer Cavalry, Captains Johnson and Hardinge, Commanding Irregular Cavalry, have come forward to volunteer their services on every opportunity: the latter Officer having also rendered good service as Deputy Quarter Master General.

The thanks of Government are due to Captain Garden, Assistant Quarter Master General; to Captain Moorsom, Her Majesty's 52nd Regiment, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, for the zeal they have exhibited in their various Departments; as also to Captains Alexander, Orr, and Carnegy, for their able services at the head of the Intelligence Department; and to Captain Macbean and Lieutenant James for the efficient manner in which, under their superintendence, the Commissariat arrangements have been carried out.

The Governor General in Council has great satisfaction in acknowledging the excellent provision made for the care of the Sick by the Medical Department under Superintending Surgeon J. Scott; and His Lordship in Council desires especially to tender his warm thanks to the Reverend Mr. Harris for the personal courage displayed by that gentleman in the discharge of his sacred duties, and for the unremitting assiduity with which he, throughout the Siege, has sought to allay the sufferings and provide for the comfort of the Sick and Wounded.

The Governor General in Council offers to Major North, Deputy Judge Advocate General; to Captain Hudson (H. M.'s 64th), Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; and to Lieutenant Hargood (Madras Fusiliers), serving on the Staff of the late Sir Henry Havelock, the thanks they have merited by the efficient discharge of their respective duties.

The support rendered to the Force, both in the Field and throughout the very intricate and difficult Engineering operations of the defence, by Colonel Napier, Military Secretary and Chief of the Adjutant General's Department, has been most valuable, and His Lordship in Council desires to assure Colonel Napier that his ability and exertions are fully appreciated by Government.

The Governor General in Council has much satisfaction in acknowledging the services of Captain Dodgson, Assistant Adjutant General; Captain Gordon, Deputy Judge Advocate General; Lieutenants Sitwell and Chamier, of the Personal Staff of, and Mr. Money, Private Secretary to, Sir James Outram; of Captain Dawson and Ensign Hewitt, Orderly Officers, and of Mr. G. Couper, of the Civil Service, who volunteered to perform the duties of Aide-de-Camp.

In addition to those whose names have been more prominently brought to notice, the Governor General in Council desires to convey his hearty thanks to all Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Men, who have been engaged in the operations referred to in these Despatches, for the valor they have displayed in the Field, for the firmness with which they have maintained their position in the City, and for the cheerful, willing, and earnest manner in which they have discharged all the various duties and borne the privations imposed upon them, under circumstances of extraordinary difficulty and hardship.

It will be a gratification to the Governor General in Council to bring the eminent services of Major General Sir James Outram's Force, Officers and Men, to the favorable notice of Her Majesty's Government and of the Hon'ble Court of Directors, by the first opportunity. Meanwhile the Governor General in Council directs, by a separate Order of this date, that the Donation Batta already granted to the Garrison under Brigadier Inglis shall be extended to Major General Sir James Outram's Force.

The Governor General in Council cannot conclude this notice of the events connected with the Relief of Lucknow without expressing his deep regret at the heavy loss which England has suffered by the fall of so many able Officers and gallant Men.

His Lordship in Council has already recorded his sense of the high worth of those true Soldiers, Sir Henry Havelock and Brigadier General Neill. Their names will be cherished with honor by their fellow-countrymen.

He now has to lament the untimely death of Colonel Campbell, Her Majesty's 90th Light Infantry, than whom the Queen's Service possessed no more gallant or promising Officer.

Major Haliburton, Her Majesty's 78th Highlanders; Major Cooper, Artillery; Major Simmons, Her Majesty's 5th Fusiliers; Major Stephenson, Madras Fusiliers; and many other brave Men amongst their comrades, have died in the discharge of their duty; and in memory of these the Governor General in Council desires to record his tribute of sorrow and gratitude.

Head Quarters Camp, Cawnpore,
The 5th Decemb r 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor, by desire of the Commander-in-Chief, to forward, for submission to the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council, the Report, by Major-General Sir J. Outram, K. C. B., dated 25th Ultimo, of his operations subsequent to the 28th September last, and His Excellency would desire particularly to draw the attention of His Lordship to the skill displayed in the arrangements made for the defence of the position occupied by Sir J. Outram's Force at Lucknow, and to the gallantry and endurance of the Troops engaged.

2. Sir Colin Campbell would most especially refer to the valuable services of the late Major General Sir H. Havelock, whose death His Excellency, in common with the whole Army, deeply deplores, and of that talented and valuable Officer, Colonel R. Napier, of the Bengal Engineers, whose exertions were conspicuous and unceasing.

I have the honor to be,
SIR,
Your most obedient Servant,
H. W. NORMAN, Lieut.,
Asst. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

From

Brigadier General H. Havelock,

Commanding Oude Field Force,

To

Captain H. W. Norman,

Assistant Adjutant General,

Head Quarters.

Residency, Lucknow, 30th Sept. 1857.

Sir,

Major General Sir James Outram, having, with characteristic generosity of feeling, declared that the Command of the Force should remain in my hands, and that he would accompany it as Civil Commissioner only, until a junction could be effected with the gallant and enduring Garrison of this place, I have to request that you will inform His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that this purpose was effected on the evening of the 25th Instant. But before detailing the circumstances, I must refer to antecedent events. I crossed the Sye on the 22nd Instant, the bridge at Bunnee not having been broken. On the 23rd I found myself in presence of the Enemy, who had taken a strong position, his left resting on the enclosure of the Alum Bagh, and his centre and right drawn up behind a chain of hillocks. The head of my Column at first suffered from the fire of his Guns, as it was compelled to pass along the Trunk Road between morasses; but as soon as my Regiments could be deployed along his front, and his right enveloped by my left, victory declared for us, and we captured five Guns. Sir James Outram, with his accustomed gallantry, passed on in advance, close down to the Canal. But as the Enemy fed his Artillery with Guns from the City, it was not possible to maintain this, or a less advanced position for a time taken up; but it became necessary to throw our right on the Alum Bagh, and refuse our left, and even then we were incessantly cannonaded throughout the 24th; and the Enemy's Cavalry, 1,500 strong, crept round through lofty cultivation, and made a sudden irruption upon the Baggage massed in our rear. The Soldiers of the 90th, forming the Baggage Guard, received them with great gallantry; but lost some brave Officers and Men, shooting down, however, 25 of the Troopers and putting the whole body to flight. They were finally driven to a distance by two Guns of Captain Olpherts' Battery.

The Troops had been marching for three days under a perfect deluge of rain, irregularly fed, and badly housed in villages. It was thought necessary to pitch tents, and permit them to halt on the 24th. The assault on the City was deferred until the 25th. That morning our Baggage and Tents were deposited in the Alum Bagh under an escort, and we advanced. The 1st Brigade, under Sir James Outram's personal leading, drove the Enemy from a succession of gardens and walled enclosures, supported by the 2nd Brigade, which I accompanied. Both Brigades were established on the Canal at the Bridge of Char Bagh.

From this point the direct road to the Residency was something less than two miles; but it was known to have been cut by trenches, and crossed by palisades at short intervals, the houses also being all loopholed. Progress in this direction was impossible; so the united Column pushed on, detouring along the narrow road which skirts the left bank of the Canal. Its advance was not seriously interrupted until it had come opposite the King's Palace or the Kaiser Bagh, where two Guns and a body of mercenary Troops were entrenched. From this Entrenchment a fire of Grape and Musketry was opened, under which nothing could live. The Artillery and Troops had to pass a Bridge partially under its influence; but were then shrouded by the buildings adjacent to the Palace of Fureed Buksh. Darkness was coming on, and Sir James Outram at first proposed to halt within the courts of the Mehal for the night; but I esteemed it to be of such importance to let the beleaguered Garrison know that succour was at hand, that with his ultimate sanction I directed the main body of the 78th Highlanders and Regiment of Ferozepore to advance. This Column rushed on with a desperate gallantry, led by Sir James Outram and myself, and Lieutenants Hudson and Hargood, of my Staff, through streets of flat-roofed loop-holed houses, from which a perpetual fire was kept up, and overcoming every obstacle, established itself within the enclosure of the Residency. The joy of the Garrison may be more easily conceived than described; but it was not till the next evening that the whole of my Troops, Guns, Tumbrils, and Sick and Wounded, continually exposed to the attacks of the Enemy, could be brought step by step within this enciente and the adjacent Palace of the Fureed Buksh. To form an adequate idea of the obstacles overcome, reference must be made to the events that are known to have occurred at Buenos Ayres and Saragossa. Our advance was through streets of houses such as I have described, and thus each forming a separate fortress. I am filled with surprise at the success of the operation, which demanded the efforts of 10,000 good Troops. The advantage gained has cost us dear. The killed, wounded, and missing, the latter being wounded Soldiers, who I much fear—some or all—have fallen into the hands of a merciless foe, amounted, up to the evening of the 26th, to 535 Officers and Men. Brigadier General Neill, Commanding 1st Brigade; Major Cooper, Brigadier, Commanding Artillery; Lieutenant-Colonel Bazely, a Volunteer with the Force—are killed. Colonel Campbell, Commanding 90th Light Infantry; Lieutenant-Colonel Tytler, my Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; and Lieutenant Havelock, my Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, are severely, but not dangerously, wounded. Sir James Outram received a flesh wound in the arm in the early part of the action near Char Bagh; but nothing could subdue his spirit; and though faint from loss of blood, he continued to the end of the action to sit on his horse, which he only dismounted at the gate of the Residency. As he has now assumed the Command, I leave to him the narrative of all events subsequent to the 26th.

Enclosed is the return of Casualties up to that date.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedt. humble Servant,

H. Havelock, Brigadier-General,

Commanding Oude Field Force.

NUMERICAL RETURN of Killed, Wounded, and Missing of the Troops composing Oude Field Force, in the Actions of the 25th and 26th September 1857, under Brigadier General Havelock, C. B., Commanding.

FROM

MAJOR GENERAL OUTRAM,

Comdg. Cawnpore & Dinapore Divisions,

TO

MAJOR GENERAL MANSFIELD,

Chief of the Staff.

Camp Alum Bagh, 25th November 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint His Excellency the Commander in-Chief with the proceedings of this Force since the 28th of September, the date of my last Despatch, and beg to refer to the Documents enumerated in the margin. General Havelock has Commanded the Field Force occupying the Palaces and Out posts, and Brigadier Inglis has continued in Command of the Lucknow Garrison—an arrangement that has proved most convenient.

A. Report from General Havelock on operations of 16th November.
B. Brigadier Inglis's Report of Garrison of Lucknow; also Engineer operations, Commissariat, &c., &c.
C. Colonel Napier's Despatch of 25th and 26th in bringing up Siege Train, Sick and Wounded, &c.
D. Colonel Napier's Despatch, reporting taking of Phillip's Garden Battery on 1st and 2nd October 1857.
E. General Havelock's letter, forwarding Colonel Napier's Report of operations in Palaces.
F. Brigadier Inglis's detailed Reports of Sorties, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4.
G. Report of Captain Crommelin, Chief Engineer.
H. Lieutenant Hutchinson's plan of Captain Lockhart's post.

The first work required was to open a Road-way through the Palaces for the heavy Train, which had been brought into one of the Gardens on the 27th September, and by the 1st October was safely parked within the Entronchment.

Contrary to the expectations expressed in my last Despatch, the Enemy, relying on the strong position of their remaining Battery, (the one known as "Phillips' Battery,") continued to annoy the Garrison by its fire, and to maintain there a strong Force. Its capture, therefore, became necessary, and this was effected on the 2nd October, with the comparatively trifling loss of two killed and eleven wounded,—a result which was due to the careful and scientific dispositions of Colonel Napier, under whose personal guidance the operation was conducted. Three Guns were taken and burst; their carriages destroyed; and a large house in the Garden, which had been the Enemy's stronghold, was blown up.

With a view to the possibility of adopting the Cawnpore road as my line of communication with Alum Bagh, Major Haliburton, 78th Highlanders, commenced on the 3rd to work from house to house with the crow-bar and pick-axe.

On the 4th, this gallant Officer was mortally wounded; and his successor, Major Stephenson, of the Madras Fusiliers disabled. During the whole of the 5th, these proceedings were continued; but on the 6th they were relinquished, it being found that a large Mosque, strongly occupied by the Enemy, required more extensive operations for its capture than were expedient; therefore, after blowing up all the principal houses on the Cawnpore road, from which the Garrison had been annoyed by Musketry, the Reconnoitring Party gradually withdrew to the post in front of Phillips' Garden, which has since been retained as a permanent Outpost, affording comfortable accommodation to H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, and protecting a considerable portion of the Entrenchment from molestation, besides connecting it with the Palaces occupied by General Havelock. During the foregoing operations, the Enemy, recovering from their first surprise, commenced to threaten our positions in the Palaces and Outposts by mining and assaults. As there were only a few Miners in the Garrison, and none with the Field Force, the Enemy could not be prevented from exploding three Mines, causing us a loss of several men; and on the 6th, they actually penetrated into the Palaces in considerable numbers.

But they paid dearly for their temerity, being intercepted and slain at all points. Their loss on that day was reported in the City to have been 450 men.

A Company of Miners, formed of Volunteers from the several Corps, was placed at the disposal of the Chief Engineer, which soon gave him the ascendancy over the Enemy, who were foiled at all points, with the loss of their Galleries and Mines, and the destruction of their Miners in repeated instances.

The Seikhs of the Ferozepore Regiment have zealously labored at their own Mines, and though separated only by a narrow passage (16 feet wide) from the Enemy, have, under the guidance and direction of the Engineer Department, defended and protected their position.

The Outpost of H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, under Captain Lockhart, has also been vigorously assailed by the Enemy's Miners. Its proximity to the Entrenchment made it convenient to place it under the charge of the Officiating Garrison Engineer, Lieutenant Hutchinson, under whose skilful directions the Enemy have been completely out-mined by the Soldiers of H. M.'s 78th Regiment.

I am aware of no parallel to our series of Mines in modern War: 21 Shafts, aggregating 200 feet in depth, and 3,291 feet of Gallery, have been executed. The Enemy advanced 20 Mines against the Palaces and Outposts; of these they exploded three, which caused us loss of life, and two, which did no injury: seven have been blown in; and out of seven others, the Enemy have been driven, and their Galleries taken possession of by our Miners;—results of which the Engineer Department may well be proud. The reports and plans forwarded by Sir Henry Havelock, K. C. B., and now submitted to His Excellency, will explain how a line of Gardens, Courts and Dwelling-houses, without fortified enceints, without flanking Defences, and closely connected with the buildings of a City, has been maintained for eight weeks in a certain degree of security; but notwithstanding the close and constant Musketry fire from loopholed walls and windows, often within 30 yards, and from every lofty building within Rifle range, and notwithstanding a frequent though desultory fire of Round Shot and Grape from Guns posted at various distances, from 70 to 500 yards! This result has been obtained by the skill and courage of the Engineer and Quarter Master General's Departments, zealously aided by the brave Officers and Soldiers who have displayed the same cool determination and cheerful alacrity in the toils of the Trench and amidst the concealed dangers of the Mine, that they had previously exhibited, when forcing their way into Lucknow at the point of the bayonet and amidst a most murderous fire.

But skilful and courageous as have been the Engineering operations, and glorious the behaviour of the Troops, their success has been in no small degree promoted by the incessant and self-denying devotion of Colonel Napier,—who has never been many hours absent by day or night from any one of the points of operation,—whose valuable advice has ever been readily tendered and gratefully accepted by the Executive Officers,—whose earnestness and kindly cordiality have stimulated and encouraged all ranks and grades, amidst their harassing difficulties and dangerous labours.

I now lay before His Excellency, Brigadier Inglis' Report of the proceedings in the Garrison, since its relief by the Force under my Command, since the capture of the Enemy's Batteries, and the occupation of the Palaces and Posts.

The position occupied by the Oude Field Force relieved the Garrison of the Entrenchment from all molestation on one-half of its enceinte,—that is, from the Cawnpore road to the commencement of the River front; and the Garrison, reinforced by Detachments of the 78th and Madras Fusiliers, was enabled to hold as Outposts three strong positions commanding the road leading to the Iron Bridge, which have proved of great advantage, causing much annoyance to the Enemy, and keeping their Musketry fire at a distance from the body of the place.

The Defences, which had been barely tenable, were thoroughly repaired, and new Batteries were constructed to mount 13 additional Guns.

The Enemy, after the capture of the Batteries, adopted a new system of tactics. Their Guns were withdrawn to a greater distance, and disposed so as to act not against the Defences, but against the interior of the Entrenchment.

The moment they were searched out and silenced by our Guns, their position was changed, so that their Shot ranged through the Entrenchment ; and but for the desultory nature of their fire, might have been very destructive.

Under the care of the Superintending Surgeon, Dr. Scott, the Hospital was securely barricaded without detriment to ventilation.

From the Revd. J. P. Harris, Chaplain of the Garrison, the Sick and Wounded received the most marked and personal kindness. His spiritual ministrations in the Hospital were incessant ; his Christian zeal and earnest philanthropy I have had constant opportunities of observing since my arrival in Lucknow ; and but one testimony is borne to his exertions during the Siege and to the personal bravery he displayed in hastening from house to house in pursuit of his sacred calling, under the heaviest fire. Daily he had to read the funeral service over numbers of the Garrison, exposed to Shot, Shell, and Musketry.

Order was established in the Magazine under Captain Thomas, the Garrison Commandant of Artillery and Commissary of Ordnance ; and under Doctor Ogilvie, Sanatory Commissioner, the Conservancy Department effected great and visible improvements in the condition of the Entrenchments, besides removing the horrible collection of filth and putrid carcasses which had accumulated in the Palaces taken possession of by the Relieving Force.

I cannot conclude this Report without expressing to His Excellency my intense admiration of the noble spirit displayed by all ranks and grades of the Force since we entered Lucknow. Themselves placed in a state of Siege,—suddenly reduced to scanty and unsavoury rations,—denied all the little luxuries, (such as Tea, Sugar, Rum and Tobacco,) which, by constant use, had become to them almost necessaries of life,—smitten, in many cases, by the same scorbutive affections and other evidences of debility, which prevailed amongst the original Garrison,—compelled to engage in laborious operations ; —exposed to constant danger, and kept ever on the alert—their spirits and cheerfulness, and zeal and discipline, seemed to rise with the occasion. Never could there have been a Force more free from grumblers, more cheerful, more willing, or more earnest.

Amongst the Sick and Wounded this glorious spirit was, if possible, still more conspicuous than amongst those fit for duty.

It was a painful sight to see so many noble fellows maimed and suffering, and denied those comforts of which they stood so much in need.

But it was truly delightful and made one proud of his Countrymen, to observe the heroic fortitude and hearty cheerfulness with which all was borne.

My cordial acknowledgments are due to Brigadiers Hamilton and Stisted, and to their Brigade Staff—Captains Spurgin and Bouverie—for the efficient disposition of their Troops under General Havelock's orders and direction, and the vigilance with which they have guarded their extended position.

The glorious reputation which his defence of Lucknow has won for Brigadier Inglis, leaves little room for further commendation for the able manner in which that defence has been continued,—the vigor with which the defences of his Garrison have been improved and extended—and the unceasing vigilance which rendered every effort of the Enemy to assail him utterly hopeless. I cordially concur in, and second his recommendation to the favorable notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, of the several Officers named in his Despatch.

To the gallant Brigadier Eyre, Commanding the Artillery, whose victories at Arrah and Juggespore have already given him an European reputation ; to the brave Captains Olpherts, of the Bengal Artillery; and Maude, of the Royal Artillery, Commanding Batteries ; to Lieutenant Thomas, Commissary of Ordnance ; and to the Officers and Men of the combined Force of Artillery, my hearty and sincere thanks are due. The duties which have fallen on them have been most arduous, and have been carried through with the zeal and gallantry which have ever distinguished their noble arm of the Service.

Captain Crommelin, Commanding the Engineer Department, has had to undertake very important duties of a novel and difficult nature, without trained Sappers and without any Establishment of trained Subordinates, and with a very small Staff. Under these disadvantages, combined with the very serious one of ill-health, Captain Crommelin, aided by the Executive Department, converted the open arcaded halls of the Palace into secure Barracks, and has kept aloof the Enemy's Miners.

To Captain Crommelin ; to his gallant and energetic Second in Command, Lieutenant Hutchinson ; to Lieutenants Russell and Limmond, and the Officers and Men recommended by Captain Crommelin, I am very greatly indebted.

I have particularly to recommend to His Excellency's notice Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell, Commanding H. M.'s 90th L. I., who throughout these operations has had charge of the Advanced Garden and its dependent posts, which have been exposed to the unceasing attack of the Enemy. For the very able manner in which these posts have been held, Colonel Purnell deserves the highest praise.

Captain Brasyer, Commanding the Regiment of Ferozepore ; and Captain Lockhart, Commanding H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, have each maintained a difficult position with the most perfect success. These Officers, to whom I must also add Captain Shute, Commanding Detachment H. M.'s 64th Regiment, have gallantly led their men in every Sortie.

To Captain Willis, Commanding H. M.'s 84th Regiment ; Captain Galwey, Commanding Madras Fusiliers ; and Lieutenant Mears, Commanding H. M.'s 5th Regiment (Fusiliers), I must tender my acknowledgments. Captain Barrow, Commanding Volunteer Cavalry ; Captains Johnson and Hardinge, Commanding Irregular Cavalry, though precluded from acting in their proper capacity, have zealously volunteered for every service in which they or their men could be useful, and have maintained posts, or furnished working parties with cheerful alacrity.

To Captain Garden, Assistant Quarter Master General ; to Captain Hardinge, Officiating Deputy Quarter Master General ; Captain Moorsom, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, my thanks are particularly due ; and also to Captains Alexander, Orr and Carnegy, for their services at the head of the Intelligence Department ;—notwithstanding the complete hostility of the Country, many trustworthy messengers have been furnished by which communications have been safely carried to Alum Bagh and Cawnpore. Captain Moorsom, of H. M.'s 52nd Regiment, having surveyed the City and environs of Lucknow previous to the outbreak of hostilities, has constantly been able to render most important service, and is a very bold and intelligent Officer.

The Commissariat arrangements have been most efficiently conducted under Captain Macbean, attached to the Oude Field Force; and Lieutenant James, attached to the Garrison; and I have to thank them for their valuable services.

I beg to recommend, to particular notice, the excellent arrangements made for the care of the Sick by the Medical Department under Superintending Surgeon J. Scott, whose energy and zeal have been unremitting in the performance of his arduous duties.

I have further to recommend to His Excellency's notice Lieutenant Hudson, H. M.'s 64th Regiment, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; and Lieutenant Hargood, Madras Fusiliers, A. D. C. on the Staff of the late Sir H. Havelock; also the Officers of my Divisional and Personal Staff.

To Major North, General Havelock's Deputy Judge Advocate General, and subsequently one of the Prize Agents, my thanks are due for the readiness and success with which he established and superintended the manufacture of Enfield Rifle Cartridges.

This valuable service was rendered without any relaxation of his other duties, in the prosecution of which he met with a wound.

The pleasing duty now remains of acknowledging my obligations to my Personal Staff.

To Colonel Napier, Military Secretary, Chief of the Adjutant General's Department, for the efficient support I have ever received from him throughout these operations, and whose gallantry in the Field was as conspicuous as his able guidance of the Engineering operations above detailed was valuable.

I have much pleasure in making favorable mention of the services of Captain Dodgson, Assistant Adjutant General, who has afforded me every assistance; also Captain Gordon, Deputy Judge Advocate General.

My Aides-de-Camp—Lieutenants Sitwell and Chamier—have rendered me most constant and zealous aid. I was unfortunately deprived of Lieutenant Sitwell's services on the 25th September, owing to a contusion received early in the day; and again, on returning from the Garrison, from a severe wound on the 17th November. Lieutenant Chamier has attended at my side in the Field throughout every operation.

My thanks are due also to my Private Secretary, Mr. W. J. Money, who has accompanied the Army in the Field in addition to his valuable services in his Civil capacity.

I have to acknowledge the services of Captain Dawson and Ensign Hewitt, Orderly Officers.

I was glad to avail myself of the services of Mr. George Couper, C. S., who volunteered to perform the duties of an Aide-de-Camp during our stay in the Garrison and on the night of our retiring from it.

It is with the deepest regret that I have to record at the head of the gallant and distinguished Officers who have so zealously and ably aided these operations, and whose loss their Country has to deplore, the name of the lamented Sir Henry Havelock, on whose merits it would be superfluous for me to dwell. Worn out by toils and exposure, he lived but long enough to witness the end for which he had fought so nobly, and to receive the valued token conveyed to him of the approbation of his Sovereign.

Colonel Campbell, of H. M.'s 90th L. I., who, in my former Despatch, was returned as wounded, has since died. In him England has lost a most gallant and distinguished Officer.

By the fall of the gallant Officers—Major Haliburton, H. M.'s 78th; Major Simmonds, H. M.'s 5th Fusiliers; and Major Stephenson, of the Madras Fusiliers, the country and service have sustained a very heavy loss.

I have also, with sorrow, to record the loss of the many other valuable Officers and Soldiers who have fallen in the performance of their duty during the course of these operations, which have involved a total loss (subsequently to those reported in General Havelock's Despatch of the 28th October,) of 6 European Officers, 1 Native Officer, and 120 Rank and File killed; 27 European Officers, 7 Native, and 382 Rank and File wounded; total, 551 killed and wounded.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

MAJOR GENERAL SIR JAMES OUTRAM, G. C. B.

Lucknow, 16th November 1857.

SIR,

I BEG to report, for the information of Major General Sir James Outram, G. C. B., the complete success of the operations in which the Troops of my Division were employed under his own eye this evening, in capturing a succession of houses in advance of the Palace of Furced Buksh.

I have given in the margin the details of Detachments employed.

The nature of the enterprize may be shortly described as follows.

The progress of the Relieving Force under His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief was anxiously watched, and it was determined that as soon as he should reach the Sikunder Bagh, about three miles from the Residency, the outer wall of the Advance Garden of the Palace, in which the Enemy had before made several breaches, should be blown in by Mines previously prepared; that two powerful Batteries erected in the enclosure should then open on the Insurgents' Defences in front, and after the desired effect had been produced, that the Troops should storm two buildings, known by the names of the Hern Khana, or Deer-house, and the Steam Engine-house. Under these also, three Mines had been driven.

It was ascertained, about 11 A. M. that Sir Colin Campbell was operating against the Sikunder Bagh. The explosion of the Mines in the Garden was therefore ordered. Their action was, however, comparatively feeble, so the Batteries had the double task of completing the demolition of the wall and prostrating and breaching the works and the buildings beyond it. Brigadier Eyre Commanded in the left Battery; Captain Olpherts in the right; Captain Maude shelled from six Mortars in a more retired quadrangle of the Palace. The Troops were formed in the Square of the Chuttur Munzil, and brought up in succession through the approaches, which in every direction intersected the Advance Garden. At ¼ past 8 two of the Mines at the Hern Khana exploded with good effect. At half-past 8 the advance sounded. It is impossible to describe the enthusiasm with which this signal was received by the Troops. Pent up in inaction for upwards of six weeks, and subjected to constant attacks, they felt that the hour of retribution and glorious exertion had returned.

Their cheers echoed through the Courts of the Palace, responsive to the bugle sound, and on they rushed to assured victory. The Enemy could nowhere withstand them. In a few minutes the whole of the buildings were in our possession, and have since been armed with Cannon and steadily held against all attack. It will be seen by the enclosed Return that the loss has been small.

I received, throughout the operations, the most effective aid from my Staff—Lieutenant Hudson, Acting Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Lieutenant Moorsom, 52nd Light Infantry, Acting Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Lieutenant Hargood, 1st Madras Fusiliers, my Aide-de-Camp; and Lieutenant C. W. Havelock, 12th Irregular Cavalry, my Orderly Officer.

The Officers of Artillery—Brigadier Eyre, and Captains Olpherts and Maude—have earned my best thanks.

I must commend all the Officers in charge of Detachments; but most prominently Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell, 90th Light Infantry, whose conduct throughout the affair evinced the most distinguished gallantry united to imperturbable coolness, and the soundest judgment; as well as to Lieutenants Russell, Hutchinson, and Limond, of the Engineers, and Captain Oakes (attached) who showed the way to the several points of attack.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Oude Field Force.

FROM

BRIGADIER J. INGLIS,

Comdg. the Garrison of Lucknow,

TO

COLONEL R. NAPIER,

Chief of the Staff, &c.

Lucknow Garrison, 12th Nov. 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to request that you will do me the favor to submit to Major-General Sir James Outram, G. C. B., Commanding the Forces, the following record of events in this position since the arrival of the Army under his Command.

1. On the following morning I received instructions to place under the orders of Major Haliburton, 78th Highlanders, as strong a Detachment as I could spare from the Garrison, in order to strengthen the Rear Guard which had been left at Mr. Martin's house, in charge of the heavy Guns that had arrived with the Force. I accordingly detailed a Party of 100 men of the 32nd Foot, under the Command of Captain Lowe, who was accompanied by Captain Bassano, Captain McCabe, and Lieutenant Cooke, of the same Corps. This Detachment remained all day in position with the Rear Guard, and on the following morning it covered the extreme rear, on the march into the "Fureed Buksh," whence Captain McCabe led a party of Volunteers, composed of the 5th, 32nd, and 90th Regiments, into a Garden, and routed the Enemy with great slaughter. Early the next day, this Detachment, having performed the arduous duties assigned them, returned to my Garrison. In these operations, the 32nd Regiment had one Serjeant and one Private killed, and two Serjeants and two Privates wounded. Captain Lowe also received a severe wound.

2. The report of the several Sorties made under the direction of the Major-General Commanding the Forces, and in which Detachments from this Garrison have borne (I would fain hope) a distinguished part, have been so fully detailed by the Officers who Commanded on these occasions, that I need not enter further on the subject than to express my admiration of the gallant and devoted behaviour of both Officers and Men.

3. As soon as these operations were terminated, I turned my attention to the state of the Batteries and Defences of this position, many of which were in a very dilapidated state, as the Major-General is aware, especially the part called the Brigade Mess, at either flank of which was an open breach, neither of which we had ever been able to repair or strengthen, or ever adequately to defend. But the large number of Doolie Bearers placed at my disposal by the Chief of the Staff, and the increased strength of the Garrison, enabled me to carry on the works with vigor, and to materially strengthen all my critical positions.

4. Since the arrival of the Force, a large Mound and a Musjid adjacent to Innes' post were taken possession of by the late Lieutenant Graydon, and have been made defensible, as they completely overlook and command the Iron Bridge, and approach therefrom. A description of the works that have been carried out is fully given in the appended Memorandum by the Engineer Officer. Great praise is due to the great professional skill, the persevering energy, and the untiring personal activity displayed by Lieutenant Hutchinson, under whom the works have been carried out.

5. Owing to the extreme paucity of numbers attached to the Garrison Magazine, and the harassing duties which have devolved on this Establishment during this very protracted Siege, it has necessarily always been in a somewhat unsatisfactory state, and I gladly seized the opportunity to remodel it. With this end in view, I directed Lieutenant Thomas, in charge of the Magazine, to remove it to the Post Office compound, as affording the most convenient site for piling Shot and collecting together the various materials appertaining to this Department. This duty has been ably performed by Mr. Conductor Bewsey, Officiating Sub-Conductor, under the directions of Lieutenant Thomas, and I have now the pleasure to report that all the spare Shot and Shell has been collected, guaged and piled. The spare Muskets and Musket Barrels have also been collected, and a large supply of Cartridges, Wads, Fuzes, Quick and Slow Matches, have been prepared. The Establishment have besides been employed in repairing Sponge Staffs, grummetting Shot and Shell, and in collecting wood, iron, lead, and other materials from the Fureed Buksh and other places. The Ordnance Drivers have also rendered assistance in removing Guns and Mortars, and in erecting and repairing Batteries and issuing Stores.

6. The buried Treasure, amounting to nearly twenty-five lakhs of Rupees, is being exhumed, and placed again under the charge of the Civil Authorities.

7. The Commissariat arrangements made in Garrison, under the directions of Sir James Outram, G. C. B, have involved a considerable reduction in rations, and this deprivation, coming as it did upon the Garrison at the end of so long a Siege, in addition to the want of Malt Liquor and Spirits, has borne somewhat heavily on every one; but all have sustained the deprivation cheerfully, and none more so than the women, whose admirable conduct I have alluded to in a former Despatch. An appended Memorandum, furnished by the Garrison Commissariat Officer, enters fully into the Commissariat arrangements that have been made.

8. The great number of Wounded which accompanied the Major-General's Force into this position, speedily increased the number of Patients from 130 to 627, and as nearly all arrived without bedding, and as there was besides but a small supply of medicine, it became necessary to make every arrangement to meet these wants. In order to provide the requisite shelter, two large double-pole tents have been pitched close to the Hospital portico, and a large room in the Begum Kotee made over for the accommodation of wounded Officers. The buildings in the Central Seikh Square were also assigned to the remaining portion of the Sick and Wounded. Old tents have been cut up for bedding, and the Patients have been made as comfortable as circumstances would admit; and I am sure that Sir James Outram, G. C. B., will have viewed, with the same satisfaction as myself, the excellent arrangements which have been made by that indefatigable Officer, Superintending Surgeon Scott.

9. During the period which this Report embraces, the proceedings of the Enemy have been marked by much less activity than heretofore. Several of their Guns, however, have been moved across the River, whence they have kept up a desultory cannonade, which has been silenced on most occasions by a few rounds of our heavy Ordnance.

10. Their Musketry fire has, however, occasionally been so heavy, especially by night, as to induce a belief that they intended an attack; but these demonstrations have rarely lasted for any lengthened period, though they have rendered it necessary that every man should be under arms for the time. Owing to the repairs made to our Defences, and the increased cover obtained thereby, our casualties on these occasions have been but few.

11. Among the Officers belonging to this Garrison, who have fallen since the advent of the Major General's Force, I deeply regret to have to record the loss of Captain Hughes, of the 57th Regiment N. I., doing duty with H. M.'s 32nd Foot, who was mortally wounded at the attack of a house which formed one of the Enemy's out posts. Captain McCabe, H. M.'s 32nd Foot, a most distinguished Officer, has also fallen; he received his death-wound while leading his fourth Sortie. Lieutenant Graydon, too, of the 44th Regiment N. I., an Officer of great merit, was mortally wounded while assisting in barricading his post.

12. Of the Officers attached to this Garrison, who have had opportunities of distinguishing themselves, I would beg to bring to notice the gallant conduct of Captain Lowe and Lieutenant Lawrence, of H. M's 32nd Foot, who have each led a Sortie; Lieutenant Hardinge, too, Officiating Deputy Quarter Master General, who headed two Sorties; also Lieutenant Aitken, accompanied by Lieutenant Cubitt, of the 13th Regiment N. I., who led a Party of his Regiment to a successful attack on a barricaded Gate-way held by the Enemy; Major Apthorp and Captain Kemble, 41st Regiment N. I.; Lieutenants Huxham (wounded slightly in two places) and Ouseley, 48th Regiment N. I; Lieutenant Warner, of the 7th L. C.; Lieutenant Cooke, H. M.'s 32nd Foot; and Lieutenant Mecham, of the Madras Army—also accompanied Sorties and distinguished themselves.

13. Neither must I omit to record my appreciation of the gallant bearing of the Engineer Officers—Lieutenants Anderson, Hutchinson, and Innes—who accompanied the Storming Parties.

14. My thanks are due to the Officers Commanding Outposts, who have continued to evince the same vigilance and gallantry that has characterized their conduct throughout this memorable Siege.

15. I have already expressed my inability to do justice to the behaviour of the Troops, both European and Native, and I can therefore only say that they have continued to exhibit the same gallantry under fire, and the same patience under suffering and privation as heretofore.

16. The several Officers who compose my Staff, have continued to render me every assistance, and have given me every satisfaction in their several Departments.

17. Lastly, I beg to express my grateful acknowledgments to the Major-General Commanding the Forces for the additional Force placed at my disposal, composed of Detachments of the Artillery, Volunteer Cavalry, 1st Madras Fusiliers, and 78th Highlanders, all of whom have borne themselves as becomes British Soldiers. I have also to add my deep sense of the valuable counsel and advice which I have received from yourself on all occasions.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

FROM

MAJOR GENERAL H. HAVELOCK,

Commanding Oude Field Force,

To

CAPTAIN DODGSON,

Assistant Adjutant General.

Lucknow, 19th November 1857.

SIR,

I BEG to forward, for submission to Major General Sir James Outram, G. C. B., the accompanying Report of Captain Crommelin, Field Engineer, with plans, and rejoice in this opportunity of testifying to the merits of this Officer, and his untiring industry when the state of his health has permitted his exertions to be fully developed.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

HENRY HAVELOCK, Maj-Genl.,

Commanding Oude Field Force.

FROM

CAPTAIN CROMMELIN,

Chief Engineer, Oude Field Force,

To

CAPTAIN HUDSON,

Deputy Assistant Adjutant General,

Oude Field Force.

Camp Alum Bagh, 25th Nov. 1857.

SIR,

IN continuation of my letter dated 12th Instant, I have the honor to report, for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Oude Field Force, upon the "Final Engineering Offensive Operations" at the Palace and Gardens of the Chuttur Munzil.

The Cavalier Battery, alluded to at the conclusion of my previous Report, was completed during the night of the 13th Instant, and was armed with the heavy Guns on the morning of the 14th, viz., the day originally appointed for the storming of the Hern Khana, Engine-house, and King's Stables.

During the night of the 13th, 29 charges of Powder (each 25lbs. in weight) were laid in chambers that had been previously prepared for them, under the foundation of the East face of the Advanced Garden wall, and immediately in front of the Cavalier Battery. These charges were intended for the demolition of that part of the wall that screened the Engine-house, Stables, and the other adjacent buildings that were to be breached from the Guns of the Battery. I would here remind you that our attack was postponed from the morning of the 14th to that of the 16th. The charges of Powder were thus exposed, in common Canvas bags, for more than forty-eight hours, to the damaging influence of a very damp sandy soil; so that when they were exploded, their effect, owing to the deterioration of the Powder, was only sufficient to shake and split the wall in several places, and to form a small breach. The wall, however, was so much injured, that the Artillery had an easy task in battering down as much as was necessary. The charges, I may mention, were half as large again as those recommended by Sir W. Pasley (our best practical authority on this as well as most other points of Engineering detail), and were such as had been successfully used by myself at Peshawur in a precisely similar case.

During the night of the 12th and 13th, the trench (d,d) was widened for the passage of Guns; screens were also constructed in the advanced Garden; and other precautionary measures taken, to protect our Force against any Musketry fire that might be poured in through the breaches in our own wall.

During the 15th the three Mines that had been prepared for the formation of breaches in the Hern Khana were loaded and tamped. These Mines were sprung on the afternoon of the 16th. That at the North-west corner of the building effected the breach by which the Right and Centre Columns of Attack entered. Lieutenant Hall, in his Report, erroneously states that this breach was made by the 18-Pounder Gun at the Barricade.

The centre Mine failed to explode, owing, I imagine, to some wet Sand having been dislodged from the roof of the Mine by the concussion of our Artillery, and having fallen upon the Powder-house.

The left charge, which was the largest, exploded; but it proved to be 10 feet short of the building, and consequently effected no breach or injury. This error in the position of the charge is not to be wondered at, when it is considered—1*st*, that we could not, by the most careful survey, satisfy ourselves as to the exact position of the Hern Khana, and, 2*ndly*, that we could not survey the Mine itself with the prismatic compass, as no lights would burn owing to the foulness of the air near the end of a gallery that had been carried to the (I believe) unprecedented length of 289 feet without the aid of air-pipes.

On the morning of the 16th every thing was ready for the attack upon the Hern Khana, Engine-house, and Stables. Copies of instructions, the details of which had been prepared by myself, from Memoranda drawn out by Colonel Napier, (Chief of the Staff,) were handed over to each of the five Officers Commanding the Storming Parties, and to the Engineer Officers accompanying them; and these instructions were further explained, by the aid of plans, to several of the Commanding Officers.

For an account of the operations of the Storming Parties I must refer to the enclosed Reports (in original) of Lieutenants Hutchinson, Russell, Limond, and Hall, with the remark that the duties of the Officers under my Command appear to me to have been rapidly and efficiently carried out.

I must also refer to a separate Report by Lieutenant Hutchinson, Directing Engineer, upon the Engineering operations, from the 16th November to the hour of our evacuation of the Bailey Guard Entrenchment and Chuttur Munzil Palace—confinement to my quarters owing to an injury of the leg having prevented my superintending them personally.

It now remains for me to bring to the favorable notice of the Major-General Commanding, those Officers and Men of the Engineer Department who have rendered good service; and in the first place, I trust it may not be considered out of order, that I here thankfully record my acknowledgment of the assistance that has always been afforded me by my experienced brother Officer, Colonel Napier, Military Secretary and Chief of the Staff to Major-General Sir James Outram, G. C. B, who, notwithstanding the pressure of his other important duties, was ever ready to aid me with his valuable counsel and advice, to meet my constant demands for workmen and materials, and to superintend and direct the works during the last month of our operations, when I was disabled from personally superintending them myself

Lieutenant G. Hutchinson, of Engineers, deserves very great credit for the very able manner in which he discharged the duties of Directing Engineer of the works during the last ten days of our operations. His services as one of the Engineers of the original Garrison will be duly reported by the proper Authority.

Lieutenant Russell, of Engineers, has rendered me very efficient aid as Brigade Major of Engineers; his constant and unwearying exertions, both by night and by day, merit my best thanks and the highest praise.

Lieutenant Limond, the only other Engineer Officer under my Command, has also proved himself a very able and energetic Officer, and has rendered very excellent service. To him, and to Lieutenant Russell, was entrusted the general supervision of all the works from the time that I was disabled until the appointment of Lieutenant Hutchinson as Directing Engineer—a period of about three weeks.

The Officers and Volunteers that have acted in the capacity of Assistant Field Engineers have, without exception, given me their best and readiest assistance; but I may with justice more conspicuously notice the names of Captain Oakes, 8th N. I.; Lieutenant Hall, 1st Bengal Fusiliers; Mr. Goldsworthy, Volunteer Cavalry; and of Mr. Cavanagh, Superintendent of the Chief Commissioner's Office.

Serjeants Duffy and Connell, Assistant Overseers in the Department of Public Works, have proved most useful, and their duties in supervising workmen and collecting materials, &c, &c, have been most cheerfully and efficiently performed.

I cannot close this Report, without noticing, in the most favorable manner, the important services performed by the under-mentioned Soldiers as Superintendents of Miners:—

Acting Serjeant	Cullimore	H. M's 32nd Regt.
" "	Banetta
" "	Farrer
Corporal	Dowling

Corporal Hosey, Madras Fusiliers.

Private Baylan, H. M.'s 5th Fusiliers

Their duties have been of a very dangerous and arduous character, and have invariably been performed to my complete satisfaction.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

W. A. CROMMELIN, Captain,

Chief Engineer, Oude Field Force.

FROM

LIEUT. G. HUTCHINSON, Engrs,

Director of Works,

TO

CAPTAIN CROMMELIN, Engrs,

Chief Engineer.

Lucknow, 21st November 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward Lieutenant Limond's statement regarding the Sortie Party he led; also that of Lieutenant Hall.

With reference to my own Party, I have to state that, starting from the Garden Picquet-house, Captain Shute and myself led the Party to foot of Stockade which we scaled, and that then I turned off at once for the house called Captain Orr's, and in unison with Lieutenant Hall and Lieutenant Hay, who accompanied me, commenced carrying out our instructions. Up to this time not a man had been lost. Captain Shute led his men on beyond the Hern Khana, and took a Garden and a Gun.

Our Mines exploded short; but the Mine from the Garden Picquet decidedly shook and damaged the wall.

Communication with the Garden was completed during the night, and all barricades, loop-holes, &c.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obdt. Servant,

G. HUTCHINSON, Lieut.,

Director of Works.

FROM

LIEUTENANT M. HALL,

Assistant Field Engineer,

TO

CAPTAIN HUTCHINSON,

Directing Engineer.

Hern Khana, 21st Nov. 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Captain Crommelin, Field Engineer, that, in accordance with his instructions, I accompanied the Right Column of Attack on the Hern Khana, under Captain Wills, 84th Regiment, on the 16th Instant.

Immediately after the explosion of the Barricade Mine, we sallied out and made for the part of the building where it was intended the Right Breach should have been made. On arriving at the wall of the Hern Khana, we found the crater of the Mine, which was about ten feet short of the wall which remained uninjured. We therefore turned to the left, and entered the Hern Khana by the Left Breach, which had been made by the 18-Pounder Gun at the Barricade at end of lane.

On getting into the Hern Khana we turned to our right, passed across the open square, and immediately commenced loopholing the wall which commands the street dividing our position from the Kaiser Bagh. On your arrival I reported myself to you.

I have the honor to be,

Lucknow, 21st Nov. 1857

Sir,

According to orders, Lieutenant Chalmers, Assistant Field Engineer, and myself, accompanied the Detachment of the 90th Regiment L. I. on the attack upon the Engine-house. Keeping to the left on passing that building, we found the Rebels evacuating the same, and followed them up to the most advanced building, the "Overseer's House," which I at once directed to be barricaded. The Enemy opened on it with Guns from the Kaiser Bagh, and the house was then abandoned and burnt by Colonel Purnell's orders. The East wall of the Barahduree enclosure was at once loopholed, and the windows to the South blocked up with Sand bags. During the night a Battery for three light Guns was constructed at the Southern extremity of the lane, between the King's Stables and Barahduree enclosure. The doors and windows of the Engine-house facing the River were also barricaded. During the night a trench-covered communication was opened to the Advanced Garden, none being necessary between the Engine-house and King's Stables.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
David Limond, Lieut,
Engineers.

From
Lieut J. Russell,
Brigade Major of Engineers,
To
Captain Crommelin,
Chief Engineer.

Sir,

I have the honor to report that, according to order, Captain Oakes, Assistant Field Engineer, and myself, accompanied the Detachment under Command of Captain Lockhart, H. M.'s 78th, on the 16th Instant, in the attack upon the "King's Stables."

The Detachment was drawn up in line in the front Trench of the Advanced Garden, and on the order for the advance being given, we crossed the parapet of the Trench and the breach in our front, and doubled across the open to the "King's Stables," on reaching which some confusion occurred, for the lower part of the breach that had been made by our Guns was some 4 feet from the ground; and not seeing any easy mode of ingress, Captain Lockhart led the way into the enclosure of the Steam Engine-house on the left, and was followed by many of his men.

On his mistake being pointed out, however, he returned, and in company we entered the Court-yard of the Stables, which we found deserted. The men of the Detachment followed us as quickly as they could.

Our orders were to man the walls of the Stables on the side of the Enemy; but the latter were retreating fast, pressed by our Troops from the Hern Khana, on seeing which many of the Detachment to which I was attached rushed across the road without orders and joined in the pursuit.

At Captain Lockhart's request I went to recall these men, and on my return I found that he had occupied the Barahduree and other buildings in rear of the King's Stables. Measures were immediately adopted for securing our position; but in a short time the portion of Captain Lockhart's Detachment was withdrawn, and the post left to the charge of a Detachment of H. M.'s 90th, under Colonel Purnell.

During the night of the 16th, Lieutenant Limond, of Engineers, and myself constructed a Battery for 3 Guns, which opened fire towards the Kaiser Bagh on the morning of the 17th.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obdt. Servant,
J. Russell, Lieut.,
Brigade Major of Engineers.

Colonel R. Napier,
Military Secretary, &c.,
To
Maj.-Genl. Sir James Outram, G. C. B.,
Commanding the Forces.
Lucknow, 16th October 1857.

Sir,

On the 25th Ultimo Colonel Campbell reported to you, that he, with a small Party of the 90th not exceeding 100 men and almost all the Wounded, the heavy Guns, and a large number of Ammunition Waggons, were in the walled passage in front of the Motee Munzil Palace, which position he should be obliged to hold for the night, as he was invested by the Enemy, and could not advance without reinforcements.

On the morning of the 26th, a Detachment of 250 men, under Command of Major Simmons, 5th Fusiliers, and part of the Ferozepore Regiment, under Captain Brasyer, were sent by your orders to reinforce Colonel Campbell, under the guidance of Captain Moorsom.

They had judiciously occupied a house and garden between Colonel Campbell's position and the Palace; but as they were unable to move from their position, I received your orders to proceed to their assistance, with a further reinforcement of 100 men of H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, under Colonel Stisted, and 2 Guns of Captain Olpherts' Battery and Captain Hardinge's Sowars.

Captain Olpherts strongly objected to his Guns being taken, and on considering the reason that he offered, I took it upon myself to dispense with them, merely taking spare bullocks. Captain Olpherts accompanied me as a Volunteer. As I had reason to believe that I could open a communication through the Palace, which would bring me near the position of the Guns, I took Mr. Cavanagh, an intelligent Civilian acquainted with the locality, and examined the Palace as far as was practicable, and obtained sufficient knowledge of it, to form my plan of operations.

I then led the Party by one of the side outlets of the Palace along the River bank to Major Simmons' position, under a smart fire from the Enemy, by which, however, we received little damage.

Under cover of the night, all the Sick and Wounded were quietly and safely transported along the River bank to the Entrenchment, by a path practicable for Camels and Doolies, but quite impracticable for Guns. Captain Hardinge made several journeys to bring up fresh Doolies, until every Sick and Wounded man was removed. He also took away the Camels laden with Enfield Ammunition. One of our 24-Pounders, which had been used on the previous day against the Enemy, but the working of which had ceased owing to the Musketry fire which poured upon it, was left in an exposed position; it was extricated in a very daring and dexterous manner by Captain Olpherts, aided by Captain Crump (killed), and Private Duffy, of the Madras Fusiliers.

At 3 A. M. the whole Force proceeded undiscovered through the Enemy's posts, until the leading Division had reached the Palace; the heavy Guns and Waggons were safely parked in the Garden which I had reconnoitred on the preceding day. The Enemy were aroused too late to prevent the operation; but made an attack on the Rear Guard, which was ineffective.

I remained with Colonel Purnell to secure the position thus gained with trifling loss. A large body of Sepoys was discovered in a walled Garden connected with that which contained our heavy Guns, by men of H. M.'s 90th, 5th Fusiliers, and 32nd, who gallantly charged in, led by Colonel Purnell, 90th, and Captain McCabe, 32nd, and almost annihilated them, securing the Garden itself as the rear of our position. Measures were immediately taken to open a road for the Guns through the Palace, and by the 1st Instant every Gun and Waggon was safely lodged in the Entrenchment.

It now remains for me to bring to your favorable notice the Officers Commanding Corps and Detachments—Colonel Stisted, 78th; Captain Brasyer, Seikhs; Captain Lowe, 32nd. The late lamented Major Simmons gave me very valuable aid.

To Colonel Purnell's lot fell the more difficult duty of Commanding the Rear Guard and of securing the position when gained. In the whole of the operations his assistance and support were of the greatest value.

Lieutenant Fraser, of the Artillery, was left, on the 26th, by the fall of Brigadier Cooper, in charge of the heavy Guns, and though wounded, his exertions assisted greatly in extricating the unwieldy Train.

I must beg most particularly to bring to your notice Captain Olpherts, of the Bengal Artillery. Without his unfailing determination, skill, and fertility of resource, we should never have been able to withdraw the 24-Pounder, but at the cost of a very heavy loss of life. From first to last his assistance has been invaluable, and cannot be too highly praised.

To Captain Hardinge's continued exertions is due the safe removal of the Wounded, and Camels, with Rifle Ammunition.

My Assistant Adjutant General, Captain Dodgson, gave me every assistance. Captain Moorsom was here, as every where, a sagacious and daring guide. Captain Sitwell attended me zealously through the night.

Captain Olpherts recommends Private Duffy for the Victoria Cross for his gallantry in extricating the 24-Pounder Gun under a very heavy fire of Musketry, and I beg strongly to second his recommendation.

I have deeply to lament the loss of the gallant Captain Crump, Madras Army, killed whilst extricating the 24-Pounder.

The loss was as follows:—

Lucknow, 5th October 1857.

Sir,

On the 1st Instant, I received your orders to take the Enemy's Battery in the position called Phillips' Garden, near the Cawnpore road. For this object you placed at my disposal the following Troops:—

Detachments of H. M.'s 5th Fusiliers; 32nd, 64th, 78th and 90th Regiments, and the Hon'ble East India Company's 1st Madras Fusiliers, under Major Haliburton, H. M.'s 78th; Captain Shute, H. M.'s 64th; and Captain Raikes, Madras Fusiliers, amounting to 568 men; Lieutenant Limond, Engineers, and Lieutenant Tulloh, Acting Assistant Field Engineer, attended the Column, with a Party of five Miners of H. M.'s 32nd, and a Party of Artillery, under Serjeant Smith, with means of bursting Guns.

In the afternoon of the 1st, the Column formed in the road leading to the Paen Bagh, and advanced through the buildings near the Jail, occupied the mass of houses on the left and front of Phillips' Garden, under guidance of Mr. Phillips, the former occupant, and the Enemy were driven from some houses and a Barricade on the left of our advance, by 50 men of the Madras Fusiliers, led by Lieutenant Groom under a sharp fire of Musketry, in a very spirited manner.

The houses in front were strongly barricaded, and in many cases the doors were bricked up; it was, therefore, late before we had worked a way to a point from whence we could command the Enemy's position. A party of the Enemy was driven out, and a row of loopholes was commenced immediately, and the ground examined right and left. Attempts to penetrate the Garden to the left were ineffectual; to the right an opening was obtained, which disclosed that the Enemy's Batteries were separated from us by a deep narrow lane, some 12 or 15 feet below the Garden; the latter was surrounded by a deep mud wall, with buildings attached. The face of the Battery was scarped and quite inaccessible without ladders. A heavy fire was kept up from the face of the Battery, and the lane was flanked by a strong Barricade. As it was dark, and a direct attack would be certain to cost many lives, I determined to wait till day-light before assaulting the Battery. The position was duly secured, and the men occupied the buildings for the night.

In the morning, after giving the men breakfast, and arranging with the Artillery to open fire from the Entrenchment, the Troops advanced. A severe fire was opened from the Barricade, flanking the lane on the right; but Major Haliburton detached Lieutenant Creagh, Madras Fusiliers, with a Party to turn the Barricade by the Cawnpore Road, which was effectually done. The Troops then doubled out through the lane, and forced a way through a Stockade into the Enemy's Batteries; the 5th Fusiliers and Detachment 64th in advance, under Lieutenant Brown, supported by the Madras Fusiliers and H. M.'s 32nd. The Enemy was immediately driven from the Battery, and Phillips' house occupied without further opposition. A Picquet being left in possession, the Troops advanced on the Guns which had been withdrawn to the end of the Garden and to the streets adjoining, and captured two 9-Pounders and one 6-Pounder Gun, driving off the Enemy who defended them with Musketry and Grape. The Guns were immediately dragged to the Garden and burst, their carriages completely destroyed, and their ammunition sent to the Entrenchment. Phillips' house was blown up by a Party under Lieutenant Innes, Engineers, and at dark the Troops withdrew to their position of the previous night.

In all the arrangements I was most fortunate in having the aid of that very able and brave Officer, Major Haliburton, H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, who deserves particular notice.

I beg to recommend to your favorable notice Captain Shute, H. M.'s 64th, and Lieutenant Brown, 5th Fusiliers, who led the Party into the Battery, and were foremost in capturing the two 9-Pounders. I also beg to recommend to your notice Private Mc Hale, H. M.'s 5th Fusiliers, who was the first man at the capture of one of the Guns.

Lieutenant Limond, of the Engineers, was very active in the duties of the Engineer Department, and in reconnoitring the Enemy's position. Captain Dawson and Lieutenant Hewett attended me zealously as Field Orderly Officers throughout the operations; and Mr. Cavanagh, Superintendent Chief Commissioner's Office, accompanied the Party as a guide, and was always to be found at the front.

The Guns were destroyed by Sergeant Smith with the party of Artillery.

The position of this Battery was so inaccessible, and the locality so little known, that the enterprise of taking it was considered by the experienced Chief Engineer of the Garrison as one of very serious difficulty. Owing to our laborious investigation of its position which enabled us to obtain command of it from the adjacent mass of buildings, I was able to take it at the comparatively small loss of 2 killed and 11 wounded.

I have only to add, that, although I have mentioned the names of those Officers who had the good fortune to be at the points of attack, yet the conduct of the whole of the Officers and Men was in every way deserving of your commendation; they were most eager to assault the Battery on the night of the 1st, but I restrained them, as I was convinced that I could effect the desired end without the serious loss that would have then been incurred.

Their attack when made was carried out with their unfailing gallantry.

It is impossible to estimate the loss of the Enemy.

I have the honor to be,

Your most obdt Servant,

Oude Field Force.

Lucknow, 20th November 1857.

Sir,

The Chief Engineer of the Oude Field Force being wounded at the time of our arrival at Lucknow, and further prevented, until the 8th Ultimo, from personally attending to his duties, by an accidental lameness, produced by his arduous exertions in constructing the Bridge at Cawnpore for the passage of the Force across the Ganges, there devolved upon me many duties not pertaining to my officer, which it is proper that I should report through you, as I believe no Officer except myself is acquainted with all that has taken place, and the course of those duties gave me an opportunity of noticing the valuable services of Officers which could not otherwise be brought to Major-General Havelock's knowledge.

On the morning of the 27th Ultimo, the Escort with the heavy Train, occupied the range of Palaces called the Chuttur Munzil and Fureed Buksh.

Major-General Havelock is aware that these Palaces afford the only shelter that our Troops could have occupied, and that as mere shelter they give excellent accommodation; as a Military position they have very great disadvantages. The Northern face is well protected by the River Goomty; but the East and South East faces are surrounded by buildings and in contact with the City.

Captain Crommelin's plan, which he will submit with his Report of the Engineer Operations, illustrates the preceding remarks.

The position was too extensive for our Force, nearly all of which was occupied in guarding it; but it was susceptible of no reduction, so that most desirable as it was that we should have occupied some of the exterior buildings as flanking defences, we were unable to do so, but were obliged to confine ourselves to the Palaces and Gardens, and to erect precautionary defences against any means of annoyance the Enemy could devise. Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell, of H. M.'s 90th, being in Command of the Rear Guard on the 27th, I requested him to assume Command of the Palace Garden and Buildings adjacent to it. On the 28th the Palace buildings extending in the direction of the Khas Bazaar were explored by Captain Moorsom, who, with a Party of 50 men of the 90th and 5th Fusiliers, gallantly drove the Enemy out at the point of the Bayonet, killing a considerable number with the loss of one man of H. M.'s 90th. Captain Moorsom then placed a Picquet in a house commanding the Cheena and Khas Bazaars. On the 3rd Instant the Enemy sprang a Mine under the Garden-wall, which merely shook it without bringing it down. On the 5th they exploded a second Mine, which effected a considerable breach, and appeared in some force with the intention of making an assault; but on the head of the Column showing itself on the breach, a well-directed fire from H. M.'s 90th caused it to retreat precipitately and with considerable loss. The Enemy also burned down one of the Gateways of the Garden, making a second practicable breach, at which they occasionally appeared to fire a Shot or two. Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell had retrenched both these Breaches, which it became evident that the Enemy had no real intention of assaulting; but they exposed the Garden to a severe Musketry fire from commanding buildings on the right, called the Hern Khana; it, therefore, became necessary to open trenches of communication, which were commenced by Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell and his Officers. On the 6th the Enemy blew up the Picquet overlooking the Cheena and Khas Bazars, causing us a loss of three men, and in the confusion that ensued, penetrated in considerable numbers into the Palace, where many of them were destroyed. They are said to have lost 450 men! The remainder were driven back, but continued to occupy a part of the Palace buildings which had been in our possession. Of these the nearest to us is a Mosque commanded by our buildings, but giving several easy means of access to our position. On the 8th the Enemy attacked from the Mosque our nearest Picquets; but were repulsed with loss. In order to prevent a repetition of this annoyance, I examined carefully, in company with Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell and Captain Moorsom, the buildings connecting us with those of the Enemy, and we succeeded in penetrating to a vault under their position, where, screened by the obscurity, we could see the Enemy closely surrounding the Entrance, and hear them in considerable numbers overhead. A charge of two barrels of Powder was lodged in the vault, and was fired by Lieutenant Russell, of the Bengal Engineers. The effect was complete; many of the Enemy were blown up, and their position greatly injured, whilst we obtained a command over the streets leading to the Khas and Cheena Bazars, better and more secure from molestation than our previous one. This post was immediately and securely barricaded by Captain Crommelin, of the Engineers, who this day resumed his duties as Chief Engineer, and the value of his services was immediately apparent. Though our position was improved by this explosion, the possession of the Mosque was absolutely necessary to our security. I accordingly determined to re-capture it, and on expressing my wishes to Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell, that Officer himself accompanied me with a small Party of the 90th and Madras Fusiliers. The Enemy, 50 or 60 in number, were surprised and rapidly driven out with very trifling loss on our side, and the position immediately barricaded and secured by Captain Crommelin; it has ever since formed a good connection between the Picquets of the advanced Garden and the Quarters of Brasyer's Seikhs, and all attempts of the Enemy to molest it have been ineffective. It falls within Captain Crommelin's province to report in detail the various operations by which our difficult position, in close contact with the City, occupied by a numerous and persevering Enemy, has been defended and protected.

I beg to bring to the notice of Major-General Havelock the excellent services performed by Lieutenant-Colonel Purnell, who has commanded in the Advance Garden and its Outposts since their occupation. Much of the Trench work by which it was rendered unassailable has been executed by his men, and under his superintendence, directed by the Engineer Department. On all occasions he has given the cordial and able co-operation of a most brave and accomplished Officer. Captain Grant, of the Madras Fusiliers, has Commanded the post of the Mosque, from the 11th October to the 2nd November, when he was severely wounded. He maintained the post under a constant and close Musketry fire, and repeated attacks by Mining, with cool courage and judgment: both these qualities were required to avoid real, and to disregard the imaginary dangers of Mines, and Captain Grant has displayed them in an eminent degree.

The daring and intelligent Captain Moorsom has been engaged in most of the above operations, and has given very valuable assistance.

Captains Rattray and Wade have shown themselves excellent Commanders of Outposts.

Lucknow, 21st October 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to state, for the information of Brigadier Inglis, Commanding the Garrison, the proceedings of a Party of the Regiment under my Command, on the night of the 25th, and morning of the 26th September, which ended in the capture of the Teree Kotee.

On the evening of the 25th, after the First Column of the Relieving Force arrived, I heard the shouts of the Second Column in the City in the direction of the Jail, and thinking they might get entangled in the lanes and might suffer from the Guns under the Clock Tower, I took 12 armed Sepoys of the Regiment, with pick-axes and shovels, for the purpose of clearing away, if possible, the Battery under the Clock Tower. We got over without opposition, as the head of the Second Relieving Column was by this time in the lane and close up to the Guns. As I thought this a good opportunity to occupy at least a portion of the Teree Kotee, I took upon myself the responsibility to take the Sepoys through a door made in the wall by the Insurgents. We advanced some distance quietly without meeting any one. At last in a Court-yard we came upon a small body, eight in number, and took them prisoners, without firing a shot. I left the Sepoys in charge of a Havildar in this Court-yard for the night, and reported the circumstance for the information of Brigadier Inglis, who ordered me to occupy the Teree Kotee with a stronger body in the morning.

Early next morning, we advanced to the bank of the River, and shot a few of the Insurgents who attempted to swim the River. At this time I observed a body of men on the top of a building with a Gateway. We attempted to get in by breaking in the principal gate, which was barricaded; but found this impossible. Havildar Ramnarain Pando, however, succeeded in breaking down one of the small doors at the side of the gate, and was the first man who made an entrance. We killed some five or six men in the Gateway, the others having got into the rooms above, and on the terraces which ran towards the Fureed Buksh. A Party of the 32nd came up at this time under a Serjeant, and some 25 men altogether were shot and bayonetted. We had two Sepoys wounded, and one man of the 32nd was killed. I ought to mention that Captain Lowe, of H. M.'s 32nd, arrived with some men after we had got into the rooms, he having been employed in driving the Insurgents out of the Captain's Bazaar. All the Sepoys behaved well, and I beg to bring to the notice of the Brigadier the gallant conduct of Lieutenant Cubitt, who was most forward throughout the affair.

Unfortunately three of our Sepoys were wounded by the Europeans of the Second Relieving Column on the night of the 25th after we got over the Battery under the Clock Tower, they having been mistaken for Insurgents.

City Residency, Lucknow, Sept. 27th 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint you that, agreeably to your instructions, I proceeded yesterday morning in Command of 150 men of the 32nd Regiment for the purpose of clearing the Captain's Bazaar and adjoining posts occupied by the Enemy.

The Party was in three Divisions;—the first, under Captain Bassano, on the right; the second, in Reserve, under Captain Hughes, 57th N. I., (attached to the Regiment); and the third, under Lieutenant Lawrence. The first and second advanced under cover of the thick bushes between our trenches and the road, whilst the third, passing through Innes' Outpost, came out on the road through the houses in front, taking two small Guns as they entered it, and which they dismounted from their carriages. The Enemy were taken quite by surprise, and fled precipitately to the River, leaving a 6-Pounder Gun in the road. They were pursued by our men, and were nearly all shot or drowned in endeavouring to swim the river. Lieutenant Lawrence then led his Party towards the Iron Bridge, and most gallantly succeeded in capturing a 9-Pounder Gun, just as a second round of Grape was about to be fired at them. This Gun having been brought away they returned, and we took possession of the ruined Mosque, and clearing the Captain's Bazaar, killed some of the Enemy there, and captured an 18-Pounder Gun and four small Guns (two of them without carriages)

I then proceeded to the Teree Kotee with part of the men; but found it unoccupied. A Gate by the River leading into the Furah Buksh Palace was then forced, and several of the Enemy inside killed. We were here met by a Party of the 13th N. I., under Lieutenant Aitken, who had come in by another entrance. Having your orders not to proceed further in this direction I withdrew the men.

Captain Hughes had, in the mean time, led a Party again towards the Iron Bridge, and, killing a great number of the Enemy in the houses about, spiked two large Mortars, which, however, he was unable to bring away. He was, I regret to say, dangerously wounded whilst forcing the door of a house. As the Party retired, they blew up a large Magazine of the Enemy's Powder.

The objects contemplated having been obtained not without loss, as the adjoining Return will show, I withdrew the Party to the Residency, leaving Guards at the ruined Mosque and Terce Kotee.

In conclusion I beg to bring prominently to your notice the great zeal and gallantry displayed by all engaged,—both Officers and Men,—so equally that it would be invidious to particularise any one; but Lieutenant Lawrence has, however, begged me to report the distinguished bravery of Corporal Samuel Cole, and Private Michael Power in charging and capturing the 9-Pounder Gun.

Lieutenant Innes, of the Engineers, accompanied the Party throughout, and afforded me every assistance.

To

The Deputy Assistant Adjutant General.

Lucknow, November 1857.

Sir,

In reply to your letter dated 4th November 1857, No. and subject as per margin, I have the honor to state as follows.

No. 147.
Directing a Report to be made of a Sortie by the Troops under Command of Major Stephenson, Madras Fusiliers, on the 27th September 1857.

About 2 P. M., on the 27th September 1857, the Madras Fusiliers were ordered to parade for a Sortie under Command of Major Stephenson, Commanding the same Regiment, for the purpose of taking some Guns in the Enemy's Cawnpore Battery.

The Regiment was told off in three Divisions, the strength of it not admitting of a larger number. Captain Fraser had Command of No. 1, Captain Galwey No. 2, and Captain Raikes of No. 3 Division; Lieutenant and Adjutant Gosling, Lieutenants Beaumont and Cleland, and Lieutenant the Hon'ble J. Fraser, 1st B. N. I., d. d. with the Fusiliers, fell in with the Regiment. A few men of H M's. 32nd Regiment, under Lieutenant Warner, 7th B. C., Captain Kemble, 41st B N. I., Lieutenant Huxham, 48th B. N. I., Lieutenant Anderson, Bengal Engineers, and Lieutenant Mecham, 27th M. N. I., accompanied the Party.

The Party proceeded in strict silence out of the Bailey Gate to the Garden opposite, and passed through a door to the right, about half way down to the Garden, which led through bye-paths till it reached the road, at which place there was a considerable street fire from loop holes and from the top of houses, and from the Guns of the Enemy in position A charge was made at the nearest Gun, through long grass ruins, small breaches in walls, and a broad ditch Our men entered by the embrasure, and the Enemy immediately abandoned this Gun. A considerable delay occurred in making preparations for bursting this Gun, which, however, ultimately proved a failure, as some person had spiked it previously and in the hurry of the moment. During this time a Party of No. 1 Division, under Captain Fraser, proceeded to reconnoitre a little further, when they came on another Battery of the Enemy, consisting of a 24-Pounder and an 18-Pounder Gun. These were abandoned; but the Enemy being all round, and keeping such a fire on his party, Captain Fraser sent back to Major Stephenson to say he required a Reinforcement. On this Captain Galwey, of No. 2 Division, proceeded with a few men. On reaching the spot, he found that from the number of the Enemy (which he calculated from their heavy fire) that the position could not be held without a further reinforcement. The Battery was surrounded with high walls, and apparently with no outlets. Captain Galwey returned, and reported this to Major Stephenson. It was now discovered that there were with us no means by which we could destroy or dismantle the Guns; so Major Stephenson directed the advanced Party to fall back on him, which, however, they did not then do. Captain Fraser spoke in the highest terms of the gallantry of Serjeant Lidster, Madras Fusiliers, who spiked the 24-Pounder, and of Corporal William Dowling, H. M 's 32nd Regiment, who spiked the 18-Pounder Gun, being at the same time under a most heavy fire from the Enemy.

Finding it impossible to burst the first Gun, Major Stephenson left a Party to protect that Gun under a Subaltern, and proceeded with Captain Raikes' Division No. 3, which he had kept with him to the Advanced Battery, which, as before stated, was surrounded with high walls. At this time Serjeant Lidster, previously mentioned as having spiked a Gun under heavy fire, was killed. Major Stephenson called on some of the Volunteers or Guides to point out the way to the next Battery; but no one knew the way, or seemed at all aware of our locality, and at this time firing being heard in our rear, Major Stephenson was compelled to retire by the way we came, it being quite impossible to go forward without Guides. The three Guns were left spiked, owing to want of means to destroy them. On the return of the Party, it was exposed to a very destructive fire from the Enemy, from the tops of houses and loop-holes, and from want of means it was most difficult to take away our killed and wounded. One Serjeant, severely wounded, and since dead, must have been left on the ground, had not a Private of the 32nd Regiment, in the most gallant manner, with the assistance of Captain Galwey, taken him up and carried him to a place of safety. Lieutenant Huxham, 48th B. N. I., was wounded.

I enclose a Return of the Killed and Wounded of the 1st Madras Fusiliers on this occasion.

Lucknow, 7th November 1857

Sir,

Agreeably to instructions received, I have the honor to report as follows.

In consequence of there being no available Officers with Her Majesty's 32nd Regiment, I was selected to Command a Party of that Corps on the 27th September in a Sortie for the purpose of capturing some of the Enemy's Guns, in a Battery opposite to our Cawnpore Battery

We paraded about 2 P. M with the Madras Fusiliers, and marched out of the Bailey Guard Gate, my Party in advance, the whole under Command of Major Stephenson, of the Madras Fusiliers We proceeded through the "Taree Khotee," across the road in rear of the Clock Tower, and then took ground to our right. Immediately we had crossed the road, we became exposed to the Enemy's fire, and made a rush across a large Court-yard through a Door-way to our right After passing through a succession of narrow streets and holes in the walls, we arrived at the Cawnpore road. We then came on one of the Enemy's Guns, which was firing Grape down the Cawnpore road I took my Party to one side of the Embrasure, and on receiving the word of Command, we rushed in, headed by Major Stephenson The Enemy abandoned their Gun, and a Naick of the 13th Regiment, "Kulka Tewaree," spiked it We then endeavoured to burst it; but owing to the absence of water and other materials failed.

While we were attempting to burst this Gun, a Party of men under Captain Fraser, of the Madras Fusiliers, went on to another Battery of the Enemy's which was further in advance.

Shortly after this, the Party under my Command went with Captain Galwey and some of his men to reinforce Captain Fraser. On arriving near his position, we found the Enemy in great force on all sides of us, keeping up a very heavy fire We then retreated, by order of Major Stephenson, on the main body One of the Madras Fusilier Serjeants being badly wounded, Captain Galwey, Lieutenant Mecham, 27th Madras Native Infantry, Private Smith, H. M's 32nd, and myself, with great difficulty, managed to get him back to the main body. This Private was, I regret to say, killed in the retreat. Major Stephenson then ordered us to retreat, which was done by the same route by which we had advanced During the retreat, we were exposed to a heavy fire from the houses. The conduct of Corporal Cooney and Private Smith, of the 32nd, who were both killed, was most noble.

I enclose a Return of the Killed and Wounded of H M's 32nd Regiment on this occasion.

Memorandum regarding the Sortie of the 27th September.

Chuttur Munzil, 8th Nov. 1857.

On the 26th September I was warned by Brigadier Inglis to lead a Party from the Brigade Mess, and having taken the Guns in its front, to circle leftwards, taking or destroying all the Guns on the way till we should reach our own position at the Jail or Terce Kotee. The Party, however, that was told off for this purpose on the 26th, was required to help in the heavy Guns and Rear Guard from the Motee Mehal, and the Sortie was therefore temporarily deferred.

2. Having next morning mentioned the proposed Sortie to Lieutenant Anderson, Garrison Engineer, at the Fureed Buksh, he stated his opinion of the advisability of the Sortie debouching from the Jail and going in rear of the Square House and proceeding thence in a direction parallel to the road, by which plan we would start fair from our own ground, probably hit on the Enemy's usual route, and take the Guns in rear.

3. The Sortie having been re-arranged for the afternoon of the 27th, Lieut. Anderson proposed to guide it himself. The Party was (as I learnt on reaching the first house attacked) Commanded by Major Stephenson, of the Madras Fusiliers, and the Party to explode the Guns consisted of Artillerymen under the Command of Captain Evans. Two Sepoys of the 13th N. I. accompanied us, under my orders, with picks, to help in knocking down obstacles, should it be necessary.

4. Lieutenant Anderson lead the Party out by the Terce Kotee and Jail, and rear of the Square House to the building now forming the left of the Highlanders' position. The Enemy being in possession of it, it was attacked; but the Party never appeared to enter the rooms and clear them: it only remained in or rushed through the court-yards and passages, shooting or bayonetting such of the Enemy as voluntarily came out.

5. The correct place for debouching from the house was on the same side, only further advanced, as that at which we had entered it, and, as I afterwards found, Lieutenant Anderson was waiting there to lead the men out, as soon as they should have taken possession of the house. But waiting for no guidance, they left the house at the point which they reached on rushing through it, and immediately found themselves on the road. Hearing a call for an Engineer Officer, I went forward, and found the Party on the road in front of an embrasure, which was shortly afterwards charged, and the Gun taken. Not 40 men were present for the first ten minutes, and although Captain Evans and my two Sepoys were there, the rest of the Explosion Party were among the absentees. After waiting ten minutes, and Major Stephenson getting impatient, Captain Evans, hopeless of the arrival of the Bursting Party and material, spiked the Gun. This was no sooner done than they arrived, and the subsequent attempt to blow up the Gun was a failure, from the vent being filled up by the spike. During the attempt to burst the Gun, an Officer (Captain Galwey I believe) came to report the capture of two other Guns, the spiking of one of them, and the necessity for reinforcement. Major Stephenson having advanced towards them, asked me where we were, and what was to be done. As to what was to be done, on enquiry from Captain Evans it appeared that the men had drunk all the water reserved to moisten the clay to tamp the Guns, that in fact he could not burst them, and there were no spikes present with which to spike them. I therefore said that, wherever we might go, we could destroy no more Guns, and that consequently to return to the Entrenchment seemed to me advisable. As to the where we were, I said, I thought we were at the Battery on the left of the Cawnpore road, which opinion was also expressed by Mr. Cavanagh. Mr. Phillips, our real guide, could give no opinion at all. To make certain of the locality, I told Major Stephenson I would cross the road and reconnoitre, which I accordingly did, and found that my conjecture had been correct. On my returning, the Party had commenced its return to the Entrenchments, which it effected by nearly the same route as that by which it had advanced.

The Party which remained with Lieutenant Anderson, at the house first attacked, prevented the Enemy still on it from doing us much injury on our return, otherwise our loss might have been most serious. The separation of the whole Party into the two bodies, which was the previous cause of the failure in destroying the Guns, is entirely attributable to an advance having been made from that house without the direction of the proper guide.

J McLeod Innes, Lieut.,
Engineers.

Note.—This Sortie was designed to attack the Garden Battery, and it appears from the experience gained in a subsequent attack (1st, 2nd and 3rd November) that the strength of the Party was quite inadequate to accomplish the object required. The real cause of the failure in bursting the Guns, instead of spiking, that was taken possession of, appears to have been the delay in bringing up the Bursting Party.

Had the house alluded to by Lieutenant Innes been taken possession of, instead of being nearly passed through, and measures taken to reconnoitre the ground in advance before the Party proceeded, it is probable that the result would have been more satisfactory, and that at all events the captured Guns would have been effectually destroyed; but without a much larger body of men, the complete conquest and destruction of the whole Garden Battery could not have been accomplished.

Lucknow, 20th October 1857.

Sir,

Agreeably to your request, I have the honor to forward a Report of the proceedings of the Party, as per margin, under my Command, during the Sortie of the 29th Ultimo. We assembled in the Third Seikh Square, a little before day-break, as a Reserve, to an Attacking Party, under Command of Captain Hardinge, who, when he had taken the Guns in front of the Brigade Mess, advanced to his right to take a Gun situated in a strong position in the middle of a lane, to the left front of Mr Gubbins's house. He placed his men in a flanking position, and came to me for a Party to advance and take some houses to the right and left of the lane, from which there was a heavy fire. I advanced through the breach in the Seikh Square, with Lieutenant Onseley, 48th Regiment N. I., Lieut. the Hon'ble J. Fraser, and 35 men, and led them up the lane to the front of the Enemy's Stockade. I took up a position with four or five men, and fired on several of the Enemy who were trying to escape. Lieutenant Onseley, the Hon'ble J. Fraser, and several men, got over the Stockade, and the Party under Captain Hardinge, came forward, and the Gun, a 6-Pounder, pointed towards him, was taken possession of. One of our men was killed as we reached the Stockade, and one wounded a short time after. 14 or 15 of the Enemy were killed, 9 of them in two huts to the right and left of the lane. I left this party of the Reserve under Command of the Hon'ble J. Fraser, and went back to the remainder of the Reserve, which I found had advanced from the Seikh Square, under Captain Galwey, and we proceeded down the lane and took up forward positions in a house which Captain Forbes,

1 Major.
2 Captains.
3 Lieutenants.
100 Men 1st Madras Fusiliers.

1st Light Cavalry, and his Seikh Orderly, had examined and reported empty. There was a strong Party of the Enemy to our left front, who kept up a heavy fire. I placed part of the men under Captain Galwey in front of the house; another Party, under Captain Forbes, took possession of the upper story of the house; and I detached a third Party to take possession of a Barricade across the street a little to our right front. Our loss here was one killed and one wounded. Five or six of the men from this position got into a large house still further in advance, and I went and examined the house, and found, after getting into the lower story, that the Enemy had begun two Mines, the Shafts of which were sunk to a considerable depth. I reported this to Lieutenant Innes, the Executive Engineer, who, on examination, decided on blowing them up. Being short of men, I ordered a Party of ten, under Serjeant Major Donovan, to come down our centre Bastion and occupy the house where the Mines were. He remained in charge till the Mines were blown up. During the time I was thus occupied, Lieutenant Ouseley rendered great service, by capturing a Gun, which had checked the advance of the Party to which he was attached, by being planted at the end of a very narrow lane, about 60 or 70 yards long. Lieutenant Ouseley, accompanied by Serjeant Higgins and four men of the 1st Madras Fusiliers, went through a number of houses and narrow passages, to the right of the lane, and finding their further progress stopped by a very high and steep Bastion, where they distinctly heard the voices of the Enemy, they ascended it, led by the above-named Officer; found it unoccupied, and rushed across it into a house, from which they fired down upon and killed two out of some 40 men assembled below them; and raising a cheer, routed the Enemy, and took possession of the Gun, without losing a man, or giving the Enemy the power of discharging the piece, to which drag-ropes were attached to enable the Enemy to pull it round the nearest corner, should we attempt to charge it. A Party of 8 or 10 men, from Captain Galwey's position, under Lieutenant Cleveland, reinforced Lieutenant Ouseley, and after the Gun had been removed, they retired, and the Bastion was blown up. Afterwards two small Guns were found in a lane close to this Battery, and taken possession of by Lieutenants Ouseley and Aitken, 13th Regiment N. I. The three were dismantled from their carriages and were sent into the Garrison, and the carriages broken up and burnt. Our loss at this point was one killed and two wounded—one of the latter, Mr. Lucas, whose zeal and gallantry on every occasion during the Siege every one has heard of. About 11 o'clock we returned into Garrison, having examined and cleared the Guns from the whole of the front of Mr. Gubbins's house. We had not time or men to examine the houses in front of our Centre Bastion, which I much regret, as there are constant reports from the men, that Mining is going on; but I have no good reason to suppose so, as I have invariably, when called, found the houses unoccupied, and heard no noises that would lead me to suppose that Mining was going on.

Lucknow, 10th October 1857.

Sortie on the 29th September, from the left Square Brigade Mess, for the object of destroying the Enemy's Guns left in front of Brigade Mess, in front of Cawnpore Battery, and on the left of Cawnpore Road.

This Sortie proceeded simultaneously with two others—one from the Sikh Square to the right of the Brigade Mess, and another from the Redan towards the Iron Bridge, led by Captain McCabe, H. M.'s 32nd Regiment, with a few of the men of his Regiment, who had, during the Siege, been on duty on the posts opposite the position to be attacked. The whole strength of the Sortieing Party was 200 men, with a reserve of 150 men.

At daylight the Party issued from an opening in the Brigade Mess wall, and formed up under cover of a wall which runs parallel to the other at the distance of a few paces. The advance was then made in file, the men having to scramble over the debris of a house which had been blown down on a former occasion, and a rush made direct on the Enemy's Gun, 18-Pounder, which lay behind a breastwork, at the distance of 80 yards from the Brigade Mess. The Gunners fired two rounds at us when we made our appearance, but before they could fire again, we had scaled their Battery and driven them to flight. We then proceeded to force a building immediately to the left of the Gun. The lower story was quickly occupied. Captain McCabe, the gallant leader of many former Sorties, was mortally wounded in the operation, and some delay having in consequence occurred, a few of the Enemy in the upper-story had time to kill and wound several of our men before they were attacked and bayonetted. After the house had been taken possession of, a Picquet of 25 men was left to hold it, while the main body of our men proceeded along a narrow lane, under Command of Major Simmons, H. M.'s 5th Fusiliers, to occupy two large buildings, about 60 and 80 yards, respectively, in advance of the first, with several other smaller buildings adjoining; the loss to the Enemy in all being probably above thirty men. On our side we had the misfortune to lose Major Simmons, who was killed by a Musket shot while leading his men into the most advanced building. We had now progressed to a position from which we had a view of the Enemy's 18-Pounder Gun in front of the Cawnpore Battery. It lay in a lane running towards the Cawnpore road, the end of which was barricaded and loopholed, and directly in line with it, on the opposite side of the road, the Enemy occupied a house from which they kept up a hot Musketry fire on our position.

I then sent for the Reserve, and desired that an Officer of rank might be sent to Command the whole Party. General Sir J. Outram having become acquainted with our progress, sent word that, unless further advance could be made without danger of considerable loss, the design of proceeding against the Enemy's Gun, now in our view, should be abandoned, and that the Party should retire after destroying in succession the houses we had taken possession of. After consulting with Captain Evans, (attached to the Artillery,) who had meanwhile destroyed the Enemy's Gun, which we left at the first house and also a 6-Pounder Gun in its neighbourhood, I returned a reply to the General that further advance could not be made without considerable loss, and I proceeded to demolish the three large houses we held, commencing with the one furthest in advance, and withdrawing the Party gradually to the rear. This operation, in which 13 barrels of Powder were expended, destroyed the principal Musketry cover of the Enemy against our Defences between the Brigade Mess and Cawnpore Battery, and the destruction of the Guns in front of the latter, together with that effected by the Sortieing Parties acting in conjunction with us to the right, has relieved a considerable portion of our work from serious annoyance.

The Party returned about 9 ½ A M.

Lucknow, 22nd October 1857.

Sir,

Agreeably to your orders, I have the honor to report that the under-mentioned Parties were made over to me to take the Guns to the front and right of the Brigade Mess and Seikh Square :—

H. M.'s 32nd Regiment, under Lieutenant Cooke	20 Men.
H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, under Captain Lockhart	140 „
1st Madras Fusiliers, under Capt. Galwey	90 „
Total..	250 Men.

We fell in and filed out of the breach in the Sikh Square at day-break of the 29th September 1857,

The Advance consisted of H.M. 32nd, Main Body H. M.'s 78th Highlanders, Reserve of 1st Madras Fusiliers, the Engineers under Lieutenant Innes, Artillery under Lieutenant J. Alexander, Major Apthorp, (whose Report I enclose,) Captain Forbes, and Lieutenant Ouseley, knowing the ground, accompanied the Reserve.

We formed silently under cover of some broken ground. The first Gun, a Brass 12-Pounder, was taken by H. M.'s 32nd with a cheer. By keeping to the right of the embrasure, we avoided the discharge. Lieutenant Cooke and Private Keilly were first at the Gun.

The 32nd occupied a house in rear of the Gun, and enabled the Artillery to burst it unmolested.

The 78th Highlanders, led by Captain Lockhart, who was slightly wounded, then charged a Gun to the right. The covering Party of the first Gun, and a considerable body of the Enemy, rallied round this Gun. Serjeant James Young, 78th Highlanders, the first man at the Gun, bayonetted one of the Enemy's Gunners while re-loading, and was severely wounded by a sword-cut.

I ordered up a Party of the 1st Fusiliers, under Lieutenant the Hon'ble J. Fraser, to take the Enemy in rear, and a number of them were killed here and in the houses in the neighbourhood. Hand Grenades used with good effect.

Proceeding further to the right, opposite Mr. Gubbins' house, our further progress was stopped by a small Gun and some Wall-pieces at the end of a narrow lane.

Lieutenant Ouseley, 48th N. I., and Lieutenant Aitken, 13th N. I., took these pieces in flank after a difficult detour, by getting into a house above them, and with a cheer and volley routed the Enemy. This manœuvre was most skilfully and gallantly executed. Serjeant Higgins, with 4 men of the Madras Fusiliers, and Private Browne, 32nd, are stated to have been the first men at the Gun. Mr. Lucas, a Volunteer, well known for his bravery, was mortally wounded here.

Major Apthorp and Captain Forbes, with the Fusiliers under Captain Galwey, occupied the houses commanding the pieces which were brought away. Two Shafts of a Mine were here discovered and blown up.

The Batteries and Barricades were completely burnt and destroyed. Working Parties of the Sikh Cavalry, under Lieutenant Graham, and Sepoys of the 13th N. I., under Lieutenant Aitken, did good work.

I enclose Lieutenant Innes's Report. Under cover of the houses blown up, the Party fell back unmolested.

One heavy Gun was burst, three smaller ones and some Wall-pieces brought in.

Our loss was 4 killed and 11 wounded, including Mr. Lucas and Captain Lockhart.

Memorandum of Demolitions effected by the Party under Captain Hardinge, on the 29th September 1857.

Lucknow, 21st October 1857.

The Party for demolition consisted of six Miners of H. M.'s 32nd Regiment, with a Fatigue Party of six men supplied from the Troops under Captain Hardinge's guidance. It carried six barrels of Powder, with the requisite supply of hose, port-fire, and slow-match.

2. The house that covered the first Gun taken, was the first selected for demolition. I accordingly laid in it a charge of two barrels. This done, Captain Hardinge pointed out the two next places which he proposed to destroy. They were houses in which the Enemy were said to be, and to eject whom would have been attended with no benefit, but probably with a considerable loss of life. One house being in a dilapidated condition, I laid one barrel of Powder against the middle of its outer-wall; the other was strong, and I therefore lodged two barrels against its wall in a similar position.

3. These charges being laid, it was decided to defer the explosions till the time should arrive for retiring, when they should be fired in a reverse order to that in which the charges were laid.

4. On the capture of the Guns by the Reserve, I lodged a barrel of Powder at the Stockade where they had been, and fired it. The demolition was successful.

5. I had thus laid out all the six barrels, when Major Apthorp, in Command of the Reserve, reported the discovery of a house with Mines in it, leading probably to the Bastion and Out-houses at Mr. Gubbins' compound. I mentioned the want of Powder; but Lieutenant Graham arriving and reporting that more powder had been placed at my disposal, I requested to have four barrels sent me. On proceeding to examine the house and Mines, I found that there were two Shafts, but no Galleries. No Mines then had to be destroyed, only the house, in which, therefore, I lodged and fired two barrels of Powder, bringing down the side of the house facing the Entrenchments.

6. The time for the Party to retire having now arrived, I fired the Mines mentioned in Para. 2, in a reverse order to that in which the charges had been laid. As the explosion did not occur till the Rear Guard was on the Entrenchment side of the buildings successively demolished, the inspection of the results could not be made on the site of the building destroyed; but as well as observation from a tolerably short distance could enable a decision to be arrived at, all the demolitions were successful.

Report of a Sortie made on the 29th September 1857, towards the Iron Bridge.

Lucknow, 22nd October 1857.

On the morning of the 29th Ultimo, I was directed, by Lieutenant General Sir James Outram, G. C. B., to proceed as Guiding Officer with a Column (strength as per margin) under the Command of Captain Shute, H. M.'s 64th Regiment.

Strength of Captain Shute's Column.
H. M.'s 32nd Regt.
1 Officer and 12 Men.
H. M.'s 64th Regt.
2 Officers and 21 Men.
H. M.'s 84th Regt.
3 Officers and 110 men.
Total.—6 Officers and 143 Men

2. The principal object of the expedition was to destroy a 24-Pounder Gun, situated on a mound about 200 yards from Mr. Hill's shop, which had been doing immense injury in the Garrison during the Siege.

3. The Party started from Innes' outpost about day-break, and took and spiked 2 Mortars and 4 Zemindaree Guns of small calibre, destroying the carriage of the latter. The Guns were placed on the roads leading towards the Iron Bridge and past Mr. Hill's shop, and the Column had to traverse a distance of 1,200 yards from the outpost before reaching the last Gun. The Party then returned about 300 yards, and quitted the road to reach the 24-Pounder Gun above-mentioned. It was taken possession of, and the houses near having been occupied, it was destroyed successfully.

I regret, however, to add that the Column sustained considerable loss in consequence of an order with reference to occupying the houses in its rear leading to the Iron Bridge not having been carried out.

Lucknow, 5th November 1857.

Sir,

Agreeably to your order I have the honor to report that, on the 2nd Ultimo, the under-mentioned Party was put under my Command for taking the Guns to the right of the Cawnpore road:—

H. M.'s 32nd, Lieut. Cooke ..	..	..	68 Men
H. M.'s 84th Regiment	...	..	12 Men
Madras Fusiliers	...	..	15 Men
Artillery	...	..	7 Men

On coming up to the Batteries, we found the Enemy had deserted them, and withdrawn one or two Guns. They had burst a very heavy Gun on the Cawnpore road, and another, an iron 18-Pounder, had the muzzle blown off. I had this destroyed after burning the Batteries and blowing up a large Mosque, in which four barrels of Powder were placed.

I withdrew the Party unmolested, the Enemy only firing from some distant houses. One man of H. M.'s 32nd Regiment was wounded.

Lieut. Graham and 20 Seikh Cavalry formed the working Party.

MEMO. OF WORK EXECUTED AT CAPTAIN LOCKHART'S POST, FROM THE FIRST POSSESSION OF IT UNTIL THE 21ST OF NOVEMBER 1857.

Barricades, &c.

BARRICADES were at once and primarily erected at all outlets and loopholes cut along all the walls.

Doorways of communications opened between the three main houses, which originally were distinct buildings, and such arrangements made as enabled us to command to the utmost the ruins on the right and left of position.

A cannon-proof Barricade was erected across the Khas Bazar, communicating with 84th post, and an embrasure opened through it for a Gun; a second Barricade was afterwards placed across the Cawnpore road.

Mines.

The Enemy commenced mining against us at 11 on the left of our position, about six days after our occupying the post. We sunk a Shaft, preparatory to driving a Gallery, to meet them; but before we could complete the Shaft, the Enemy exploded a very large charge of Powder, some 10 feet short of our outer enclosure wall, which had the effect of shaking down the wall and filling up our shaft, by the masses of earth thrown into the air and descending into our Shaft. I regret to say we lost one man in this Shaft. By some fatality, though the men on duty and at the Mine saw the Enemy's Train burning, and volumes of smoke issuing out of the houses, from which they knew the Enemy were mining, they did not move from the spot, but merely sent to report to their Officer. We were prepared for the explosion, and had the enclosure all ready barricaded off, so that the Enemy gained nothing by the Mine.

From this time up to within the last six days, we have been almost constantly at work day and night, countermining against them.

Our general success has been very good, having held our ground with an expenditure of but 200lbs. of Powder, and resisted numerous attacks of the Enemy's Miners.

First occasion of more than usual success on our part.

On two particular occasions our success was more than usual. A Gallery, driven from our shaft C, intercepted a Gallery of the Enemy's, and our explosion completely cut off some 12 feet of it; so that the next morning, on breaking into the portion so cut off, we dug out, or rather dragged out four dead bodies, the Enemy's Miners having been completely cut off in a tomb as it were, for the Gallery they were in was not broken down, but stopped up by our explosion.

Second occasion of more than usual success.

In this case our operations commenced from Shaft D.

We broke into their Gallery some 12 feet from our wall about 12 o'clock at night, and Serjeant Day, our Superintending Miner, remained below, assisted by others, holding the entrance to their Gallery until I arrived.

On entering the Enemy's Gallery, I took Corporal Thompson, of the 78th Highlanders, with me, and observing the apparently great length of the Enemy's Mine, proceeded cautiously to extinguish the lights, so as to keep ourselves in darkness as we advanced. At this time the Enemy were in the Mine at or near their Shaft, which, contrary to their usual practice, they evidently wished to hold uninjured. They severally fill them in at once when we take their Gallery.

I proceeded, extinguishing the lights, until I distinctly saw the Enemy at the far end, and to advance further, would be to advance in a blaze of light. I therefore laid down and waited, as our preparations above, carried on under Lieutenant Tulloch, were not yet ready. Whilst lying there, I saw a Sepoy with Musket at trail advance down the Mine, and when within 40 feet of him, fired at him. My pistol missed fire, and before Corporal Thompson could hand me his pistol the Sepoy had retreated. After remaining some time longer, I placed another man with Corporal Thompson, and went up to get an Officer down, as I felt it required a very steady man down there to support us. While we were laying the charge, and making various arrangements, which utterly precluded our watching against an Enemy's advance, at the same time, Lieutenant Hay, of the 78th Highlanders, then Commanding the Picquet, kindly volunteered and took up my old post. Lieutenant Tulloch and Serjeant Day quickly got the Powder down, and all arrangements ready, when we then withdrew Lieutenant Hay behind the partial Barricade we had formed; and whilst here, still watching with Corporal Thompson, he got two shots at another man who attempted to come down the Mine, and apparently wounded him. The Enemy made no more attempts to come down the Mine, but went outside their building, and came over our heads, apparently with the intention of breaking through. After some quarter of an hour's walking over head, they, I conclude, could not find the direction of the Mine, and retreated into the house.

82 feet I fixed on as giving us the best amount of Gallery, and no more than we could well defend.

Our charge of 50lbs. which I had laid outside our Barricade, and 82 feet up the Enemy's Gallery, was soon tamped, and the charge fired by Lieutenant Tulloch. The charge being laid with 9 feet of sand bag tamping behind it, and none in front, the main force of the Powder acted towards the Enemy's Shaft, but it took down 40 feet backwards towards us, leaving us 40 feet to use as a listening Gallery. I deduce the Enemy's Mine to be 200 feet long and upwards, from the reconnoitring of Lieut. Hay and myself before we commenced laying our charge, and from the position of the house it came from. The Gallery had numerous air-holes and was thoroughly ventilated.

Lieut Hay, 78th Highlanders, and Corporal Thompson, gave assistance.

I was much indebted to Lieut. Hay and Corporal Thompson in this business, and also to Lieut. Tulloch, who himself also fired the Mine—a somewhat difficult task, as our bore being short, he had to retreat some 60 feet through the Enemy's Gallery and ours, and then of the Shaft. Such is a brief account of our Mining operations.

The total length of Gallery work run is 500 feet, and five Shafts, averaging 12 feet deep, with a drain of 5 feet each.

The 9-Pounder Gun I placed in position in the house on the left of our position, as shown in plan, and it was useful in silencing the fire of a Gun of the Enemy's firing from a Stockade up the lane.

In concluding this Report, I would respectfully bring to your notice the valuable assistance rendered by Serjeant Day, of the 32nd, who was in charge of the Mines, and until Lieut. Tulloch was posted to the position, acted direct under my orders. His zeal and quiet steady management of the raw Recruits under him has been most commendable.

I would also bring to your notice the unremitting zeal and attention to his work, manifested by Lieut. Tulloch since he has been in charge of the post; and during the period of my acting here, Lieut. Tulloch has almost entirely—unassisted by me—carried on our system of Mines most successfully.

I have the honor to be,

GENERAL ORDERS BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

FORT WILLIAM, 23RD DECEMBER 1857.

No. 1627 OF 1857.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following Despatches received from Major-General Gowan, C. B., Commanding in the Upper Provinces, and Major-General Penny, C. B., Commanding at Delhi, detailing the proceedings of the Columns detached from Delhi under the Command of Brigadier Showers and Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed.

The Governor General in Council has much pleasure in conveying his warm acknowledgments to Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed and the Officers and Men under his Command, for their gallant conduct and exertions on the occasions of the attacks on the Insurgents at Boolundshuhur, at Malagurh, at Allyghur, and lastly at Agra, where, after a very long march, and joined by the Garrison of Agra, consisting of No. 20 Light Field Battery and the 3rd European Regiment under the Command of Colonel Cotton, Commandant of Agra, the Column entirely routed a large Force of Insurgent Sepoys, taking the whole of their Guns, Baggage, Camp, &c.

The Governor General in Council also desires to convey to Brigadier Showers, and to the Officers and Men under his Command, the assurance of the great satisfaction with which he views their zeal and exertions in the several conflicts with the Insurgents in the Districts to the Westward of the Jumna.

Boolundshuhur, 29th Sept. 1857.

SIR,

IN continuation of my Report of yesterday's date, I have the honor to report to you, for the information of the Major-General Commanding, that on my arrival at Boolundshuhur with the main Column yesterday morning, I received a report that the Enemy occupied a strong position at the fork of two roads behind a breast-work, in which two Guns were at first said to be posted. It appeared afterwards there were six, of which two were 9 Pounders. I immediately sent H. M.'s 8th and two Guns as a reinforcement to those already in advance I afterwards brought up Captain Bourchier's Light Field Battery, H. M.'s 75th Regiment, and the 2nd Punjaub Infantry, leaving Major Turner, H A., in Command of the Reserve, consisting of one Troop of Horse Artillery, 4th Punjaub Infantry, and the 2nd Punjaub Cavalry.

The action was maintained on the part of the Enemy's Guns with great spirit for a very considerable time, notwithstanding the admirable practice of Captain Bourchier's Battery on the right and the cross fire from Captain Remmington's Guns on the left road. I had in the meantime pushed forward in the centre, between the Guns, which were supported by Cavalry and Infantry, and in advance of the position first occupied by Major Ouvry, as mentioned in that Officer's Report, and also on the right of Captain Bourchier's Battery, in the centre H. M.'s 75th, and on the right H. M.'s 8th and the 2nd Punjaub Infantry, with directions to clear the strong positions held by the Rebels. This duty was well performed by the 8th under Captain Hinde, the 75th under Major Gordon, and the 2nd Punjaub Infantry under Captain Green. Seeing that the flanks were protected, I ordered Captain Bourchier to advance, which he did at a gallop. At the same time H. M.'s 75th cleared the enclosures in the centre, and advanced with a cheer, and the Rebels deserted their Entrenchments, leaving one 9-Pounder in our hands.

The Cavalry then advanced by the two roads at a gallop, and I have the honor to refer you, for the particulars of the conduct of both Artillery and Cavalry, to the Reports of Major Turner and Major Ouvry. During the action the Enemy's Cavalry menaced both my flanks in considerable numbers, but was uniformly driven off with considerable loss. After I had cleared the Town, I encamped on the other side of the bridge, over the Kalee Nuddee, on the Anoopshuhur road, with the intention of marching to Malagurh this morning. In the afternoon intelligence was brought to me that the Fort had been completely evacuated and that Wallee Dad had fled to Anoopshuhur.

I sent over 50 Sowars immediately to take possession of his Fort, which I visited this morning, and made arrangements for its immediate destruction: this will be completed to-morrow, and as soon as I have made arrangements for my Wounded, I shall march towards Anoopshuhur.

I have the honor to request that you will draw the favorable consideration of the Major-General to the Reports of Major Turner and Major Ouvry, and to the mention they have made of the Officers and Soldiers mentioned in them. When all did their duty entirely, it is difficult and invidious to draw distinctions; but I must be permitted to express my best thanks to Major Turner for the uniform assistance and kind counsel he has afforded me on every occasion. The conduct of Captain Bourchier and his Officers and Men in the management of their Battery was the subject of my admiration, as they were immediately under my own eye throughout.

The activity and judgment of Major Ouvry has been conspicuous throughout, and in the affair of yesterday he gave me the most zealous assistance in every point where he could be of service. I trust that the wound of Captain Drysdale, Commanding the 9th Lancers, whose horse was shot dead under him when most gallantly charging at the head of his Regiment, will not deprive the Government of his services for any lengthened period. Every Officer and Man in the Force appeared to forget fatigue in their determination to drive the Rebels from the position they had taken in our front.

I received the most effective aid from those excellent Officers, Captain Norman, Assistant Adjutant General, and Captain Roberts, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; also from my Brigade Major, Captain Bannatyne, and my Orderly Officer, Lieutenant Ximenes, of the 8th Regiment.

Mr. Sapte, C. S., was kind enough to accompany me throughout, and to give me much assistance.

TO

LIEUT.-COLONEL GREATHED,
Commanding Moveable Column,
Boolundshuhur.

Camp, Boolundshuhur, 28th Sept. 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to inform you, that I preceded the Column of march according to your order this morning. On my Advanced Guard of Light Cavalry arriving near the Town of Boolundshuhur, it was observed to be occupied by the Enemy in force, who had a breast-work across the road and Guns in position.

I immediately ordered Guns to the front, which advanced within five hundred yards of the breast-work. The Enemy then opened with a Round Shot, which was replied to by our Guns.

Having received most valuable information from Lieutenant Roberts, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, that there was a road on my right, by which I could take the Enemy's breast work in flank, I called a reinforcement of Artillery to the front and posted them on this road, when they did excellent service.

The Kutcherry, a pucka building, I also occupied with 100 Infantry, who were sent to the front at my request.

At this period you having arrived on the spot with the Infantry, I went to the left to take the Command of the Cavalry, with whom I had previously posted a division of Horse Artillery, which I ordered to open fire on the right flank of the Enemy's position.

After a very hot and well-sustained fire of two hours, I observed you advancing your Infantry and Guns on the Enemy's left flank, driving them before you from their position.

As I also observed that they were flying on the road to Gurmucktesir Ghât, and towards Malagurh, I ordered H. M.'s 9th Lancers to advance in pursuit, followed by the division of Artillery.

The 9th Lancers charged through the City, which was shortly afterwards occupied by the Infantry.

The road on the other side the Town was partially blocked up with waggons and carts, and the Enemy dispersing into the khets in the open country, I ordered the Cavalry to halt, and advanced two Guns to the bridge over the East Kalee Nuddee.

The Sepoys endeavored to make a stand outside the City Gate, but were immediately charged and dispersed by the head of the Column of the 9th Lancers, who have killed a number of them, and I cannot speak too highly of the gallantry of that Regiment in charging through the Town under a most severe fire from the houses.

I wish to bring most particularly to your notice the services of the Artillery engaged; the manner in which they brought their Guns into close action, and the constancy of their fire merits special mention.

I regret to say that my loss has been very distressing, as I have been deprived of the services of four most valuable Officers in the 9th Lancers, the Return of which I have already had the honor to transmit to you.

The splendid conduct of the Irregular Cavalry merits the highest praise; they having killed 200 of the Enemy's Sowars during the action and towards its close.

I wish most particularly to bring to your notice the distinguished gallantry of Captain Drysdale, Commanding H. M.'s 9th Royal Lancers, who sustained a fracture of the collar-bone from the fall of his horse, which was shot as he was charging the Sepoys on the right of the Town, after he had passed through it; also of Trumpeter and Lance Corporal Kens and of Private Jordan, who saved him and brought him out of the melee.

The names of Lieutenant Sarel, 9th Lancers, who advanced with his Squadron in pursuit by your direction, and of Lieutenant Blair, 2nd Dragoon Guards (attached to the 9th Lancers), the former severely wounded in the right hand (forefinger of right hand since amputated) and left arm, and the latter, who was most dangerously wounded in a personal conflict with one of the Rebel Sowars, also deserve special mention.

The names also of Captains Bourchier and Remmington, of the Artillery, whose Battery and Troop were engaged during the whole action, as well as that of Lieutenant Cracklow, who had a division of Guns employed, and whose loss must have been heavy, I desire to bring prominently to your notice.

In the Irregular Cavalry, Lieutenant Watson charged and defeated a superior force of the Enemy's Horse, who were advancing to attack him, driving them into the Town, and cutting up a great many. I regret to say that, on this occasion, Captain Best, of whose conduct Lieutenant Watson speaks very highly, received a severe sabre wound. Lieutenant Watson has also brought to my notice the services of Mr. Lyall, a Civilian, who was with him during the whole action, and offered him the most valuable assistance.

The names of Lieutenants Younghusband and Gough, Commanding Irregular Corps, I also consider it my duty to bring to your notice, as having performed most gallant service during the day.

Lieutenant Probyn, with his Horse, charged and defeated a body of Cavalry and armed Goojers, who attacked the Baggage while we were engaged with the Enemy.

From Lieutenant Roberts, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, and from Lieutenant Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army, I received the most valuabale information and assistance, and I wish to bring them conspicuously to your notice.

To Mr. Sapte, the Collector of the District, I have to return my most sincere thanks for the assistance he afforded me, through his local knowledge of the ground.

The assistance I received from my two Orderly Officers, Captain the Hon'ble A. Anson, H. M.'s 84th Regiment, and Lieutenant Martin, of H. M.'s 9th Lancers, during the long period of eleven hours that we were in the saddle, was most valuable and effective.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward the Reports of the Officers of Artillery Commanding Batteries and Detachments in action today against the Rebels, also Returns of Casualties and Ordnance expended.

Captain Blunt, Commanding 2nd Troop 3rd Brigade Horse Artillery.
2nd Lieut. Cracklow, Commanding Detachment ditto ditto.
Captain Bourchier, Commanding No. 17 Light Field Battery.

A more detailed Statement of the Ordnance and other Ammunition captured shall be given hereafter.

Having been directed by the Officer Commanding the Moveable Column to Command the Reserve (Corps noted in the margin), I was not an eye-witness of the performances of the Guns in action; but I have great pleasure in pressing upon Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed's attention the very gallant conduct of Serjeant Diamond and Gunner Fitzgerald, of the 2nd Troop 3rd Brigade Horse Artillery, who, after the rest of their Gun's crew were disabled, continued to serve it under a very heavy fire of Musketry, and I trust that by Colonel Greathed, this gallant conduct, as also that of Second Lieutenant Cracklow, may be brought to the notice of Major-General Wilson Commanding Delhi Field Force, and Commandant of, Artillery.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Major Turner, Commanding Artillery with the Moveable Column, that after leaving the main body, shortly after day-break, with the right division of my Troop under Lieutenant Murray, I proceeded up the road which was our line of march, till I came within view of a breast-work which the Enemy had thrown across the road.

Two embrasures were distinctly visible, and I accordingly quickened my men till within what I considered 600 yards of the Enemy. I afterwards found that it must have been about 900 yards, but I was deceived in the distance, owing to the early morning light and the avenue of trees bounding the road. The Enemy opened a tolerably brisk fire from their Guns, one of very small calibre; but the fire of my Guns caused that of the Enemy to slacken very soon, and on the arrival of my centre and left divisions under Lieutenants Manderson and Traill, the Enemy's fire almost ceased. I was obliged to form these latter on the right of the road in ploughed land, and owing to the intervention of trees and gardens, it was difficult to form any correct estimate of the effect of their fire. After expending the ammunition of the Howitzer limber, and the same number of rounds from my left division, I advanced at a gallop, about 400 yards nearer, and it was here I discovered how deceptive the distance had been. My new position was about 500 yards distant from the Enemy's entrenchment, whence two Guns still continued to fire occasional shots at us, notwithstanding I kept up a continued fire on it.

On an Officer* being sent to me to tell me to cease firing, as the Infantry were advancing, I limbered up, crossed the road, and proceeded to the left, where Captain Norman told me my presence was desirable, if possible. A videtto of H. M.'s 9th Lancers guided me to a road, on which he told me a squadron of his Regiment had proceeded with two Guns. The ground was very heavy, and I could only proceed at a walk; but as soon as I got on a road, I ordered the trot and followed the line of the Lancers and Guns, till I arrived at a place where they were halted. Shortly after a heavy fire of Musketry was opened on them from a Serai, at the entrance of which they were; and as they were obliged to withdraw a short distance, I formed Battery to the front with my left division under Lieutenant Traill, which I placed on some high ground to the right of the road to meet contingencies.

* Captain Norman.

I am happy to say, the arrival of the Seikh Infantry prevented the contingency I dreaded; but it was not in time to prevent serious loss to a division of Captain Blunt's Troop under Lieutenant Cracklow.

The latter Officer having informed me, that his Guns were temporarily disabled owing to casualties, I advanced through the Serai, whence the Enemy had by this time been dislodged, with my right division, and took up a position at the further end of the bridge on this side of the Serai. As soon as the Baggage made its appearance, I moved off in the direction of Camp, as requested by the Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General. Since my arrival in Camp, two 9-Pounder Ammunition Waggons and two Carts have been brought into my Park by villagers. They contain some 9lb. and 6lb. Shot and a few Cartridges. Accompanying are a list of Casualties and a Return of Ammunition expended.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward, for your information, the Report I have received from Lieutenant Cracklow, who Commanded two Guns detached to-day from the Troops under my Command.

As they were the only Guns actually engaged with the Enemy, I need not add any further report of the proceeding of the remaining three Guns of the Troop.

I beg to call to your notice the high commendation which Lieutenant Cracklow has, in his Report, bestowed on Serjeant Diamond and Gunner FitzGerald. This commendation has been confirmed and strengthened by several Officers in H. M's 9th Lancers, who were witnesses of their gallant conduct.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for your information, that, in accordance with the orders I received, I proceeded with two Guns to support the left Cavalry Picquet. On arriving at the Picquet, the Officer Commanding ordered me to open a flanking fire on two Guns of the Enemy, which were posted at the end of a road about 700 yards off I did so, and continued firing until the Guns were taken by our people.

I then accompanied the Cavalry along the road, leading by the left of the City. As we were proceeding down the road, a man put his musket over a wall and shot a horse in the leading Gun. Soon after this, two more horses were shot in the same team, and as no horses could be got to re-place the casualties, the syces with the bad horses having disappeared as soon as the firing commenced, the Gun was obliged to be left behind, and did not come into action at all. I proceeded to the front with the other Guns. We advanced through the gate of a small Serai, and I was ordered to take my Gun through the opposite gate, and up to a bridge, which was about 200 yards in advance of the gate along the pucka road. I first advanced myself to see what was the state of affairs on the other side. I found that the Enemy were advancing in considerable numbers along a wall to my right, and it was evident to me, that if I advanced the Gun, I should have had it disabled in a few minutes by the Enemy's Musketry fire in my rear, and that the Gun would most probably have been taken, as there were no Infantry to stand by it. I retired the Gun about 40 yards to the first gate of the Serai and opened fire on the Enemy, who had by this time advanced to the Gate-way through which I had been ordered to advance the Gun, and continued firing for about a quarter of an hour, after which the Infantry having advanced, the Enemy were driven back. As my Gun was disabled, one man having been killed and four wounded, I retired, and Captain Remmington's Guns were ordered to relieve me.

I beg to bring to your notice the gallant conduct of Serjeant Diamond and Gunner FitzGerald. These two men, when the rest of the Crew were disabled, served the Gun under a heavy Musketry fire; their coolness and daring elicited the admiration of all present.

I have the honor to enclose Casualty Rolls of the Men and Horses, and a Return of Ammunition expended.

SIR,

I BEG to report, for the information of Major Turner, that agreeably to his order, I proceeded to the support of the 1st Troop 1st Brigade, formed up my Battery to the right of their position, and immediately became engaged with the Enemy's Guns and Infantry.

The fire from the Enemy's Battery was silenced; and supported by the Infantry, I advanced along the road, took a Gun (9-Pounder), and as the Infantry kept advancing with me, I took two of my Guns at a gallop down the road to the Gaol. A few rounds of Grape cleared my advance, and the Enemy, both Cavalry and Infantry, fled from the position they had occupied on my right. At the Gaol our Cavalry took up the pursuit, and I remained there until ordered to return to Camp by the Commanding Officer of the Force. I cannot speak too highly of the coolness and steadiness of my Officers and Men; and I should be doing an injustice were I not to bring to notice the assistance I obtained from Lieutenant Roberts, of the Artillery, who showed me my ground, and in rapid advance down the road first arrived at the Guns we captured.

FROM MAJ.-GEN. N. PENNY,
Comdy. Field Force,

To
MAJ.-GEN. MANSFIELD,
Chief of the Staff,
Army Head Quarters,
Delhi, 20th Oct. 1857.

SIR,

WITH reference to your Memorandum, dated Government House, Calcutta, 22nd September 1857, transmitted to me by Colonel Wilson, Commanding at Cawnpore, I have the honor to submit the following statement of the recent proceedings of the Force under my Command.

As soon after the fall of Delhi as circumstances would admit, a Moveable Column was detailed for the purpose of pursuing the main body of the Rebels who had gone down the Western Bank of the Jumna; but before the necessary arrangements could be completed, it was ascertained that the Mutineers were crossing the River, with the evident intention of making their escape through the Dooab and proceeding to Rohilcund or Oude.

To cut off this portion of the Rebels, and prevent them from executing either of the above projects, was considered by my predecessor, General Wilson, to be of the first importance. Consequently the route of Colonel Greathed's Column (strength as per margin) was changed, and he was ordered to proceed towards Allygurh vid Boolundshuhur.

1st Troop 1st Brigade Horse Artillery.
2nd Troop 3rd Brigade Horse Artillery.
No. 17 Light Field Battery.
2nd Company Sappers and Miners.
H. M.'s 9th Lancers.
1st Punjaub Cavalry (Detachment.)
2nd Punjaub Cavalry	ditto
5th Punjaub Cavalry	ditto
Hodson's Horse	ditto
H. M.'s 8th Regiment.
H. M.'s 75th Regiment.
2nd Punjaub Infantry.
4th Punjaub Infantry.

It became necessary to go to Boolundshuhur for the purpose of destroying the Fort of Malagurh, the Nawab of which place gave much trouble during the outbreak. In the Station and City of Boolundshuhur the Column encountered the Jhansi Mutineers and Malagurh Insurgents, and after a sharp action signally defeated them.

The Nawab of Malagurh's Fort—a place of some strength—about four miles distant from the Station of Boolundshuhur—was then blown up by our Engineers.

Colonel Greathed's Report of this affair has, however, been forwarded through General Gowan, Commanding in the Upper Provinces, for the Commander-in-Chief's information.

Having made arrangements for conveying the Wounded to Meerut, the Column proceeded by the Trunk Road to Allygurh, which was found to be occupied by the two Rebel Thakoors of Ackerabad. Colonel Greathed at once attacked and drove them from the City and Suburbs, killing about 400 men, chiefly Sowars and Mahomedan fanatic; but I need not trouble you with details, as the Report of the Officer in Command has already been forwarded to Army Head Quarters.

The day after the occupation of Allygurh, the Column followed the Rebel leaders to Ackerabad, their place of residence, which was burnt and destroyed by the Troops, who had previously slain the two Chiefs and about 100 of their Followers.

At this juncture, the Chief Commissioner, North-Western Provinces, sent the most urgent requisition for aid to Colonel Greathed, who at once detached two Troops of Horse Artillery and a body of Cavalry, by forced marches, to Agra, which was threatened by the Mutineers collected at Dholpore; the remainder of the Column followed by forced marches likewise, and reached the Cantonment of Agra on the morning of the 10th Instant.

Before their Camp was pitched, the Troops were surprised by the Mutineers from Neemuch, Nusserabad, Mhow, and other places, who had previously combined for the express purpose of attacking Agra, which they supposed to be weakly defended.

Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed's first Report of the engagement having been transmitted through General Gowan, the second is herewith attached.

The Station of Agra being now freed from all chance of attack, it was determined that the Moveable Column should at once push on towards Lucknow, where reinforcements were said to be much needed. Acting upon this resolution, Colonel Greathed reports that he will reach Mynpooree on the 20th Current.

Little or no opposition is anticipated, as the Nawab of Futtygurh—the only person from whom resistance may be expected—is reported to have but a small band of retainers under his command.

I trust that by the time this reaches you, Colonel Greathed's Column will have arrived at Cawnpore, and that he will be in direct communication with Army Head Quarters.

I will now detail, in a few words, the operations conducted by Brigadier Showers on the Western side of the Jumna.

A small Column, consisting of the following Troops—

4 Horse Artillery Guns,
300 Irregular Cavalry,
200 H. M.'s 52nd Regiment Light Infantry;
200 Guide Infantry;
300 4th Seikh Infantry—

Was despatched towards Furreednugger, for the purpose of restoring order among the disaffected Goojur villages, as well as with the view of destroying any detachments of Rebels that might be encountered. After executing this duty, Brigadier Showers returned to Delhi.

On the 2nd Current another Column, composed of the Troops mentioned in the margin, was despatched into the District under the same Officer.

No. 14 Lt. Field Battery.
2	18-Pounder Guns.
2	5½-Pounder Mortars.
2 Companies Sappers.
H. M.'s 6th Dn. Guards
Guide Cavalry.
Hodson's Horse
2nd Fur. Ben. Fusiliers.
Kemaon Battalion
1st Punjaub Infantry.

The object of the expedition was to occupy the Ex-King's Pergunnah of Kote Kasim; to seize Toola Ram, of Kewaree, together with the Nawabs of Jhujjur and Dadree, and other individuals of lesser note, who were known to be Rebels.

Brigadier Showers has taken possession of Rewaree and its 13 Guns, without opposition,—Rao Toola Ram having fled with his Followers, it is supposed, towards Bickaneer.

The Nawab of Dadree submitted to our authority, and the Nawab of Jhujjur has likewise given himself up and now awaits his trial.

Brigadier Showers' Report of his later proceedings is herewith enclosed.

I have, &c.,

FROM

LIEUT.-COLONEL E. H. GREATHED,

Comdg. Moveable Column,

TO

CAPT. D. M. STEWART,

Depy. Asst. Adjt. Genl.

Camp, Agra, 13th October 1857.

SIR,

IN recapitulation of my hasty letter of the 11th Instant, I have the honor to acquaint you, for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Delhi Field Force, that after a march of forty-four miles in twenty-eight hours, the Moveable Column under my Command encamped on the Parade Ground at this Station at 8 A. M., on the 10th Instant. At 10½ o'clock 4 Guns were heard by us on our right flank, and the Assembly was sounded. I galloped to the front, and found the Artillery already in action and the 9th Lancers in their saddles formed up in Squadrons. The Enemy had attacked our front and right flank with his Artillery, which raked our Camp. On seeing this, I moved with H. M.'s 8th (the King's) Regiment and the 4th Punjaub Infantry (taking with me on the way the three Squadrons of 1st, 2nd and 5th Punjaub Cavalry) to the right, with the view of outflanking and capturing the Guns on that flank. I must not omit to mention that, when I reached the front, three minutes after this surprise, I found the whole of the Troops without exception drawn up on their respective alarm posts, as if for parade.

I extended the Infantry along the road leading from the Parade Ground to the Infantry Barracks in skirmishing order with supports, with directions to advance to their front and clear the compounds of the Enemy's Infantry. Taking with me the Punjaub Cavalry, I then proceeded to the European Barracks, and pointed out to Lieutenant Watson the open ground upon which I conceived that he might work with effect. How admirably he did so, will be seen in his own Report.

By this time the Agra 9-Pounder Battery came up, and I advanced it in support of the right flank of the Infantry, on the road leading from the Artillery Parade Ground, and the enclosures were speedily cleared. In doing this the 4th Punjaub Infantry distinguished itself, as it did throughout the day.

The advance of the Infantry and Battery enabled Lieutenant Watson to make his charge and capture the Guns and Standards, and after that, the Enemy did not make any stand, although they continued to fire Round Shot as they retreated. I continued the pursuit to a village three miles on the Gwalior road, and halted to enable the left to come up. Here we were joined by the 3rd European Regiment, who took their place in the line, detaching two Companies to support the Punjaub Infantry engaged in driving out the Enemy, who still hung on our flanks in the jungle and topes on our right. Colonel Cotton, Commanding the Agra Garrison, then assumed Command, and the pursuit was continued to the Khara Nuddee, with Artillery and Cavalry, the Infantry finally halting at a village five miles on the Gwalior road, where the Enemy's Camp had been pitched. The route was now complete, and the whole face of the Country covered with fugitives. The Enemy fled across the Khara Nuddee under the effective fire of Grape and Round Shot from our Artillery. The accompanying Return from Major Turner will show that 12 Guns were captured, and the Enemy lost the whole of his Tents, Baggage, and Ammunition. I have reason to believe that scarcely a cart was taken across the River, and most certainly not one Gun.

The conduct of the Troops engaged during the whole affair was beyond any praise of mine; but it is my duty to bring to the special notice of the Major-General Commanding their admirable steadiness at the outset of the action when taken completely by surprise, and when a great part of the Troops had scarcely arrived on the ground. The quickness with which the Artillery came into action under a destructive fire, and its subsequent services, was worthy of their reputation. The Cavalry showed throughout the day that they were led by Officers who combined steadiness and an eye for ground with the greatest gallantry. The Infantry drove the Enemy flying from the enclosures, and pursued them for several miles with the most persevering resolution, and the conduct of the Punjaub Infantry Regiments, which had had no assistance from carriage during the march, deserves the most favorable notice. The Sappers and Miners were also most steady and forward in the pursuit. I refer you for details of the operations on the left to Major Ouvry, as I was not able to leave the right till the Enemy was in full flight. The Cavalry and Artillery marched over at least sixty-four miles, and the Infantry fifty-four miles of road, in less than thirty-six hours, besides moving through fields during action. Captain Bourchier's 9-Pounder Battery had marched in during the night from Hattrass, thirty miles, without a halt. I beg to bring prominently to the favorable notice of the Major-General Commanding the gallantry and unwearied exertions of the whole of the Troops engaged. The Artillery, under Major Turner, were led in a manner which caused general admiration. Major Ouvry, as usual, did the most efficient service with his Cavalry. The 9th Lancers distinguished themselves under Captain Anson during the whole day, and most particularly in a gallant charge on a large body of the Enemy's Sowars, in which they rescued a Gun which had been temporarily disabled.

The conduct of Lieutenant Watson, seconded by Lieutenant Gough, Lieutenant Probyn, and Lieutenant Younghusband, is entitled to the warmest praise. These Officers appear to have all the qualities which distinguish the Cavalry Officer. I am happy to say that Lieutenant Younghusband's injuries, though severe, will not detain him long from his duty. Captain Hinde particularly distinguished himself in Command of the 8th—the King's Regiment—in the capture of an 18-Pounder at a village, and the dispersion of the Mutineers who attempted to resist him. I have also to bring to the notice of the Major-General the services of Captain Gordon, Commanding H. M.'s 75th Regiment; Captain Green, Commanding 2nd Punjaub Infantry; and Lieutenant Paul, Commanding 4th Punjaub Infantry.

Camp Agra, 11th Oct. 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed, that on the 18th of October 1857, immediately after arriving at Agra, and pitching our tents on the encamping ground beyond the Cantonments, the Enemy, whose presence was utterly unknown, made a sudden attack on our Camp with their heavy Artillery.

The 9th Lancers immediately formed up on the left of the Artillery facing the Gwalior road.

On arriving in the field, I perceived a large force of the Enemy's Cavalry advancing on our left; they had reached and sabred the Gunners of one Gun. I immediately ordered the Lancers to charge, which duty they did most effectually, killing and dispersing them entirely.

Two Squadrons of the 9th Lancers, with Hodson's Horse, which then arrived, took up a position, supporting two Guns, which kept a large Cavalry Force of the Enemy at bay, and protecting the Camp.

The three Regiments of Irregular Cavalry formed up on the right of our Camp under Captain Watson, whose Report I have herewith the honor to enclose.

After an advancing Cannon fire of some duration, which I supported with the Cavalry, the Enemy gave way, and were pursued ten miles to the banks of the Kharee Nuddee by the Artillery and Cavalry. Great numbers were destroyed, and all their Guns, Ammunition, and Baggage fell into our hands.

Camp Agra, 11th Sept. 1857.

SIR,

IN accordance with your instructions, I do myself the honor of making the following Report of the circumstances which occurred in the right of our line in yesterday's action with the Mutineer's Force, and of the part taken in it by the three Squadrons of the Punjaub Cavalry which paraded under my Command.

1 Squadron 1st Punjaub Cavalry
1 Ditto 2nd Ditto.
1 Ditto 5th Ditto.

Shortly after the Enemy's fire opened upon our Camp, the three Squadrons, mustering about 210 sabres, moved off towards the European Barracks; Colonel Greathed, who was present, informing me that beyond the Barracks I should find open ground, from which I could operate with effect upon the Enemy's left flank. Passing the Barracks I came under fire of the Enemy's Guns and Musketry. I therefore proceeded at a trot to some walls close to their left flank, and there drew up the three Squadrons in open Column. After waiting in this position for about five minutes, I perceived a favorable opportunity for charging, and advancing clear of the walls, wheeled into line, and swept down at a gallop on their flank.

The effect of this was the instantaneous flight of the Mutineers; but they were too late to escape us, and a large number of their Infantry and Artillery-men fell under our sabres, and we captured three heavy Guns and five Standards.

Shortly after this, the whole of our line advanced, and the three Squadrons falling in on the left of the road, joined in the pursuit, and turning off at the river to a ford about half a mile to the left of the road, captured two 9-Pounder Guns and numerous Ammunition Carts, &c., &c. We turned the Guns upon such of the Enemy as were within range on the opposite bank, and served them for some time with considerable effect. We formed the Rear Guard on the return to Camp, which we reached about 9 P. M.

The three Squadrons lost in this action 2 men killed and 15 wounded, and of the European Officers engaged, Lieutenant Maclean was severely, and Lieutenants Probyn, Macdonell, and Plowden slightly wounded.

Lieut. Plowden, attached.

Lieutenant Younghusband, Commanding the Squadron of the 5th Punjaub Cavalry, was, I regret to say, very severely injured by falling down one of the numerous dry wells that were scattered about the Baziree fields, through which we charged upon the Enemy.

I need not assure you that the whole of the European and Native Officers and Troopers engaged, behaved throughout with the greatest gallantry, and I trust that you will be good enough to bring their services on this occasion to the favorable notice of the Government.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Meerut Division, that I reached Dadree yesterday, where I found the following Guns, of which I have taken possession :—

2 Brass Guns.
2 Iron Ditto.
2 Ditto Ditto.

The Brass Guns I purpose to take with me; but the Iron Guns I have directed to be destroyed.

Sir Theophilus Metcalfe will have reported the arrangements that have been made with respect to the Nawab of Dadree; but it will be satisfactory to me to hear that the Nawab received the Moveable Column under my Command with the utmost respect, coming himself on the istakbal, and expressing his readiness to submit to any enquiry that the Government intended to institute into his conduct during the period of the late insurrection, and to afford his assistance in arresting any Mutineers and Insurgents who might take refuge within his jurisdiction.

I have further to report, that the Force of the Hurrianah and Cashmere Auxiliary Forces arrived this morning. I shall hereafter have the honor to forward the present state of that Force. I purpose to move to-morrow morning to Chookookeous, a sporting residence of the Nawab of Jhujjur, about ten miles from that Town, where, I have reason to believe, he will come out and meet me. The day following I propose to proceed to Jhujjur.

CAPTAIN D. M. STEWART,

Camp Jhujjur, 18th October 1857.

SIR,

IN continuation of my letter of the 16th Instant, I have the honor to report, for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Delhi Field Force, that from Dadree I proceeded with my Column yesterday morning to Chookookeous. On the road a deputation from the Nawab of Jhujjur came out to meet me, to intimate that the Nawab was at a short distance from Chookookeous, and that he awaited instructions to come into my Camp. I communicated to him, on his arrival, the instructions of Government, and after the delivery of the Perwannah from the Commissioner, he was arrested, and has since been under the charge of Captain R. Lawrence.

The Nawab was frank in his communications regarding the state of his Troops, and of the objections that he suspected his father-in-law, Ubdool Sumund Khan, would make to giving himself up. Having, therefore, reason to apprehend that some opposition would be made to my taking possession of the Fort and the Arms and Ammunition and Horses of the Troops, I moved forward my Force, prepared to attack them if there should be any opposition. During the night, however, all the Troops—both Sowars and Footmen—fled, and on my reaching the Cantonments, I found the whole deserted; the only Horses remaining in the Cavalry Stables were those which belonged to the Nawab. A very few men remained, and those that did, gave up their arms without opposition.

I afterwards entered and took possession of the Fort, with about 21 Guns and a large quantity of Powder and Ammunition, a Report of which I shall hereafter have the honor to forward.

I had intended to make a forced march from Daree to Jhujjur, in the hope of surprising the Nawab and his relations. Difficulties, however, arising, I was obliged to give up the plan; but to prevent the Nawab from effecting his escape, I detached the Guide Cavalry and the Punjaub Mounted Police to Nahur on the 17th, with orders that they should be on the look-out for fugitives from Jhujjur. Captain Sandford, who Commanded, reports having seen a number of armed men proceeding in the direction of Nahur, of whom he had cut up all whom he could overtake.

I have heard from other sources, that the fugitive Soldiers were making towards Kanoud. I have, therefore, detached to-day a Force, consisting of the 6th Dragoon Guards under the Command of Colonel Custance and Hodson's Horse, to Nahur, for the purpose of overtaking them and of obtaining possession of the Fort of Kanoud and of the Treasure said to be deposited there, before the place can be reinforced. This Force will reach Kanoud to-morrow morning. I purpose myself to follow them with the remainder of my Column this evening, and hope to reach it on the 20th Instant.

After settling the place, I shall, if nothing occurs to render other measures necessary, return to Jhujjur in three marches, as I understand the Bahadoorgurh and Furrookhnuggur Nawabs are to be visited by my Column.

Foreign Department.

SIR,

I AM directed by the Chief Commissioner to forward, for submission to the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council, the accompanying Reports and Returns received from Lieutenant-Colonel Cotton, Commanding at Agra, and Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed, Commanding the Moveable Column detached from the Force before Delhi, describing the action of the 10th Instant, in which a large force of the Mutineers was completely routed with loss of all their Guns and Camp and the Plunder which they had previously accumulated.

2. These Reports are so full and clear, that little is left to be added on the part of the Chief Commissioner beyond a brief recapitulation of the events which preceded the attack upon the Cantonments, and an acknowledgment of the services of those Officers and Troops to whom, under Providence, this success is to be attributed.

3. The daily communications which have been made from the Intelligence Department will have informed His Lordship of the movements of the Mhow Mutineers, who remained apparently undecided as to their subsequent course at Dholepore, until they were reinforced by the Neemuch Brigade, when an attack upon Agra seems to have been finally determined upon.

4. For several days there was a report, that an onward move would be made on the following day; but no actual change of position took place until the 6th, when the Force broke ground, and intimation of this was received and communicated to the Military Authorities the same day.

5. Colonel Greathed, with his Column, had by this date arrived at Ackrabad, one march from Allygurh, on the Trunk Road, in the direction of Cawnpore, and an express was immediately despatched, requesting him to advance towards Agra, unless he had good grounds for believing that he could come up with the fugitive Brigade of Mutineers which was pressing towards the Eastward.

6. The information of subsequent days proved the necessity for obtaining reinforcements for the protection of Agra, and Colonel Greathed was therefore directed on the 7th, and by a subsequent more urgent letter on the 8th, to hasten towards this place; and in case of any delay in advancing the Main Column, to push forward at all events 500 Cavalry and a Troop of Horse Artillery.

7. On the morning of the 9th, a videtto of Militia Cavalry, which had been sent out to reconnoitre, was driven in by the Enemy's Horse and pursued to within two or three miles of Cantonments. This occurrence proving the close proximity of the Enemy, was communicated to Colonel Greathed at once, and it was deemed of sufficient importance to render it advisable to forward the letter by an Officer. This service was performed by Captain Patton, of the 3rd European Regiment, Fort Adjutant of Agra; and the Chief Commissioner desires to acknowledge his obligation to this willing and energetic Officer for the promptitude with which the Despatch was conveyed to Colonel Greathed's Camp.

8. The subsequent events and their results are detailed in the Reports. The Chief Commissioner would only observe that to Colonel Cotton's high personal qualifications, both as a Soldier and Commander, we owe the completeness of this success. Led by him, the tired Troops were inspirited to continue the pursuit of the flying Enemy, until the capture of all his Guns, Camp, and plunder deprived him of the means of further aggression, and rendered the dissolution of his Army inevitable.

9. Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed, Commanding the Moveable Column, brought his men into action with a rapidity and precision that entitle him to the highest praise, and when it is remembered that the Column had only just come off a long and harassing forced march, the steadiness of the Men and coolness of the Officers entitle all to the warmest commendation.

10. It gives the Chief Commissioner much pleasure to bring specially to the notice of His Lordship the services on this occasion of—

Major Ouvry, Commanding the Cavalry.

Major Turner, Commanding the Artillery.

Captains Remmington and Blunt, of the Artillery.

Captain Bourchier, Commanding Light Field Battery.

Lieutenant Pearson, Commanding No. 21 Light Field Battery.

Captain Anson, Commanding H. M.'s 9th Lancers.

Captain Paul, Commanding 4th Punjaub Infantry.

Lieutenant Gough, Commanding Hodson's Horse.

Lieutenant Lang, of the Engineers.

Colonel Riddell, of the 3rd European Regiment.

Lieutenant Vere, Commanding Agra Militia Cavalry.

Captain Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army.

Captain Wilson, Deputy Judge Advocate General.

Captain Dickens, Deputy Assistant Commissary General.

Captain Anson, Lieutenant Ximenes } Orderly Officers to Col. Greathed.

Captain Bannatyne, Brigade Major, Moveable Column.

Major Macleod, Engineers.

Major Montgomery, Brigade Major.

Captain Watton, 3rd European Regiment, Fort Adjutant.

Captain Rawlins, on the Personal Staff of Colonel Cotton, Commanding.

Major Eld.

Captain Roberts, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, Moveable Column.

11. The trifling loss of our Troops in killed would have been a subject of more sincere congratulation, had not the list included the name of Captain French, of the 9th Lancers. This valuable Officer fell mortally wounded in a most spirited and decisive charge, in which his Regiment, led by Captain Anson, broke and dispersed the Enemy's Cavalry.

12. Lieutenant Jones was at the same time severely wounded; but it is trusted that he is now in a fair way to recovery.

13. Subsequent information shows the Enemy's Force, scattered and dispirited, are endeavoring, in small disorganized Parties, to reach the vicinity of their homes, which are chiefly in the Oude Provinces.

To

C. B. THORNHILL, ESQ.,

Fort Agra, the 13th Oct. 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward, for the information of the Chief Commissioner, and transmission to Government, the following account of the action which took place at the Station on the 10th Instant with the mutinous Troops from Mhow, 23rd N. I and 1st Light Cavalry, increased by part of the fugitive Forces from Delhi and mal-contents from Dholepore and the neighbourhood, and which resulted in the most complete rout of the Enemy, with the loss of all their Guns, Camp Equipage, Baggage, and Plunder.

The Chief Commissioner is aware of the very imperfect information we have from time to time received of the movements of this body, and that it was not until about 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, when I was arranging with him for moving out the Troops to the Kharee River, that intelligence was brought in, that a sudden attack had been made on the Camp of the Moveable Column under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Greathed, which had arrived that morning.

I lost no time in repairing to the Camp, when I took Command, and found that the Enemy, who now completely hidden by the high standing crops, had opened a heavy fire from a strong Battery in the centre, supported by several Guns on each flank, and were sweeping our position with a powerful cross-fire.

Our Troops had been drawn up by Colonel Greathed in a most judicious manner. A flank attack made by a large body of Cavalry, under cover of the Khelat-i-Ghilzie lines, had been effectually repulsed with great loss to them by a brilliant charge of the Picquet of H. M's 9th Lancers, led by Captain French and Lieutenant Jones.

Their attack was then soon overpowered and turned into a complete rout, notwithstanding several ineffectual attempts to make a stand, our Guns following them up steadily, and the Cavalry cutting up all within their reach on both sides of the road. The pursuit was continued during the rest of the day for a distance of eleven miles, until the Enemy had been driven across the Kharee, and thoroughly dispersed with the loss of all their Guns, 12 in number, Camp Equipage, Baggage, and Plunder.

Considering that the attack was made before the Camp was pitched, and after the Troops (with the exception of the 3rd European Regiment and Lieutenant Pearson's Battery) had performed a long and harassing forced march, and been under arms for fully twenty-six hours, too much praise cannot be bestowed on the Troops engaged in this brilliant affair; but especially is praise due to the Detachment of H. M.'s 9th Lancers, whose charge I have noticed above, and who, in addition to several of their men disabled, and to Lieutenant Jones, who was very severely wounded, had the misfortune to lose their Commanding Officer, Captain French, whose untimely death is a great loss to the Service.

In connection with this action, it is my desire to bring prominently to the notice of the Government and the Chief Commissioner, Major Ouvry, Commanding the Cavalry; Major Turner, Commanding the Artillery; and Captains Remmington and Blunt, of that branch; also Captain Bourchier, Commanding Light Field Battery, and Lieutenant Pearson, Commanding No. 21 Light Field Battery; Captain Anson, Commanding H. M.'s 9th Lancers; Captain Watson, 1st Punjaub Cavalry; Lieutenant Probyn, 2nd Punjaub Cavalry; Captain Younghusband, 5th Punjaub Cavalry; Captain Green, 2nd Punjaub Infantry; Captain Paul, 4th Infantry; Lieutenant Gough, Commanding Hodson's Horse; and Lieutenant Lang, of the Engineers; Colonel Riddell, of the 3rd European Regiment; Lieutenant Vere, and all under their Command. To Captain Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army; Captain Wilson, Deputy Judge Advocate General; Captain Anson, Orderly Officer to Colonel Greathed; Captain Bannatyne, Brigade Major of the Moveable Column; Majors McLeod and Montgomery, Brigade Major; Captains Patton and Rawlins, my Personal Staff; Major Eld, and Captain Roberts, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, Moveable Column—I feel indebted for their services in the Field. To Colonel Greathed, Commanding the Moveable Column, who apparently was not aware of my being on the Field, until I had ordered the advance, my thanks are due for the assistance rendered in the pursuit.

I beg to append a Return of Killed and Wounded, and a list of the Ordnance taken, amongst which will be observed several pieces of large Calibre.

I have, &c.,

No. 1628 of 1857

The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to publish the subjoined Despatch from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, dated the 12th of November 1857, and the Report by Captain Peel, C. B., of the Royal Navy, received therewith, of the Action with the Insurgents at Khujwa, on the 1st of November.

Concurring in the justice of the observations which His Excellency has felt himself constrained to make on the circumstances under which this conflict took place, the Governor General in Council most cordially joins with His Excellency in doing honor to the memory of that gallant and much lamented Officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Powell, C. B., of Her Majesty's 53rd Regiment, who nobly fell at the head of his small Force, by whose steady discipline and invincible courage the victory was gained over an Enemy very greatly superior in number.

His Lordship in Council warmly appreciates the valor, while he deeply regrets the loss of the many brave men who fell with their Commander.

On the fall of Lieutenant-Colonel Powell, the Command of the Detachment devolved on Captain Peel, R. N., and the Governor General in Council most heartily offers to that distinguished Officer the tribute of his admiration, for his conduct at the most critical period of the engagement, and for the intrepidity and judgment with which he achieved success.

His Lordship in Council likewise offers his best thanks to every Officer and man, of the Troops and of the Naval Brigade, the devotion of the whole having been most conspicuous on the occasion.

R. J. H. BIRCH, Colonel,
Secretary to the Government of India,

Adjt. Genl's Office, Calcutta,
The 12th Nov. 1857.

Sir,

In forwarding the enclosed Despatch,* and the annexed Returns to Government, I am instructed by the Commander-in-Chief to remark, that the action of which it gives an account was peculiarly severe, the loss of the Force engaged being at the rate of about one to five (1 to 5).

* From Captain Peel, R., N., dated 3rd November 1857, with 8 enclosures.

2. Success crowned the desperate efforts of the assailants; but it is evident, from the very lucid report of Captain Peel, C. B., R N., that the attack was most hazardous, and that at one time the Force was in the greatest danger.

3. The Troops had been harassed by very long marches, and they were not in a state to attack, much less to follow up an attack.

4 It is most providential that the 5th Irregular Cavalry, owing to some accidental cause, had not advanced with the Rebel Infantry from Banda. Had they done so, not a man of the Detachment would have escaped to tell the tale.

5. Although the late gallant Colonel Powell, C. B., fell gloriously at the head of his Troops, the Commander-in-Chief conceives that he, in some measure, imperilled his most important charge, viz, that of the Siege Train, and therefore exceeded his duty.

6. A Company of the Royal Engineers was taken out in this affair and incurred loss; and this, in the face of the repeated instructions of the Commander-in-Chief, that they should not on any account be employed on such duties; and what is more, instead of being used as a last reserve, they were pushed forward in the front, to support the Skirmishers

7. The result, however, of all was success; and although obliged to criticise the disposition of the Force, His Excellency gladly bears testimony to the brilliant courage, and the untiring energy displayed by all ranks in conflict with the Enemy, and in the great efforts made to come up with him.

8. This fight affords one more instance of what the British Soldier will perform, in spite of every disadvantage and extraordinary fatigue.

9. This was a Soldier's fight, if there ever was one.

10. The Commander-in-Chief would especially direct the attention of the Government to the manner in which the Command was conducted by Captain Peel, C. B., R. N., after the death of Colonel Powell, C. B., at a moment of extreme danger and difficulty.

11. The return of the Papers is requested when no longer required.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,
Your most obedt. Servant,
W. Mayhew, Major,
Depy. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

FROM

CAPT. W. PEEL, C. B., R. N.,
Commanding,

To

MAJOR GENERAL MANSFIELD,
Chief of the Staff, Cawnpore.
Camp Futtehpore, 3rd Nov. 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to lay before His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the details of the Battle of Khujwa, with the circumstances which preceded it.

Detachments amounting to 700 men, under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Powell, of H M.'s 53rd Regiment, in charge of Siege Train Guns, and a large Convoy, were proceeding from Allahabad to Cawnpore, and had arrived on the 31st October, after a march of twelve miles at the Camping Ground of Thurree. The same afternoon intelligence was received from Futtehpore, that the Sepoy Mutineers of the Dinapore Regiments, with three Guns, had passed the Jumna, with the intention of either attacking Futtehpore or crossing over into Oude. The Camp was immediately struck, and we arrived at the Camping Ground of Futtehpore at midnight.

Colonel Powell then made arrangements for marching at day-light upon the Enemy, who were reported to be about twenty-four miles distant at Khujwa beyond the village of Binkee. The Column of Attack consisted of 162 men of H. M.'s 53rd Regiment under Major Clarke, 68 of the Royal Engineers under Captain Clerke, 70 of a Depôt Detachment under Lieutenant Fanning, of H M.'s 84th Regiment, and 103 of the Naval Brigade under Captain Peel. It marched at day-light, and was joined from the Garrison of Futtehpore by a Company of the 93rd Highlanders, 100 in number, under Captain Cornwell, and two 9-Pounder Guns, under Lieutenant Anderson, Bengal Artillery. After proceeding for sixteen miles, the Column halted for refreshment, and then resumed the march at a rapid pace, passing through the village of Binkee at about 1-30 P. M., where the intelligence was confirmed that the Enemy was at hand.

The Troops pressed on without interruption, the Highlanders advancing in skirmishing order, supported by the Royal Engineers, and followed by the 53rd Regiment in Column, and then by the Naval Brigade. The Depôt Detachment was with the Baggage. We advanced along the road which led straight for the village of Khujwa, and saw that the Enemy's right occupied a long line of high embankments on our left of the road, which embankment, screened by a grove, continued towards the village, and that their left was higher up on the other side with their Guns posted in the centre on the road, two of them in advance, and one on a bridge near the village.

A Round Shot coming down the road, opened the battle at about 2-20 P. M, and the Column was ordered to edge to the right, and advance on the Guns through the corn-fields, the skirmishers of the 93rd and the Royal Engineers pushing on on both sides of the road The Enemy's Artillery was well served, and did great execution, and the flank fire of Musketry from the embankment was very severe The gallant Colonel Powell, himself on the left of the road, pressed on the attack, and had just secured the Guns of the Enemy, when he fell dead with a bullet through his forehead. In the meanwhile, the Naval Brigade had advanced on the right of the 53rd, and carried the Enemy's position in their front. It was then that the death of Colonel Powell was reported to me, and I was requested to assume the Command. The great force of the Enemy, the long line of their Defences, and the exhaustion of both Officers and Men, after such long marches, rendered our position truly critical. The front of the battle had become changed to the line of the road, and the Enemy, with all their Force behind their embankment, threatened to intercept our rear. I left Lieutenant Hay, R. N., supported by the two 9-Pounder Guns, to hold the position which his Party had gallantly carried and which secured our flank, and collecting as many fresh Troops as were available, assisted principally by Lieutenant Lennox, Royal Engineers, (Captain Clerke being unfortunately severely wounded,) and by Ensign Traill, 53rd Regiment, we rushed across the road, and passing round the upper end of the embankment, divided the Enemy's Force, and drove them successively from all their positions.

The Enemy then retired in confusion, leaving us masters of their Camp, and with two of their Guns and a Tumbril in our possession.

The late hour of the evening (it was ½ past 4 when the Enemy fired their last shot) and the excessive fatigue of the Troops, prevented any pursuit. We, therefore, spoiled their Camp, and leaving it with cheers, formed on the road by the bridge near the village, and sent Parties to collect our dead and wounded.

With the body of the Colonel on the limber of the Gun he had so gallantly captured, we then returned and encamped near the village of Binkee.

Our loss in the action was very severe, amounting to 95 Killed and Wounded. Enclosed are the Returns of the Detachments forming the Column of Attack.

The behaviour of the Troops and of the Naval Brigade was admirable, and all vied with each other and showed equal courage in the Field The marching of the 53rd, and the accurate firing of the Highlanders, deserve special commendation.

I received the greatest assistance from Captain Cox, H. M.'s 75th Regiment, whom I would wish to bring to the favourable notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief; and the arrangements of the Field Hospital under Doctor Grant, H. M.'s 53rd, and those of the Quarter Master's Department under Captain Marshall, were every thing that I could wish.

The total number of the Enemy was reported to be about 4,000 men, 2,000 of whom were Sepoys who fought in their uniform. Their loss was estimated at above 300 killed.

I have the honor to be,
SIR,
Your very obedt. Servant.
WILLIAM PEEL, Captain, R. N.,
Commanding.

I have the pleasure to inform His Excellency, that the remaining Gun of the Enemy, with three Tumbrils, was brought in this evening by the Police, having been abandoned by the Rebels in their flight about eight miles beyond Khujwa, and that the Sepoys have dispersed in all directions pursued by the villagers.

THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 24, 1857.

GENERAL ORDER BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

FORT WILLIAM, 24TH DECEMBER 1857.

No. 1649 OF 1857.

THE Right Honorable the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the accompanying Despatches lately received from the Head Quarters of the Army.

These Papers contain accounts of the safe conveyance of the Women and Children, Sick and Wounded of the Garrison of Lucknow across the Ganges; of the resistance by Major-General Windham to a well-organized and desperate attack on his position at Cawnpore by a large body of Rebels; and of the subsequent defeat and utter rout of the Insurgents by the Troops under the immediate direction of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

Throughout these operations all branches of the Service vied with each other in enhancing the glorious name which the contests of the last few months have secured for the British Army in India.

As regards the operations of the 6th, the masterly guidance of the Commander-in-Chief has been scarcely less conspicuous at Cawnpore than it was at Lucknow; each disposition and movement of his Forces fitting into one complete and effective scheme proof against all disturbance by the chances of the day of battle. General Sir Colin Campbell has added largely to the heavy claim which he holds upon the gratitude and confidence of the Government, and of the Soldiers whom he leads to victory. In two hours the Camp of the Rebels was reached and taken, and their rout complete; seventeen Guns, and a large amount of Stores and Ammunition falling into the hands of the British Force.

His Lordship in Council desires to record his appreciation of the admirable manner in which Brigadier-General Hope Grant, C. B., has executed the duties of his Division, and particularly of his exertions in pursuit of the Enemy on the 6th, and his operations on the 8th and 9th of December, on which occasion he took fifteen of the Enemy's Guns without the loss of one man.

On this as on every occasion in which danger was to be faced and difficulty overcome, Captain Peel, R. N., Commanding the Naval Brigade, was foremost in intrepidity and resource.

Lieutenant Vaughan and the other Officers and Men of H. M. S. Shannon are worthy of their brave Commander; and it is a pleasure to the Governor General in Council to declare his warm admiration of their conduct.

The Governor General in Council very cordially concurs in the praise so justly bestowed by the Commander-in-Chief on the General Officers Commanding Divisions, on Major-General Mansfield, Chief of the Staff, and on all the Officers of the General Staff in all its branches and the Personal Staff, and Officers Commanding Brigades and Regiments, Troops and Batteries. In the commendation given by His Excellency to Officers of every Arm of the Service, the Governor General in Council most heartily joins.

To all Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men engaged in the defence of Cawnpore, or in the attack on the Enemy's position, the Governor General in Council offers his cordial thanks for their gallantry and good service to the State.

It will be his pleasing duty to take the first opportunity of bringing their merits to the favorable notice of Her Majesty's Government, and of the Honorable Court of Directors.

R. J. H. BIRCH, Colonel,
Secretary to the Government of India,
in the Military Department.

To

THE RIGHT HON'BLE VISCOUNT CANNING,

Governor General, Calcutta.

Head Quarters Camp, Cawnpore,

The 2nd December 1857.

MY LORD,

IN accordance with the instructions of your Lordship, arrangements were finally made with Sir James Outram, that his Division, made up to four thousand (4000) strong of all arms, should remain in position before Lucknow.

This position includes the Post of Alumbagh, his standing Camp, of which the front is fifteen hundred (1500) yards in rear of that Post, and the Bridge of Bunnee, which is held by four hundred (400) Madras Sepoys and two (2) Guns.

On the 27th I marched with Brigadier-General Grant's Division, all the Ladies and Families who had been rescued from Lucknow, and the Wounded of both Forces, making in all about two thousand (2000) people, whom it was necessary to carry, and encamped the evening of that day a little beyond Bunnee Bridge.

The long train did not reach completely and file into Camp until after midnight.

When we arrived at Bunnee, we were surprised to hear very heavy firing in the direction of Cawnpore. No news had reached me from that place for several days; but it appeared necessary, whatever the inconvenience, to press forward as quickly as possible.

The march accordingly re-commenced at 9 A. M. the next morning, and shortly afterwards I received two or three notes in succession,—first, announcing that Cawnpore had been attacked; secondly, that General Windham was hard pressed; and thirdly, that he had been obliged to fall back from outside the City into his Entrenchment.

The Force was accordingly pressed forward, Convoy and all, and was encamped within three miles of the Ganges, about three hours after dark, the Rear Guard coming in with the end of the train some twenty-four hours afterwards.

I preceded the Column of March by two or three hours, and reached the Entrenchment at dusk, where I learnt the true state of affairs.

The retreat of the previous day had been effected with the loss of a certain amount of Camp Equipage, and shortly after my arrival, it was reported to me that Brigadier Carthew had retreated from a very important Outpost.

All this appeared disastrous enough, and the next day the City was found to be in possession of the Enemy at all points.

It had now become necessary to proceed with the utmost caution to secure the Bridge.

All the heavy Guns attached to General Grant's Division, under Captain Peel, R N. and Captain Travers, R. A., were placed in position on the left bank of the Ganges, and directed to open fire and keep down the fire of the Enemy on the Bridge.

This was done very effectually, while Brigadier Hope's Brigade, with some Field Artillery and Cavalry, was ordered to cross the Bridge, and take position near the Old Dragoon Lines.

A cross fire was at the same time kept up from the Entrenchment, to cover the march of the Troops.

When darkness began to draw on the Artillery Parks, the Wounded, and the Families, were ordered to file over the Bridge; and it was not till 6 o'clock P. M, the day of the 30th, that the last cart had cleared the Bridge.

The passage of the Force, with its encumbrances, over the Ganges, had occupied thirty hours.

The Camp now stretches from the Dragoon Lines in a half circle round the position occupied by the late General Sir Hugh Wheeler, the Foot Artillery Lines being occupied by the Wounded and the Families.

A desultory fire has been kept up by the Enemy on the Entrenchment and the front of the Camp since this position was taken up, and I am obliged to submit to the hostile occupation of Cawnpore, until the actual despatch of all my encumbrances towards Allahabad has been effected.

However disagreeable this may be, and although it may tend to give confidence to the Enemy, it is precisely one of those cases in which no risk must be run.

I trust, when the time has arrived for me to act with due regard to these considerations, to see the speedy evacuation of his present position by the Enemy.

In the mean time, the position taken up by Brigadier-General Grant's Division, under my immediate orders, has restored the communications with Futtehpore and Allahabad, as had been anticipated. The Detachments moving along the road from these two places have been ordered to continue their march accordingly.

Major General Windham's Despatch, relating the operations conducted under his Command, is enclosed.

In forwarding that document, I have only to remark, that the complaint made by him in the second paragraph, of not receiving instructions from me, is explained by the fact of the letters he sent announcing the approach of the Gwalior Force not having come to hand.

The first notice I had of his embarrassment was the distant sound of Cannonade as above described.

All the previous reports had declared that there was but little chance of the Gwalior Contingent approaching Cawnpore.

I have, &c.,

C. CAMPBELL, General,

Commander-in-Chief.

P. S.—Annexed is a Return of Casualties from the 29th Ultimo to this date.

To

HIS EXCELLENCY GENERAL

SIR COLIN CAMPBELL, G. C. B., &c. &c. &c.,

Commander-in-Chief.

Cawnpore, 30th November 1857.

SIR,

IN giving an account of the proceedings of the Force under my Command before Cawnpore during the operations of the 26th, 27th, 28th, and 29th Instant, I trust your Excellency will excuse the hasty manner in which it is necessarily drawn up, owing to the constant demands upon me at the present moment

Having received, through Captain H. Bruce, of the 5th Punjaub Cavalry, information of the movements of the Gwalior Contingent, but havin-received none whatever from your Excellency for several days from Lucknow, in answer to my letters to the Chief of the Staff, I was obliged to act for myself.

I therefore resolved to encamp my Force on the Canal, ready to strike at any portion of the advancing Enemy that came within my reach, keeping at the same time my communications safe with Cawnpore.

Finding that the Contingent were determined to advance, I resolved to meet their first Division on the Pandoo Nuddee. My Force consisted of about 1,200 Bayonets and 8 Guns and 100 mounted Sowars. Having sent my Camp Equipage and Baggage to the rear, I advanced to the attack in the following order:—

Four Companies of the Rifle Brigade, under Colonel R. Walpole, followed by four Companies of the 88th Connaught Rangers, under Lieutenant-Colonel E. H. Maxwell, and four light 6-Pounder Madras Guns, under Lieutenant Chamier; the whole under the Command of Brigadier Carthew, of the Madras Native Infantry.

Following this Force was the 34th Regiment, under Lieutenant-Colonel R. Kelly, with four 9-Pounder Guns; the 82nd Regiment in Reserve, with spare Ammunition, &c.

I had given directions, in the event of the Enemy being found directly in our front, and if the ground permitted, that Brigadier Carthew should occupy the ground to the left of the road, and that Lieutenant-Colonel Kelly, with the 34th, divided into wings, and supported by his Artillery, should take the right. It so happened, however, that this order, on our coming into action, became exactly inverted by my directions in consequence of a sudden turn of the road. No confusion, however, was caused. The advance was made with a complete line of Skirmishers along the whole front, with Supports on either side and a Reserve in the centre.

The Enemy, strongly posted on the other side of the dry bed of the Pandoo Nuddee, opened a heavy fire of Artillery from Siege and Field Guns; but such was the eagerness and courage of the Troops, and so well were they led by their Officers, that we carried the position with a rush, the men cheering as they went; and the village, more than half a mile in its rear, was rapidly cleared. The Mutineers hastily took to flight, leaving in our possession two 8-Inch Iron Howitzers and one 6-Pounder Gun.

In this fight my loss was not severe; but I regret very much that a very promising young Officer, Captain H. H. Day, 88th Regiment, was killed.

Observing from a height on the other side of the village, that the Enemy's main body was at hand, and that the one just defeated was their leading division, I at once decided on retiring to protect Cawnpore, my Entrenchments, and the Bridge over the Ganges. We accordingly fell back, followed, however, by the Enemy up to the Bridge over the Canal.

On the morning of the 27th, the Enemy commenced their attack, with an overwhelming force of heavy Artillery. My position was in front of the City. I was threatened on all sides, and very seriously attacked on my front and right flank. The heavy fighting in front, at the point of junction of the Calpee and Delhi Roads, fell more especially upon the Rifle Brigade, ably Commanded by Colonel Walpole, who was supported by the 88th Regiment and 4 Guns (two 9-Pounders, two 24-Pounder Howitzers) under Captain D. S. Greene, Royal Artillery, and two 24-Pounder Guns, manned by Seamen of the Shannon, under Lieutenant Hay, R. N., who was twice wounded. Lieutenant Colonel John Adye, Royal Artillery, also afforded me marked assistance with these Guns.

In spite of the heavy bombardment of the Enemy, my Troops resisted the attack for five hours, and still held the ground, until, on my proceeding personally to make sure of the safety of the Fort, I found, from the number of men bayonetted by the 88th Regiment, that the Mutineers had fully penetrated the Town; and having been told that they were then attacking the Fort, I directed Major-General Dupuis, R. A., (who as my Second-in-Command I had left with the main body,) to fall back the whole Force into the Fort, with all our Stores and Guns, shortly before dark.

Owing to the flight of the Camp-followers at the commencement of the action, notwithstanding the long time we held the ground, I regret to state, that in making this retrograde movement, I was unable to carry off all my Camp Equipage and some of the Baggage. Had not an error occurred in the conveyance of an order issued by me, I am of opinion that I could have held my ground at all events until dark.

I must not omit, in this stage of the proceedings, to report that the flank attack was well met, and resisted, for a considerable time, by the 34th Regiment under Lieutenant-Colonel Kelly, and the Madras Battery under Lieutenant Chamier, together with that part of the 82nd Regiment which was detached in this direction under Lieutenant-Colonel D. Watson.

In retiring within the Entrenchments, I followed the general instructions issued to me by your Excellency, conveyed through the Chief of the Staff, namely, to preserve the safety of the Bridge over the Ganges, and my communications with your Force, so severely engaged in the important operation of the Relief of Lucknow, as far as possible. I strictly adhered to the defensive.

After falling back to the Fort, I assembled the superior Officers on the evening of the 27th and proposed a night attack, should I be able to receive reliable information as to where the Enemy had assembled his Artillery.

As, however, I could obtain none, (or, at all events, none that was satisfactory,) I decided—

Firstly.—That on the following day Colonel Walpole, Rifle Brigade, should have the defence of the advanced portion of the Town on the left side of the Canal, standing with your back to the Ganges. The details of the Force upon this point were as follows:—

5 Companies Rifle Brigade, under Lieutenant-Colonel C. Woodford.

2 Companies of the 82nd Regiment, under Lieutenant-Colonel Watson.

4 Guns { Two 9-Pounders / Two 24-Pr. Hzrs. } Under Captain Greene, R. A.

(Two of these Guns were manned by Madras Gunners, and two by Seikhs.)

Secondly. That Brigadier N. Wilson, with the 64th Regiment, was to hold the Fort and establish a strong Picquet at the Baptist Chapel on the extreme right.

Thirdly.—That Brigadier Carthew, with the 34th Regiment under Lieutenant-Colonel Kelly, and four Madras Guns, should hold the Bithoor Road in advance of the Baptist Chapel, receiving support from the Picquet there if wanted.

Fourthly.—That, with the 88th Regiment under Lieutenant-Colonel Maxwell, I should defend the portion of the Town nearest the Ganges on the left of the Canal, and support Colonel Walpole if required.

The fighting on the 28th was very severe. On the left advance, Colonel Walpole, with the Rifles, supported by Captain Groend's Battery, and part of the 82nd Regiment, achieved a complete victory over the Enemy and captured two 18-Pounder Guns.

The glory of this well-contested fight belongs entirely to the above-named Companies and Artillery.

It was owing to the gallantry of the Men and Officers under the able leading of Colonel Walpole, and of my lamented relation, Lieutenant-Colonel Woodford, of the Rifle Brigade (who, I deeply regret to say, was killed,) and of Lieutenant-Colonel Watson, 82nd, and of Captain Greene, R. A., that this hard-contested fight was won and brought to so profitable an end. I had nothing to do with it beyond sending them Supports, and at the end of bringing some up myself.

I repeat that the credit is entirely due to the above-mentioned Officers and Men.

Brigadier Wilson thought proper, prompted by zeal for the Service, to lead his Regiment against four Guns placed in front of Brigadier Carthew. In this daring exploit, I regret to say, he lost his life, together with several valuable and able Officers. Major T. Stirling, 64th Regiment, was killed in spiking one of the Guns, as was also that fine gallant young man, Captain R. C. McCrea, 64th Regiment, who acted as Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General to the Force here. Captain W. Morphey, 64th Regiment (the Brigade Major), also fell at the same time. Our numbers were not sufficient to enable us to carry off the Guns.

Captain A. P. Bowlby, now the Senior Officer of the 64th Regiment, distinguished himself, as did also Captain H. F. Saunders, of the 70th Regiment, who was attached to the 64th, and is Senior to Captain Bowlby, whose conduct he describes as most devoted and gallant; as was also that of the Men of the Regiment.

Brigadier Carthew, of the Madras Native Infantry, had a most severe and strong contest with the Enemy from morning till night; but I regret to add, that he felt himself obliged to retire at dark.

During the night of the 28th Instant, the Enemy occupied the Town, and on the morning of the 29th commenced bombarding my Entrenchments with a few Guns, and struck the Bridge of Boats several times.

The Guns mounted in the Fort were superior in number to those of the Enemy, and were well-manned, throughout the day, by the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Men of the Royal Artillery, Seamen of the Shannon, Madras and Bengal Gunners and Seikhs.

The chief Out-work was occupied by the Rifle Brigade, and in the course of the afternoon, by your Excellency's instructions, they were advanced, and gallantly drove the Mutineers out of that portion of the City nearest to our works, under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Fyers, who was supported by Colonel Walpole.

Throughout the short period I have had the temporary Command of this Division, I have received, both in the Field and elsewhere, the most important assistance from Captain H. Bruce, 5th Punjaub Cavalry. Without him I should have been at a great loss for reliable information, and although I am aware that your Excellency is not ignorant of his abilities, courage, and assiduity, I think it my duty to make this mention of his service to the Country.

Pressed as I am by the operations now going forward, I am not able to specify the services of every individual who has assisted me, where all have behaved so well. I have no Staff of my own, except Captain Roger Swire, of the 17th Foot, my Aide-de-Camp, who has behaved with his usual zeal and courage.

I therefore hope I may be allowed to thank, through your Excellency, the under-mentioned Officers for the great services they have voluntarily rendered me during this trying time :—

Specially.
- Major-General J. E. Dupuis, C. B., Commanding Royal Artillery in India
- Lieutenant-Colonel John Adye, C. B., Assistant Adjutant General, Royal Artillery ...
- Lieutenant-Colonel H. D. Harness, Commanding Royal Engineers ...
- Major Norman McLeod, Bengal Engineers ...

Lieutenant-Colonel John Simpson, 34th Regiment.

Senior Surgeon R C. Elliot, C. B., Royal Artillery.

Captain John Gordon, 82nd Regiment.

Captain Sarsfield Greene, Royal Artillery.

Captain Smyth, Bengal Artillery.

There are several other Officers in addition, who I fortunately found detained here en route to join your Excellency's Force, and I beg to submit their names also, viz. :—

Captain R. G. Brackenbury, 61st Regiment.

Lieutenant Arthur Henley, 52nd Light Infantry.

Lieutenant Valentine Ryan, 64th Regiment.

Captain Ellis Cunliffe, 1st Bengal Fusiliers.

Lieutenant E. H. Budgen, 82nd Regiment (to whom I gave the Command of the 100 mounted Sowars.)

Captain C. E. Mansfield, 33rd Regiment.

Lieutenant P. Scratchley, Royal Engineers.

Lieutenant W. C. Milne, 74th Bengal Native Infantry.

I beg to inform your Excellency that I have called for Nominal Returns of the Killed and Wounded, and I have also directed all Officers Commanding Corps, Regiments, and Batteries, &c, to forward to me the names of any Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, or Soldiers, who may have especially distinguished themselves by gallantry in the Field, which shall be forwarded to your Excellency without delay.

In conclusion, I hope I may be permitted to express my sincere thanks to all the Regimental Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men, for the zeal, gallantry, and courage with which they have carried out my orders during the four days of harassing actions, which have successively taken place in the defence of this important strategic centre of present operations.

I beg to forward the enclosed Despatch, which I have received from Major-General Dupuis, and I have called upon the various Officers Commanding Corps, &c., to forward me the names of any Officers they may wish to recommend, which I will send to your Excellency as soon as I receive them.

I have, &c.,

C. A. WINDHAM, Maj.-General.

To

MAJ.-GENL. C. A. WINDHAM, C. B.,

Commanding the Cawnpore Division.

Cawnpore, 30th November 1857.

SIR,

WITHOUT entering into any detail of the operations carried on by the Force under your Command, on the 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th Instant, which I consider unnecessary, as you were present the whole time, yet I feel it my duty to bring to your notice the excellent conduct of the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Men, both of the Royal and Bengal Artillery, whom you placed under my Command.

Lieutenant Oliver, R. A., who was in Command of a hastily equipped Battery of two 9-Pounders and two 24-Pounder Howitzers, manned by a few Royal Artillery and Bengal Gunners and some Seikhs, did his best to bring his Guns into action on the first day's operations on the Pandoo River; yet, from his extreme inexperience, I thought it better to place my Aide-de-Camp, Captain Sarsfield Greene, R. A., in Command, and I beg to bring to your notice the admirable manner in which he directed and fought the Guns at the close of the day.

On the 27th he supported the Rifle Brigade and 88th Connaught Rangers, and as our Force retired, he assisted to protect the retreat. Again, on the 28th, he supported Colonel Walpole and the Rifle Brigade on the advance on the left, and assisted materially in the capture of two 18-Pounder Guns. On the 29th he Commanded four Guns in the Fort. Lieutenant Chamier, of the Madras Artillery, who Commanded six light Guns, performed his duties entirely to my satisfaction, particularly on the 28th, when he was attached to the Force under Brigadier Carthew.

I beg also to bring to your consideration the conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel John Adye, my Assistant Adjutant General, who volunteered on the night of the 27th, and brought from the centre of the Town a 24-Pounder Gun, which had been left behind in the retreat, in consequence of its having been jammed in one of the narrow streets. (This Officer was assisted by Captains Austen and Bradford, of the Bengal Artillery.) On the 29th he again volunteered and took Command of the same Gun, (manned by a few Sailors and Madras Gunners,) and placed it in position to protect the Canal, where it proved of good service during the day. I beg also to testify to the willing exertions of Senior Surgeon R. C. Elliot on all occasions.

I have, &c.,

J. E. DUPUIS, Maj.-Genl.,

Comdg. Royal Artillery in India.

To

THE RIGHT HON'BLE VISCOUNT CANNING,

Governor General, Calcutta.

Head Quarters Camp, Cawnpore,

The 10th December 1857.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honor to report to your Lordship, that late on the night of the 3rd Instant, the Convoy, which had given me so much anxiety, including the Families and half the Wounded, was finally despatched, and on the 4th and 5th the last arrangements were made for consigning the remainder of the Wounded in places of safety, while a portion of the Troops was withdrawn from the Entrenchments to join the Camp.

On the afternoon of the 5th, about 3 P. M., the Enemy attacked our left Picquets with Artillery, and showed Infantry round our left flank.

A desultory fire was also begun on our Picquets in the General Gung, which is an old bazaar of very considerable extent along the Canal, in front of the line occupied by the Camp.

These advanced positions had been held, since our arrival, by Brigadier Greathed's Brigade with great firmness, the Brigadier having displayed his usual judgment in their arrangement and support. On two or three occasions he had been supported by Captain Peel's heavy Guns and Captain Bourchier's Field Battery, when the Artillery of the Enemy had annoyed him and the general front of the Camp.

After two hours of Cannonading, the Enemy retired on the afternoon in question.

Arrangements were then made for a general attack on him the next day.

His left occupied the old Cantonment, from which General Windham's post had been principally assailed. His centre was in the City of Cawnpore, and lined the houses and bazaars overhanging the Canal, which separated it from Brigadier Greathed's position, the principal streets having been afterwards discovered to be barricaded.

His right stretched some way beyond the angle formed by the Grand Trunk Road and the Canal, two miles in rear of which the Camp of the Gwalior Contingent was pitched, and so covered the Calpee road. This was the line of retreat of that body.

In short, the Canal, along which were placed his centre and right, was the main feature of his position, and could only be passed in the latter direction by two Bridges.

It appeared to me, if his right were vigorously attacked, that it would be driven from its position without assistance coming from other parts of his line, the wall of the town which gave cover to our Attacking Columns on our right being an effective obstacle to the movement of any portion of his Troops from his left to right.

Thus the possibility became apparent of attacking his Division in detail.

From intelligence received before and after the action, there seems to be little doubt that in consequence of the arrival of four Regiments from Oude, and the gathering of various mutinous Corps which had suffered in previous actions, as well as the assemblage of all the Nana's followers, the strength of the Enemy now amounted to about 25,000 men, with all the Guns belonging to the Contingent, some (36) thirty-six in number, together with a few Guns belonging to the Nana.

Orders were given to General Windham, on the morning of the 6th, to open a heavy Bombardment at 9 A. M. from the Entrenchment in the old Cantonment, and so induce the belief in the Enemy that the attack was coming from the General's position.

The Camp was struck early, and all the Baggage driven to the River side under a Guard, to avoid the slightest risk of accident.

Brigadier Greathed, re-inforced by the 64th Regiment, was desired to hold the same ground opposite the centre of the Enemy, which he had been occupying for some days past as above-mentioned

The Cannonade from the Entrenchment having become slack at this time, the moment had arrived for the attack to commence.

The Cavalry and Horse Artillery, having been sent to make a detour on the left and cross the Canal by a bridge a mile and a half further up, and threaten the Enemy's rear.

The Infantry deployed in parallel lines fronting the Canal.

Brigadier Hope's Brigade was in advance in one line, Brigadier Inglis' Brigade being in rear of Brigadier Hope.

At the same time Brigadier Walpole, assisted by Captain Smith's Field Battery, Royal Artillery, was directed to pass the Bridge immediately to the left of Brigadier Greathed's position, and to drive the Enemy from the Brick-kilns, keeping the wall of the City for his guide.

The whole attack then proceeded, the Enemy quickly responding from his proper right to the fire of our heavy and Field Artillery.

Good use was made of these Guns by Captain Peel, C. B., R. N., and the Artillery Officers under Major-General Dupuis, C. B., R. A., Brigadier Crawford, R. A., and Major Turner, B. A.

The Seikhs of the 4th Punjaub Infantry, thrown into Skirmishing order, supported by H. M.'s 53rd Foot, attacked the Enemy in some old Mounds and Brick-kilns to our left with great vigor.

The advance then continued with rapidity along the whole line, and I had the satisfaction of observing in the distance that Brigadier Walpole was making equal progress on the right.

The Canal Bridge was quickly passed, Captain Peel leading over it with a heavy Gun, accompanied by a Soldier of H. M.'s 53rd, named Hannaford.

The Troops which had gathered together, resuming their line of formation with great rapidity on either side as soon as it was crossed, and continuing to drive the Enemy at all points, his Camp being reached and taken at 1 P. M., and his rout being complete along the Calpee road.

I must here draw attention to the manner in which the heavy 24-Pounder Guns were impelled and managed by Captain Peel and his gallant Sailors.

Through the extraordinary energy and good-will with which the latter have worked, their Guns have been constantly in advance throughout our late operations, from the relief of Lucknow, till now, as if they were light Field Pieces, and the service rendered by them in clearing our front has been incalculable. On this occasion there was the sight beheld of 24-Pounder Guns advancing with the first line of Skirmishers.

Without losing any time, the pursuit with Cavalry, Infantry and Light Artillery was pressed with the greatest eagerness to the fourteenth milestone on the Calpee road, and I have reason to believe that every Gun and Cart of Ammunition, which had been in that part of the Enemy's position which had been attacked, now fell into our possession

I had the satisfaction of accompanying the Troops engaged in the pursuit, and of being able to bear witness to their strenuous endeavours to make the most of the success which had been achieved.

When I passed the Camp and went forward on the Calpee Road, Major-General Mansfield was desired by me to make arrangements for the attack of the position called the Subadar's Tank, which extended round the left rear of the Enemy's position in the old Cantonments. As this operation was a separate one, I beg to enclose, for your Lordship's consideration, the Major-General's own Narrative.

The Troops having returned from the pursuit at midnight on the 6th, and their baggage having reached them on the afternoon of the next day, Brigadier-General Grant was detached in pursuit on the 8th with the Cavalry, some Light Artillery, and a Brigade of Infantry, with orders to destroy public buildings belonging to the Nana Sahib at Bithoor, and to press on to Serai Ghât, twenty-five miles from hence, if he had good tidings of the retreating Enemy. This duty was admirably performed by the Brigadier-General, and he caught the Enemy when he was about to cross the River with his remaining Guns.

The Brigadier-General attacked him with great vigor, and by the excellent disposition he made of his Force, succeeded in taking every Gun the Enemy possessed, without losing a single man I have the pleasure to enclose the Brigadier-General's Report for your Lordship's perusal.

It now remains for me to bring to your Lordship's notice the Officers who have distinguished themselves during the series of operations which have occurred under my own eyes, since this Field Force left the neighbourhood of Lucknow.

I have a particular pleasure in again bringing to your Lordship's notice the zeal and great ability with which Major-General W. R. Mansfield, Chief of the Staff, has conducted the very important duties of his high position, and of my obligations to him for the most valuable assistance he has afforded me during the whole of the recent operations I desire also to call your Lordship's attention to the able and distinguished manner in which he conducted the Troops placed under his orders, after the Enemy's centre had been divided, to the attack of their strong position at the Subadar's Tank, and to recommend to your Lordship's favorable consideration the names of the Officers who assisted him.

I have to thank Brigadier-General Hope Grant, C. B., very particularly for the admirable manner in which he has conducted the duties of the Force, and more particularly for his exertions on the 6th December, and the capital operations he performed on the 8th and 9th. The Brigadier-General speaks in the highest terms of his Divisional and Personal Staff, viz., Captain W. Hamilton, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Lieutenant F. S. Roberts, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General; Captain the Hon'ble A. H. Anson, Aide-de-Camp; Lieutenant C. W. Havelock, Extra Aide-de-Camp; and Captain H. M. Wilson, Deputy Judge Advocate General.

I have the greatest satisfaction in bringing to your Lordship's notice, Brigadiers Greathed, the Hon'ble A. Hope, Walpole, and Inglis. These Officers have all exerted themselves to the utmost, and have fully justified my expectations. They desire to record their obligations to the Officers Commanding Corps in their respective Brigades and to their Brigade Staff, as follows:—

Captain Hinde, Her Majesty's 8th Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Wells, Her Majesty's 23rd Fusiliers; Major Lowe, Commanding Her Majesty's 32nd Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Kelly, Her Majesty's 38th Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Thorold, Her Majesty's 42nd Highlanders; Colonel Faber, Her Majesty's 53rd Regiment; Major Bingham, Her Majesty's 64th Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Hale, Her Majesty's 82nd Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Leith Hay, Her Majesty's 93rd Highlanders; Lieutenant-Colonel Horsford, 3rd Battalion Rifle Brigade; Lieutenant-Colonel Fyers, 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade; Captain Green, Commanding 2nd Punjaub Infantry; Lieutenant W. C. L. Ryves, Commanding 4th Punjaub Rifles; Captain J. M. Bannatyne, Brigade Major 3rd Brigade; Captain J. H. Cox, Brigade Major 4th Brigade; Captain Lightfoot, Brigade Major 5th Brigade; Lieutenant C. A. Barwell, Brigade Major 6th Brigade.

Owing to his knowledge of the ground I requested Major-General Windham to remain in Command of the Entrenchment, the fire of which was a very important feature in the operations of the 6th December, although I felt and explained to General Windham, that it was a Command hardly worthy of an Officer of his rank. He gave me every satisfaction, and I have to thank him accordingly.

I must particularly notice the exertions of Captain H. W. Norman, Assistant Adjutant General of the Army; of Captain Herbert Bruce, Deputy Quarter Master General; and of Captain J. H. Smyth, Bengal Artillery, the latter of whom had been requested by me to take Command of the Artillery in the Entrenchment as a special duty.

Captain Smyth has rendered other great and valuable services since he left Calcutta, of which I have not had an opportunity before of recording my approval.

I desire also to bring to your Lordship's favorable notice, the Officers on the General Staff or belonging to the Personal Staff of myself or Major-General Mansfield, viz., Captain H. R. Garden, Assistant Quarter Master General; Lieutenant G. Allgood, and Captain T. A. Carey, Deputy Assistants Quarter Master General; Captain G. C. Hatch, Deputy Judge Advocate General of the Army; Captain Sir David Baird, Bart., my first Aide-de-Camp; Captain J. Metcalfe, Interpreter; Lieutenant W. O Lennox, Royal Engineers; Captain W. Rudman, Acting Assistant Adjutant General, Her Majesty's Forces; Lieutenant Hope Johnstone, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General to the Chief of the Staff; Lieutenant F M. Alison, and Captain Forster, my Aides-de-Camp; and Captain Mansfield and Lieutenant D. M. Murray, Aide-de-Camp and Extra Aide-de-Camp to the Chief of the Staff.

To the Crew of H. M. S. Shannon, and to the Royal and Bengal Artillery, my thanks are alike due; but more particularly to Captain Peel, C. B., Royal Navy; to Brigadier Crawford, Royal Artillery; and to Major Turner, Bengal Horse Artillery. I cannot refrain from again drawing your Lordship's most marked attention to the very distinguished merits of the last-named (Major Turner).

As is always the case in the three Services, the Batteries and Troops were manœuvred with remarkable dexterity.

Captain Peel has brought to my favorable notice Lieutenant Vaughan, Royal Navy, and I should much wish that this recommendation may be known at the Admiralty; and Brigadier Crawford has expressed his obligations to his Brigade Major, Captain H. L. G. Bruce, Bengal Artillery, and has mentioned with marked distinction all the Officers holding Commands, viz., Captain Travers, Commanding Royal Artillery; Captains Remmington and Blunt, Commanding Troops of Bengal Horse Artillery; Captains Middleton and Smith, Royal Artillery; and Captain Bourchier, Bengal Artillery, Commanding Light Field Batteries; Captain Longden, Royal Artillery, Commanding a heavy Battery; and Lieutenant Bridge, Commanding two Guns, Madras Horse Artillery.

Major-General Dupuis, C. B., Royal Artillery, Commanded the Artillery during the action, in consequence of his accidental presence in Camp, and I beg to thank him for his exertions as well as those of his Staff, viz., Lieut.-Colonel Adye, C. B., R. A., Assistant Adjutant General, and Captain Greene, R. A., Aide-de-Camp.

Colonel Harness, Royal Engineers, was also present in the same manner, and accompanied me throughout the action.

General Grant has also brought to my notice the distinguished conduct of Brigadier Little, Commanding the Cavalry, as also of Officers Commanding Corps in that Brigade and its Staff Officers, viz.:—

Major Ouvry, 9th Lancers; Lieutenant Watson, 1st Punjaub Cavalry; Lieutenant Probyn, 2nd Punjaub Cavalry; Lieutenant Younghusband, 5th Punjaub Cavalry; Lieutenant H. Gough, Hodson's Horse; and Captain H. A. Sarel, Major of Brigade.

During the pursuit of the 6th, and the operation of the 9th, the Cavalry maintained that high character for dash and perseverance which have distinguished them since they took the Field in the numerous engagements of their long Campaign.

I desire also to mention Major Payne, of the 53rd Regiment, whom I saw performing very valuable service during the first advance on the 6th Instant.

I must not allow this opportunity to pass without bearing my testimony to the unwearied zeal and assiduity of the Superintending Surgeon, Doctor J. C. Brown, Bengal Artillery, which have never flagged for an instant, and have been of the greatest use to the Force in the Field from the time the Troops first took the Field before going to Delhi.

I beg to recommend him most particularly to your Lordship's favorable consideration.

Annexed are Returns of Killed and Wounded, and of captured Ordnance, as well as a Sketch of the Ground.

I have, &c.,

C. Campbell, General,

Commander-in-Chief.

To

General Sir C. Campbell, G. C. B.,

Commander-in-Chief.

Head Quarters Camp, Cawnpore,

The 10th December 1857.

Sir,

In obedience to your Excellency's instructions, when I left your side after the capture of the Enemy's Camp, on the afternoon of the 6th December, I proceeded to make the arrangements for taking the position called the Subadar's Tank, in rear of the Enemy's left, and about a mile and a half in a direct line from the Entrenchment through the old Cantonments.

Before advancing, measures were taken for the safe guard of the captured Camp, Colonel Kelly, with a wing of 38th Foot, being placed in position for that purpose, in addition to the 23rd Regiment, which had already been left there by your Excellency.

These two Regiments repelled an attack in the course of the afternoon, and took two Guns from the Enemy.

The 93rd Highlanders, who had been placed on the Grand Trunk Road, beyond the Camp to the left, at the time that your Excellency gave the orders for pressing the pursuit of the Enemy along the Calpee Road, were now, at 2 P. M., beginning to suffer from the Enemy's Guns, which were in position about one thousand yards in their front, in the enclosures between them and the Tank.

They were advanced a short distance with Captain Middleton's Field Battery, R. A., which answered the Enemy's Guns, until the Rifle Brigade under Brigadier Walpole, and the heavy Field Battery under Captain Longden, R. A., could be brought up.

In the course of half an hour this had taken place, and the heavy Field Battery pushed along the road intersecting the Grand Trunk Road about a mile to the left of the Enemy's Camp, and leading directly to the old Cantonment.

The Rifles were extended in Skirmishing order some (300) three hundred yards on each side of the road slightly in advance of the heavy Guns, the Highlanders being kept in Reserve.

These arrangements having been made, the advance took place, and the Enemy began to give way immediately, successive positions being taken up and a rapid fire maintained by Captain Longden and Captain Middleton, of the R. A., the Rifles passing through the enclosures to the right, and the broken ground to the left of the road, with much spirit, under the able directions of Brigadier Walpole.

On the entrance of the village being reached, which may be distinguished as the Soldier's Burial-ground, although the enclosures were still held to a certain degree by the Enemy, it appeared to me expedient to push the Field Battery through the village at a gallop, and take position in the plain, with the Tank on the right, the Infantry being desired to press forward as fast as they could.

This was done very well by Captain Middleton, R. A., and he had the satisfaction of firing at the Enemy's Guns as they disappeared along the Bithoor Road, whilst the Rifles were still running up to his support.

The position was then fairly occupied, Brigadier Hope coming up with the Reserve of Highlanders and taking charge of the Picquets which were thrown out on the line of the Enemy's retreat.

About 4 P. M., the position which had been taken was attacked by Artillery, brough by the Enemy from the old Cantonment.

These Guns might have been taken; but I refrained from giving the necessary order, being aware that it was contrary to your Excellency's wish to involve the Troops among the enclosures and houses of the old Cantonment; and that if the slightest advance had been made in that quarter, it would have been necessary, at whatever loss, to make no stop till the Entrenchment should have been reached.

When Captain Longden's and Captain Middleton's Batteries had almost succeeded in silencing the Enemy's fire, the position was attacked by some Guns of the Enemy from the broken ground of the plain on exactly the opposite side.

They could not be seen, except by their smoke.

They were, however, answered quickly, and all the men and field hospital, &c., having been put under tolerable cover, no harm was suffered by the Troops in consequence of this attack.

At dusk I had the satisfaction of seeing large bodies of the Enemy's Infantry and Cavalry move round to the West of the position about a mile distant, in full retreat.

It not being possible to communicate with your Excellency after sun-set, the position taken up being almost isolated, and as reported to me, there being considerable numbers of the Enemy still in occupation of the Town and old Cantonment, the Picquets all round the position were slightly strengthened, and the Troops bivouacked by their arms.

Everything having been quiet during the night, the Highlanders were withdrawn the next morning, and re-placed by the 38th Foot under your Excellency's orders.

My thanks are eminently due to Brigadier Walpole, who Commanded the Advance, and Brigadier Hope, Commanding the Reserve; to Captains Middleton and Longden, Commanding the Batteries of Artillery, and to my Aide-de-Camp, Captain Mansfield, who was of the greatest use to me till he was unfortunately severely wounded, after the Guns had passed the village.

Captain Herbert Bruce, Deputy Quarter Master General, whose merits are so highly considered by your Excellency, distinguished himself very much by his knowledge and appreciation of the ground, and was the cause of my being able to direct the Troops with tolerable certainty.

The Brigadiers report very highly on the conduct of the Officers Commanding Corps, viz.:—

Lieutenant-Colonel A. S. L. Hay, 93rd Highlanders.

Lieutenant-Colonel Horsford, 3rd Battalion Rifle Brigade.

Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Fyers, 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade.

To

MAJOR-GENERAL MANSFIELD,

Chief of the Staff.

Camp Serai Ghât, 11th December 1857.

SIR,

AT mid-day on the 8th Instant, having received His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's orders, through you, to march to Bithoor, and if I thought it advisable, or heard of any of the Rebels' Guns being at Serai Ghât, a Ferry about twenty-five miles above Cawnpore, on the Ganges, to proceed there, I started with the Force named in the margin, and from what I could learn on the road, I had reason to believe that a certain number of Guns had been taken to this Ghât. Towards evening I halted the Force, and directed the men to have their dinners. I then proceeded on to Soorajpore,—a village on the road within three miles of Serai Ghât, where I halted the Force until day-light. I then collected the baggage, and had it placed in a safe spot covered by a portion of Artillery, Cavalry, and Infantry.

I moved the remainder within about two miles of the Ghât, when I proceeded to reconnoitre with a Party of the 9th Lancers, and found on the banks of the River a Force assembled, and Horsemen and Sepoys with baggage moving down towards the spot. I immediately ordered up the Cavalry and Guns; but the road under the banks of the River was of such a dangerous nature from the quicksands, that the heavy 9-Pounders of Captain Middleton's Battery, drawn by tired horses, ran great risks of being altogether stopped, and it was only through the hard exertions and praiseworthy conduct of Captain Middleton, Lieut. Millman, in Command of the Battery, and the men, that the Guns were got through. An 18-Pounder of the Enemy was here discovered fixed in the quicksand. 2 Guns of the Field Battery having got over this difficulty, and on to the dry bank of the River, soon got into position, and under a very severe fire from 13 of the Rebels' Guns, Lieutenant Millman brought his Guns into play. Soon after Captain Remmington's Troop galloped up, and took up a most admirable position covered by the bank of a ditch, opening on the Enemy a flanking fire, which, together with the remainder of the Field Battery, now came up in half an hour's time, completely silenced the Enemy's fire, and put them in full retreat.

A Force of the Rebels' Cavalry upon this came up to try and take our Guns; but the 9th Lancers, under Major Ouvry, the 5th Punjaub Horse, under Lieutenant Younghusband, and Hodson's Horse, under Lieutenant Gough, the whole Commanded by Brigadier Little, advanced upon them, drove them away, and Lieutenant Younghusband, who was sent out in pursuit with his men, cut up some 80 or 90 stragglers, and took three Standards.

The movement of our Cavalry towards the rear of the Enemy, no doubt, had the effect of hurrying their retreat from their Guns; but the ground was of such a nature as to prevent the possibility of getting at them before they had got under cover of trees and houses.

The Infantry Brigade, under Brigadier the Hon'ble Adrian Hope, was of great use in supporting the advance of the Cavalry; but before they reached the ground, the Enemy were in retreat.

As soon as possible, I sent up the Seikh Infantry to secure the Guns, and am happy to say 14 Brass Guns and 1 18-Pounder, with Limbers, Waggons, &c., and a large quantity of Ammunition, were taken.

The success was complete, and I am truly grateful to God, and happy to say, though the fire of Grape from the Enemy was most severe and well-placed, falling amongst the Artillery like hail, I had not a single man even wounded, and only one horse of Captain Middleton's Battery, killed. It was truly marvellous and providential. 18 Guns, most of them 9-Pounders and 24-Pounder Howitzers, were playing with Grape on the gallant Artillery, and with Round Shot upon the Cavalry, the former within about 500 yards—and His Excellency is well aware with what precision these Rebels fire their Guns—yet not one single man was wounded.

I gave directions at once to remove every thing from the spot, and the Highlanders, 53rd Regiment, and Seikhs, with a most praiseworthy zeal and activity, brought off all the Guns, Waggons, &c., from the quicksands, beyond which they had been placed. The Troops had been marching since 1 o'clock on the 8th, with occasional halts; and the moving in of the Guns to a position I had taken up for them within about ¾ mile of the Camp, was not accomplished till dusk the following day. They had little to eat or drink for nearly twenty-four hours; but there was not a complaint.

I beg to request you will lay the names of the undermentioned Officers before His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief:—Captain Middleton, who Commanded the whole of the Artillery, rendered the greatest services, both in the action and in the moving of the Guns; Lieutenant Millman, who Commanded the Battery; Captain Remmington, who worked his Guns admirably, and who was most zealous in giving every assistance to Captain Middleton; Brigadier A. Little, to whom I was much indebted for his Cavalry support to the Guns, and for the way in which he brought his Force to the front on the advance of the Enemy.

Major Ouvry, Commanding the 9th Lancers, a most active and zealous Officer.

Lieutenant Younghusband, Commanding 5th Punjaub Cavalry, and Lieutenant Gough, Commanding Hodson's Horse. To all of whom my thanks are due for the very able way in which they Commanded their Regiments.

Lieutenant Malcolm, Commanding the Royal Engineers, and Lieutenant Forbes, Commanding the Bengal Engineers, who, with their men, executed the work entrusted to them with great ability and zeal.

Brigadier the Hon'ble A. Hope, Commanding the Infantry Brigade, was of the greatest possible assistance, and behaved with his usual well-known gallantry.

Lieutenant-Colonel Thorold, Commanding 42nd Highlanders; Colonel Faber, Commanding 53rd Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Leith Hay, Commanding 93rd Highlanders; and Captain Ryves, Commanding 4th Punjaub Infantry.

My thanks are also due to these Officers for the able manner in which they Commanded their Regiments:—Captain McLeod, 42nd Highlanders, Commanding the Rear Guard; Lieutenant Smith, Commanding two 9-PounderGuns, who performed the duties entrusted to them to my satisfaction. Captain Anderson, Ex-Commissariat Officer, whose duties were very severe, and Captain Carey, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, were most attentive and zealous. Captain Sarel, Brigade Major of Cavalry, Captain Cox, Brigade Major of Infantry, deserve my warmest approbation. Captain the Hon'ble G. A. Anson, my A. D. C., afforded me on this, as on every other occasion, the greatest assistance. Lieutenant Havelock, Extra A. D. C., was very useful. Brigadier the Hon'ble A. Hope talks in the highest strains of Lieutenant A. Butter, 93rd Highlanders, his Acting A. D. C. Captain Bruce, head of the Intelligence Department rendered me very great assistance in procuring information regarding the movements of the Enemy.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 19th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 14th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information.—

ACT No XXXV OF 1857.

An Act for the levy of Port-dues in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong, in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows:—

Port-dues on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering Port.

I. Port-dues, at rates not exceeding the rates contained in the Schedule to this Act, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards which shall enter any of the said Ports.

Rate of Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to enter Port

II. When any vessel enters any of the said Ports, being driven in by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage, or for any other reason, but does not discharge or take in any cargo or passenger therein (with the exception of such un-shipment and re-shipment as may be necessary for the purpose of repair)—the Port due chargeable in respect of such vessel shall be at a rate equal to one-half the rate chargeable in respect of other vessels.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter Port.

III. Provided that, when any vessel having left any of the said Ports, is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather or in consequence of having sustained any damage, no Port-due shall be chargeable in respect of such vessel.

No vessel to pay Port-due at same Port oftener than once in sixty days.

IV. No vessel shall be required to pay at the same Port any Port-due chargeable under this Act oftener than once in sixty days.

Commencement of Act.

V. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the first day of January 1858; and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in any of the said Ports subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date no Port-due shall be levied at any of the said Ports, except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act

Rates of Port-dues to be published.

No Port-dues to be levied except under Act.

Act to be read as part of Act XXII of 1855.

VI. This Act shall be read with and taken as a part of Act XXII of 1855.

Legislative Council of India.

The 19th December 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 19th December 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 23rd of March next :—

A Bill for the regulation of certain Ports within the Presidency of Fort St. George.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the safety of vessels and the convenience of traffic in Ports within the Presidency of Fort St. George declared under Section XXIV Act VI of 1844 to be Ports for the landing and shipment of merchandize, but to which the general provisions of Act XXII of 1855 are not suitable : It is enacted as follows :—

Sections XVI and XXIV Act XXII of 1855 to be applicable to certain Ports.

I. The provisions contained in Sections XVI and XXIV of Act XXII of 1855 shall be applicable to the Ports mentioned in the Schedule to this Act annexed, being Ports declared by the Governor in Council of Fort St. George, under Section XXIV Act VI of 1844, to be Ports for the landing and shipment of merchandize ; and may be enforced by any Magistrate to whose ordinary jurisdiction any such Port is subject : and any penalties imposed by such Magistrate, and any expenses incurred by his order under the said provisions, shall be recoverable respectively in the manner provided in Sections LV and LVII of the said Act.

Recovery of penalties and expenses.

Consent of Principal Officer of Customs or other Officer necessary for discharging ballast, &c.

II. In any of the said Ports, the consent referred to in Section XXIV of the said Act shall be given by the Principal Officer of Customs at such Port, or by any other Officer in that behalf appointed by Government.

General Orders by the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

Fort William, 23rd December 1857

No. 1630 of 1857.—The following Notifications, from the Foreign Department, are published in General Orders:—

No. 5243, dated 19th December 1857.—Assistant Surgeon A J. Gee is appointed to do duty with the Nepal Troops under the Command of Maha Raja Jung Bahadoor.

No. 5244, dated 22nd December 1857.—Notification—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has much gratification in publishing, for general information, the subjoined Reports from Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton, of two engagements at Kodhoon and Chanda, on the Jounpore Frontier, in which the Rebel Forces of Mehndee Hossein, the so-called Nazim of Sultanpore, were completely defeated by the brave Troops of our Ally, the Maha Raja of Nepal.

It is with the highest satisfaction that the Governor General in Council thus publicly acknowledges the valuable service which the Nepalese Troops have performed in attacking and dispersing the rebellious bands, which have menaced the British Frontier; and it is with no less satisfaction that His Lordship in Council records his admiration of the spirited and soldierly conduct by which the Troops of our friendly Ally have been distinguished in the actions which Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton has described, and in the defensive operations which preceded them.

The Governor General in Council is grieved to observe that the victories at Kodhoua and Chanda were not achieved without serious loss; and His Lordship in Council especially deplores the death of Lieutenant-Colonel Muddun Maun Singh, who fell at the head of his Regiment nobly doing his duty as a brave Soldier.

To Colonel Puhlwan Singh, Commanding the Goorkha Troops, the warm acknowledgments of the Governor General in Council are due for his ready acquiescence in every operation, which has been deemed advisable for the security of the Frontier; for his exemplary zeal in the cause to which his Government has lent its cordial support; and for the soldierly bearing, the judgment, and bravery, which he has displayed on all occasions; especially in the action at Chanda, where the Troops under his Command completely defeated an Enemy, much superior in numbers and artillery, and dislodged him from a strong and well-chosen position, with the loss of nearly all his Guns and all his Ammunition.

Major Indra Singh, who succeeded to the Command of the Shere Regiment, when Lieutenant-Colonel Muddun Maun Singh was mortally wounded in the action of Chanda, and Major Chumpa Singh, who behaved on the same occasion, as at Kodhoua also, with marked gallantry, fully deserve the thanks of the Governor General in Council.

The conspicuous bravery of Lieutenant Gumbheer Singh, of the Shere Regiment, calls for prominent notice. The exploit of this Officer in attacking, single-handed, and capturing a Gun defended by seven of the Enemy, is an instance of individual daring which has seldom or never been surpassed, and which specially calls for the admiration and thanks of the Governor General in Council.

Lastly, the Governor General in Council desires to record his warm appreciation of the discipline, the steadiness, and bravery of all the Nealese Officers and Troops engaged in the actions at Kodhoua and Chanda, and to assure them that it will be his care to bring their excellent conduct, on these occasions, under the favorable notice of the Government which they serve.

But the Governor General in Council, while awarding to the Officers and Men of the Nepalese Battalions the praise which is justly due to their bravery and devotion, must not omit to record the high sense which he entertains of the judgment, temper, and tact with which Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton has discharged the important functions that have devolved upon him as the Officer in Military charge of the Battalions under the Command of Colonel Puhlwan Singh. Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton's position has been one of some difficulty and great responsibility; he has fulfilled its requirements ably and satisfactorily, and is entitled to the best thanks of the Governor General in Council.

The acknowledgments of His Lordship in Council are also due to Captain Steel, Lieutenant Clark, Assistant Surgeon Paske, Mr. Carnegy, and Mr. Waleski—all of whom were present in the action at Chanda, and rendered valuable assistance to Lieutenant-Colonel Wroughton.

By Order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

LIEUT.-COLONEL F. J. WROUGHTON,
In Military Charge, Goorkha Force,

TO

LIEUT.-COLONEL R. STRACHEY,
Secy. to Govt., Central Provinces.

Camp Singramow, 20th October 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report that the Force under Command of Colonel Puhlwan Singh reached this yesterday morning.

From some time past, rumours had prevailed that Mehndee Hossein, the Nazim of Sultanpore, was collecting an Army, and putting together Guns, with a view to seizing the District of Jounpore, and that he had dispatched an Advance Guard to Chanda (distant from our present encampment about 10 miles), and which place it was my intention to have attacked, had the Rebels not moved down towards us.

2nd On the road between this and our last ground, one of my Chuprassies, whom I had sent to Chanda for information, reported that the Enemy had that morning quitted that place, and had come down to within three miles of Singramow. To this statement, however, I did not at first attach much credit, but as it was afterwards corroborated by others, leaving the fact of their proximity no longer a doubt, I lost no time in proposing to Colonel Puhlwan Sing an immediate attack, which was cordially responded to by that gallant Officer, and by noon about (1,000) one thousand Men and 4 Guns had fallen in and were ready to start towards the Enemy's Camp

3rd. Some little delay, however, occurred in making arrangements for the protection of our Camp, surrounded as we were by the Troops of a very doubtful friend, the Zemindar of Singramow by name Murdheer Singh, on whom I had reason to look with the greatest suspicion, and whom Mr. Lind, the Magistrate, took with us, to place beyond a possibility any attack on our Camp during our absence.

4th. The Force moved off at 2 P M, and after considerable delay, caused by the bad state of the roads, we arrived in the vicinity of the Enemy's position, near the village of Kodowah The Rebels were encamped in a tope of trees surrounded by nullahs, ravines, jungles, and dense cultivations of Sugar-cane and Indian-corn, with a thick jungle on their left and an extensive jheel of water on their right. In fact so dense was the vegetation all round, that nothing could be seen beyond the field immediately on our front, and I had almost commenced to despair of finding the Enemy in such a country, when a number of horsemen met my observation, evidently making off towards the jungle on our left. I immediately ordered the Guns to be unlimbered, and a line to be formed, and a few shot and shell from the former to be sent into the wood. This had the desired effect of making the horsemen return to their Camp. We then advanced, and very shortly, to our astonishment, we came on the Enemy's position. The Goorkhas, observing that a retreat was being made by the Enemy, could no longer be restrained; gave one cheer, and dashed at them in a splendid manner; nor did they give up the pursuit until quite overcome by fatigue and exhaustion.

5th. Two Companies of the Shere Regiment managed to get beyond any others, and the Officer reports having seen a person, evidently of some distinction, mounted on an elephant and surrounded by 30 armed men, beating a precipitate retreat This was no doubt Hussen Yar Khan, the Chuckledar, whose capture would have been easy, had we had more Cavalry; that under Mr. Jenkinson having been at the time occupied in an opposite direction. The Goorkhas were so exhausted, they could not move.

6th. There does not appear to have been much opposition shown by the Enemy at first, but I, as well as others, witnessed some desperate hand to hand encounters.

7th. It is impossible to state precisely the loss of the Enemy in this very successful little affair, but from the enquiries I have made, and the fact of 218 bodies having been counted by one individual alone, I do not think I shall be over-stepping the mark, when I put it down at (300) three hundred The two Companies of the Shere Regiment are said to have killed an immense number considerably ahead of the main body. Numbers were also driven into the jheel, and were either drowned or shot down from the high banks. These were never counted.

8th. Our casualties were 7 wounded, but none very seriously, I am happy to say.

9th. The number of Goorkhas engaged was (1,000) one thousand, and I put the Enemy down at (1200) twelve hundred, without Guns. I understand there were three organized Regiments consisting of about (800) eight hundred men, and the rest was made up of Matchlock-men from the neighbouring Zemindars We took (7) seven standards The Enemy had no Guns, we had four, but with the exception of the first few discharges, we could not bring them into play, in consequence of the rapidity with which the pursuit was followed up.

Captain Steel, Lieutenant Clark, and Dr. Paske accompanied the Troops and exerted themselves well, and Messrs. Lind, Carnegy, and Jenkinson, also afforded me their valuable assistance.

I cannot speak too highly of Colonel Puhlwan Singh, his Officers and Men without exception, and their recent exertions I hope will soon restore quiet and tranquillity to this District.

It was yesterday reported, that the road between this and Chanda was strewed with the dead and wounded, and that Mehndee Hossein's Troops had, after plundering his Treasury, totally dispersed.

LIEUT.-COLONEL F. J. WROUGHTON,
In Military Charge, Goorkha Force,

To

LIEUT.-COLONEL R. STRACHEY,
Secy to Govt., Central Provinces.

Camp Singramow, 31st October 1857.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, that the Force under Command of Colonel Puhlwan Singh gained a complete victory over the Rebels yesterday, capturing four Guns and all their Ammunition.

From the very excellent intelligence, communicated to me the day before by Mr. Carnegy, it was evident that the Rebels were collecting fast at Chanda, and that the arrival of the Nazim, Mehndee Hossein, would be the signal for a general advance on our position. Under these circumstances, I considered it advisable to attack the Enemy at once, although very much our superior, both in numbers and in artillery.

A Column, consisting of about (1100) eleven hundred Goorkhas, left this at 8 A M, and reached the Enemy's position, which was an admirably chosen and excessively strong one, and distant about 10 miles, at 11½ o'clock.

It being evident that it was the intention of the Enemy to defend the road passing through his position, it was considered proper to attack in two Columns, which movement was admirably carried out by Colonel Puhlwan Singh. The Enemy was taken in both flanks, and perceiving himself outmanœuvred, began to fall back, after having kept up a well-directed fire of Artillery for two hours.

The Rebels numbered at least five thousand with five Guns, under the immediate Command of Mehndee Hossein, who had only been in Camp a couple of hours previous to our attacking him.

There cannot be a doubt that the Nazim had a number of Mutineers, both Artillery and Infantry, attached to his Force The Artillery was manned by experienced Gunners. Our loss, of which I beg to forward a Return, was heavy Amongst the killed, I regret to be obliged to include the name of Lieutenant-Colonel Muddun Mann Singh, an excellent Officer, and one who, on the day of his death, had nobly done his duty as a Soldier.

Lieutenant Gumbheer Singh, of the Shere Regiment, now lies covered with wounds. This Officer I beg prominently to bring to the notice of Government for his great gallantry, such as would, in our Service, entitle a person to the highest honor being conferred on him.

The Lieutenant rushed on seven men defending a Gun, cut down five, and wounded the others, who made off. He himself received eight sword-cuts.

I cannot speak too highly of the behaviour of the Troops on this occasion, and to Colonel Puhlwan Singh every praise is due for his coolness and tact.

The loss of the Enemy I put down at only (200) two hundred, a small number indeed; but as we have no Cavalry, and as the men were completely exhausted by their long march and rapid advance a pursuit was out of the question. I regret to say, the Enemy took away one small Gun.

The Force was accompanied by Captain Steel, Lieutenant Clark, Assistant Surgeon Paske, Mr. Carnegy, Deputy Collector, and Mr. Waleski, Indigo Planter, and to all these Officers and Gentlemen I am infinitely obliged for the assistance they rendered me. Lieutenant Clark had charge of the left Column of Attack and did his work admirably.

I beg to forward a Return of Guns and Ammunition captured on the occasion.

PEARL FISHERY.

NOTICE is hereby given, that a Pearl Fishery will take place at Aripo, in the Island of Ceylon, on or about the 1st of March next 1858; and that the Bank to be fished is the North-west part of the Chivel Paar, the Bank fished last March, estimated to contain Oysters sufficient to employ Sixty Boats for Fifteen days.

It is therefore recommended, that such Boat-owners and Divers as may wish to be employed at the said Fishery should be at Aripo on or before the 20th February next; and it is particularly notified, that the first day's fishing will positively take place on the first day in March that the weather may permit the Boats to fish.

The Fishery will be conducted on account of Government, and the Oysters put up to sale in such lots as may be deemed expedient.

The arrangements of the Fishery will be the same as have been usual on similar occasions.

All payments to be made in ready money in Ceylon Currency, or in East India Company's Rupees.

Drafts on the Banks in Colombo, or Bills on the Agents of this Government in India, at Ten days' sight, will be taken, on Letters of Credit being produced to warrant the drawing of such Drafts or Bills.

For the convenience of Purchasers, the Treasurer at Colombo and the different Government Agents of Provinces will be authorized to receive Cash Deposits from parties intending to become purchasers, and Receipts of these Officers will be taken in payment of any sums due on account of the Fishery.

No deposit will be received for a less sum than Fifty Pounds.

By His Excellency's Command,
C. J. MACCARTHY,
Colonial Secretary

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Colombo, 3rd December 1857.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1857.

Legislative Council of India.

The 19th December 1857.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 14th December 1857, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXXV OF 1857.

An Act for the levy of Port-dues in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Ports of Moulmein, Rangoon, Kyouk Phyoo, Akyab, and Chittagong, in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows :—

Port-dues on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering Port.

I. Port-dues, at rates not exceeding the rates contained in the Schedule to this Act, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards which shall enter any of the said Ports.

Rate of Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to enter Port.

II. When any vessel enters any of the said Ports, being driven in by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage, or for any other reason, but does not discharge or take in any cargo or passenger therein (with the exception of such un-shipment and re-shipment as may be necessary for the purpose of repair)—the Port-due chargeable in respect of such vessel shall be at a rate equal to one-half the rate chargeable in respect of other vessels.

No Port due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter Port.

III. Provided that, when any vessel having left any of the said Ports, is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather or in consequence of having sustained any damage, no Port-due shall be chargeable in respect of such vessel.

No vessel to pay Port-due at same Port oftener than once in sixty days.

IV. No vessel shall be required to pay at the same Port any Port-due chargeable under this Act oftener than once in sixty days.

Commencement of Act.

V. This Act shall commence and have effect from and after the first day of January 1858; and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in any of the said Ports subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date no Port-due shall be levied at any of the said Ports, except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rates of Port-dues to be published.

No Port-dues to be levied except under Act.

Act to be read as part of Act XXII of 1855.

VI. This Act shall be read with and taken as a part of Act XXII of 1855.

Legislative Council of India.

The 19th December 1857.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 19th December 1857, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 23rd of March next :—

A Bill for the regulation of certain Ports within the Presidency of Fort St. George.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the safety of vessels and the convenience of traffic in Ports within the Presidency of Fort St. George declared under Section XXIV Act VI of 1844 to be Ports for the landing and shipment of merchandize, but to which the general provisions of Act XXII of 1855 are not suitable : It is enacted as follows :—

Preamble.

I. The provisions contained in Sections XVI and XXIV of Act XXII of 1855 shall be applicable to the Ports mentioned in the Schedule to this Act annexed, being Ports declared by the Governor in Council of Fort St. George, under Section XXIV Act VI of 1844, to be Ports for the landing and shipment of merchandize ; and may be enforced by any Magistrate to whose ordinary jurisdiction any such Port is subject : and any penalties imposed by such Magistrate, and any expenses incurred by his order under the said provisions, shall be recoverable respectively in the manner provided in Sections LV and LVII of the said Act.

Sections XVI and XXIV Act XXII of 1855 to be applicable to certain Ports.

Recovery of penalties and expenses.

II. In any of the said Ports, the consent referred to in Section XXIV of the said Act shall be given by the Principal Officer of Customs at such Port, or by any other Officer in that behalf appointed by Government.

Consent of Principal Officer of Customs or other Officer necessary for discharging ballast, &c.

Notification.

Fort William, the 20th November 1857.

NOTICE is hereby given, that on Monday, the 11th January 1858, at the hour of Eleven o'Clock in the forenoon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the undermentioned quantity of Opium, the provision of 1856-57, subject to the following Conditions, viz.:—

Produce of Behar Agency ...	Chests	1,815
Ditto of Benares ditto ...	„	890
Total Chests ...		2,705

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P. M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on, until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the quantity of 2,705 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertsied, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4 Each lot to contain five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupees 1,000, at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book; and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th January, or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times, and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last-mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 16th January, will be placed in the hands of the Attorney to the Hon'ble Company for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities, on account of Opium, upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 16th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertised for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M. of Tuesday, the 26th January 1858, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit of 25 per cent. even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such Lots or Chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government, at such time and in such manner, as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Re sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or Orders for the delivery of Opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or Order, and it is to be clearly understood, that the Certificates or Orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or Orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of Lots or Chests, whether more or less, than the number of Lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or Order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of Public Securities, under the Fifth of the present Conditions, will be received in this Office, except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book, or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per cent even money of the amount bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified, that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing, in immediate succession, at the same price, and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency Opium, to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and all and every plea and pleas to the jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue:—

No. 1.—Certificate of the Opium now advertised for Sale.

No. 2.—Report of the Examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed, that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1856-57, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the Cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each Cake.

An account of the weight of the drug when packed, and a statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches, on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season, will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertised for Sale, that may be desired by parties connected with the trade, will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The total quantity of Behar Opium of 1856-57, advertised in the Notice of 19th September last, was 22,302 Chests. Of this quantity, 500 Chests will be withdrawn for Abkaree purposes, leaving available only 21,802 Chests for the Sales of 1858. The Board purpose disposing of the 10,000 Chests of this Provision, which have been re-packed in Calcutta, in the first Sales of the year, and the remainder in the after-sales.

19. The public are hereby informed, that in addition to the quantity above mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium, of 1856-57, will be brought to Sale in the year 1858, on or about the dates specified below; the Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates, should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

20. It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that, out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December 1858, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 32,468 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for Sale at each or any of the twelve Sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a Sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article 6th.—With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties, that at each of the periodical Sales of that article, there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of Chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed Three hundred Chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical Sale, it being understood that, if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agent of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the Three hundred Chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta, within thirty days after Notice of the intended Sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

PEARL FISHERY.

NOTICE is hereby given, that a Pearl Fishery will take place at Aripo, in the Island of Ceylon on or about the 1st of March next 1858; and that the Bank to be fished is the North-west part of the Chivel Paar, the Bank fished last March, estimated to contain Oysters sufficient to employ Sixty Boats, for Fifteen days.

It is therefore recommended, that such Boat-owners and Divers as may wish to be employed at the said Fishery should be at Aripo on or before the 20th February next; and it is particularly notified, that the first day's fishing will positively take place on the first day in March that the weather may permit the Boats to fish.

The Fishery will be conducted on account of Government, and the Oysters put up to sale in such lots as may be deemed expedient.

The arrangements of the Fishery will be the same as have been usual on similar occasions.

All payments to be made in ready money in Ceylon Currency, or in East India Company's Rupees.

Drafts on the Banks in Colombo, or Bills on the Agents of this Government in India, at Ten days' sight, will be taken, on Letters of Credit being produced to warrant the drawing of such Drafts or Bills

For the convenience of Purchasers, the Treasurer at Colombo and the different Government Agents of Provinces will be authorized to receive Cash Deposits from parties intending to become purchasers, and Receipts of these Officers will be taken in payment of any sums due on account of the Fishery.

No deposit will be received for a less sum than Fifty Pounds.

By His Excellency's Command,
C. J. MACCARTHY,
Colonial Secretary.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 30, 1857.

GENERAL ORDERS BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

FORT WILLIAM, 30TH DECEMBER 1857.

No. 1000 OF 1857.

THE Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council, in directing the publication of the subjoined Despatch from Major-General Sir J. Outram, G. C. B., dated the 30th of September 1857, considers it due to that Officer and to others who may have felt disappointment at the omission of it among the Despatches which were published in the Calcutta Gazette Extraordinary of the 23rd Instant, to explain that although earlier in date than those Despatches it has been received after them, and that its publication has not been delayed.

His Lordship in Council most fully appreciates the valor of the Troops whom that distinguished Officer the late Sir Henry Havelock, aided and supported by Sir James Outram and by the lamented Brigadier General Neill, led victoriously through the hosts of the Insurgents and in the face of extraordinary difficulties, to the relief of the Garrison of Lucknow; and he desires that every Officer, Non-Commissioned Officer and Soldier will accept the assurance of the entire approbation of Government, as offered to each and all individually.

The Governor General in Council observes with great satisfaction the Supplemental Order in which Sir J. Outram separately brings to notice the services rendered by the Ferozepore Regiment under their gallant Leader Captain Brasyer. The thanks of Government were given to this Regiment in the General Order, No. 1025, of the 22nd Instant; and His Lordship in Council willingly reiterates his acknowledgments to Captain Brasyer and his Officers and Men.

A Despatch from the Deputy Adjutant General of the Army, dated the 22nd of December 1857, is also now published. In it His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief prominently brings to notice the good service performed by the Officers of the Volunteer Cavalry, Commanded by Captain Barrow, and the Governor General in Council embraces with much satisfaction this opportunity of publicly recording his sense of the gallant conduct of Captain Barrow and his devoted Band, Officers and Men, ever forward where hard work and danger were to be found.

Secretary to the Government of India,

FROM

MAJOR-GENERAL SIR J. OUTRAM, G. C. B.,

TO

HIS EXCELLENCY

SIR COLIN CAMPBELL, G. C. B.,

Commander-in-Chief.

Lucknow, 30th Sept. 1857.

SIR,

GENERAL Havelock having effected his junction with the Garrison holding the Residency of Lucknow on the evening of the 25th instant, I, on the following day, resumed Command of the Troops, issuing the Order A., of which I enclose a copy for His Excellency's information. I had previously sent a note to the Commandant of the Garrison, warning him of our approach, and warning him not to be enticed into weakening his Garrison by detaching to our support when he should hear us engaged in the City, lest the Enemy should avail themselves of that opportunity to assault his position. This note I have since learnt he received—copy enclosed B.

Since we have obtained access to the exterior of the Entrenchments, we find that they had completed six mines in the most artistic manner—one of them from a distance of 200 feet under our principal defensive works, which were ready for loading, and the firing of which must have placed the Garrison entirely at their mercy. The delay of another day, therefore, might have sealed their fate.

To force our way through the City would have proved a very desperate operation, if indeed it could have been accomplished.

After passing the Bridge, therefore, which is at the entrance, General Havelock took his Force by detours to the right, where but little means comparatively of opposition had been prepared, until he approached the front of the 'Kaiser Bagh" (King's Palace), from whence a heavy fire was opened upon us, and from that point (through a limited extent of about a quarter mile of street then intervened before reaching the Residency) the Troops were much exposed to the fire of the Enemy occupying the houses on both sides, as well as to some of the besieging Guns which had been turned against us, besides being obstructed by ditches which had been cut across the street—all which obstacles were overcome by the usual gallantry and dash of British Troops, but at a heavy cost. The Residency was joined in the evening; and the cheers of our rescued comrades overcame for the time our regrets for the many who had fallen in their cause.

General Havelock's Reports will acquaint your Excellency with details; my own Reports commencing from the following day, when, as the Enemy had, during the night, continued to occupy his offensive position and to maintain his fire on the Entrenchment, it became my first object to occupy or destroy his works; for, independent of the damage caused by his fire to the now crowded Garrison, no communication could be held with the City. I, therefore, on the morning of the 26th, ordered the Captain Bazaar to be cleared, which has heretofore harbored the Enemy in vexatious proximity to the Garrison, and it was occupied by H. M.'s 32nd Regiment under Brigadier Inglis, capturing 5 Guns, with a loss of one Officer (Captain Hughes, 57th L. I.) and 12 Privates killed and 7 Privates wounded, thus removing all obstruction from the River side of our position.

On the 27th September, the Palaces extending along on the line of the River, from the Residency to near the "Kaiser Bagh" ("Tara Kotee," "Chuttur Munzul," and "Forad Buksh"), were occupied for the accommodation of our Troops. On the same day, at noon, a party consisting of 150 men made a Sortie on another of the Enemy's positions and destroyed 4 Guns, at a loss of 8 killed and wounded. At day-light on the 28th, 3 Columns, aggregating 700 men, attacked the Enemy's works at three different points, destroyed 10 Guns, and demolished by powder explosions the houses which afforded position to the Enemy for musketry fire. This has effectually destroyed his attacks, excepting on one point, where he has still 3 Guns, which it is difficult to get at, but it is not likely the Enemy will attempt to maintain that isolated position; and as there has been no fire from thence this morning, it is probable he may have abandoned it. This successful operation was attended by the serious loss of 1 Officer and 15 men killed and missing, 1 Officer and 31 men wounded, the Officer killed being Major Simmons, Commanding H. M.'s 5th Fusiliers, most deeply regretted by the whole Army.

Our present prospects have now to be considered. It was the urgent desire of the Government that the Garrison should be relieved, and the women and children, amounting to upwards of 470 souls, withdrawn.

The Army of the Enemy has been beaten in the open field without difficulty. The resistance was more obstinate in the suburbs, and at a great sacrifice the Troops forced their way to the Garrison of Lucknow. The sick and wounded had been left with the baggage in a strong enclosure, called "Alum Bagh," 5 miles from the Lucknow Entrenchment.

In considering the heavy loss at which we forced our way through the Enemy, it was evident that there could be no possible hope of carrying off the sick, wounded, and women and children (amounting to not less than 1,500 souls, including those of both Forces.) Want of carriage alone rendered the transport through 5 miles of disputed suburb an impossibility.

There remained but two alternatives, one to reinforce the Lucknow Garrison with 300 men, and leaving every thing behind, to retire immediately with the remains of the Infantry upon the "Alum Bagh," thereby leaving the Garrison in a worse state than we found it, by the addition to the numbers they had previously to feed the great amount of our wounded and the 300 Soldiers, who would barely have sufficed to afford the additional protection that would have been required, without adding such strength as would have enabled them to make an active defence, to repel attacks by Sorties; or to prevent the Enemy occupying the whole of their old positions; while it would have been impossible for any smaller Force than the remainder of our Troops, diminished by those 300 men, to have any hope of making good their way back, and that not without very serious loss. I, therefore, adopt the second alternative as the only mode of offering reasonable hope of securing the safety of this Force, by retaining sufficient strength to enforce supplies of provisions, should they not be open to us voluntarily, and to maintain ourselves even on reduced rations, until reinforcements advance to our Relief.

Now that Dehli has fallen and released our Forces, two Brigades might perhaps be spared for this service. But I am satisfied that even one Brigade, with two Batteries of Artillery, could make good its way to the "Dilkoosha" (a position three miles from hence on the Cawnpore side of the Canal,) the route to which, the rains now being over, will be practicable for Artillery by the direct road from "Alum Bagh."

With such a Force established at "Dilkoosha," we could without difficulty open out our communication, and withdraw the whole, or such portion of our Forces as may be desired after re-establishing our authority at Lucknow.

Since my decision has been made, I have received a letter from the "Alum Bagh," in which it is stated that they are in great want of provisions, but upon returns of what they have, it is clear that they are not aware of their resources, which were sufficient for some days. I have, therefore, ordered back the Cavalry to join them in the night by a circuitous route, with conditional orders to withdraw to Cawnpore, or to maintain their position, as may be found most practicable. Their only difficulty is provisions, as they are placed in a fortified enclosure, defended by two of our heavy Guns, and two 9-Pounders, besides other Guns taken from the Enemy, 250 European Soldiers, and a number of convalescents fit to bear arms.

I have the honor to be,

Your Excellency's

Most obedient servant,

1st October, P. S.—The Cavalry failed to make their way out last night; the Enemy being found on the alert, and in such strength beyond our Picquets, it was not deemed prudent to attempt to force a passage; consequently this Despatch was brought back, and there will be no means of transmitting it at present.

Lucknow Residency, 26th September 1857.

DIVISION ORDERS.

THE Relief of the Lucknow Garrison having last night been accomplished by General Havelock and his brave Troops, Major-General Sir J. Outram resumes his position as Commander of the Forces.

The Major-General heartily congratulates General Havelock and the Troops whom that gallant and distinguished Officer has so gloriously led to victory on brilliant successes over the hosts that have opposed them since the Army crossed the Ganges on the 19th instant. He sincerely believes that, in the history of Warfare, British valor was never more conspicuously displayed than on the 21st instant at "Mungulwurra," on the 23rd at "Alum Bagh," and on the 25th, when his heroic comrades forced the City Bridge and other formidable obstacles which interrupted their passage to the position held by the beleaguered Garrison. The Major-General deeply laments the heavy cost at which the Relief of our countrymen has been purchased, but the glorious devotion with which the gallant dead and equally gallant survivors staked their lives to rescue the Lucknow Garrison will be deeply appreciated by our Queen and our Country, and the safety of those whom we, under God's blessing, have been permitted to redeem from a dreadful fate, must be our consolation for the loss of so many of our noble comrades. The Major-General begs to return his most sincere and heartfelt thanks to the General and his Gallant Army for their glorious exertions, the only acknowledgment of their achievements which it is in his power to render. On General Havelock it will devolve, in his Reports to the Commander-in-Chief, to do justice to the Army which has so devotedly carried out his orders. But while fully aware, that every Arm was stimulated by the same brave spirit, the Major-General deems it right to bear his personal testimony to the admirable conduct of such of the Troops as acted under his immediate observation. He would especially note the behaviour of the 90th Regiment, who led the advance of the left attack at "Mungulwurra"; that of the Volunteer Cavalry, who charged the Artillery of the retiring Enemy and captured 2 of their Guns; that of the 84th and Detachment of the 64th attached to it, who led the attack on the Enemy's left at "Alum Bagh"; that of Captain Olpherts's Battery, who so bravely followed up their retreat on that occasion, and Major Eyre's Battery, in opposing the many that afterwards bore on their position; that of the 5th Fusiliers and Captain Maude's Battery, who led the Column on the 25th instant, under a most murderous fire; that of the 1st Fusiliers (Madras), who charged the Bridge and Battery at the entrance of the City, led by the gallant Assistant Adjutant General, Lieutenant Havelock; and finally, that of the 78th Highlanders who led the advance on the Residency, headed by their brave Commander, Colonel Stisted, accompanied by the gallant Lieutenant Hargood A. D. C. to General Havelock; Captain Grant 1st Madras Fusiliers; Lieutenant Hudson, 64th Regiment; and Lieutenant Chamier, A. D. C.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER.

The Major-General regrets to find that, in noticing the services of the Troops which came under personal attention, in Division Orders of 26th instant, he omitted to mention the Regiment of Ferozepore and its gallant leader, Captain Brasyer. The Major-General in that Order merely referred to what he himself observed, but was well aware that this Regiment was most prominently forward on every occasion. Though happening seldom to be in the same part of the Field, he takes blame to himself for having inadvertently omitted to mention their advance with the 90th at "Mungulwurra," which did come under his personal observation. The time has not yet come for the Major-General to notice the conduct of the Troops subsequently to his assuming Command, during which period the Sikh Regiment has been incessantly occupied on most important service; but they may rest assured that they, as well as all the Corps who have like them highly distinguished themselves since, will be brought to prominent notice.

BRIGADIER INGLIS.

North side of the River, 20th Sept. 1857.

SIR,

THE Army crossed the River yesterday, and all the material being over, marches to-morrow, and, under the blessing of God, will now relieve you. The Rebels, we hear, purpose making a desperate assault upon you as we approach the City, and will be on the watch in expectation of your weakening your Garrison to make a diversion in our favor as we attack the City. I beg to warn you against being enticed too far from your works when you hear us engaged. Such diversion as you can make without in any way risking your position, should only be attempted.

FROM

THE DEPY. ADJT. GENERAL OF THE ARMY,

To

THE SECY. TO THE GOVT. OF INDIA,
Military Department.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor, by desire of the Commander-in-Chief, to transmit, for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council, copy of a letter dated the 15th instant, No. 7, from Captain L. Barrow, Commanding the Volunteer Cavalry with Major General Sir J. Outram's Force, bringing prominently to notice the names of Officers who have done good service in the Corps under his Command; and I am to request you will have the goodness to acquaint His Lordship in Council, that Sir James Outram has been requested to inform Captain Barrow, &c.

the merits of these Officers, and more especially of Captain Barrow himself as Commandant of the Volunteer Cavalry, are highly appreciated by His Excellency.

I have the honor to be,
SIR,
Your most obedient servant,
H. W. NORMAN, Major,
Depy. Adjt. Genl. of the Army

Head Quarters Camp,

No. 7.

FROM CAPTAIN BARROW,
Comdg. Volunteer Cavalry,

TO
THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,
1st or Maj.-Genl. Sir J. Outram's (G.C.B.) Division.

Camp Alum Bagh, 15th Dec. 1857.

SIR,

As most of the Officers of the Volunteer Cavalry have been removed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, their services being otherwise required, and many others having left wounded, I trust I shall be excused for bringing prominently to notice the names of all these Officers who have performed their duty well, and in an entirely new capacity.

2. The Officers as per margin marked * served since the Force left Allahabad on the 6th July under General Havelock, and those marked † joined at various periods of the Campaign. These Officers have not only performed the duties of Private Soldiers and Non-Commissioned Officers, but side by side with the Privates of the different Regiments composing the late Field Force. The arduous nature of these duties is so well known to the Major-General, that it only remains to bring to his notice the cheerful and exemplary manner in which the Officers performed them.

* Captain R. L. Thompson, 10th B. N. I.
* Captain Sheehy, H. M.'s 81st Regt. (dead.)
* Captain Hicks, 6th B. N. I.
* Lieut. R. Chalmers, 45th B. N. I.
* Lieut. Lynch, H. M.'s 70th Regt.
* Lieut. W. O. Swanston, 7th M. N. I.
* Lieut. Grant, 3rd M. Europeans (dead.)
† Lieut. Hearsey, 57th B. N. I.
† Lieut. Wild, 40th B. N. I.
† Lieut. Palliser, 63rd B. N. I.
* Lieut. W. Ramsay, 17th B. N. I.
† Lieut. Brown, 56th B. N. I. (dead.)
† Lieut. Birch, 1st B. L. C.
* Cornet Fergusson, 8th B. L. C.
† Cornet R. Goldsworthy, H. M.'s 17th Lancers.
† Cornet W. Goldsworthy, H. M.'s 8th Hussars.
* Ensign Brander, 37th B. N. I.
* Ensign Pearson, 27th B. N. I.
* Ensign Stewart, 17th B. N. I.
* Ensign the Hon'ble H. H. Hare, 17th B. N. I.
* Ensign Woodgate, 11th B. N. I.

Uncovenanted.

† J. Erskine, Esq. (dead.)
* W. Bows, Esq.
* J. Anderson, Esq.

3. My object in bringing forward the names at this time is, that those now with His Excellency may have their conduct as Volunteers under his notice in their nomination to other appointments, for under a somewhat new and peculiar formation, they have readily adapted themselves to all circumstances, and behaved throughout as Officers should do, anxious to prove themselves good Soldiers.

No. 1667 of 1857.

THE Right Honorable the Governor General in Council has received the accompanying Despatch from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, and hastens to give publicity to it.

It supplies an omission in a previous Despatch from His Excellency, which was printed in the Gazette Extraordinary of the 24th Instant.

Major-General Windham's reputation as a Leader of conspicuous bravery and coolness, and the reputation of the Gallant Force which he Commanded, will have lost nothing from an accidental omission such as General Sir Colin Campbell has occasion to regret.

But the Governor General in Council will not fail to bring to the notice of the Government in England the opinion formed by His Excellency of the difficulties against which Major-General Windham, with the Officers and Men under his orders, had to contend.

To

THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

Head Quarters, Camp near Cawnpore,
The 20th December 1857.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honor to bring to your Lordship's notice, an omission, which I have to regret, in my Despatch of the 2nd December, and I beg to be allowed now to repair it.

I desire to make my acknowledgment of the great difficulties in which Major-General Windham, C. B., was placed during the operations he describes in his Despatch, and to recommend him and the Officers whom he notices as having rendered him assistance, to your Lordship's protection and good offices.

I may mention, in conclusion, that Major-General Windham is ignorant of the contents of my Despatch of 2nd December, and that I am prompted to take this step solely as a matter of justice to the Major-General and the other Officers concerned.

I have the honor to be,

My Lord,

With the greatest respect,

Your Lordship's

Most obedient humble servant,
